Daily Evening Review

WEDNESDAY, MAY 6, 1885.

NORTHCOTE ARRIVED.

The Steamer at Last Reaches Clarke's Crossing.

GONE TO MIDDLETON'S CAMP.

THE TELEGRAPH LINE DOWN BETWEEN CLARKE'S AND BATTLEFORD.

Indians Stole Horses and Made off—Goods Seized by the Rebels Found—Gen. Middleton's Advance.

CLARKE'S CROSSING, N.W.T., May 5.—The steamer Northcote arrived here yesterday at 3 p.m. After landing two companies of the 40th Battalion, under Capt. Bonycastle, she proceeded down the river to join Gen. Middleton. She has on board two companies of the Midland Battalion, under command of Col. Williams, who will join the main body 25 miles from here, when it is likely an advance will be made at once by Gen. Middleton. A Gatling gun also came by the steamer. She had a hard tug of war down from Swift Current, was ashore several times, and broke her captain trying to get off. The water in the river is unusually low.

THE BREAK IN THE WIRE.

CLARKE'S CROSSING, N.W.T., May 5.—A telegraph line repairer, who has just returned from a search after the trouble on the Battleford line, reports that the poles and line are down twenty-four miles west of here and a band of Indians are camped in the vicinity. Owing to the demonstrations of the Indians he did not repair the break and consequently communication with the west is still out.

THE VICTORY AT FISH CREEK.

WINDFIRE, May 5.—Details of the late battle at Fish Creek are beginning to come in and everything goes to show the steady and valiant character of the volunteers under fire. They drove the enemy from one position to another and finally held the field. The rebels took shelter in a thick wood beyond the creek and many of them were nowhere to be seen, having fled during the course of the night with their dead and wounded.

REBEL GOODS CAPTURED.

WINDFIRE, May 5.—Scouts, who have scoured the country for six miles north from Middleton's camp, found nothing of the enemy. Large quantities of goods supposed to have been taken from stores by the rebels, have been found secreted in a half-breed house in the vicinity of the battle ground.

AN INCOMPLETE REPORT.

The report that the Indians around Fort McLeod were in a state of ferment is denied, as well as the story that American Indians have crossed the boundary line. Settlers have not been flocking into Fort McLeod for safety. The Bloods and Piegans are upon their reserves and busy putting in crop.

COL. WILLIAMS JOINS MIDDLETON.

CLARKE'S CROSSING, May 5.—Col. Williams, with half of the Midland Battalion, who came in by the Northcote, has joined Gen. Middleton. The General has been making preparations all day to move on in the morning.

MOVEMENTS OF TROOPS.

A despatch from Calgary announces that two companies of the 9th Battalion, Quebec, left for Fort McLeod on Friday evening. Another company goes to Glisbec. The two companies of the 92nd battalion thus relieved will rejoin their command under Col. Osborne Smith at Edmonton. A despatch from Moosejaw announces the arrival there yesterday of 10 transport wagons brought from Fargo, Dak., by Major Bell. The Sioux Indians at Moosejaw have been moved seven miles south to get them away from half-breed temptation.

INDIAN IMMATURITY.

HUMBOLDT, N.W.T., May 5, via Fort Qu'Appelle.—The Fish Hill Indians entered the house of Mr. Davis, twelve miles from here, at 12 o'clock this morning and demanded food, which was given them. After taking it they went to the barn and took his horses and galloped off. A party of the Winnipeg Cavalry have gone to capture them.

Heart Pains.

Palpitation, Dropsical Swellings, Dizziness, Indigestion, Headache, Sleeplessness, cured by Wells, Health Renewer.

Another Battle! THE LATEST!

Hostilities Believed to Have Been Resumed.

THE WIRES ARE STILL DOWN.

THE FORCES ENGAGED IN THE FIGHT WITH THE INDIANS ON SUNDAY.

By Telegraph this Afternoon.

THE WIRES STILL DOWN.

WINDFIRE, Man., May 6.—The wires are broken down between Clarke's Crossing and Battleford, and it is impossible to get PARTICULARS OF COL. OTTER'S FIGHT with Pound-maker until another Courier reaches some point on the telegraph line. It is, however, believed that he retired to bring up reserves and the guns, and that HOSTILITIES ARE DOUBTLESS RESUMED ere this. The mounted police were under Col. Herchmer, and the flying column was made up from all the forces under Col. Otter, besides volunteers from Battleford.

GENERAL CABLE NEWS.

THE AGREEMENT.

LONDON, May 5.—The Standard, commenting on Mr. Gladstone's speech of last evening, says no doubt is now entertained that the arrangement between England and Russia includes the surrender of Pashuk to Russia.

LUMSDEN TO RETURN.

LONDON, May 5.—In the House of Commons, this afternoon, Mr. Gladstone announced that Sir Peter Lumsden and Colonel Stewart, of the British Afghan frontier commission, had been ordered home, and that they were directed to start at once and hasten their journey as much as possible. The announcement made an enormous sensation in both political and military circles. Mr. Gladstone said Gen. Lumsden had not been recalled, but had been consulted upon the disputed subject, and in conformity with his own views had been requested to return to England. As it had been decided to carry on in London future communications with Russia, about the main points in the Afghan frontier line, both General Lumsden and Col. Stewart had been directed to come to London.

THE CREDIT VOTE.

LONDON, May 5.—After Mr. Gladstone had announced the peace arrangement in the House of Commons yesterday, the Conservative members held a meeting and discussed their course in regard to the vote of credit. They decided that it would be impolitic to oppose the vote. The opinion prevails in the party that the Government excited the war to cover its retreat from the London and Ottawa cables, and to meet the existing deficit. It is said Mr. Gladstone never had the faintest intention of entering into a conflict with Russia. On the Government side, on the other hand, there is unanimous approval of the Government's policy.

THE SUEZ CANAL.

PARIS, May 5.—The Suez canal commission has decided to exempt Egypt and Turkey from the interdiction of sale of hostilities in the canal, or the landing troops on its banks, provided these measures become necessary for the defence of Egypt.

EGYPTIAN TELEGRAPH SYSTEM.

CAIRO, May 5.—The Egyptian telegraph system in Upper Egypt has been placed under the control of English army officials.

PREPARATIONS CONTINUE.

LONDON, May 5.—Baron de Staal and Earl Granville had a long conference to-day on the question of what guarantee should be provided against a Russian advance on Herat. It is reported that Earl Granville proposed a treaty pledging Russia against further advance and recognizing the English protectorate in Afghanistan. Uncertainty remains in diplomatic and official circles as to the maintenance of peace. Naval and military preparations will continue.

SOLDIERS IN THE SOUDAN.

LONDON, May 5.—The London Telegraph has published accounts from Debbah of the effect of the heat on the British soldiers there, nearly all of whom have been prostrated.

BIG FIRE IN LONDON.

LONDON, May 6.—A fire is raging in the establishment of Jackson & Graham, upholsterers, cabinet makers and carpet manufacturers, at Nos. 70 to 80 Oxford street. Several of the workshops have been destroyed.

BREATHING TIME.

LONDON, May 5.—Moderate papers and the public generally approve of the present plan of settlement, as it will allow England time to put her army and navy in perfect fighting order for the final struggle which is believed to be certain.

RUMOURED RESIGNATION.

CALCUTTA, May 5.—It is rumoured that Lord Dufferin has resigned the Viceroyalty of India.

Just received, a full range of Ladies' Jerseys, improved cut and plated back. See the line Turnbull is selling at $1.00.

Acquitted.

At the Middlesex assizes on Saturday Edward Nouty was acquitted of being an accessory to the murder of Rufus Eldridge at Nilestone in December last.

Turnbull's showrooms were never so well filled with pretty hats and bonnets as at present—for Millinery go to Turnbull's.

A VERDICT OF MURDER

RETURNED BY THE CORONER'S JURY IN THE OPS TRAGEDY.

The inquest into the cause of James Fanning's death—how the fatal shot was fired—was held at the residence of the coroner.

LINDSAY, May 4.—The inquest into the cause of the Ops tragedy was held to-day by Dr. Poole, of Lindsay, coroner for the county of Victoria. The coroner went yesterday to the scene of the murder, some nine miles south of Lindsay, and found that on account of admissions made by A. M. Pogue, the father-in-law of the murdered man, the neighbours had planned him and tied him to a fence, so as to prevent his escape. Mr. A. P. Devlin, County Crown Attorney, appeared for the Crown, and Mr. H. B. Dean for A. M. Pogue, the prisoner. The evidence disclosed the following circumstances: The murdered man, James Fanning, had been twice married, the last time to Mary Pogue, the daughter of the prisoner, A. M. Pogue. They lived very unhappily together, and the wife had left her husband's house and gone to her father's. A daughter of deceased, by his first wife, testified that Pogue, the prisoner, had, in answer to her enquiries when her stepmother was coming home, threatened to shoot her father, and accusing Fanning of stealing his horse collars and saving his plough handles, threatened that if he came again to the house that he would shoot him, and would get twelve men on the island to burn up his house. In consequence of these threats she followed her father on the night of the murder to warn him against going to the house of Pogue, but he went nevertheless. It appeared too in evidence that in consequence of these and other threats the deceased had on Saturday gone to Lindsay to see what could be done to prevent Pogue from carrying out these threats, but, as testified to by Fanning's son, his father could not swear that he thought his life was in danger from the prisoner, and so nothing was done towards hindering the prisoner over to keep the peace. The deceased returned to his home towards evening, and his daughter, seeing that he proposed going to his father-in-law's, tried to dissuade him, but to no use.

THE FATAL SHOT.
Frank Fanning testified to hearing a shot fired, and then cries and shouts of murder coming from Pogue's house, but the evidence of the deceased's wife would indicate that there was little noise made. She swore that her husband brought a quart jug full of whisky, that both she and her father-in-law drank some. After a little while her father-in-law, the prisoner, came into the house, when the latter and her husband got drinking pretty freely, and then began struggling over their family duties. Words were pretty hot between them, and the prisoner went into the bedroom to attend to her babe, but a few moments later. When she heard the gun go off she came out of the room, and her husband said, "I am shot in the leg," but she did not think the matter serious, as her husband did not appear much affected by the shot. Soon after that he started away from the house, and she saw a little she followed to see him. She went as far as the back door, but not coming across him concluded that he had gone into the same house and she returned. The deceased was found yesterday morning a little further on than where he had gone the night before. Several testified that soon after he was found the prisoner Pogue came along, and the question was put to him, "Pogue, how has this happened?" The prisoner replied that he and the dead man were drinking and eventually he took his gun.

TO FORGETTEN FANNING.
Fanning clutched the gun, and in the scuffle it went off. A singular circumstance in the inquest was that no one accompanied or attempted to account for a quilt that was found covering the dead man when he was first discovered.

THE POST MORTEM EXAMINATION.
Dr. Allen, of Janetville, and Dr. Kemp, of Lindsay, made the post mortem examination. These evidences showed that they found an exceedingly large man, weighing about 250 lbs., the leg above the knee and the flesh very much torn. The large artery was not injured, but the smaller ones were cut and the principal veins lacerated. Death was undoubtedly caused by the deceased having bled to death. The evidence showed that from Pogue's doorstep to the place where the man was found there was a continuous streak of blood, and at places where the dead man hesitated on his way, pools of blood were found. The verdict of the jury was one of wilful murder against the dead man's father-in-law.

ROMANOV.
LAST OVER.—Mr. A. Kennedy and three others succeeded in crossing the lake from South Harry, on Saturday afternoon, April 25th. The ice was in bad condition, full of air holes and rotten spots, and the party were lucky in making the journey without accident.

BOAT.—The steam fleet is brushing up and preparing for action. The Beaubouche is already out, and the Etretion is being warmed into life by Captain Lane, and Engineer Marshall. The Eva has changed hands, Crandall and Bro. being the owners, and the Maple Leaf will soon be ready.

BOOKS.—Notices have been posted by Mr. Flood, caretaker of the Pigeon Creek Bridge, stating the bridge is impassable. The Peterborough stage managed, at some risk, to cross on Tuesday morning, but during the day the Kalamore and broke away from the pier and swung around to the shore, and at the same time a break occurred in the centre. It may take some days to put the bridge in repair again.

BROKE AWAY.—Quite a sensation was caused on Sunday morning when it was found that a drive of thirty or forty thousand logs belonging to Little Bob Mills, had been broken loose by the high winds, and were coming down the river. They rolled over the dam in all directions, and the river being high, and rapid, the jammed, piled up, and broke loose again. At one time a jam occurred on the dam close by the side, and Messrs. Napoleon McNeil, and Volkenburg in breaking the jam, were carried over by the sudden rush of the mass of logs, and gave a fine exhibition of their skill and nerve as river drivers. As the mass tumbled over the dam and tumbled about in the boiling rapids, they kept their feet like cats, and slipped about with a fearless ease as if they were unaware that the first misstep or slip would be certain death. Volkenburg went down the north channel and jumped on to the iron bridge. McNeil came down the wooden bridge channel, and as he shot the rushing stream between the piers sprang to a jam on the middle pier, and climbed to the bridge. On Monday morning the Beaubouche got up steam and went down the lake with a lot of boom timber, and commenced collecting the logs.—Independent.

FROM ALL OVER

GENERAL WOLFELEY arrived at Sackville on Saturday.

ANDREW GILL, the French cartoonist, died in a lunatic asylum on Saturday, aged 44.

THE Queen and Princess Beatrice returned to England from the Continent on Saturday. FAMINE prevails in Kordofan and the revolt against the Mahdi is spreading.

THE Bosphore Egyptian trouble has been ended by Hayri's apologizing to France.

RICHARD WILLIAMS, whose health is restored, inspected the Guards at Potsdam on Sunday.

DOCTOR KOCK, the cholera expert, has been appointed Professor in the University at Berlin.

PROF. LOW'S MAGIC SULPHUR SOAP is highly recommended for all humors and skin diseases.

It is announced that Colonel Hewitt will remain at the Royal Military School as commandant.

THE French charge d'affaires has returned to Cairo, and Franco-Egyptian relations are re-established.

THE Prince of Wales has sent the Mayor of Belfast a handsome gold pencil case as a testimonial of his regard.

FREEMAN'S WORM POWDERS are agreeable to take, and expel all kinds of worms from children and adults.

BORN, the leader of the German exploring expedition to Lake Marero, in East Africa, was recently killed by natives.

REMARKABLE RESTORATION.—Mrs. Adelaide O'Brien, of Buffalo, N. Y., was given up to die by her physicians, as incurable with Consumption. She proved Liver Complaint, and was cured with Burdock Blood Bitters.

THE submission of the Scott Act to the electors of Essex county has been postponed till the close of the year.

A WISE CONCLUSION.—If you have valuably tried many remedies for rheumatism, it will be a wise conclusion to try HAYGARD'S YELLOW OIL. It cures all painful diseases when other medicine fail.

A RICH lead and silver lode is alleged to have been discovered near Cheney, Washington Territory.

THERE is a great strike of tailors in Paris. They demand an increase of wages and shorter hours.

MR. JOHN ROBINSON has intimated his intention of resigning the Slade professorship of fine arts in Oxford University.

It is believed that the recent experiments made in Valencia, Spain, have established the success of the system of cholera inoculation.

HEADACHE, Biliousness, Dyspepsia and Indigestion relieved and cured at once by Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters. Try it. Sample free.

An effort is being made to induce ex-Minister Lowell to remain in England and accept the Marston professorship of Oxford.

A DOUBTFUL PURPOSE.—The popular remedy, HAYGARD'S YELLOW OIL, is used both internally and externally, for rheumatism, colds, croup, rheumatism, deafness, and diseases of an inflammatory nature.

SINCE his birthday Prince Bismarck has become one of the richest landed proprietors in Prussia. His yearly income now is $110,000.

A SAFE INVESTMENT.—Investing twenty-five cents for a bottle of HAYGARD'S YELLOW OIL, the best throat and lung healer known. Cures coughs, bronchitis, asthma and all pulmonary complaints.

Daily Evening Review

WEDNESDAY, MAY 6, 1886.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Board of Education.
No quorum being present on Tuesday evening, there was no meeting of the Board.

Town Council Meeting.
A special meeting of the Town Council will be held in the Council Chamber at 7.30 o'clock this evening.

It will Anticipate Carnival.
The grand roller skating carnival to be held in the Lansdowne rink, on Monday, May 25th, will attract everybody who attends it. Fair attractions will be presented and the enjoyment of all is secured.

A special meeting of the Peterborough Boating Club will be held at 7 o'clock to-morrow evening. The annual regatta of canoe races will be the principal business of the evening. All the members should turn out to secure their place.

Friday, May 15th.
Is the date on which the second Grand Carnival at the Peterborough Roller Rink will be held. Entirely new features will be introduced. The lady who took a fur tippet from the ladies' dressing room in mistake will receive her own for it by applying to the manager.

The Sale To-Night.
The auction of ladies and children is directed to the auctioneers who will take place this evening in the hall occupied by Miss Sample. Bargains will no doubt be secured by all who attend, as the store has to be cleared out at once, and the goods must be sold.

Run the beautiful lines in Ladies Lace and Muslin Ties at W. FAIRWEATHER & Co's.

The Probabilities.
The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Light to moderate winds, partly clearing weather, with a few local showers.

Mrs. Kennedy's Appointment.
A despatch from Winnipeg says that Mrs. Kennedy, widow of the late registrar of this city, has been appointed to the position made vacant by Col. Kennedy's death. His demise will be sad news to the 90th battalion now with Gen. Middleton.

Have you Seen Them?
Our readers will do well to call and inspect the beautiful range of spring and summer suitings that are displayed at Habillment Hall. They are indeed handsome goods, and when made up cannot fail to please the most exacting man. A large consignment of Gen's Furnishings in every conceivable form is to be seen there, and young men who dress in the fashion should pay a visit to Habillment Hall.

On Monday and Tuesday of week after next the Executive Committee of the Saved Army will meet in Peterborough. On Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of the same week the General Council of War for the united divisions will be held, when delegates from all principal stations will be present. Among other the Hon. Sidney Smith, of Cobourg, will be present. Each evening of Wednesday, Thursday and Friday there will be public meetings held in Bredburn's Opera House, consisting of concerts, speeches, addresses, etc. According to previous announcement, open air meetings will be held twice every week on the market square.

For good value in White and Printed Muslins go to W. FAIRWEATHER & Co's.

Peck's Bad Boy.

The Ottawa Citizen of yesterday says of the representation "Peck's Bad Boy" as given by Heaghe Comedy Company:—

"Heaghe's 'Peck's Bad Boy' is unquestionably the best play of the kind which has yet been placed on the boards, and its representation last night in the Grand Opera House received a hearty reception at the hands of a large audience. Louis Wesley's part of the 'Bad Boy' was excellent, and brought forth round of applause, while his ludicrous situations, jokes, and songs created continuous merriment and laughter. Gus J. Heaghe as 'Lester Stubbs' was almost perfect, his representation of the old drunken sot evoking well earned recognition. The support was fair, and the parts very well sustained. From the front of the curtain the conclusion had bowed their acknowledgments of the appreciation by the audience of their ability as actors."

Look for your boy's suite with painted back and front at Turnbull's.

For the newest patterns in Dress Goods at the right price go to W. FAIRWEATHER & Co's.

Remarks.
One says, "I wish Mr. Gough would stop talking for a few minutes, that I might have a rest from laughing." It is a rare thing to find so much force, good sense, and amusement in one lecture. Secure your tickets, and go to W. J. Mason's and choose your seats at once. Best seats are fast filling.

Marriage.
On Monday morning a quiet marriage took place at the Methodist parsonage, McDonnell street. The contracting parties, Mr. E. L. Smart, son of Mr. D. Smart, and Miss Jennie Morry, second daughter of Mr. R. Morry, Ashburnham, were joined in the bonds of wedlock by Rev. I. Tovell at half past 4 o'clock. Although the wedding was set for such an early hour, yet a goodly number of the many friends of both groom and bride were up, and numerous presents of a handsome character bestowed on the newly wedded couple, attested the esteem in which both were held. The happy pair took the 5.30 west bound express on the Ontario and Quebec Railway for a tour via Niagara Falls to several American cities.

Ashburnham's Record.
According to the assessment roll, from which the following statistics are taken, the total assessment in Ashburnham has increased $7,067; the population, by 39; ratepayers by 21; and all kinds of property, personal, income and real estate, shows a tendency to rise:—

Ratepayers	1885	1884
Acres resident	338	317
Acres non-resident	95	95
Total acres	433	412
Value of resident lands	$348,955	$344,853
Value non-resident lands	5,070	1,771
Total value of lands	$354,025	$346,624
Value of personal property	11,738	11,250
Value of income	5,320	5,028
Total assessment	$375,983	$368,578
Doors	57	59
Population	1,588	1,547
Castles	156	145
Houses	49	48
Stores	41	36

The population of Peterborough and Ashburnham, taken together, numbers 3,497. But this does not include transient population, which, if counted in, would doubtless swell the population to more than 10,000 souls. There is also a numerous suburban population immediately beyond the corporation limits.

For scarce and desirable goods, such as Cashmere Prints, Madras Muslins, Black Lawns, Burned Nets, look for them at Turnbull's.

For our Volunteers.
A meeting of the Volunteer Supply Committee was held at the Y. M. C. A. rooms on Tuesday afternoon to organize for work. About fifty ladies responded to the call. Mrs. Wallis was elected President, Mrs. Geo. A. Cox Treasurer, and Mrs. Burritt Edwards Secretary. The lecture room already contained a large number of boxes and parcels which had been sent in during the day, the result of the morning's work of three of the ladies who had undertaken the duties of canvassers. A number of canvassers were appointed to complete this part of the work. Arrangements were also made to make light blouses, one for each member of the company. Contributions in "kind" may be sent to the store south of Bush & Elliott's grocery, and money may be sent to the Treasurer, Mrs. Geo. A. Cox. Disappointment.

Disappointment comes to one from time to time in spite of all that may be done to avert it. Sometimes it assumes the form of disappointment in business; sometimes in seeing a friend whom you have travelled miles to talk with; and again, man is often "balked" in his desire to accumulate wealth; very often (many know it to their sorrow) a young man is jilted, crossed in love, and consequently sorely disappointed; he then, as a rule, grows older very fast, has a far-away, dreamy look about him, and altogether becomes a completely changed man. This leads his friends to notice his every act, fearful that he might possibly commit some act of self-destruction. Eventually, however, Nature overcomes all those silly whims, and ere long said young man resumes his daily routine of avocation just as if nothing had occurred. Perhaps, secondary to disappointment in love is to be disappointed in getting a good fit in a suit of clothes. No one will be disappointed on this score if they patronize A. McNeil, at Habillment Hall.

Turnbull has just returned from the wholesale market, from which he has carefully selected all the new and desirable shades to replenish his Dress Goods. Go to Turnbull's. We always give satisfaction in our Dress-making Department.

Hotel Licenses.

It is hard to say upon what principle the license commissioners make their selection in granting hotel licenses, but it certainly is not out of consideration for the public convenience. Fauchet's Hotel and Groux's Little Windsor Hotel should, from the accommodation they give, have been among the first to receive licenses instead of being out of, while some others far less qualified have had licenses granted to them.

Belgium and Canada.
Sir Charles Tupper, High Commissioner of Canada, has returned to London from Antwerp. He had an interview with King Leopold, who expressed the hope that more intimate relations might be established between the Dominion and Belgium.

It Astonished the Public to hear of the resignation of Dr. Pierce as a Congressman to devote himself solely to his labours as a physician. It was because his true constituents were the sick and afflicted everywhere. Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery," a beneficial use of his scientific knowledge in their behalf. Consumption, bronchitis, cough, heart disease, fever and ague, intermittent fever, dropsy, neuritis, gotto or thick neck, and all diseases of the blood, are cured by this world-renowned medicine. Its properties are wonderful, its action magical. By druggists.

Cruelly Murdered.
In the Province of Ontario every year thousands are being slowly murdered by taking unobtainable, untried nostrums for such complaints as Constipation, Indigestion, Liver Complaint, Kidney Troubles, etc., who might easily gain strength and energy by using McDougall's Speedy Cure. To convince them that such is the case we will give them a free trial bottle at John McKee's Drug Store. Price 50c. and 61 bottle. See testimonials from persons in your own town.

ALMOST FIRST HANDS!

We buy for every use, of every sort of people.

We buy whatever is best and popular in the several markets.

Whoever buys largely buys well—as we have the trade to take the goods.

We buy to sell again—buy with business foresight.

It is scarcely necessary to say we buy with advantage, wherever we sell.

It is in the business of buying and selling we find our title to confidence.

THE RESULT.

There is one place where everything is sold—Dry Goods—at the same prices for little or much.

THE OLD ESTABLISHED OTONABEE MILLS

(LATE ROGERS' MILLS.)

H. A. MULHIERN

Takes pleasure in announcing that he has started up the above well-known Flour Mills and is now in complete running order.

Having at a large expense, put in the FULL ROLLER SYSTEM with the Latest Improvements in use, I respectfully solicit the patronage of all the old customers of this favourite Mill, and all others who may favour me with their trade.

As I have had a lengthened experience in the Milling Business, and with a Mill now so thoroughly equipped as this is, the public may depend upon being supplied with a Quality of Flour Superior to any produced in the District.

FAMILIES, HOUSE-KEEPERS, FARMERS, BAKERS and Consumers generally can have their orders filled with promptness and care. Orders left with Messrs. RUSH & ELLIOTT, W. J. MORROW & Co., and other Grocery Stores, and at G. W. MORGAN'S Drug Store, will be sent to the Mill by Telephone.

FARMERS' GRISTINGS will have special attention. Oatmeal exchanged for Oats. Highest Price paid for Wheat and Oats.

A COMPLETE VICTORY.

Col. Herchmer Reports Found-

MIDDLETON'S MOVEMENTS.

REPORTED KILLING OF SETTLERS IN THE

EDMONTON DISTRICT.

Gen. Strange Preparing to go to Fort Pitt—The Rebels at Batocbe's—Col. Oster Said to Want Reinforcements.

BATTLEFORD, N.W.T., May 6.—Col. Oster with 320 troops, started to Poundmaker's Reserve on Friday afternoon, drove all night, and at 1.15 Saturday morning began a seven hours engagement with the Indians. Eight of our men were killed and thirteen wounded. The attack was begun by the Indians suddenly and it looked

AS IF A TRAP HAD BEEN SET for us, into which we ran. The enemy was very strong, estimated at six hundred, and fought fiercely from cover, while we were comparatively open to their fire, fighting from the brow of a hill over a coulee. Five minutes after the first, we appeared to be completely surrounded. Fifty men were sent back to clear the rear. We had just passed through a deep gully, thickly wooded and a swift stream running on one side. The men sent back made a brave dash and ACCOMPLISHED THEIR OBJECT.

thus lessening the danger of the situation. The fighting, which was all skirmishing, was over a large and uneven stretch of country and our men were working at great disadvantage, but they stuck to it like heroes, and with bullets whistling in on them from almost every direction, never flinched for an instant. Every corps continued steadily on the aggressive, and by ten o'clock the enemy was almost all dead. They ran away in all directions, and the fighting was again heavy. The artillery, with the two seven pounders and the Gatling, did good work, repeatedly firing the enemy from their cover, and at eleven o'clock the enemy were again

ALMOST COMPLETELY SILENCED.

Col. Oster had already given orders to withdraw from a position of such disadvantage. The Indians, observing this, endeavored to cut off the retreat of our men, who fought their way out inch by inch, the front always to the enemy. No praise is sufficient to describe the bravery of our officers and men. Every one

SHOWED HIMSELF A HERO.

Col. Oster with his staff was in every part of the field, and his orders were as cool and decided as in a sham battle. The men were badly used up before the withdrawal.

A COMPLETE VICTORY.

WHITFORD, May 6.—A special to the Sun says a battlefied despatch confirms the report of Sun day's fight, and says it resulted in a complete victory for Colonel Oster. It is known now that over a hundred Indians were killed, and Poundmaker's entire force driven off in great disorder.

HALFBREDS WITH POUNDMAKER.

BATTLEFORD, May 6.—There were some half-breeds among the Indians. One of them, wearing a gray sash, appeared to be directing them on our left. Many of the Queen's men had close calls, the buckshot at times flying like hail, but fortunately he was nearly always short. The Indians had much larger force than we supposed them to have when we started. Tomster Wind-er of Regina, was also among the killed.

REINFORCEMENTS WANTED.

We must be reinforced before we can move out again. It will be necessary to keep a considerable force here to protect the town, so that Col. Oster cannot venture to take out more than 300 men, and Saturday's fight satisfied us that while we may punish the Indians with such a force, we cannot attempt to overpower them with less than three times that number. Poundmaker, of course, claims a victory. The second day he is being reinforced from all parts. Col. Oster looks for months of fighting, unless Gen. Middleton can make short work of Bied and Dumont, and hasten here.

A BROODHOOPER.

THE CREEK, May 4.—HUMPHOLDT, May 6.—A reconnoitering party, under Gen. Middleton and Lord Malgund, proceeded down the river beyond the crossing to-day and met with no resistance. Just before reaching Gabriel's five mounted braves, evidently picked, were seen to rush from a house and gallop away towards Batocbe's, going out of sight before chase could be given. On visiting the house it was seen that they had been to dinner, a fire being in the stove, the meat cooking and the kettle boiling. Some linen covered with blood was found at the house. It had evidently been used for bandages for wounded braves. It was discovered that the covering of a feather bed and a peepoo bag had been utilized for the same purpose.

ORDERED TO FORT FITZ.

CALGARY, May 6.—The 55th regiment has been ordered from Edmonton to Fort Pitt.

COL. HERCHMER'S REPORT.

OTTAWA, May 6.—In the House of Commons to-day Sir John Macdonald said, "I have just received the following despatch from Herchmer. As is natural it speaks more particularly of his own corps. It is dated the 3rd inst., and comes from Battleford—Colonel Oster fought Poundmaker for 7 hours and demolished his camp. Police behaved beyond praise, receiving first fire, holding the advanced position while the column formed for attack, and remaining there throughout the engagement. Our loss was as follows:—Killed, Corporals R. B. Sligh and W. H. T. Lowry, Trumpeter F. Burke; wounded, Sergt. G. H. Ward. Total brigade loss, 8 killed and 18 wounded. Moved 80 miles in 30 hours, seven of which were fighting. The enemy's loss in killed and wounded is fully 100."

KILLING REPORTS.

A great many settlers have been killed, and more have not been heard of for weeks. Ermine River's Councillor, Wahbabageos, says he knows "bad Indians" are communicating with the Blackfeet, Brdors and Pigeons at the present moment.

THE EDMONTON DISTRICT.

CALGARY, May 6.—General Strange is busy at Edmonton building barges with which to convey troops to Fort Pitt. All this region is terribly disturbed. The Edmonton people are highly pleased at the arrival of the troops. The town is full of refugees from the surrounding country. Feathered Snakes is very much afraid that a general Indian war is inevitable. He says some of the chiefs can now be trusted. The stoppage of Indian rations since the troubles began is a very unfortunate circumstance.

TRANSPORT STEAMERS.

WINNIPEG, May 6.—A telegram to the Hudson Bay company from Sir John Macdonald to-day announced that the water has risen three feet since the first instant, and that there will be no little difficulty in floating steamers down the stream and thus transporting supplies and troops to the front.

THE REBEL POSITION.

Middleton and Malgund are of opinion that all the braves and Indians have retreated and taken up a position at Batocbe's. This is more than likely, and it is also probable that they have sent most of the women and children to places of safety among friends, some going to the Qu'Appelle valley and others to Manitoba.

INCIDENTS IN THE NORTH-WEST.

A Free and Easy Broom—Amputation and Feed—A Big Prairie Fire.

A Major-General on an Indian pony, accompanied with Mexican saddle and moccasins, is certainly a remarkable looking figure. Horses from "way down east," although much more imposing in appearance, are liable to make a rather ridiculous figure of their riders, as they show a peculiar falling for stumbling over the sopher and bader holes. Their riders are not moderately sure of retaining their saddles for more than five minutes, which is about the limit of time of mounts on eastern horses on the prairie. Nearly all of the officers have purchased new moccasins in shape of Indian ponies since they arrived, and with all due respect the mounted officers of the North West Expeditionary Field Force might very easily be mistaken for a horde of cow boys on a rapid ride if not for an occasional star crown or other badge of authority which is all that is recognizable in many instances of the British uniform. There appears to be a few army men riding in the column in the only force which would break the heart of a marauder at the same time that it meets exactly Lord Wolsey's idea that all display and military sumptuary, which is intended for barracks and the parade ground, is not adapted to service in the field. Officers and men appear to wear just as much uniform as is serviceable to the occasion but beyond that they follow the dictates of their own sweet will. Many of the officers, including Lord Malgund, wear ordinary riding breeches and one officer of "A" Battery, whose officers are noted throughout Canada for the dash they cut at the Quebec Citadel with their rifle regiments, has buckled on in a buckskin hunting jacket, trimmed with fur which might grace the figure of the grand Sachem of the Cree. The knitted tunic, of which there are specimens of all colors and combinations in the force, is the popular head dress, and has done good service during the wretched, chilly weather we are now experiencing. In a couple of days, however, hot weather may be expected, and helmets will be absolutely necessary and should be sent on immediately. Another thing which the settlers may will be absolutely necessary for the men in some sort of mosquito veil.

The Northwest mosquito is said to be a peculiarly enterprising and instructive representative of the insect tribe, and far ahead of his Eastern Canadian compatriot in his thirst for gore. The cook of the artillery officers' mess was lighting a fire when the dry grass caught fire and in a few seconds an area of twenty yards square was ablaze and was running with great rapidity in the direction of the ammunition wagon, which was in danger of ignition and explosion. Col. Macdonald, Capt. Peters and the other officers who were about immediately took off their coats and beat the fire out.—Exchange.

THE death is announced of Mr. John Reginald York at the age of fifty. Conservative member of Parliament for East Gloucester.

GENERAL CABLE NEWS.

AFFAIRS IN THE SOUDAN.

STAKIM, May 6.—Lord Wolsey is indisposed. Osman Digma has collected another army, but it is thought the scarcity of food in the desert prevents the army concentrating or becoming formidable enough to make it necessary to send an expedition against it. Friendly Arabs at Tokar ask English protection against Digma. Other tribes are willing to submit if the British remain in the country.

DANGER NOT YET PAST.

LONDON, May 6.—The Telegraph urges the Congress to agree to the vote of credit. It says the danger is not yet past.

RUSSIAN PROMISES.

LONDON, May 6.—The News denies that Russia has stipulated that England shall not occupy Port Hamilton, and believes Russia has offered England a positive assurance that she has no intention of taking possession of Herat.

ARBITRATION.

COPENHAGEN, May 6.—The King has asked the King of Denmark if he is willing to act as arbitrator between Russia and England. The King replied he was if so requested by England.

VOTE OF CENSURE.

LONDON, May 6.—It is rumored that Lord Randolph Churchill, intends to introduce a Censervative vote of censure of the Government.

FRESH WATER WANTED.

CAIRO, May 6.—The Mediterranean Sea has encroached upon the Nile delta to a point beyond Rosetta. Cattle are perishing from the effects of the salt water drunk by them in desperate thirst, and people are suffering terribly from fresh water.

FIGHTING NEAR STAKIM.

STAKIM, May 6.—A large body of British and Indian troops and friendly natives under Gen. Graham marched out at midnight to Tachal, surprised and defeated 200 rebels, killing 60, capturing 15, and 150 head of cattle. After burning the village they retired to Stakim, the fighting continuing until they passed Hacham. The British loss was five wounded, including one officer and the correspondent of a colonial newspaper.

A Refractory Pupil.

DETROIT, May 1.—A teacher in one of the Colchester (Ont.) schools ordered a pupil named Fox to come up to the desk and be punished. The youth refused, and when the pedagogue attempted to enforce his order drew a revolver and threatened to shoot him. The teacher was afraid to inflict punishment, and allowed the boy to have his own way until night when a warrant was issued for his arrest. He evaded the officer and skipped to this city.

The Inventor's Exhibition.

LONDON, May 4.—The Inventor's Exhibition has been put in as fair a state of completeness as possible for the inspection of the Royal party. The most extensive exhibits seem to be in implements of war, of which there is a remarkable display. The show of appliances of electricity is not more than a third applied for, and is compelled to be filled by English exhibits. Much disappointment on this account is expressed, but this is largely explained by the fact that American inventions are seen in all parts of the exhibition. The Russian Court, adjoining, contains nothing but score of unpacked cases. The buildings were crowded at the opening. The prince of Wales was received without ceremony though much enthusiasm was expected after his return from Ireland. The Princess of Wales the Duke of Edinburgh, and Duke of Cambridge Lord Granville and Sir William Vernon Harcourt were amongst the distinguished persons present. The audience was very large.

WHEN THE BOYS COME HOME.

(A SONG FOR OUR VOLUNTEERS.)

There's a happy time coming, When the boys come home, There's a glorious day coming, When the boys come home. We will end the dreadful story Of this treason dark and gory In a chorus of glory, When the boys come home.

The day will come brighter, When the boys come home, For our hearts will be lighter, When the boys come home. Wives and sweethearts will greet them, In their arms will press them, And pray for God to bless them, When the boys come home.

The thinned ranks will be prouder, When the boys come home; And their cheer will ring the loudest, When the boys come home. The full ranks will be shattered, And the bright arms will be battered, And the battle-standard tattered, When the boys come home.

Their bayonets may be rusty, When the boys come home, And their uniforms dusty, When the boys come home. But all shall see the traces Of battle royal grace In the brown and hoarded coat, When the boys come home.

Our love shall go to meet them, When the boys come home, To bless them and to greet them, When the boys come home. And the fumes of their endeavor, Time and change shall not disperse From the nation's heart forever, When the boys come home.

—Col. J. Bay.

Daily Evening Review

THURSDAY, MAY 7, 1886.

Those who remember Capt. Kennedy's fine company of Indians in the 57th Battalion at the Coburg camp some years ago, will hardly agree with the Reform obstructionists that such men are not so well qualified as Chisamen, to carry the franchise.

The Independent press, having very generally condemned the coup of the Globe and its friends in regard to the Franchise Bill, the leading organ of the obstructionist party grows very angry with these critics, accuses them of despotism and corruption, and accuses them of having sold themselves.

Mr. Mills insults many better men than himself by stigmatising the Indians as a race of murderers. Even the Indians in revolt, if they have no blood upon their hands, are no more murderers than Mr. Mills himself, who is an active participant in an avowed attempt to break down the health and strength of Sir John Macdonald—a murderous attempt in the case of a man of his age. Mr. Blake protests that he is not an accomplice, but, as in the case of the attempt by his organ to corrupt the Quebec members, he is quite content to stand quietly by without even a remonstrance and to profit by the outrage if it should be successful. Indeed he is even an active abettor.

The attempt of the obstructionists in the House of Commons to refuse votes to Indians is not condemned by the history of our own Dominion, nor is it in accord with the policy that has been found to be beneficial in other parts of the Empire. We will not dwell upon India with its coloured officials, magistrates, and councillors, for it may be said that the circumstances are different. But the Maories of New Zealand are very similar in their habits, their qualifications and their position to our own Indians. And these aboriginal New Zealanders are not only allowed to vote for members, but even to sit in the Legislature, to their own great advance in civilization and to the advantage of the colony.

The obstructionists falsely claim that their leaders have to suffer as much from want of rest as the members of the Cabinet during the prolonged sessions by which the Reformers are conspiring to prevent the transaction of the public business. They do not take into account that the Ministers have to perform the duties with which they have been entrusted by the people of Canada, duties made greatly more onerous at present by the repression of the rising in the Northwest, while the chiefs of the parliamentary conspirators have only the intervals of participating in their childish but mischievous pranks, to spend a few minutes in choosing from the library shelves any book which will suit them to read aloud under the false pretence of discussion.

PARLIAMENTARY REBELS.

If those whom the people of Canada have placed at the head of their affairs had proposed to deny votes to Indians and to allow them to Chinese, what a howl would have arisen from the self-styled "Reformers." It would have been denounced as an outrage that the original lords of the soil, our ancient and loyal allies, should be placed below a horde of barbarian invaders. As, however, our Ministers proposed to enfranchise Indians, and not Chinese, these factious obstructionists denounce the reformers whom they have been inciting to rebel, and almost weep for sympathy with the Mongolian, whom they have been declaring it was an outrage even to allow to land upon our shores. It is sufficient that anything should be proposed by the Ministry and supported by those who constitutionally represent a majority of the people of Canada, for these factious opponents to attack it, right or wrong.

Lonely Death on the Prairie.

WINNIPEG, May 5.—Word has just reached the city on the finding of the body of a man named David Clark near Manitow, in Southern Manitoba. He was last seen in Manitow on the 20th ult., when he started home after the arrival of the train from Winnipeg. Search resulted in the discovery of his body on the road partly submerged in water. The parcels which he had been carrying were found near the body, and about $43 in cash remained in his pockets. Clark was subject to cramps and the general supposition is that he had become thoroughly exhausted by his tramp and was seized with cramps, which resulted in death. Deceased was an unmarried man, 45 years of age, and lived alone. He came to this country from Ramsey, Lennox, Ont. His brother at the Rocky Mountains has been telegraphed to and is expected to arrive in a few days to take charge of the farm and stock.

The Shrapnel Shell.

Rial's men, good marksmen as they are, find themselves no match for General Middleton's cannon. He has with him four nine-pounder Armstrongs, and his ammunition consists of shrapnel shot and shrapnel shell. When the gun is fired the flash ignites the fuse of the shell, which has been set to burst exactly to the range where the riflemen of the enemy are concealed. When the shell is 20 or 30 feet from the ground and about 80 feet from the ambush, the powder in the casing ignites and an explosion follows, the bullets raining down and into the place of concealment and supposed cover. The name of the shell is that of their inventor, Lieut. General Shrapnel, father of Major Shrapnel, Orléans. They were first used at the siege of St. Sebastian during the Peninsular War.—Orléans Packet.

Destructive Hailstorm in Virginia.

PETERSBURG, Va., May 3.—A hailstorm passed over this section on Friday afternoon, extending into North Carolina. In many places the growing cotton, corn and vegetables were destroyed, and farmers will be compelled to replant. Hail fell to the depth of 12 inches, and a whirlwind prevailed along the centre of the storm, blowing down barns, fences, and sheds. In Surrey county hail fell 18 inches, and drifted four feet.

TUESDAY, May 5.—A number of petitions were presented as to the Scott Act, some for and some against change.

THE MOUNTED POLICE.

SIR JOHN MACDONALD said he could not state that 220 recruits had been enlisted for the Mounted Police, and 141 horses had been bought for them.

MR. MILLS' STORY.

SIR J. MACDONALD said that one of the Commissioners, Mr. Street, reported that inquiry showed that it was not true that the halfbreeds having sold their scrip, had bought rifles and ammunition with the money. They had bought horses and cattle and paid part of their debts, and their wives had bought linen.

THE "GLOBE" CORRESPONDENT.

SIR R. CARTWRIGHT asked if it was true that the Globe correspondent had been dismissed from Gen. Middleton's camp.

Mr. CARON said he had heard nothing of it from Gen. Middleton or any other source but the newspapers. Of course the General had full control of his camp.

SIR R. CARTWRIGHT asked if it was true that the Mail correspondent had been allowed to attach himself to the Queen's Own, and that the Globe correspondent had been refused permission.

Mr. CARON said he had refused all such applications, including that of the Mail.

THE FRANCHISE BILL.

The House went into Committee on the Franchise Bill.

Mr. CHARLTON, on clause 3, as to the qualification of voters in cities and towns, moved an amendment to adopt the Provincial franchise.

He made a long speech on a great variety of subjects, including the Franchise Bill.

Mr. McDONALD (King's P. E. I.) moved an amendment to the amendment to preserve manhood suffrage in his Province.

Mr. CURRAN supported the bill, showing that a Dominion Franchise was contemplated by our constitution. He pointed out the liberal nature of the measure, and declared that it was acceptable to his Province.

The House adjourned at 1.30 a.m.

A HUMOROUS CLEVERNESS.

The Rev. T. W. Jeffrey Takes News-papers to Task for Their Criticisms.

Rev. T. W. Jeffrey is the pastor of the Queen street Methodist church, Toronto, and likewise a very funny man, given to joking and humorous, though edifying, discourses. Sunday night the Rev. T. W. got talking about the newspapers, and he said:—I have noticed during the past week in the newspaper articles dealing severely with preachers for not going to the Northwest. It is all very well for editors to sit behind the walls and write about the preacher but has one editor volunteered his services in the Northwest (Laughter) Not one.

"Again, they condemn our route, and say the soldiers should have been sent through the United States. Let the editors of the newspapers, and attempt to reach the Northwest by that means, and there will be fewer editors in the country. (Laughter.)

"Another point: They say that not a preacher volunteered to accompany the soldiers to the Northwest as a spiritual adviser. They are wrong. Half a dozen ministers offered their services, and they had no business to do so. I am a minister under orders. The president of the conference controls me. If he should say to me to-morrow, 'Go to the Northwest,' I would be ready to start at once. I would get there if I had to foot it every step of the way. We are no cowards. The history of the Methodist Church in the past proves this. If it were necessary a whole regiment of Methodist ministers could be organized for active service in the Northwest, and if they never fired a shot, anything else than a broomstick (laughter) they would do their best to keep up with the mounted police, or if they had never shot with anything else than a pop-gun (laughter) they would endeavor to handle a musket. When they left there might be more behind than before, but that opens a wild field for discussion. We are no cowards, and when the brothers of my order are needed, I am going to defend them. I will not let every fool in the country have his way without raising my voice.

"Another point: Some of the editors have to much knowledge. I read in one paper, last night, how the rebels might make such a movement and hem in the troops, and how the wires might be cut. Telling the rebels how they can cut our brave volunteers to pieces. If any of you have any influence with the editors, for God's sake use it."—Toronto News.

A FIERY FURNACE.

Many Lives Lost by the Burning of Factory in Brooklyn.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., May 5.—At 9.30 this morning fire was discovered in the engine room of the factory building, State street, Brooklyn, which occupies more than two-thirds of the block, running through to Atlantic street. A dozen manufacturing concerns had portions of the building, and employed 60 hands, chiefly young women, all of whom were at work in the five stories of the building. Before an alarm could be sounded, the inflammable, tinder-like wood work of the engine room was all ablaze, and the first flames who arrived found the stricken female operative crowding, shrieking wildly at the windows. Two wings of the factory running toward Atlantic avenue were the only portions not blazing, and the women might have been saved without difficulty if they had kept cool. Ladders were run up to them promptly, but the girls had already commenced throwing themselves out of the second, third and fourth story windows. The flames and volunteer life savers did their best to catch those who jumped, and none were badly hurt, though two were so much bruised that they were sent to the hospital. The foreman of the factory, who was also the engineer, was burned to death. He gave the alarm and returned to the building to aid in extinguishing the flames, which spread so rapidly that he was overcome and perished. He feared that ten women are in the ruins. The rear wall facing Atlantic avenue gave way, and four firemen were caught in the ruins. They were dug out as quickly as possible and taken to the hospital.

Later—it is now reported that between twenty and thirty lives were lost. The loss is estimated at $300,000.

A Fatal Fire.

A fire in a five-story tenement house in New York, early on Sunday morning, caused a panic among the occupants, many of whom were killed or injured in their frantic efforts to escape from the burning building. Fourteen people were taken to the hospital, of whom eight or nine were believed to be dead.

THE POSTAGE STAMP RECEIVER.

Crutch Donohue Remanded to the W.

Grand Jury for Right Days.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., May 6.—John, alias Crutch Donohue, was brought before Police Magistrate Hill at 2.30 p.m. yesterday. Mr. Sweetman, Canadian post-office inspector, was present, and stated that he was not prepared to go on with the case, and asked for a further remand of Donohue for eight days to enable him to procure witnesses from Peterborough and elsewhere. The remand was granted, and Donohue will be taken to the county jail at Welland in the morning.

BARBAROUS MURDER.

Twenty-five Jamaicans Murdered by Soldiers at Cuba.

PANAMA, May 5.—On Sunday night a fracas occurred between Jamaicans and national soldiers at Cuba. The soldiers were disarmed and afterwards retired. After promising reinforcements they returned and broke into the barracks where the Jamaicans were sleeping, and in a most barbarous manner killed 25 of them, and wounded 29. One Colombian was killed. The Jamaicans are leaving in great numbers. Their departure will delay the work on the canal.

Labour Riots in Illinois.

LYNN, May 4.—About a thousand strikers assembled at the depot this morning and went to Walker & Singer's quarries and routed them. Later four companies of militia and a detachment of cavalry "T" arrived from Joliet with Gen. Vance and Col. Bennett in command. The troops were met on the edge of the town by a mob of 300 or 400. Three companies formed front and charged up Mall street with fixed bayonets. The mob with wild shouting and obeying the main front with clubs and rocks. As the troops advanced the mob gave way to the side streets and hurled a shower of stones at them, and one fired a pistol. A Pole named Quinkowski was seriously injured. Further up the street the mob reformed and commenced hurling stones. The troops fired a volley and the rioters scattered. Andrew Stiller and John Taggart were killed. The troops then cleared the streets of bowling women and children. A number of soldiers were hurt by the flying missiles.

No Thought It was Correct.

"Have another piece of cake," said Johnny's mother to a female friend who was taking dinner with her.

"No, don't you do it," put in Johnny, "it'll make you sick!"

"Why, Johnny, ain't you ashamed of yourself to talk that way?"

"Well, mother, that's what you always tell me when I want another piece, and I bet I can get away with four times as much as Mrs. Green kin."—Kentucky State Journal.

Purify Your Well Water AND AVOID DISEASE BY USING BROOKSHIRE'S SCIENTIFIC PATENT FILTER FOR WELL PUMPS, ETC.

has received the right for Peterborough and vicinity for the manufacture of this New Filter, and is now preparing to supply the public with the same. The filter is made of plain boards, about 7 x 7 inches square on the inside, and from 3 to 5 feet long. It is filled with pulverized charcoal, coarse and fine, all of which are sold by the Public Analyst, to be among the best ingredients for filtering purposes; the two first and chemically, by absorbing the poisonous gases in the water, while the latter act mechanically, by taking hold of the coarser particles of organic matter contained in the water. This filter is very simple, cheap and is not liable to get out of repair. This filter, when attached at or near the bottom of a pump shaft or near the bottom of the pump where the water enters, in such manner that the water must pass through the several layers of purifying substance before it can enter the pump, the filter being filled with pulverized charcoal and coke and slag of iron, all of which are among the best materials for filtering purposes.

The Board has examined the model of a filter proposed by Mr. Brookshire to be attached to the water pump at or near the bottom of the pump where the water enters, in such manner that the water must pass through the several layers of purifying substance before it can enter the pump, the filter being filled with pulverized charcoal and coke and slag of iron, all of which are among the best materials for filtering purposes.

The Board recommends Mr. Brookshire's filter as simple and useful, which will do the work well and possessing likewise the merit of being easily attached and detached, and easily and cheaply removable after the lapse of a few months the shall have made a renewal of the filtering materials in the filter-box desirable.

E. H. SMYTHE, L.D., GEORGE M. GRANT, Mayor of Kingston. Principal, Queen's University. And the other members of the Board of Health.

THURSDAY, MAY 7, 1885.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Funeral.
The Rev. D. J. McDermott, R.A., pastor of St. Andrew's church, Toronto, formerly pastor of St. Andrew's church, Peterborough, has been chosen Moderator of the Toronto and Kingston Synod, now sitting at Cobourg.

No Bouts.
All who attended the last carnival at the Water street rink looking forward to spend another enjoyable evening on the 15th, when the second grand carnival will be held. Look out for the announcement of novelties. Something new.

The Contributions.
The amount realized in connection with the re-opening services of St. Paul's Church was $982.00. The contributions at the three services amounted to $432.00, and the social, bazaar and organ-recital netted $470.00.

Amateur Athletic Association.
The first of the Peterborough Amateur Athletic Association is over. The Post Office, next to the "Trunk" Navigation Office, and the academy may be found there every morning from 10 to 12.

P. M. C.
A special meeting of the Peterborough Boat-Club will be held at 7 o'clock this evening. The annual sale of canoe racks will be the principal business of the evening, and the members should turn out and make their racks.

The Probabilities.
The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Cloudy, mild weather, with showers, followed by partially clearing cooler weather towards night.

Have you Seen Them?
Our readers will do well to call and inspect the beautiful range of spring and summer suitings that are displayed at Habillment Hall. They are indeed handsome goods, and who made up cannot fail to please the most exacting man. A large consignment of Gent's Furnishings in every conceivable form is to be seen there, and young men who dress in the fashion should pay a visit to Habillment Hall, A. McNeil.

An Extensive Bait.
Mr. Theo. Hooper, the veteran dairyman, has taken a long lease of Mr. Zee. Bunn's farm in the townships, containing 200 acres, where he proposes carrying on the dairy business on a more extensive scale. We are pleased to note the enterprise of Mr. Hooper, as it will prove profitable to many customers. He announces in another column a reduction in the price of milk for the summer months from six to five cents per quart, commencing on the 15th of the present month, delivered by any part of the Town of Peterborough or the Village of Ashburnham.

For good value in White and Pink Mantles go to W. FAIRWEATHER & Co's.

The Claims of Mill Street.
Now that sidewalk building and street grading is, or shortly will be, the order of the day, we wish to draw the attention of the Town Council to a street that, although one of the most travelled in town, has long been left with but a parody of what it needs in a sidewalk accommodation and grading. The one we refer to is Mill Street. The town yearly draws more than $1,000 in taxes from the property situated on this street, between Hunter and London streets, and all the improvements that have been made on it for a good number of years are the building of a small bridge connecting it with Murray street, and a sidewalk extending up, from Hunter street, as far as where the old skating rink stood, in all costing not more than $450. Now, if the street be not put in a good condition (and it is badly in need of repair) the least thing that could be done is to extend the sidewalk through to London street. There are four factories situated on Mill street, and the employees, in rainy weather, have to trudge through mud almost ankle deep to get to and from their work. It is really shameful to see that the large number of girls who are employed in Bredt's Woolen Mills are compelled to pass daily along this street in the sticky spring season, and in rainy weather, without so much as a board to walk on. While petitions for sidewalks on other streets have been granted, those asking for an extension of sidewalk on this street have not been acted upon. It would indeed be a great boon to those having occasion to use this street if the Council decide to have this long needed work done.

POLICE COURT.

LAWRY.

TUESDAY, May 5.—At an afternoon session of the Court, R. W. Burral charged Stephen Moloney with having feloniously taken and carried away a sum of money amounting to $25, the property of the complainant. The prisoner pleaded not guilty.

According to the evidence taken it appeared that both parties, together with several others, boarded at Mr. J. L. Brown's, Simcoe street. Burral was in the habit of keeping his money in his trunk, and had on several previous occasions to the one complained of missed some of money. Lately, however, he missed $25 from his trunk, and determined on enquiry. It was found that Moloney was in possession of keys that would unlock not only the trunk of the complainant, but those of other boarders. Added to this he, though earning small wages, and having scarcely any money in his possession a short time ago, suddenly made payments for arrears in board, and had some $30 or $40 left. On the other hand, however, it was proved that he had received through his father the sum of $30, and had been paid his wages in a lump for some weeks back. The locks on the trunks referred to were of a common character and easily opened by any keys.

The Magistrate decided that the evidence was by no means strong enough to commit the prisoner for trial. He therefore dismissed the case.

DRUNKS AND DISORDERLIES.

WEDNESDAY, May 6.—By the appearance of things at the court this morning the town appears to have been indulging in a general revel last night. No fewer than five filed an appearance. John Cunningham and James Crowley were charged with having been drunk, and John Barrie, Charles Jewett and Francis Hickey were up for being drunk and disorderly. They all pleaded guilty to the charges with the exception of Jewett. Officer McGinty was called and this charge was proven.

The Magistrate said that there was getting to be too much drunkenness. Each offender was fined $3 or ten days in goal.

They all paid their fines with the exception Barrie, who preferred spending the alternative in "Castle Nesbit." P. C. Pigeon had three men, P. C. McGinty one, and P. C. Adams one.

VAGRANCY.

THURSDAY, May 6.—An infirm vagrant named Michael Kenny was re-committed to goal for a term of six months.

Went for It.

The young folks will do well to remember the grand carnival in the Lansdowne roller rink on Monday evening, May 26th. It will be the event of the season.

Notice.

On and after the 15th of May the undersigned will deliver fresh milk to any part of the Town of Peterborough or the village of Ashburnham at five cents per quart. Orders left at Long Bros. confectionery store will be faithfully executed. T. HOOPER & Son, Orono and Monaghan Dairies.

For neat and well-fitting Boots and Shoes for Summer wear we have the largest assortment in Peterborough. The only place that can supply the Patent Button Fly. Nothing so neat, and warranted not to tear. Ladies, please call and see them. Foor & McWHIRTER.

Disappointment.
Disappointment comes to one from time to time in spite of all that may be done to avert it. Sometimes it assumes the form of disappointment in business; sometimes in seeing a friend whom you have travelled miles to talk with; and again, man is often "backed" in his desire to accumulate wealth; very often (many know it to their sorrow) a young man is jilted, crowned in love, and consequently sorely disappointed; he then, as a rule, grows older very fast, has a far-away, dreamy look about him, and altogether becomes a completely changed man. This leads his friends to notice his every act, fearful that he might possibly commit some act of self-destruction. Eventually, however, Nature overcomes all these silly whims, and a lost and young man resumes his daily routine of avocation just as if nothing had occurred. Perhaps, secondary to disappointment in love, he is to be disappointed in getting a good fit in a suit of clothes. No one will be disappointed on this score if they patronize A. McNEIL, at Habillment Hall.

For a complete assortment of Boots, Shoes and Slippers, see Foor & McWHIRTER. Good value in all lines.

Millinery Engagement of Interest to the Ladies.

It will be of considerable interest to the ladies of Peterborough to know that Messrs. Fair, VanEvery & Co., of the Golden Lion, have concluded an engagement with Miss Sample to take charge of their extensive Millinery and Mantle Department. Miss Sample begins her engagement at once. It is scarcely necessary to say more than predict that under such a manager the ladies of Peterborough will give a still larger preference in future to the Golden Lion for their millinery and mantle requirements. Miss Sample has not only the advantage of a lengthened experience in this branch of business, but by years of careful study has acquired a valuable knowledge of the particular tastes and requirements of many of the ladies of Peterborough and vicinity, with whom she has transacted business on her own account in the past. Doubtless her old customers will desire to follow her in her new sphere, where, with ample material at her command, she will have every facility for keeping the Golden Lion busier than ever with orders throughout the season.

SALASO & BROS.

KIDNAP.

From Our Own Correspondent.

DISORDERLY.—The disturbance on Sunday evening last was very disgraceful and ought to be stopped. We understand the party who acted so disorderly in the Methodist Church is to be brought before our J.P. and taught a lesson, which he richly deserves.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.—All work is now over except painting and cleaning up. Mr. Fitzgerald has shown his ability as a very fine builder, and besides we are sorry to lose him from our midst. The work, put in by a Belleville contractor, are very good also. Mr. J. M. Kerr is at present painting. It is expected that the church will be opened on the first Sunday in June.

SHIRTLESS.—A subscription list was started on Saturday evening to supply our boys with a few home comforts, and by Tuesday night it amounted to nearly $80. Three cases were sent away consisting of:—Tobacco (smoking and chewing), pipes, cigars, pocket knives, boot laces, flannel toothbrushes, socks, shirts, handkerchiefs, hair brush, hand glass, combs, saddle powder, coat plaster, Vaseline Cold Cream, extract coffee, tea, ginger, Outdoors outfit, Fowler's New Wild Strawberry, Perry Davis' Pain Killer, Johnston's Field Dressing, soap, cough drops, cans of peaches, tomatoes, salmon, lobsters, sardines, mustard and pickles, honey, &c., &c.

SAFETY.—A letter from Pte. Wellock, who is in the Northwest with the volunteers, brought the sad news that Mr. Harry Brenton, a Keweenaw boy, and who lived for some time in Peterborough, was burned to death in a fire in Brandon about two weeks before the boys went through. Pte. Wellock says that, when passing through Brandon, he enquired for Harry and was told the news which has been received here with sorrow.

L. O. L.—The Orange Lodge will hold a regular meeting on Thursday evening next. Full attendance requested.

STILL DRILLING.—No. 4 company held a drill, as usual, on Saturday night, and there was a large turn-out. Bugler Dickson has returned from the Infantry School, Toronto, where he had been for three months. He made good progress in the school and is well advanced. The training has made an improvement in his appearance, as he bears himself like a veteran soldier.

PERSONAL.—We regret to learn that Mrs. Saxsmith, the wife of the Rev. V. Saxsmith, Hiawatha, is ill, and hope for her speedy recovery.

ART TO SEE THE NEW PATTERNS IN PRINTS AT W. FAIRWEATHER & Co's.

DUNKER.

From Our Own Correspondent.

THE WEATHER.—Spring has come at last. The ground is drying fast, and farmers have commenced seeding. But the weather has not been very good for sugar making, sap not running so well as in other years.

THE ALIAS.—Weddings seem to have been the rage for the past winter. During the last few days two have taken place: Mr. Francis Longshore to Miss Matilda Hicks, and Mr. George Matthews to Miss Maria Elliott. The Rev. W. W. Lloyd, of Warsaw, officiated in both cases.

THE TOWER.—Died, on Sunday, April 25, Willie Edwards, aged 3 years, son of Mr. Samuel Edwards, of Dumfries. The funeral took place on Tuesday, April 28, and proceeded to the Methodist burying ground, Dumfries.

EDISON HOLY.—The following is a report of the standing of pupils in S.S. No. 4, Dumfries, the names being arranged in the order of merit, Chas. Russell, teacher:—
4th class—Willie Payne, Robt. Tedford, Emma Payne, T. J. Crowe, J. J. White, Mary Hughes, Wm. J. Crowe.
3rd class—John Crowe, Milton Grant, Eddie Fletcher, Lillie Raynolds.
2nd class, Jr.—Wm. Tedford, Alex. Darling, Richard Crowe, Clara Payne.
2nd class, Jr.—Percy Raynolds, Willie Carveth.
1st class, part 2—Beatrice Crowe, George Raynolds, Archie Carveth, James Dods.

"The Silent Man."
They tell many stories in Vienna to prove the stress of Hans Markat's title, "The silent man." On one occasion a gentleman, after remaining two hours with him, was sent outside of the painter's house by a friend of his, who asked him what they had talked about. "Oh," replied he, "we were silent over everything the whole time." At a dinner party, at which Hans Markat was one of the guests, he was seated at the side of a pretty and lively actress. The lady tried all her arts to bring out the painter in conversation, but did not obtain a word from him throughout the repast, to the amusement of the other guests, who watched her fruitless endeavours. At dessert, somewhat piqued at her ill-success, she looked at Markat and exclaimed aloud, "Suppose we talk of something else now?"

Gold Medal Ale.
If you want a glass of Leabett's prize medal ale (special brewing) call at W. H. Chamberlain's Parlour Restaurant. ALMOST FIRST HANDS!

We buy for every use, of every sort of people.

We buy whatever is best and popular in the current market.

Whoever buys largely buys well—as we have the trade to take the goods.

We buy to sell again—buy with business foresight.

It is scarcely necessary to say we buy with advantage, wherever we sell.

It is in the business of buying and selling we find our little to commend.

THE RESULT.
There is one place where everything is sold—Dry Goods—at the same prices for little or much.

Daily Evening Review

FRIDAY, MAY 8, 1885.

THE R. B. WHISTLE AGAIN.

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—There is apparently no hope of any abatement of the terrible nuisance occasioned by the steam whistle; in fact it seems to be getting worse, especially during the night season.

Every morning between 3 and 4, sometimes soon after 4 a.m., a train comes in whose driver announces his approach by a long, loud shriek. As soon as it gets into the town, and close to our houses, this driver commences shouting and whistling, and this operation is carried on for a considerable time. Then at about five o'clock another train comes in, creating a similar disturbance, and so on, hour after hour, until we rise more fatigued, from broken rest, than when we went to bed.

The above remarks refer solely to the Midland R.R., the one employed on which are ten times as noisy as those engaged on the O. & Q., and we can understand why this is so.

The manager of the O. & Q., as may be noticed frequently in the Toronto papers, has done all he could to mitigate, if not altogether get an end to, the whistle nuisance; while, on the other hand, the manager of the Midland either has no control over the employees of that line, or, if he has such control, does not choose to exert it.

Neither do we get any help from the Town Council. They adopted some sort of a by-law on the subject a long time ago, but whatever its nature is, it is evidently a dead letter.

Yours, etc.,
A RATEPAYER.

Military Engagement of Interest

It will be of considerable interest to the ladies of Peterborough to know that Messrs. Fair, VanEvery & Co., of the Golden Lion, have concluded an engagement with Miss Temple to take charge of their extensive Millinery and Mantle Department. Miss Temple begins her engagement at once. It is scarcely necessary to say more than predict that under such a manager the ladies of Peterborough will give a still larger preference in future to the Golden Lion for their millinery and mantle requirements. Miss Temple has not only the advantage of a long and varied experience in this branch of business, but by years of careful study has acquired valuable knowledge of the particular tastes and requirements of many of the ladies of Peterborough and vicinity, with whom she has transacted business on her own account in the past. Doubtless her old customers will desire to follow her to her new sphere, where, with ample material and assistance, she will have every facility for coping with the Golden Lion better than ever with orders throughout the season.

GENERAL CABLE NEWS.

A CONFERENCE POSTPONED.

LONDON, May 7.—The conference between Earl Granville and Baron de Staal, arranged for to-day, on the Afghan boundary question, was postponed, as Baron de Staal is awaiting communications from St. Petersburg.

ENGLAND PREPARED.

LONDON, May 7.—Earl Granville, in the House of Lords this afternoon, replying to a motion by the Opposition for the production of papers in the Russian controversy, said:—I do not believe that if England was going to wage war against Russia, we should wage it at a disadvantage and with every advantage in favour of Russia. Earl Granville denied the Government's military policy had been a constant failure, and denied also that Russia would go to Herat. The motion for the production of papers was withdrawn.

GEN. LUMSDEN.

LONDON, May 7.—In the House of Commons this afternoon Lord Edmund Fitzmaurice said the instructions sent to Gen. Lumsden do not cancel his appointment. He has been summoned to London to advise the Government about the frontier. The Boundary Commission's report will remain with Gen. Lumsden, who will carry on the work of the Commission.

RUSSIA'S GUARANTEE.

LONDON, May 7.—Negotiations continue on the demand of Earl Granville that Russia's assurances that her troops will not advance to Herat shall take the form of a treaty. It is reported that the Russian Government is preparing a treaty of such intention in a sufficient pledge. M. de Giers has instructed Gen. Komaroff to prepare a detailed report of the advance on Peshawar as a basis for reference to the arbitrator.

THE RUSSIAN PROGRAMME.

PARIS, May 7.—The Republique Francaise predicts that the Afghan, aggravated by heavy taxation, will rebel, and that anarchy will reign in Herat, thus giving the Russians the opportunity to intervene on the pretext of establishing order in the name of the Emperor. The present peace, the Republique thinks, is only a truce.

THE FINE CREEK BATTLE.

Extract from a Letter of a Volunteer Who Took Part in the Engagement.

The following extract is taken from a letter written by Mr. M. B. Orde, of the 90th battalion, to his family in Peterborough—

Fine Creek, April 25.

I will give you as good an account as possible of what I went through from the night before: At 7 o'clock I fell in for picket to lay in ambush about a quarter of a mile from camp, and was there until next morning, when at five o'clock we had breakfast; at 7 o'clock the battalion marched with two guns of Quebec Battery. We had marched about 5 miles, when we were met with a heavy fire from the enemy. We were immediately formed into skirmishing order, and ordered to advance. The enemy kept retreating through the bluffs, and we followed them up, they having the advantage of us, as we were in the open prairie and they in the bush. We had to live wherever we saw smoke issuing. We kept driving them back, although it was only improving their position, as they had picked out the strongest it was possible to attain. We could not drive them out, as it was a kind of pit surrounded with trees, and we were in the open. I was astonished to find how cool I felt, and even when the bullets were whizzing around my head I did not realize how dangerous it was. There were two fellows shot, one on each side of me. A bullet passed close through one fellow's side and came out through his breast, and the other one got a bullet through his thigh; I crawled up to him and asked him if he would have some water, and in going for some, I lost my rifle and had to go right round behind our line of fire to the hospital corps to get a wounded man's rifle, and a few minutes after my return Lieutenant Swinford, of my company, was shot in the forehead. I could tell you many interesting events, but have not time, but I am now witnessing all the horrors of war I have read of, and when I saw the bodies of those who were shot, I felt a great deal worse than when I was in the midst of the fight. The poor fellows were buried with their uniforms on and their blankets wrapped around them.

COL. KENNEDY'S FUNERAL.

The Prince of Wales and Lord Wolseley represented at the Obsequies.

LONDON, May 7.—Col. Kennedy, of the Canadian voyageurs, who died here, was buried yesterday in Highgate Cemetery.

Rev. Mr. Graves, president of the Wesleyan Conference, performed the funeral rites. The body was carried to the grave by eight voyageurs, the remainder of the contingent following the coffin. Three volleys of musketry were fired over the grave. The funeral was attended by special representatives of the Prince of Wales, the Duke of Cambridge, and General Wolseley. The funeral was very imposing. The firing of volleys over the grave was done by three hundred men from the Essex Regiment. The Duke of Cambridge sent a wreath to be placed on the bier. Lord Wolseley telegraphed a special message of condolences. It is now supposed that Kennedy contracted the smallpox from which he died in Douglas.

Revival of Slave Trade in Kentucky.

RICHMOND, Ky. May 6.—An immense crowd gathered in front of the court house yesterday to witness a public sale of negroes into slavery to the highest bidder. One man brought $38 for twelve months' service; one $14 for three months and a woman 25 cents for twelve months. The sales were made under the vagrant laws of the state.

A LONG-FORGOTTEN BOX, containing valuable precious stones, presented to President Monroe in 1823 by the Japanese Government, was accidentally brought to light on Wednesday in the Treasury vaults at Washington.

Scott's Emulsion of Pure Cod Liver Oil

With Hypophosphites.

Has all the virtues of these two most powerful remedies. Made into a form that is very palatable and acceptable to the most sensitive stomach, and, without doubt, unequalled, as a combined food and remedy for lung troubles, and wasting conditions.

Field Lightning.

Field Lightning is the only cure for Toothache, Headache, Earache and Neuralgia. It does not take a day or an hour to cure it, but in less than a minute all pain is gone. Thousands have tested its merits within the last year. Field Lightning is also a positive cure for Rheumatism. The worst possible cases have been permanently cured in one week. Price, 25c. at John McKee's Drug Store.

THE REBEL INDIANS' POSITION

FURTHER NEWS REGARDING COLONEL OTTER'S FIGHT WITH THEM

The File Hill Indians Repentant—The Prosecutions taken Against the Boundary—The News of Col. Kennedy's Death Reaches the Camp.

CALGARY, May 7.—It is stated that Captain Stewart, who is in command of 200 Mountain Rangers in the Cypress Hills district, near the American frontier, has offered a reward of one thousand dollars for the capture of Riel, if the latter should attempt to escape across the boundary.

THE NORTHCOVE AT FISH CREEK.

FISH CREEK, via Humboldt May 6.—The steamer Northcove and barge arrived here this morning with large quantities of supplies and a portion of the Midland battalion and a Gatling gun in charge of Capt. Howard, U.S.A. The vulnerable parts of the Northcove will be barbed with timber when going down the river. She will move simultaneously with a small force of troops by land either to-morrow or next day.

COL. KENNEDY'S DEATH.

The news of the death of Col. Kennedy, commander of the 90th, in London, England, was received to-day. The officers assembled and passed resolutions of regret and condolence with the family. Col. Kennedy's two sons leave for Winnipeg to-day.

THE FILE HILL INDIANS.

FORT QU'APPELLE, May 6.—Lieut. Col. O'Brien, after several hours' search, returned unable to capture the File Hill Indians who stole horses and plundered settlers' houses. Subsequently the Indians sent for Col. O'Brien, A. McDonald, Hudson's Bay company's factor, and Allen Macdonald, Indian agent, to meet them at a half-breed's named Fisher. These gentlemen proceeded to the place named, where they found the Indians in waiting. Indian Agent Macdonald read Governor Dewdney's proclamation, when they agreed to return to their reserves and to give up the stolen horses, and to restore all articles appropriated from the settlers. Little faith is, however, placed upon the promises, as the sentries were fired upon last night.

PONDMARKER'S POSITION.

BATTLEFORD, May 7.—Col. Otter has not yet decided on his plans for the future. The attack on Pondmarker must be renewed, but cannot be without reinforcements. The scouts sent out to reconnoitre their position returned to-day and reported that he is still at Old Knife Hill, where Saturday's battle occurred. It is believed that his loss has been heavy. It is not known whether Big Bear is with Pondmarker or not.

A GALLANT ACTION.

Daily Evening Review

FRIDAY, MAY 8, 1885.

THE "GLOBE" AND CLERGYMEN.

There is perhaps no class of people in the world to whom a spotless reputation and freedom from the imputation of wrong motives is so necessary as clergymen. Their duties are such that it is necessary that they should have the confidence of the people whom they desire to instruct with regard to spiritual matters, and anything which tends to shake that confidence hinders the progress of their work and of the church. Not long ago the Toronto Globe took part in a discussion which was started in the United States press, as to whether it was advisable for clergymen to take an active part in political affairs, and the Reform organ argued with considerable warmth that to do so would be advisable and proper. It then urged the clergymen's rights as a citizen, and even argued that on account of his profession it was often his duty to speak out in regard to political questions.

We believe we are safe in saying that in no profession and among no class of men will be found more loyalty to country and Queen than among the clergymen of Canada. One reverend gentleman in Montreal, evidently judging from his reported remarks, believing that the Reform press was showing too much sympathy with the rebels, or at least pursuing a course that tended to give them encouragement, rebuked the organs of that party. The report of his remarks having reached the Globe it appears to have viewed the question of clergymen taking part in political discussion in a different light. Its anger was fierce, and its language was such that it is now said that the clergymen in question, the Rev. Dr. Potts, intended to enter an action against it. The Globe, however, was not satisfied with slandering Dr. Potts alone, but attacked the clergymen wholesale in the following words:

"There are clergymen in Canada of whom it may be truthfully said, that had they served their God with half the zeal with which they have served Sir John Macdonald, it would to-day be better for themselves and better for their country."

Those friends of the Globe who remember how it urged the clergymen's right to take part in political affairs will no doubt be astonished at its language now, and the people will resent this attack upon members of a profession which a vast majority of the people of this Dominion look upon with a feeling deeper than respect.

A Prince Edward Island paper, a supporter of the Reform party, brings forward another charge against the Dominion Government. It says it is "a too economical Government."

In a limited sense, the charge is perfectly true. In the matter of giving information to Parliament the Dominion Government is very economical.—London Advertiser.

The Prince Edward Island paper did not refer to the efforts of the Opposition to have information made public that would be useful to the rebels. It referred to monetary matters. The Reformers, however, have shown that they are profuse with sympathy for the rebels, with words and with reckless statements, while they are very economical of patriotism, of argument and of truth.

The Reform papers are urging that Found-maker, Big Bear, "and other murderers of our volunteers," should not be given the franchise. Well, the Government does not intend to do so. But are not the half breeds murderers of our volunteers? They demand the franchise, and the Reform press says their demand is just. The Reformers are not consistent, but they seldom are. They can change their ground as quickly as the half breeds who retreated from Fish Creek.

CAMPELLEFORD.

THE VOLUNTEERS.—At a meeting called for the purpose of raising funds to supply luxuries for the volunteers in the Northwest, $244 was subscribed. The list was left open.

ARM BROKEN.—Mrs. Henry Shore, who resides on the hill, near the Roman Catholic Church, fell as she was walking from the house to the stable on Tuesday last, and broke her arm. The fracture is between the wrist and elbow of the left arm.

DIED FOR HIS COUNTRY.—The mounted policeman Gervais, of Ottawa, who was killed at Fort Pitt, is a nephew of Dr. McKee, of Campbellford. The deceased was only 19 years of age. He was six feet high, weighed 180 pounds, and was very powerful. He had been in the mounted service three years.—Herald.

FEROACITY OF THE ARABS.—The correspondent of the London Times writing from the advance post of the British army in the Sudan, says: "The Arabs seem to be more like wild beasts than human beings. Even women and children fight in their ranks, and when our men sought to afford aid to some of the enemy who could not walk, the latter crawled towards them with the apathy between their teeth, striving yet to slay a Kaffir. These traits somewhat diminish the sympathy which we should otherwise feel for such brave antagonists. Were their ferocity shown in the heat of battle it would be excusable, but these wretched hours after were animated by a fiendish desire to injure those who sought to relieve their sufferings. Even the noblest animals have some idea of gratitude, and Arabs must henceforth be regarded in the light of the most savage of the worst description of beasts of prey. The fact is they are meddled into brutality by fanaticism."

Tough—Either the Cow or Story.—One day last week John McIntyre, 4th co., Regiment, was chasing one of his cows out of the yard when the animal ran against a pile of wood, in doing which her shoulder struck a cedar stick, twenty inches long and about as big around as a man's wrist at the largest end and very little less at the smaller end. The cow struck the stick with such force that it was driven up between the collar bone and ribs until it almost protruded from her back close to the spine on the opposite side from which it had entered. Veterinary Surgeon James Hughes was summoned and proceeded to remove the stick by cutting into the cow's back until the point was laid bare. After trying in vain to remove the stick by hand a notch was cut in it and a horse hitched on and after quite a strong pull the stick was withdrawn. Strange to say the cow is doing well, and seems to feel little the worse for her rough usage.—Mount Forest Express.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT

THE THIRD SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT OF CANADA.

Half-breed Complaints.—The Franchise Bill—Increasing the Mounted Police—Gait in Toronto and Chicago.

WEDNESDAY, May 6.—One petition was presented against the Franchise Bill.

REFORM COMPLAINTS.

Mr. BLAKE complained because a return as to half-breed complaints had been delayed to furnish later papers, for which he had asked, and also complained because other papers had not been brought down.

THE NORTHWEST RIFLES.

Mr. MITCHELL asked if there was any further report as to the engagement of the force under Col. Otter.

Mr. CARON said there was a confirmation of previous reports with no further details. Later Sir John Macdonald read the report from Col. Herchmer.

THE FRANCHISE BILL.

Mr. YEO in committee on the Franchise Bill supported the amendment of Mr. Macdonald to retain manhood suffrage in Prince Edward Island, and condemned the bill.

Mr. FISHER spoke against the bill, and also against time.

Mr. HACKETT favoured the retention of the Provincial Franchise, especially in Prince Edward Island.

PUBLIC BUSINESS.

Sir JOHN MACDONALD, after recess, moved that the committee rise and report, so as to enable them to proceed with some other measures and send them up to the Senate.

Mr. BLAKE grumbled at the Franchise Bill not being proceeded with, and thought other business of importance should not be taken up without notice.

PRISON LABOR.

Mr. CARON moved the second reading of a bill to authorize the employment of prisoners outside the walls.

The bill was read a second and third time and passed.

THE LIBRARIAN.

Sir JOHN MACDONALD moved the house into Committee on Resolutions to appoint a General and a Parliamentary Librarian besides other arrangements of the staff reducing the expenses.

Mr. BLAKE and Sir RICHARD CARSWORTH objected.

Sir H. LARGIER and Sir J. MACDONALD pointed out the advantage of the change.

After some further discussion and Resolution was carried and a bill founded out it was introduced.

THE MOUNTED POLICE.

Sir J. MACDONALD moved the first reading of the bill from the Senate respecting the increase of the Northwest Mounted Police.

THE TREASURY BOARD.

The bill to amend the constitution of the Treasury Board was read a second and third time and passed.

WEIGHTS AND MEASURES.

Mr. CORTIS moved the second reading of the bill to amend the Weights and Measures Act.

Mr. IRVING and Mr. CHARLTON wanted the weight for oats to be 32 lbs., as in the United States, instead of 34 lbs. as proposed, the latter saying that the price of oats would appear higher in Canada to the advantage of the N. F.

Mr. WALLACE said that even making an allowance for the difference of weight and for freight, the price of oats in Toronto was 5 cents a bushel higher than in Chicago.

The bill was reported and after some further discussion and the House rose.

A DISTINGUISHED RUSSIAN.

Gen. Komaroff's services in the East—He is entitled to Promotion.

Gen. Komaroff distinguished himself by military tact, audacity, and resourcefulness as well as personal bravery in the Russo-Turkish campaign in Asia Minor in 1877, when he won his present rank of General. After the capture of Ardahan, near the Russo-Turkish frontier, Col. Komaroff was left in command of a detachment which had the difficult duty of defending a considerable tract of the neighboring mountainous country, and of protecting the Russian frontier as well as covering the flank and rear of the army then operating against Kara.

When the movement urged by Lord Metikoff was made against Erzerum, Col. Komaroff executed a very bold and successful maneuver. With a flying squadron he advanced from Ardahan, passed rapidly round the enemy's flank, and came down upon a part of the Turkish force which was holding the Pasnak Pass on the Sebastopol range, which commanded access to the town of Oidi, on the Northern side, whence the Turks intended to attack Ardahan. Col. Komaroff's unexpected appearance had such an effect that the enemy retreated at once without fighting, and the Russians were enabled to occupy Pasnak and Oidi, and to capture 1,000 rifles and 500,000 cartridges.

When a subsequent period of the campaign the Russian troops were ordered to retire from Madj-Vall, Col. Komaroff, with his detachment, found himself placed in a very perilous position by reason of the withdrawal of the main column of the Russian force, from which he became separated by a distance of from four to five miles, while he was exposed to Turkish fire from the twin heights of Great and Little Yalta. By a dash he drove off the 800 Turkish cavalry who held the Great Yalta, and the body of his own men in their place, and under cover of their fire brought the main body of his own force round the eastern slope of the hill, where after a time they were joined by reinforcements from the Russian army under the very nose of the enemy, and the whole was enabled to retire in order.

During the attack of the Turks on the night of July 11 (Aug. 1) upon the Russian camp at Kourouk Darg, Col. Komaroff, at this date Gen. Komaroff, for he had already been promoted to that rank, was charged with a detachment to take upon a position at Mount Karakal, four versts from the Russian camp, and there to act at his own discretion. It was on this occasion that he received a wound in the breast, which, however, did not prove serious, the bullet having struck a religious medal which he wore. Gen. Komaroff subsequently took part in the storming of Kara, and contributed on unimportant share in that celebrated action. At the conclusion of the war he was made commander of Batoum, on the Bosphorus, and after the Akhal Teke expedition he was placed in command of the Trans-Caspian army. The Russians attribute the peaceable annexation of Merv in a large measure to Gen. Komaroff's tact and skill in other than military matters.

Short Acquitted.

NEW YORK, May 6.—In the case of Short, charged with murdering assassin upon Capt. Patton, after counsel had summed up, the judge briefly charged the jury, which retired and returned in two hours with a verdict of "Not guilty." Short's friends set up a tremendous shout, but were quickly quieted by the officers. The verdict was a complete surprise to everybody. The judge frowned in indignation and amazement, and said: "Gentlemen I am astonished at your verdict. You are discharged from all further service on this panel." Short was immediately discharged, and was warmly congratulated by his friends.

CHOICE MAPLE SYRUP

AT THE

METROPOLITAN GROCERY

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

A DANGEROUS POLICY.

The policy of obstruction resorted to by the Liberal party on the franchise question is an irritating and dangerous policy. To see the rights of minorities for the purpose of blocking the business of the House is most unwise as well as unparliamentary, and if persisted in, is sure to lead, sooner or later, to restriction of the freedom of debate. —Montreal Herald (Indep.)

ACTING WISELY.

Gen. Middleton has been blamed for not proceeding quickly forward with the men under his command. It is well known that he believed that troops would be forwarded in detachments, and that small bodies of men could be easily defeated. A few victories over advancing parties, with plunder, consisting of provisions, arms, ammunition, and horses, which would be secured, might be the strongest possible inducement to other bands of Indians and half breeds to join the insurrection. Knowing the insuperable disaster which a defeat would bring on, perhaps Gen. Middleton has done wisely in advancing with a strong force in such a condition as will insure success and command respect. —Birtle, N. W. T., Observer.

THE INDIAN FRANCHISE.

The enfranchisement of the Indian male adults on mass would undoubtedly affect the country injuriously, but so far nobody has proposed to do anything of the kind. Sir John Macdonald's Bill only provides that an Indian shall for the future be a "person" within the meaning of the Bill. It does not enfranchise a man because he is an Indian, it only provides that he shall not be disfranchised because he is an Indian. The same qualification are required of the Indian voter as of the white voter. —Montreal Star (Indep.)

BLOCKING LEGISLATION.

The Liberal party in the House of Commons is not gaining any credit to itself by the course it is pursuing with regard to the Franchise Bill. It is not contending for a great principle; it is not even fighting for what it believes in. Its conduct is simply factional and it is pursuing a policy of pure obstruction. The object of its leader is to gain a party advantage, which, if gained, would be of no benefit either to the country or to the Liberal party. —Montreal Herald (Indep.)

INJUDICIOUS GRIT POLITICIANS.

It is to be regretted that the injudicious action of a few political wire pullers in Montreal should have misled the Ontario journals into the belief that there was dissension among the French Canadians. The expression at the Chabousses Square meeting seemed to give a color of foundations for this impression. Disloyalty, however, is an imputation which certainly does not rest on the Ontario or Lower Canada, who have proved their faithfulness to the British institution which they have accepted constantly since the revolutionary war. This fact is well recognized by the English speaking fellow citizens. —Ottawa Sun (Indep.)

TIRED OF THEM.

The Globe is also surprised because its cry has not the effect of arousing the country. Everybody is tired of the Globe's tirades, and out for any attention to the charges. —Toronto News (Indep.)

WILLFUL MISREPRESENTATION.

The Globe is incorrigible. It accuses Judge Cameron of insisting that the decision was right and the unanimous reversal by the Supreme Court wrong. The Globe's own report of his Lordship's address shows that he stated that he must be wrong, as the Supreme Court had reversed his decision, but what his Lordship contended was the statement that in giving that decision he had been influenced by improper motives. Responsible Reformers have reported the statements to their conferees at Port Hope in this matter—what will they say of the Globe's more unjustifiable attack, with Judge Cameron's defence before it, which is the cool deliberation of long past years, willfully misquoting in the order to ban thereon a new vilification of the Bench. —Orillia Packet.

LAKEFIELD.

From Our Own Correspondent.

UNWELCOME EXCURSIONISTS.—Three young men spent Sunday afternoon in driving as hard as they could go through our village, singing and swearing at the top of their voices. As the names of these three promising youths are known, it is to be hoped that the village authorities will take proceedings against them. It is a pity we are not provided with a lock up, as a night in such a place would teach those persons that though out of Peterborough, they are still within the grasp of the law. The unwelcome excursionists from the county town are unfortunately too frequent during the summer, and should be stopped.

ANNUAL PILGRIMAGE.—The Revue and Councilors were engaged on Monday in going their annual round of the streets, throughout the corporation.

WOOLLEN FACTORY.—Messrs. Gemmell and McKee are putting the machinery into position in their new factory, and hope to start operations about the first of next month.

A NEW CHURCH.—The Rev. Father Laurent and another Roman Catholic priest paid the village a visit on Tuesday, for the purpose of selecting a suitable site for a church.

THE CRUISE.—The steamer Cruiser has been painted inside and out, and thoroughly overhauled. Captain Eden will be in command of one of the fastest and most comfortable boats on our lakes this summer.

BOUTON'S SCOUTS.—A subscription list is being circulated throughout this village soliciting contributions to purchase some valuable and useful articles to present to Major Bouton, commanding Bouton's Scouts in the North-west. Our villagers wish to show the gallant major that they have not forgotten their old reeve and fellow townsman, and to express in a substantial manner their admiration of his pluck and dash during the engagement at Fish Creek, where he had two horses shot under him. A committee has been formed consisting of the following, to whom any in Peterborough or the county who wish to join in this movement may forward their subscriptions:—R. O. Strickland, Esq., Warden of the county, A. Bell, Esq., clerk of the village of Lakefield, John Davidson, Esq., ex-Reeve, George Cochrane, Esq., Government Inspector of Fisheries, W. H. Cochrane, Esq., post master, Lakefield.

ENHARMORE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

APRIL NORM.—After a severe winter an early spring is generally expected, although in the present year it has been the reverse, April, with the exception of a few days of unusual heat, being a cold, severe month. From the 1st to the 19th inclusive on only one morning, the 9th, did the thermometer rise to the freezing point. From the 19th to the 26th we had a very hot spell, on the 23rd at 3 p.m. reaching 83° in the shade, when again a cold wave set in, bearing out to the end of the month. Rain fell on 7 days to the depth of 2 and 7-10th of an inch. Snow fell on 5 days to the depth of 15 and 7-10th of an inch, the severest storm being on the 28th, from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m., falling 6 inches and 2-10th of an inch. The mean temperature of the month at sunrise and sunset was 37° and 44°. Sea waves made their first appearance on the 3rd, drove on the 7th, robed on the 15th, wild ducks on the 18th, and frage were first heard on the 22nd. At sunrise during the month the wind has been in the different points, the respective number of days being, north 5 days, east 9 days, north-east 3 days, south-west 6 days, north-west 3 days, south-east 2 days, north 2 days, and west 2 days.

LABOR AND CHOR.—Ploughing, seeding, and all kinds of farm work is progressing slowly, with the certainty of a late spring. Fall wheat has done well so far, but is now undergoing a severe ordeal, owing to the frosty nights and hot sun through the day.

HONOR ROLL.—The following is the honor roll of S. S. No. 4, Enhamore, for April:—

HALL'S VEGETABLE

Hair Renewer.

Seldom does a popular remedy win such a strong hold upon the public confidence as has

HALL'S HAIR RENEWER. The cases in which it has accomplished a complete restoration of color to the hair, and vigorous health to the scalp, are innumerable.

Old people like it for its wonderful power to restore to their whitening locks their original color and beauty. Middle-aged people like it because it prevents them from getting bald, keeps dandruff away, and makes the hair grow thick and strong. Young ladies like it as a dressing because it gives the hair a beautiful glowy lustre, and enables them to dress it in whatever form they wish. Thus it is the favorite of all, and it has become so simply because it disappoints no one.

SATURDAY, MAY 9, 1885.

TALKING TREASON.

The Reform party was without a policy. It had been twice defeated on the tariff question. The country still retained the Government's Pacific Railway policy. They could find no reasonable grounds on which to demand from the country the dismissal of the Conservatives. The Reform party was in despair.

Despite often leads to desperate measures. It is said that the Indians of the prairie, on account of the results of the disappearance of the buffalo and their natural habits, were almost in despair, and were therefore more easily influenced by the rebel leader Riel. The Reform leaders were hungry for office, but they do not risk their personal safety in trying to secure it. They do risk the safety of their country, however. They think more of office than of Canada.

The desperate man who does a desperate deed generally looks about for a pretext, and if he is crafty he finds the pretext first. The leaders of the Reform party are crafty. They make the Franchise Bill the pretext for their violent speeches and their scarcely disguised treasonable utterances. They hope that the defeat of the Franchise Bill will lead to the downfall of the Government, and the placing of themselves in office. They threaten confederation if the Franchise Bill is not defeated.

That their opposition to this Bill is not sincere is shown by the fact that they misrepresent its provisions. If the Bill was objectionable, they would only have to attack it fairly, and when they resort to falsehood, they are doing, they show the weakness of their case and the hollowness of their pretensions. They are trying to get up an agitation by making violent speeches backed by false statements.

A meeting was held in Belleville the other evening to protest against the Franchise Bill. Speeches were made and resolutions adopted protesting against what only existed in the minds of the speakers and protesters and their friends. The usual amount of misrepresentation was indulged in by all the speakers, and treasonable threats were made. One gentleman, a paid agent of the party sent from Toronto to stir up a "spontaneous protest," is reported by the local organ of the Reformers to have said:—

"He would be sorry to advocate Secession, but if Ontario was made the football of confederation, he knew the people would rise and demand justice."

The treasonable utterance is reported to have been cheered. The reference to Ontario, made for the purpose of arousing sectional prejudices, was wholly uncalculated for, as the bill applies to the whole Dominion. But it was only one of the misrepresentations indulged in. Another speaker, according to the same report, said:—

"There was no parallel case in history since Charles the First paid the penalty of disregarding the people's rights with his head."

If mild measures failed, though he would regret the necessity, he was prepared to go to the whole length in opposition to this infamous measure."

A young lawyer (the Globe just now affects to be mortally afraid of young lawyers), among other remarks of a similar character, said:—

"The men of 1837 had not as much cause to rebel as we would should this measure become law, and statements in the old land then said the wonder was they did not rebel sooner."

These violent appeals were based on two supposed provisions of the Franchise Bill. The first was, that all Indians would have votes, one speaker going so far as to draw a picture of the "black-throated Indian" coming out "from their scaly grounds to cast their ballots."

The bill will not do anything of the kind. Such Indians will not be given votes, and thus one of the reasons for "rebellion" does not exist. The other supposed provision was that the preparation of the voters' lists would be placed in the hands of Reviving Barristers, "who would not be compelled to take the assessment roll as their guide." That was another misrepresentation—another falsehood. The assessment is taken as prima facie evidence of a right to vote.

The Reviving Barristers are to be judges, or barristers of five years standing who will be appointed and sworn in the same manner as judges. The whole foundation for the agitation is a false one, and the speakers at this Reform gathering talked treason without reason.

The object of the party managers just now is to have petitions against the Franchise Bill signed and forwarded to Ottawa. To get the signatures they resort to the meanest forms of misrepresentation. Those who sign them not only petition against a measure that is reasonable and just, but they encourage these men in disloyal utterances which not only injure the country and tend to weaken the loyalty of those who listen to them with any degree of sympathy, but also encourage the rebels against whom our young men are fighting in the Northwest.

Should men who resort to these dangerous expedients to gain a party advantage be encouraged by a people who love their country and are loyal to their Queen?

Upright and Impartial.

The Fort Hope Times says:—
"The Globe's attack on Mr. H. H. Smith, of Peterborough, lately appointed Dominion Land Commissioner, has been most unfortunate, and its policy of attacking everything Conservative has met with a decided rebuff. It has been shown that Mr. Smith is a most honorable and upright man, impartial in the discharge of his duties, and in Peterborough, where he is best known, nothing but good words are heard of him. We would advise the organ to make some few enquiries before attacking in the present indiscriminate manner every Conservative receiving a Government appointment. Mr. Smith's office is that he has been all his life a commissioner, loyal Conservative, and the fact that he was Mayor of Peterborough, which selected a good and consistent Reformer as Geo. A. Cox as his successor for the civic chair,—for two or three years, shows that he must have been looked upon as an efficient, able and honorable man by the good people of that town of both political parties, or he would not have been elected on one or two occasions by acclamation. The Globe's denunciation is much more desirable than its praise, and we are sure Mr. Smith's manner of discharging his duties will secure him the good will and respect of all with whom his business brings him in contact."

Boynton's Joke.

NEW YORK, May 7.—On Tuesday night Paul Boynton took a large torpedo shell, in which he placed a brick, and approaching the British man-of-war Garret, fastened it to the hull. He was discovered while leaving the vessel and shouted to a British officer on deck that there was a torpedo under the bottom of his ship. The British were alarmed and Boynton in a steam launch, capturing himself several friends who accompanied him in a small boat. The party were taken aboard the Garret as prisoners, but were released when explanations had been made and the torpedo shell examined. Boynton says the British Admiralty once made fun of his rubber dress, and he wanted to get even with them.

"They don't play out." The Peterboro' Cigar Factory's cigar are staple favourites. Smokers keep on asking for them.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT

THE THIRD SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT OF CANADA.

The C. P. R. Finances.—The Short Line—Mr. Blake as Paul Pry—Mr. Stewart's Representative by Purchase—The Franchise Bill and Objections.—
THURSDAY, May 7.—The Speaker took the chair at 3 o'clock.

THE C. P. R. FINANCES.
Mr. BOWELL, in reply to Mr. Charlton, said the Government had no means of knowing the floating debt of the C. P. R. on May 1st. There had been paid on subsidy account $31,374,141, and on loan account $30,097,000.

Sir JOHN MACDONALD, in answer to Mr. Charlton, said the interest due by the Canada Pacific Railway Company on May 1st last had not been paid, the Government having come to the conclusion that at present it was preferable to allow the company to spend all its funds in finishing the road rather than in payment of interest. No arrangement had been made with respect to the payment, as the Government had the power to at any time pay themselves out of the subsidy.

C. P. R. RESOLUTIONS.
Sir J. MACDONALD, in reply to Mr. Blake, said he would lay the papers, on which the C. P. R. resolutions were founded, now, not to-morrow, on the table, and he suited the action to the word.

THE SHORT LINE.
Sir J. MACDONALD, in reply to Mr. Blake, said the Government intended to propose a further grant for a short railway line to connect the Province of Quebec with the Maritime Provinces, also to propose a plan for the extension of the C. P. R. to the city of Quebec.

MR. BLAKE AS PAUL PRY.
Mr. BOWELL censured an article in the Toronto News, published by the Toronto News, the paper that had previously lauded the 5th Battalion. After much abuse of the people of Quebec, it called the Ontario Tories "cowardly curs for giving Quebec all she wanted." He would like to know what the leaders of both parties thought of this disgraceful article, and if the News was the organ of either of them.

Mr. MILLER said it was a Tory organ.
Sir JOHN MACDONALD said it was a strange Tory organ that called the Ontario Tories "cowardly curs." He had never been more violently abused than by the paper in question. This disgraceful article bore its own relation to the face of it, and was unworthy of notice.

Mr. BLAKE condemned the attack upon Col. Quinlan and his regiment, as well as the article in question, because he was opposed to stirring up sectional strife. He denied that the News was his organ, and said he, too, had been abused by it. He produced and read a carefully prepared statement, showing how Mr. Riordan had said the paper, which was originally printed in the Mail office, and had taken a mortgage, the full particulars of which were given by Mr. Blake. He then proceeded to the cowardly falsehood that the News was still connected with the Mail.

Sir JOHN MACDONALD commented on the fact of Mr. Blake being prepared with a paper giving such particulars.
Mr. BLAKE protested that he had not prepared the paper, which had been handed to him.

Sir J. MACDONALD said it was characteristic of Mr. Blake not to intrigue himself, but to have others to intrigue for him, and make claim to be innocent of the affair. When the News had taken to violent abuse of him and of the Conservative party he had made enquiries about it, and found that it had been sent by Mr. Riordan to Mr. Sheppard, the only relation between them being those of creditor and debtor. The News was a republican, disloyal, Grit paper, which opposed the Conservative party because it drew its inspiration from British institutions.

Sir B. CARTWRIGHT abused Sir John Macdonald, and objected to his saying that Mr. Blake was afraid to not openly.
Mr. BLAKE said he was not aware of the existence of the papers he had read till he was handed to him after Mr. Bergeron spoke. He had taken the responsibility of using it.

Sir J. MACDONALD said it was furnished by the hon. member for Wheeler, Mr. Blake's aide-de-camp, the organizer and stage manager of the Reform party, whose seat had been bought for him.

Mr. CHARLTON and Mr. BLAKE raised the point of order that it was parliamentary to call Mr. Edgar the member for Winchester.

Sir JOHN MACDONALD withdrew the expression as not being in accordance with parliamentary etiquette. It was a serious to say that a necessary had been bought for a member by a local government providing a place for his predecessor.

Mr. EDGAR said he had obtained his seat through the party manager.
Mr. BOWELL said the seat had been bought for Mr. Edgar by the Ontario Government.

Mr. CARTWRIGHT said a seat had been bought for him from Riel.
THE FRANCHISE BILL.
The House went into Committee on the Franchise Bill.

Messrs. Rinfret, Guay, Cameron (Middlesex) and Gilmour spoke against time till past two o'clock. The only new idea was that of Mr. McCallister, who, probably remembering his own tricks in Prince Edward Island and Nova Scotia, suggested that Provincial Governments should be allowed to restrict the franchise for the Dominion.

Sir J. MACDONALD moved the adjournment that the health of the Opposition might not be injured.
For the shortest shape in Gaiter Stiff Hats go to W. FAIRWEATHER & Co's. Hat Store.

STREET OPENING.
Sir,—I observe that a large number of houses are being built on the land formerly called the park lots, south of the town. All the streets run east and west, and between the road around the Little Lake and Park street, a distance of a third of a mile, there are no cross streets. In a few years this part of the town will be built up and then it will be very difficult and expensive to add to the town streets.

Mr. BOWELL said the Council by doing a wise thing to provide some direct road to the fair ground through these park lots, and so open to ready access with the town a very important section, and by shortening the distance encourage still further settlement on these lands?

Depend upon it, the work will come day by day. But what might now be done readily and at little cost, will then be an expensive job.
SOUTH WARD.
Peterborough, May 9, 1885.

LINDSEY
GONE TO THE WEST.—Mr. J. A. Barron left Lindsey Thursday for the Northwest. He will be gone some little time and will push as far back as Middleton's forces are now at least. We hope he will succeed in capturing Riel or Dumont.

MAY 20TH.—The Queen's birthday coming this year on Sunday the day will be celebrated on Monday. It is likely to be a quiet day in Lindsey owing to the base ball boys going to Peterborough to play and the firemen taking a trip to Cobourg. The only amusement we have heard of further by an excursion by the Erie to the lake under the auspices of the young Irishmen.—Warder.

THE SCOTT ACT PETITION.—Mr. J. R. McNeill, general secretary of the county association, has completed the petition for the submission of the act and on Saturday of this week it will be deposited in the sheriff's office for public examination. It is a formidable document, by actual count there being 5,516 names on the petition. There are 500 names more than the requisite number required to secure the submission of the act. The canvassers have done their work intelligently and with great thoroughness, as is shown by the fact that out of so great a number of names not more than thirty have been struck off by Messrs Smith and Dean, the solicitors of the association, who have compared every name with the revised voters' list. The list covers 130 sheets prepared for that purpose. In addition there are about 200 declarations of witnesses.—Post INTERNATIONAL ARBITRATION.

The agreement which has been entered into between England and Russia to submit questions in dispute to arbitration, apart from any consideration as to whether either of the Powers has shown weakness, on which we will not here pronounce an opinion, will establish an important precedent if satisfactorily carried out. The courage and devotion of the soldier who will face death and even die for his country—of the man who will give up his life for the benefit of his fellow countrymen—is in the highest degree commendable, yet if a means can be found by which international disputes can be settled, and the horrors of war averted, it will be a great boon to the world. When a dispute arises between two countries, there is no court of law to which they can appeal to make a settlement, and each one believing it is in the right, neither will give way and the old and barbarous law of might is right is the code under which it has to be settled. If, however, it can be shown that such disputes can be settled by arbitration, and that war is unnecessary, it will do a great deal towards abolishing the appeal to the sword entirely among civilized nations. There will be no cause for war left but willful aggression born of a desire for aggrandizement, of which no country that deserves the name of being civilized would be guilty.

A few days ago it was thought that war between England and Russia was inevitable, and a formal declaration of war was hourly expected. Now, however, they have agreed to submit the points in dispute to arbitration, and the result will be waited with anxiety by all who desire the best interests of humanity. More than the question of war between these countries, important as that question is, depends on the result. It is now to be demonstrated whether or not the great nations can have disputes settled without being compelled to resort to the barbarous method of slaughtering each other's subjects. For if, in this case, where war was so near, the dreadful conflict can be averted by a peaceful settlement, what would there be to prevent all civilized nations from adopting the same plan? If arbitration proves successful in this instance, let European nations never again engage in a war one upon another.

THE REFORM MOVEMENT WITNESS SAYS:—

"When Sir John Macdonald's Government went out in 1873, it was largely the result of a silly cry that he had sold the country to the Americans."

Just so. And the Reformers are now trying to raise another silly cry against Sir John Macdonald's Government, but the people are aware of their tactics and it will not succeed.

A BARRISTER of three years standing is, according to law, eligible for the position of Deputy County Judge, but the Reformers pretend to think that a barrister of five years standing is not qualified for the position of revising barrister.

BIG BEAR.

A pen and ink sketch of the Turbulent Indian Chief.

The Port Arthur Sentinel contains a letter from a surveyor who saw Big Bear some time ago near Battleford. The following is an extract: "About 1,500 Indians are assembled in semi-circular formation in front of the small red brick building of the Indian agent. The braves of the Bear's band are upon the inside in kneeling or crouching ranks; they number about 700 well armed men; the outer circles are made up of men from the bands belonging to the Battleford and Eagle Hills agency. In the centre, seated in an arm chair, sits Mr. Rae, a stout and portly-looking personage with red face, short thick neck, reddish hair and beard, and resolute looking grey eyes. On his right sits the secretary, also seated, while on either side are the interpreters, Messrs. Macdonald and 'Tom Quin,' if I mistake not. Immediately in front of this group stands a short, black, and shaggy looking figure, clad in a suit of broad cloth, with a white shirt and a large black cap, surrounded with three black plumes. This is the unwelcome visitor, Big Bear, and as his unwelcome body bends backward and forward, and his dirty paws dart up and down, while he shows his white teeth to the self possessed looking agent, he looks certainly as very suggestive of his name; but, notwithstanding his warping plumes, he does not, when erect, stand more than about four feet five inches, with a chest measurement of perhaps 46 to 48 inches.

"After the council dissolved I requested Mr. Quin to take me to the tent of the Bear for the purpose of taking his photo; in this expedition we were accompanied by the Rev. Mr. Clark. Arrived at this camp on Battle river, we were ushered into his council tent, and after saying he rather loudly, he asked my business, and seemed anxious to know if I was in the employ of the Government. Quin explained my object in calling was to make his acquaintance and take his picture. He wanted a little too much for this favour, however, and but for a ruse of Mr. Quin I should have gone away without it. To his demand for pay, I asked him what he thought his picture was worth, and the reply almost astonished me—Fifty dollars. After giving him some presents I said I could not afford so much; that he was overvaluing the order of things, and, further, that I would try and find, if possible, a more respectful looking Indian between here and the Rukies, and call him Big Bear. At this he laughed very heartily for a hungry bear, and wishing me good day, gave me a parting shot by adding that I would probably have to go beyond the Rockies to find his rival in ugliness. Big Bear must be over sixty years of age, has a strongly marked feature, and is altogether the most obstinate and influential chief in the North-West."

THE VOYAGERS.

The Queen's Thanks—Col Kennedy's grave—Embarking for home.

LONDON, May 7.—The Queen has written a letter thanking the Canadian voyagers for the energy and devotion they have displayed in the Nile expedition, and expressing deep regret at the death of Colonel Kennedy.

The Queen, through her private secretary, sent a special letter to the officer at present in command of the Canadian voyagers, expressing Her Majesty's regret that owing to the outbreak of small-pox in their ranks, she had been advised that it would not be desirable for the voyagers to go to Windsor Castle to receive her personal thanks for their services in Egypt. The letter requested the officer to inform his men that Her Majesty was greatly pleased by the energy and devotion displayed by the Canadians in the performance of their arduous duties on the Nile. The grave of Colonel Kennedy is adjacent to that of George Eliot, the novelist.

The remaining voyagers, numbering seventy, will embark at Liverpool for home to-day.

Now an Editor Fell in Love.

ATLANTA, May 8.—A year ago Fannie Witt, a literary lady of Atlanta, while passing through Monroe, La., called at the office of the Bulletin. After her departure O. H. Trousdale, the editor, felt himself to be desperately in love. His proposal of marriage was accepted by the lady, who became the editor's wife last night, the second time she ever saw him.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT

THE THIRD SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT OF CANADA.

The Hall's Early Information—The Reform Members—Still Obstructing the Public Session.

FRIDAY, May 8.—Two Reform members presented petitions, as arranged by the party managers, against the Franchise Bill.

THE C. P. R. RESOLUTIONS. Mr. BLAKE (who never, or hardly ever, notices newspapers), complained that the U. P. R. resolutions were published in the Mail the same day that they were presented to the House. He said the House should have had them before a party organ.

Sir E. CARSWORTHY complained of other cases of the Mail publishing such news in advance, and said that the Minister faulted Parliament by allowing this.

Mr. FORT said he did not control the Mail and could not dictate to its managers what they should publish. He did not know where they secured their information.

Sir E. CARSWORTHY asked Mr. FORT if he denied that he furnished it. Mr. FORT said, yes, he did.

THE FRANCHISE BILL.

The House went into Committee on the Franchise Bill.

Sir J. MACDONALD claimed the floor as having moved the ruling of the Committee.

Mr. BLAKE disputed the right of Sir John and claimed the floor for his follower, Mr. JACKSON, who had also risen.

Sir J. MACDONALD said he would waive his right and yield to this further obstruction.

Mr. JACKSON began to read his speech, and was consequently called to order.

The DEPUTY-SPEAKER ruled that it was out of order to read a speech.

Sir J. MACDONALD asked that Mr. JACKSON be not interrupted, as he was only following the example set him by many of his party, so Mr. JACKSON was allowed to continue his obstructive exercise.

Messrs. MILL, MULOCK, WILSON and WALTON, continued to speak or read in furtherance of the obstructive policy of their party.

Mr. WOOD (Windsor) then concisely stated the main reasons why the Parliament of Canada should regulate the franchise for the Dominion, leaving each Provincial Legislature to regulate its own.

Messrs. LIDDER and CANNY continued to speak against time for the obstructionists.

The House adjourned about 2 o'clock.

A GIRL WHO CAN SHOOT.

The Pacific Slope Maiden Who Can Shoot as Well as Carver.

Miss Lillian E. Smith, the phenomenal rifle shot of the Pacific slope, is a plump little maiden of thirteen years. She is about five feet in height, sturdy build. Her face is remarkably pleasant, round, and smiling, and lightened up with a pair of twinkling deep gray eyes. She gives one the impression that she is a free-spirited lass, who would never willingly or knowingly hurt a living creature, rather than a young woman who has killed wildcats, squirrels, cotton-tail and jack-rabbits by the score, and quail, redheads, mallards, and young ducks by the thousand. At an early age Miss Lillian displayed a remarkable propensity to kill all that came within her reach, and at seven years of age she manufactured for herself a bow-gun, with which she slaughtered all the little birds about the house.

"How did you come to be such a good shot?" asked a San Francisco reporter of her the other day.

"I really don't know. It became natural to me. I have a brother who is rather a good shot. Perhaps that induced me to emulate him and that may be the reason. No, no, I never have been out of this state. I was born up in Colville, Mono county, and when I was quite small we moved down to San Joaquin valley. There is where I actually commenced shooting. No, I am not a waving shot and I don't like to shoot, because I am afraid it will injure my rifle shooting, though of course, I sometimes shoot at pigeons, as I did the other day at Bird's Point. You know I made somewhat of a good score in Sacramento last October at the Agricultural park. I smashed ninety-four clay pigeons out of one hundred. They were sprung from the fourth notch."

"Have you tried to get up any matches?" "Haven't I?" answered the ambitious shot, with emphasis. "I have challenged everybody—Carver, Berardus and the rest of them, and they won't take any notice of a girl. I declare it's no use. I have not tried to get up a match in town. Your paper said I was anxious to arrange a match with Jacoby; but Jacoby won't shoot. No one will," and the appearance of something like a pout was plainly visible on the disappointed face.—New York Star.

DECEIVED AND DEJECTED.

A Hamilton Girl Deceived and Swindled by a Friendless Lover.

ROCHESTER, May 8.—A handsome Canadian girl, of English parentage, called on the chief of police for assistance in apprehending a world-famous lover who she claimed had betrayed her confidence and swindled her out of her money. Her name is Edith Chambers and her home is in Hamilton, Ont. She said that she met a young man named William McVittie in Hamilton several months ago and an affection sprang up between them which resulted in an engagement of marriage. McVittie was, she stated, an employee of an undertaker in Hamilton. Three weeks ago he came to Rochester, saying to Edith that he could do better in Rochester, and excusing from her a promise that she would join him here and marry him as soon as he had become settled and should send for her.

Last Wednesday she arrived alone in Rochester in answer to McVittie's letter requesting her to come. He met her at the depot and took her to the Crisley house, where he engaged a room for her and where he said they would board after they were married. He called on her every subsequent evening and spoke of his affection for her, but recommended that they go to Philadelphia to live, as he could do much better there. Edith acquiesced in everything he said and gave him $50 in money, every cent she brought with her, for safe keeping. He told her he had made arrangements for them to go to Philadelphia Tuesday night, but that an important business meeting prevented his leaving until Wednesday morning. She went to the depot to join him, but he did not appear. She then discovered that he had left Rochester on Tuesday night in company with a girl whom he called his wife. Miss Chambers says the girl he had with him was Maggie Mortie, aged seventeen, with whom he left Hamilton and with whom he was living all the time he was in Rochester.

Miss Chambers' mother is dead, and she says she is too humiliated to return to her father. Her brothers are in Manitoba, one in the Canadian army. She is terribly distressed at McVittie's treachery, and she will follow him to Philadelphia as soon as she gets money.

Pittsburg Trunk Horror.

CHICAGO, May 8.—Augustine Comasino, Antonio Camerito, John Anzo, and Sylvester and Dove Isenacio were arrested for complicity in the murder of Filippo Corneo, whose body was found in a trunk at Pittsburg. The three last named lived at the place where the man was last seen alive. The men are all Sicilians, of the lowest class. Camerito and Comasino are respectively husband and brother to the woman Victoria Camerito, who has been arrested in New York. These men were arrested on evidence furnished by a little girl who saw Niliippo Corneo enter the house occupied by the three suspects above named, and about an hour afterwards saw a man enter the house with a trunk. Jurado, who was arrested in New York and who followed the trunk to Pittsburg, is regarded as one of the men present at the murder, if not the instigator of the crime.

Hospital Arrangements.

We are glad to know that very complete arrangements have been made by the Government for the care of the sick and wounded in the Northwest campaign. A very judicious appointment was made in selecting Dr. Berghin, M.P., of Cornwall, for the position of Surgeon-General. Already many have been wounded, and it is likely there will be quite a number invalided from the necessary exposure and hardships. With a view to all contingencies, it was decided to establish a hospital corps to take charge of one or more hospitals situated near the seat of war. The invalids after they have received immediate attention from the surgeons in charge of the different battalions, will be removed to these hospitals, which are to be fully equipped with all the necessary beds and appliances.

Dr. Rodick, of Montreal, concerning whose fitness for the position there can be no doubt, has been appointed Deputy Surgeon-General, and has gone to the Northwest, where he has full control over these arrangements. He has accompanied him as surgeon, Dr. Douglas, of Lakhadid; Dr. Bell, of Montreal; Dr. Nettrian and O. N. Walker, of Toronto; Dr. Gravelly, of Cornwall; Dr. Cossgrain, of Windsor, and a large staff of assistants and dressers from Toronto and Montreal.

We must congratulate all concerned upon the ability, foresight and energy which have been exhibited in making arrangements so complete and so satisfactory in a very short space of time. The casualties of the past week have given them plenty of work, and we are glad to know that they have proved equal to all the emergencies.—Canadian Medical Practitioner.

Fluid Lightning.

Fluid Lightning is the only cure for Toothache, Headache, Earache and Neuralgia. It does not take a day or an hour to cure it, but in less than a minute all pain is gone. Thousands have tested its merits within the last year. Fluid Lightning is also a positive cure for Rheumatism. The worst possible cases have been permanently cured in one week. Price, 25c., at John McKee's Drug Store.

Crucially Harassed.

In the Province of Ontario every year thousands are being slowly murdered by taking unsuitable, untried nostrums for such complaints as Constipation, Indigestion, Liver Complaint, Kidney Trouble, etc., who might easily gain lost strength and energy by using McKee's speedy cure. To convince them that such is the case we will give them a free trial bottle at John McKee's Drug Store. Price 50c. and 10c. bottles. See testimonials from persons in your own town.

"Ika blade O' grass Keeps its ain drap o' dew."

No doubt of it, and at ALEXANDER'S Millinery and Mantle Show Rooms, the general opinion is that the present Spring like blade keeps "dew" draps, but after rain comes the sunshine, in anticipation of which, I have this day received the following New Goods.

New Seamless Hose.
New Lisle Gloves.
New Taffeta Gloves.
New Swiss Checked Muslins.
New Striped Muslins.
New Printed Muslins.
New Skirt Embroideries.
Embroideries in all Widths.
New "all over" Laces.
New Flouncing in Black Fawn and Cream.
New Millinery in Great Variety.

We have secured the services of an experienced Mantle Maker, so that our customers may rest assured that the "Making up" will be done in the very best style. Kindly inspect our stock.

JAMES ALEXANDER.

Daily Evening Review

MONDAY, MAY 11, 1885.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Fast Castle.
On Saturday Mr. George Webber shipped another car of fat cattle to Montreal. He went down the same evening to complete the sale.

Adjournment.
The adjourned meeting of the Peterborough Boarding Club will be held one week from this evening. All the candidates for membership this evening will be eligible for election at the adjourned meeting.

Silver Stars.
A meeting of the Silver Star Base Ball Club will be held in the rooms of the P. A. A. A. this evening at 7.30 p.m. All interested in base ball are proposed joining the association are requested to attend.

The Probabilities.
The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Light to moderate winds, generally fair, milder weather.

The Landowner's Risk.
Mr. Ed. Brown, the obliging and energetic manager of the new roller rink, informs us that the workmen will be engaged night and day this week in completing the rink, and it is expected that it will be open to the public on Friday evening next. Now, boys, for amusement. Don't forget the Carnival on Monday evening, May 12th.

Just received, a full range of Ladies' Jerseys, improved cut and plated back. See the time Turnball is selling at $1.50.

Mr. E. Cook wounded.
In the engagement with the rebels on Saturday, Mr. E. Cook, serving in French's detachment of scouts, was wounded in the leg a little below the knee. Mr. Cook was formerly of Peterborough and is well known here. Some years ago he went to the rebellion, and at the outbreak of the rebellion accepted a lucrative position as timber inspector. When duty called, however, he was ready to serve his country. He was a private in N. 1 Company of the 56th when in Peterborough.

The Signal Corps.
The signal Corps of the 57th Battalion, which consists in all of light men, offered by Sergt. Dixon and Corporal Dayman, are now making very satisfactory progress. They now have large and small flags and other instruments, and are at present well equipped in the drill so as to be able to transmit messages, according to the signal code, to a considerable distance. The corps yet need calcium lights and field glasses. When in possession of these they will be ready for active service.

The Boat House.
Operations have been quietly going on at the boat house of the Peterborough Boating Club during the past week, and everything is being put in order. Some time ago several of the empty barrels under the south end of the floating boat house filled with water, and consequently that end sank somewhat. These have been emptied and placed in position again. The first addition made to the stock of boats this season is a handsome double scull, purchased by Messrs. F. E. Cox and H. W. Kent. She is a splendid build and runs lightly and easily over the water.

With the dead.
Mr. Felix Brown has received a letter from "Tommy" Mitchell, one of the boys who was with the 30th when the charge was made on the rebel at Fish Creek. He gives a very graphic account of the battle, and the well entrenched position of the rebels. While in the heat of the fight his comrades were shot dead beside him, and several were wounded close around, but although the bullets rained like hail, he came out unhurt, not, however, without several narrow escapes. The next morning they went out to bury their dead. The march into the gully he describes as a dread moment. The men fully expected to be fired on by a lurking foe concealed in the underbrush, but happily none was there—all had decamped.

Well, rather.
A certain gentleman from the country, whose son is now with the Midland Battalion, came to town a few days ago. Hearing that supplies of various kinds were to be sent from Peterborough to take advantage of the opportunity, and send along a serviceable present to his son. He resolved to buy a revolver and accordingly himself and a friend adjourned to a hardware store. The purchase was made, and one of the most improved machines of the kind wrapped up. "I haven't got a son out there," said the friend, "but my neighbour has. I guess I'll buy him one, too." After a careful survey of the exhibited weapons, he picked up one and turning to a bystander asked, "Is she dangerous?" "Well, rather," was the reply, "for the man at the music end, particularly if she is loaded and cocked."

Look for your boy's outfit with pointed nose and front at Turnball's.

Prize Tenders.
Mr. McKeown, head tender at A. A. McKeown, from 10 to 12 p.m. at Davis's back street.

Notice.
On and after the 15th of May the undersigned will deliver fresh milk to any part of the Town of Peterborough or the village of Ashburnham at five cents per quart. Orders left at Long Ben, confectionery store, will be faithfully executed. T. Hooton & Son, Otonabee and Monaghan, Dairies.

Makes no Appearances. that will prevent you from hearing the great lecture on "Our Peculiar People," to be delivered by the world renowned orator, J. B. Gough. The date is Monday, May 18th, and the place, the George Street Methodist Church. Some of the best seats are still left, which should be secured at once at W. J. Mason's store.

The Old Cricket Grounds.
These grounds, situated in Ashburnham, have undergone a considerable change since their management has been assumed by the Peterborough Amateur Athletic Association, an amalgamation of the Cricket, Silver Star Base Ball, Bicycle and Tennis clubs of Peterborough. The old stand at the north-west corner has been pulled down, and in its place will be erected a handsome new pavilion. New seating accommodation will also be provided. During the past few weeks operations have been steadily going on for the laying out and construction of a circular path about twelve feet wide, which will run around the entire grounds. Orders have been laid on and rolled a great part of the way round, and the path will soon be completed.

The Supplies.
The canvass by the ladies for supplies for the Peterborough company of volunteers now serving in the North West has been very successful. The new Canadian Pacific Railway town office now contains between twenty and thirty boxes filled with all manner of articles, from needles and thread to a jar of mustard, and from soap and clothing of different kinds to fruit, little delicacies in tins and stationery. The ladies have also collected about $300 in cash, which, to a great extent, they intend to reserve for the purchase of further supplies. The ladies appointed from each church as canvassing committees are deserving of high commendation for the energetic and successful canvass they have made, and those ladies who looked after other arrangements are also worthy of praise for the cheerful manner in which they gave their time and attention to the seeing to every detail.

For course and desirable goods, such as Cashmere, Prints, Madras Handkerchiefs, Black Laines, Bordered Rags, look for them at Turnball's.

Carnival Prices.
The following is a list of the prizes that will be given at the grand masquerade carnival to be held at the Peterborough roller rink on the evening of Friday next:—

BEST DRESSED LADY IN FANCY COSTUME.—1st, a silver butter cooler valued at $5.00, and two weeks' free admission to the rink, with skates supplied; 2nd, one month's free admission to the rink, with skates supplied.
BEST DRESSED LADY IN COMIC COSTUME.—1st, a silver miniature clock valued at $4.00, and two weeks' free admission to the rink, with skates supplied.
BEST DRESSED GENTLEMAN IN FANCY COSTUME.—1st, a silver cup valued at $4.00; 2nd, twenty admissions to the rink with skates supplied.
BEST DRESSED CHILD IN FANCY COSTUME.—1st, a pair of rink skates valued at $4.

With the above number of prizes there cannot fail to be a large number of competitors and the spectators may expect to see some attractive costumes. Remember the date of the grand carnival is Friday, May 15th.

The cheapest brook-store in town is at the Bon Marche. A very choice selection to choose from.

TWO DEATHS AT THE GOAL.

The Jury returned a Verdict of Death from Natural Causes for each Case.
On Saturday morning an infirm vagrant named Mike O'Kenny expired at the goal. Since last November, when he was committed to the goal, he has been very low with consumption. A few days ago he was committed the second time for a term of six months. A jury was summoned by Dr. Bell, coroner, and at half past two on Saturday afternoon they returned a verdict of death from natural causes. The deceased was fifty years of age.

On Sunday evening shortly after seven o'clock another death occurred at the goal. Wm. Rodden, on Thursday last, had been an inmate of the Protestant Home for one week. On the morning of that day he left the home and on Friday evening he was brought back in a cab. He was brought to the Home thoroughly intoxicated and had on his person a bottle partly filled with whisky. All that night he kept yelling loudly and created other disturbances. On Saturday he was removed from the Home by the Chief of Police and was committed to goal as a vagrant. On Sunday evening he died. Dr. Kincaid, the Goal Surgeon, certified that at the time of his death he was suffering from the last stage of consumption and that his system was completely worn out. The jury which was summoned by Dr. Bell, coroner, returned a verdict of death from natural causes.

W. Croft's Billiard Room.
W. Croft's billiard room will be open this day, Monday, 11th May.

Leisure.
A meeting of the Leisure Club will be held at the Little Winton on Monday evening. All members are requested to attend.

To Be Married.
Fair, Van Every & Co. have received a supply of "Cheese Cloth" at a price to make it an object to all cheese makers.

Early Hours.
Many of our citizens had the privilege this morning of reading the latest news from the Northwest in a Review "extra" before they had risen from their beds.

Men Wanted.
The class men wanted to work for "Mutual Savings and Life Association." The most successful and profitable company on the continent. Apply to A. A. MORRISON, Local Agent, Salisbury's Bazaar, Peterborough.

Apprentices for Ladies.
Ladies will find a wider range of Mink and Dress Materials than ever at Fair, Van Every and Co's this season. All new, handsome, bright and guaranteed value. Besides, every confidence may be reposed in the ability of Miss Johnson, the lady who has charge of the Dress and Mantle Making Department, to satisfy her customers in their most particular demands.

Turnball's showrooms were never so well filled with pretty hats and bonnets as at present—for Millinery go to Turnball's.

Personal.
Mr. A. Stevenson, B.A., of Mount Dumble & Henry's office, successfully passed the first intermediate examination of the Law Society held in Toronto last week. Mr. E. R. Hall, of Lindsay, formerly a student in the Peterborough Collegiate Institute, also passed the same examination.
Messrs. William Davis and H. Nelson, formerly of Peterborough County, were among the Prince Albert volunteers in the Duck Lake fight with the half-breeds.
Mr. E. W. Watson, formerly clerk in Mr. J. Kezlake's dry goods store, has been in town for the past day or two.
Mr. W. Rutherford, the Norwood druggist, and formerly of Peterborough, was in town on Sunday.
Mr. Max. Demitriou returned home from Queen's College, Kingston, on Saturday.
We are pleased to learn that Mr. J. McKee, druggist, has so far recovered from his recent severe illness as to be able to attend to his business again.

Mr. Chas. W. Roberts, the gentlemanly representative of Harry Mann's "Silver King" Company, is in town making arrangements for a two nights' engagement of his company here on Friday and Saturday evenings, 12th and 13th inst. He is stopping at the Grand Central Hotel.

Turnball has just returned from the wholesale market, from which he has carefully selected all the new and desirable goods to replenish his Store. Goods. Go to Turnball's. We always give satisfaction in our Dress-making Department.

STEAM WHISTLING.

To the Editor of the Review.
DEAR SIR,—“Ratepayer,” in your Saturday's paper, vents his wrath on the Grand Trunk Railway for all the unnecessary whistling that goes on in town, especially during the out for the disturbances occasioned by some early trains stated to be moving between 3 and 5 a.m. I, too, am a sufferer, but fair play compels me to say that I have made enquiries and find as a matter of fact that the Midland have no trains running before 7 a.m., so I am led to infer that “Ratepayer,” in his too evident desire to denounce the Midland management offhand, has allowed his sense of fairness to lead him astray, which a little reflection and enquiry would have prevented.

He, perhaps, will be surprised to know that signalling by electric bells, now in use in Toronto, was initiated by the Grand Trunk Railway, and I learn it is the only company at present operating that system in that city.
I am, dear sir, yours truly,
ANOTHER RATEPAYER.
Peterborough, May 11, 1885.

THE STRAIN WHISTLE.

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—It is another "Bastard" matter, I made a mistake with respect to the train that occasioned the disturbance at unreasonable hours, of which I complained, and still complain. I regret having fallen into that mistake. I apologize for it.

Still, from whatever line the nuisance emanates, the duty of the Town Council remains the same, viz., to stop the nuisance, as it has, I believe, been stopped in Toronto, with all that city's network of railways.

(From an Occasional Correspondent.)

W. C. T. U.—The W. C. T. U. continue to hold their weekly sessions. The membership has steadily increased under the direction of Mrs. Harrison, President, assisted by an efficient staff of officers.

SCOTT ACT.—The petitions for this township have been collected, and more than the required number of signatures have been obtained. Upwards of 40 per cent. of the total number of voters have been secured.

AGRICULTURE.—Arbor Day was observed by a dozen boys planting 8 maple trees where the playground should be. Dame Rumor says the children have been granted full privilege to use the public streets as a playground, and thereby save expense, notwithstanding school law on the subject.

KEENE.

SCHOOL REPORT.—The following is the school report for the month of April. K. Mark, teacher:—

Senior department.—Sr. 4th class: 1st Mary Richardson, 2nd Ella Dickson, 3rd Ella Landon.

Sr. 4th class: 1st Bonnie Bryce, 2nd Maud Campbell, 3rd Ella Landon.

Sr. 3rd class: 1st Nellie Corrie, 2nd Maggie Campbell, 3rd Ella Landon.

Sr. 2nd class: 1st Mary Miller, 2nd Annie McIntyre, 3rd Susan Bollen.

Average attendance for the month, 47; No. on register, 55.

NAVIGATION.—The Esturion made her first passage to Lindsay on Wednesday. There was still a body of ice in the lake, and she had some difficulty in getting through. She will run a single trip for a few days, but is likely to run a double trip at an early date. The old officers are again in charge.

SUPPER.—Mr. Alex. McCallum, having disposed of his steamboat, the Eva, and being about to leave the village, a number of his friends entertained him at the Rockland on Saturday evening. Mr. George Bick occupied the chair, and boomed the toast list in a becoming manner. He expressed the regrets of those present at parting with the guest of the evening, and wished himself all success and prosperity in the future. Mr. McCallum returned his thanks for the unexpected honours conferred upon him, in a few appropriate remarks, and referred to his pleasant relations with Peterborough. A number of toasts were given and a jolly evening spent. The supper was of the best afforded by the Rockland, and was highly appreciated by all present.—Independent.

HARMON.

SCARLET FEVER.—Scarlet fever is making its appearance in the county. Several families have had it.

NEW WOOLLEN MILL.—Pearce's Woollen Factory is now all ready for the machinery, part of which is expected this week. Messrs. Mitchell Bros. have been engaged to run the establishment.

DANGEROUS PARTNER.—Carelessness in the use of firearms recently caused a bad accident. Mrs. Shannon had a narrow escape, the bullet, which struck just above her head, causing the splinters to strike her when she fell. A man heard another bullet whizzing near him. It cut a twig eighteen inches or thereabouts over his head, and it fell on his hat, to you see the bullets were straight enough, but fortunately they went too high.

FOODS SCARCITY IN HARTINGS COUNTY.—Scarcity of feed has caused the death of a large number of cattle in the northern portion of this county.

THE BARD.—Members of the Marmora Brass Band have formed themselves into a Sextette Club, comprising two violins, bass horn, cornet, flute and alto horn, and are practicing every week.

SHILOH'S CATARRH REMEDY.—A positive cure for Catarrh, Diarrhea and Canker Mouth. For sale by Ormond & Walsh, druggists, Peterborough.

WHY WILL YOU SUFFER when Shiloh's Cure will give immediate relief. Price 10 cts. and $1. For sale by Ormond & Walsh, druggists, Peterborough.

ITALY AND RUSSIA DIFFER.

ROME, May 11.—A diplomatic friction exists between Russia and Italy in consequence of the former power having backed Turkey's protest against the Italian occupation of Mesopotamia.

EGYPTIAN PRESS LAWS.

CAIRO, May 11.—Tigrane Fasha, under foreign secretary, and Mr. West, procurator general, are going to London to consult the British Government in regard to the alteration of the Egyptian press laws. From London they will go to Paris to consult the French Government.

GLADSTONE SUSTAINED.

LONDON, May 11.—Lord Hamilton moved the motion of which Sir Stafford Northcote had given notice. The motion was defeated by 290 to 260. The majority consisted entirely of Liberals. The Parnellites voted with the minority. The House received the result rather listlessly.

WHEN THEY WITHDRAW.

CAIRO, May 11.—When the British withdrew from the Sudan 12,000 Egyptian troops will be added to the Egyptian army there. It is probable two-thirds of the Berberies desire peace.

THE POLITICAL SITUATION.

LONDON, May 11.—The political situation here amounts to a crisis. The Government will have a majority to-night on Lord Hamilton's vote to stop the supplies unless an explicit declaration of the Egyptian-Afghan policy change the situation, but the vote will probably be close.

FRANCE AND CHINA.

THE TUNIS, May 11.—Communications have been exchanged between the French and Chinese Governments on the lines of the Fourrier memorandum. These communications show a tendency to a peaceful settlement between France and China.

DISCONTENT.

MOSCOW, May 11.—A feeling of discontent prevails in military circles because war has been postponed. The general opinion declares that a magnificent opportunity has been lost. The Czar has been advised to visit Moscow with the Empress to calm down the excitement.

STILL PREPARING.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 11.—The war preparations are unabated. It is reported that Russia has decided the employment of Englishmen on forts in Afghanistan. The Imperial Council has voted the first £2,000,000 for the construction of the Siberian railway.

DUFFERIN'S SILENCE.

CAIRO, May 11.—An official statement from Lord Dufferin approving of Mr. Gladstone's policy would do much to reassure the public here, but the Viceroy remains silent.

THE SOUDAN GIVEN UP.

LONDON, May 11.—In the Commons the Marquis of Hartington said the conclusion reached by the government practically involved the abandonment of the advance to Khartoum. He said the government has resolved to make Wady Halfa the most advanced position as a permanent defence of Egypt. The British troops would be withdrawn as soon as the Nile valley is secured. This probably about the end of May. The statement was received with cheers from the government benches. Efforts would be made, the secretary said, to establish an administration in the province of Dongola and complete the Nile Railway as a commercial enterprise. The government have no intention, the speaker said, of evacuating Sudan until some arrangement can be effected with the Imperial Government on the subject of England or some other civilized power.

"PREPARED YEARS AGO."

The following of the pretence made by the obstructionists, that they are driven to hinder all public business, unless they, though a minority, are allowed to have their own way, in consequence of the Franchise Bill having been introduced too late for proper consideration, is exposed by their own reading organ. In an article asking why the measure was not introduced earlier in the session, the Globe says: "It cannot be argued that the bill was being prepared; it was prepared years ago." And yet the obstructionists, who have for years been conversant with this measure, and who learned from the speech from the throne that it was to be re-introduced, pretend that they have not had time to master its contents and consider them. If they are so excessively stupid and slow as they pretend, we would suggest to them that it would be well for them to read the bill itself till they have mastered its meaning, instead of spending long hours in reading what ever they can find in the Parliamentary library having the remotest connection with the subject. But this sensible procedure would not suit them in two ways; it would not suit them in obstructing the public business, or in making their false statements as to the contents of the bill.

The letter of Dr. Oronhyatekha in refutation of the great columns against his race is so excellent that we wish it was not too long for us to find space for it at length in these stirring times. Not only does he show conclusively how many of his race are well qualified to give an intelligent vote, but his very letter is proof of their capabilities. It is ridiculous that a blatant speaker of mediocre abilities, and than doubtful loyalty and notorious disregard for veracity, like Mr. Mills, should have the effrontery to sneer at one so much his superior, intellectually and morally, as Dr. Oronhyatekha.

It is very natural that Mr. Blake should feel a strong antipathy to his lieutenant (by purchase), Mr. Edgar, being termed "the member for Whelan." No doubt the Reform leader is afraid that by a similar slip he might be addressed as "the member for Bourk," thus recalling the fact that he, too, had a vacancy purchased for him by Mr. Morat (with the funds of the people of Ontario). Both titles, indeed, are in measure inaccurate, for Messrs. Edgar and Blake would be more properly called the members for Morat, for the Attorney-General purchased vacancies for both of them—with trust funds in his charge.

COL. HERCHMER.

Who Believed Battleford and Led the Fight at Cut Knife Hill.

Lieut. Col. William Macanlay Herchmer, who is spoken of as the dashing and brilliant officer who led the forces at the fight near Battleford, is an old Kingstonian, and the son of the Rev. W. Herchmer, at one time minister of St. George's Cathedral, during Archbishop Stuart's term of office. Col. Herchmer was born at the old Herchmer homestead, now owned by Lieut.-Col. Campbell, on King street west. He is about 35 or 40 years of age, was educated in England, but studied law with Thos. Parks in this city. He never followed the profession, but in 1870 went to the Northwest with the Red River expedition under command of Lord Dufferin. He was then the captain of a volunteer company. Since that time he has remained in the Northwest. He was an officer in the Winnipeg force, left in the field after the battle of Battleford, and was then the captain of a volunteer company. He then secured the Inspectorship in the Mounted Police, and afterwards advanced a superintendent. He has commanded the police at Regina, Battleford and Calgary, and was at the latter place when the present rebellion broke out. Col. Herchmer was married to Miss Rose, second daughter of J. N. Rose, Merchant, and sister of Mrs. J. F. Gifford, of this city. He is also a cousin of Mrs. Chas. F. Gifford, of this city. He is imbued with military ardour, and in former days "would as leave fight as eat." He is very active, a beautiful horseman, and was for a time connected with the 14th P. W. O. Rifles. The present is the first occasion in which he has been privileged to show his merits, and truly he has outdone the dash and courage of a good soldier. His elder brother, Lawrence Herchmer, is an Indian farm agent at Birtle, Manitoba. —Kingston Whig.

THE NEW GUARDIAN.

The Atlantic a Speed of 400 Miles in one Day on Her First Trip to New York.

When people look at a ship of modern build, and particularly at a new passenger ship like the Canarder Etruria, which arrived at this port yesterday on her first trip, they have great difficulty in comprehending the size of the vessel before them. As the Etruria lay at her dock her head line at the bow was more than eight feet out of water, and the black bulk towered above that about as high as the roof of an ordinary three-story tenement house, above the street. The keel of the ship was twenty-one feet down under the water. If she could be set down in Broadway, opposite the post-office, passengers would have to pass up and down the street on each side in single file, and people could walk by means of a plank from her promenade deck into the windows of the top stories of buildings on the west side of the street. The passenger from her mainmast would look on a level with the weather gauge at the top of the tall flag staff on top of the post office building. The Seventh Regiment could find accommodation in her first cabin, and three other regiments could be quartered in the intermediate and the storage. If the power could be economically transferred, her engines would run a large part of all the machinery in the city.

The Etruria is the largest type of ocean passenger ship, built on what Capt. Bedford Pim of the royal navy calls the gaspale model. She is 300 feet long, and is about as deep as she is broad, this model being necessary because of the narrow gauge to the Liverpool dock. She carries 3,500 tons of coal for her trip across the ocean, and if she could be loaded down to a draught of thirty feet she could carry 2,000 tons of cargo. British shipowners hope that eventually New York's harbor will be so small that she can do this, until this is done she cannot carry more than 500 tons.

The Etruria was built chiefly as a fast passenger steamer. On her first trip she reached a speed of 24 miles an hour. On her way across she covered 448 and 449 miles on two days, but she was not speeded all the way. Her builders assert that she will cross the ocean in six days and seven hours, or in three hours less than the lowest record. They say that she is fitted up in a style far superior to any other ship yet brought in by the Cunard line, and that since the English Government has chartered the América, the Alaska, the Oregon and the Umbria, the Etruria is the only day ship that remains in the Liverpool service. —New York Sun.

Navigation Open.

OWEN SOUND, May 9.—Navigation here may now be considered open for the season. The steamer Meteor and Campagna left this morning for Chatham. The steamer Pacific is expected to leave for the South on Monday morning. One of the C. P. R. boats will leave for Port Arthur on Tuesday.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

REFORM ELECTION OFFICIALS.

In the last Ontario election in Algoma, the Reform officials, sent up from Toronto for that purpose, secured a nominal majority for the Reform candidates by failing to open polls in some of the Conservative districts and by refusing to accept the votes of large numbers of Conservatives in other localities. These secondaries were proceeded against according to law, but the Reform Government stepped in and prevented the punishment of their tools by forcing through the Legislature an Act under which the offenders were relieved from the penalties they had incurred. For a journal and a party which have such a record to pretend about their regard for freedom of the franchise is the very best, and a disgusting exhibition of hypocrisy. Were it possible for the revising barriers to be such a lot of rascals as the Globe declares they will be, they could not be guilty of greater inequality than has been perpetrated by the Reform majority in the Legislature at the command of the Reform Government. —Bellefleur Intelligencer.

UNPARALLELED CONDUCT.

The obstructive conduct and proceedings of the Opposition in Parliament to this bill are most unpatriotic and unwarranted. At a time when the very existence of the Dominion is threatened by rebellion in the Northwest, when it should be the duty of the Opposition to forget party and assist the Government to meet the emergency of Confederation, we find the Opposition engaged in obstructing this necessary and ordinary measure at every stage and by every device which party insanity can invent. Their conduct cannot be paralleled in the history of Canada. It is not only obstructive and injurious—it is unpatriotic and selfish to the last degree; and they are even now being condemned by the more moderate members of their party. —Irish Canadian.

TOO RAMPANT.

The Globe has been entirely too rampant of late to accomplish the good intended. There is no use of boiling all over with indignation, where rage is only impotent. —Monmouth Star (Reform).

WHOLE ALPS OF CHEEK.

At a "fight for freedom" meeting held in Toronto it was unanimously resolved that the Franchise Bill was held back "to the detriment of the cause." And yet the "fighters for freedom" at Ottawa spent several days in discussing the meaning of one word and in deliberately wasting the time of the House by reading books by the hour. The "cheek" of these people is astounding. —Ottawa Citizen.

DISHONEST OPPOSITION.

The hysterical shrieks of the Globe and other Reform papers against the Electoral Franchise Act, the various clauses of which are now under consideration in the Committee of the House of Commons at Ottawa, are both foundationless and dishonest. —Irish Canadian.

THE FRANCHISE BILL.

We cannot disguise the fact this measure has been largely inspired on account of the partisan conduct of members whose seat for party has been stronger than the consideration requirements of their oath of office. —Monmouth Star (Reform).

IMPERIAL FEDERATION.

The advocates of Imperial Federation have the great majority of Canadians with them in sentiment. It is undoubtedly the popular thing, far more so than dependence, independence or annexation. The last is the unpopular thing, and it is evident to all who do not know better, and indeed, who do not care as to the facts of the case, have, during this rebellion, spoken in a derogatory manner of the Minister of Militia. This is not only a crime, but a crime. When we say that from the first day of the outbreak, until now, Mr. Carson has day and night been himself busily engaged personally supervising the work of the campaign, we only state what is the simple truth. It is not only unfair, but cruel of Liberal newspapers, distant from the Capital, and whose staff know no more about Mr. Carson than they do about Louis Riel, to write about the Minister of Militia after the fashion they do. —Ottawa Sun (Indep.).

UNJUST CRITICISM.

While referring to this important matter it will not be out of place to say a kind word to our Canadian Minister of War. That officer who do not know better, and indeed, who do not care as to the facts of the case, have, during this rebellion, spoken in a derogatory manner of the Minister of Militia. This is not only a crime, but a crime. When we say that from the first day of the outbreak, until now, Mr. Carson has day and night been himself busily engaged personally supervising the work of the campaign, we only state what is the simple truth. It is not only unfair, but cruel of Liberal newspapers, distant from the Capital, and whose staff know no more about Mr. Carson than they do about Louis Riel, to write about the Minister of Militia after the fashion they do. —Ottawa Sun (Indep.).

THE BATTLE GROUND.

The Contents of Former Days Near the Peace River.

Mr. C. N. Bell writes to the Whitney Free Press: "It is rather peculiar that the places where most of the conflicts have taken place between the whites and half breeds or Indians since the commencement of the present trouble have associated with them in history traditions of bloodshed and plunder. During the summer of 1874 the Gros Ventre, or Big Belly Indians, now confined to the head-waters of the Missouri in the United States, gathered in force in the vicinity of the Hudson's Bay establishment, situated about two hundred rods distant from the Northwest Company's post. One hundred and fifty mounted Indians attacked the Hudson's Bay Company's place, and after gaining an entrance, killed all the people at the time within its walls, with the exception of one man, who secreted himself and evaded their search. Taking all the property which they could conveniently carry with them, they set fire to the fort and proceeded to the establishment of the Northwest Company, with the intention of treating it in a similar manner. However, they met with a very warm reception, as the gates had been shut previous to the approach of the Indians. There were in the fort at the time, men, women and children. The men took their stations in the block house and bastions, and when the Indians came within range fired upon them. The first volley was returned, and the contest continued during the remainder of the day. In the evening the assailants, having had the chief and several of their number killed and others wounded, and finding that the people in the fort had sustained no injury, thought it best to retreat, and after dragging away their dead and wounded, abandoned their goods to the victors. It did not seem prudent to remain there, and loading their goods into canoes, proceeded down the river to another establishment. The main object of the Indians in attacking these points was plunder."

Harmon gives us numerous notes of the Indians of that locality going to war with the Gros Ventres and the latter retaliating by making rapid descents on the Assiniboines and Cree killing and scalping men, women, and children. On the North Saskatchewan, at the Eagle Hill Creek, the traders had the latter retaliating by making rapid descents on the Assiniboines and Cree killing and scalping men, women, and children. In the spring of 1870. They had passed the winter there, and a few days previous to their intended departure a large band of Indians, being engaged in drinking about the houses, were suddenly prevented from giving further trouble to anyone by seeing him asleep. This accident produced a fray in which one of the traders and several of the men were killed, and the remainder saved themselves by precipitous flight, abandoning their goods to the victors. This was the signal for the beginning of a war of extermination of the whites, which was only arrested by the greatest calamity that could have befallen the Indians; this was the small pox, which spread with destructive and decimating power as the fire consumes the dry grass of the field. The fatal infection spread around with a rapidity which no flight could escape, and with a fatal effect that nothing could resist. It was just such a calamity as fell on the tribes in 1870, when thousands of them perished throughout the Saskatchewan country, and to some extent determined the future bounds of the hunting fields of Indians.

Living Bees.
Some apiarists practice clipping one wing of each queen, then when a swarm issues from the hive, she cannot follow, but crawls about upon the ground in front of the hive. Bee-keepers move the old hive to a new location, and by the time the swarm has decided to return, because it has no queen, upon the old stand, and the bees, taking it for the their old home, enter it, while the queen is allowed to run in with them. Thus the bees live themselves without being allowed to even cluster. An objection to this method is, that queens are sometimes lost in the grass. When a swarm of bees returns, it may enter the wrong hive, and if it makes no mistake in this direction, it occasionally clusters for all over the outside of the hive, and remains there a long time before entering. If the queen is allowed to enter the hive too soon, she may not come out again, thinking, perhaps, that she has not "swarmed," and the bees follow her. There are some indications that clipped queens are regarded by the bees with disfavour, and are thus more liable to be superseded. A queen that is lost may often be found by looking for the little knot of bees that usually accompanies her. If a swarm attempts to enter the wrong hive, a sheet can be thrown over the hive. If a queen is not given to a swarm until the bees begin to show signs of uneasiness, she is not apt to leave the hive. When the queen is uncapped, a swarm will usually soon cluster upon the branch of some tree. As the cluster begins to form, it should be noticed whether it is in a favorable location for removal. If it is where several branches cross, some of them should be cut away with the knife or pruning shears, leaving but one branch for the bees to cluster upon. If the bees are slow in clustering, and more swarms are momentarily expected, their movements can be hastened by sprinkling them with water, using a fountain pump. —American Agriculturist.

THE FIRST NEGRO MINISTERIAL

Edwin Booth and John A. Clark among the first performers.

The San Francisco Alta California says: "Hay Jim Along, Jim Along Jones" was sung in 1838 by John Smith, or "Nigger Jack," as he was called. Smith was afterwards identified with circus companies, and died a few years ago in Malbours. He was the originator of the double song and dance business. Coleman, Frank Brown and Dan Emmett did some song and dance work at the Franklin theater in New York in 1841. John B. Cough sang some negro songs and comic character songs at the same place of amusement. In 1842 the first band of minstrelsy was formed and gave a benefit performance at the Bowery. They then effected a complete organization and opened at the Chatham theater. The artists were: Frank Brown, as bones; Billy Whitehead, bass; Dan Emmett, as bones; and Dick Pelham, tambourine. They appeared between the play and farce at the Park theater a few nights and then went to England, but the tour was a failure. From this time beginning sprang all the bands of later days. A circus agent, James Dumbarton, caught on to the idea and organized a band consisting of Gill, Pelham White, Harbington, Stead and others. They were called "The Ethiopian minstrel," and created a furore when they went to England. They were the first to give a first part; that is to appear in full dress as it is done at the present time.

Christy then came to the front and maintained the palm for a number of years. The Christy minstrelsy was organized in Buffalo, N. Y., by Mr. E. P. Christy, who, with his sons, Earl Pierce and George Christy, whose real name was Harrington, were members. In 1843 they made the rounds of the districts, but were located in New York. E. P. Christy made a fortune of $400,000, but went insane for fear the war should sweep away his property and killed himself. George Christy, after making a large amount of money, died in poverty. John Diamond was the first black boy who ever danced a jig with a black face. P. T. Barnum picked him up and made a great deal of money with him. Diamond, however, was a rascal, and was sent to prison for theft, and finally died a drunkard. A negro boy, Juba, from South Carolina, was the greatest jig dancer that ever appeared before the public. Charles E. White is the oldest living performer who has ever made burnt cork a specialty. Dan Gardner was a famous "negro" performer and a favorite crowd. His daughter married Edwin Adams.

The first man who ever played on the banjo in public was Joe Sweeney, and his banjo was a good one with four strings. In 1843 there was a show running in Pratt street, Baltimore; admission, 12½ cents; children half price. Edwin Booth sustained the bone and, John Sawyer Clarke taught the tambourine, and Miss O'Brien was the middle man. Booth played solos on the banjo. Clarke is now a popular comedian and manager in London, and O'Brien is general superintendent of the "Southern Express."

SHOOTING AFFRAY AT COBOURG.

Coarsely Attack on an Old Man—The Victim in a precarious condition.

COBOURG, May 10.—About two o'clock this afternoon a dastardly shooting affray took place in this town. A young man named Andrew McGuire, a painter, kept company with a girl named Maggie Tucker for some time past. McGuire has been drinking freely of late, and Miss Tucker refused to have anything to do with him. This morning McGuire bought a seven shooter revolver for the purpose of shooting her. He went about twelve o'clock to her father's residence, and after being around the house some time watching for the girl, her father, John Tucker, came home and ordered him away. McGuire refused to go, and Tucker then told him he would go and get someone to put him away. Tucker went over to Detective Mr. Ried and his mother-in-law forcibly to the ground, the former having his face and nose badly cut and the latter her arm severely injured. McGuire arrived before McGuire entered the house and ordered him away the second time, when he drew a revolver and fired two shots at Tucker, the first one missing him and the second taking effect in the stomach. He now lies in a precarious condition. Being an old man of about 70 years of age it is thought he cannot survive. McGuire was arrested and placed in goal.

A NIBILIST CONGRESS.

Proclamation of a New Reformation—The cause given Two Years to Live.

KHARKOV, May 10. A nihilist congress has been proclaimed on principles no longer confined merely to the doctrine of the abolition of social system, but to the creation of a new system capable at any moment of being put in force and of fulfilling all requirements for the administration of the state. The congress decided that for two years no attempt shall be made against the life of the Czar, nor any member of the imperial family. Every possible effort will be made to induce the Czar to issue a constitution that was actually signed by the late Czar on the day of his assassination, but which was never promulgated. A copy of this constitution was read and unanimously approved by the congress. The constitution is of the most liberal character and is based on that of Germany. If at the expiration of two years the Czar refuses to grant the constitution, a policy of assassination and terrorism will be inaugurated on a scale never yet attempted. Nihilism, the document says, exists to-day in more force than ever and has power to overthrow the entire social fabric at one blow. Over four thousand officers of the Russian army are in the nihilist ranks. An Anglo-Russian war would not be an element of danger to the nihilists, but the nihilists. They would work heart and soul with the government to fight the common enemy.

CONVICT LABOR COMPETITION.

How the Government is Struggling Out the American Articles.

Mr. Fraser, Dominion Appraiser, has prepared an important list of articles that are manufactured in the prisons of the United States, and which are now excluded from coming into Canada by one of the tariff resolutions of the present session of parliament. The variety of the list is appalling. It is this Michigan state prison, located at Jackson, large numbers of bay forks are manufactured. Since the restrictive resolution was passed large quantities of these forks were brought into the Dominion, disguised as having been made by free labor. The government has allowed several importers to export this convict-made goods, on the plea that they were ignorant of the resolution; but it is said all such goods will be seized in future if found inside the Dominion, no matter how they got in. The free labor of Canada will now have no reason to fear competition from the convict labor of the United States, but it still has to compete against the labor of our native prisoners. —Toronto World.

An Ostrich Mystery.

OSWEGO, May 10.—Saturday night soon after eight o'clock two masked men entered the house of S. Thall during the absence of Mr. and Mrs. Thall. One of them with a drawn knife, seized a daughter aged 16, and under penalty of death commanded silence, but said she would not be harmed if she made no outcry. He then with a large scissors cut off her hair and out her clothing, saying he wanted to be revenged on her father. They took some articles of silver and left the house without doing her further harm. The affair is surrounded in mystery. Thall knows no one who could have a motive for doing such a deed.

Shooting Days on an Ice Floe.

St. Johns, Nfld., May 9.—The sealer Young Prince, collided with an iceberg in the Gulf of St. Lawrence on the 19th of April and sank almost immediately. The crew barely saved provisions and clothing. Thirty-two men lived on an ice floe sixteen days. Yesterday they were rescued and landed in good condition.

APLEY.

From Our Own Correspondent.

C. O. F.—The election of officers for Court McGill, No. 96, Canadian Order of Foresters, was held in their court room on May 15, when the following officers were appointed:—
Bro. Thos. G. Eastland, O. R. S.
Bro. Joseph G. Eastland, O. R. S.
O. R. D. Brown, F. S.
Payton W. C. Shawen, R. S.
Jas. Lindsay, C. T.
J. W. Ratcliffe, Chap.
John Barr, Sec.
T. E. Hume, J. W.
John Bealgrave, S. R.
S. H. McGill, J. R.

Brother Payton Shawen having been laid up by an accident for the space of three weeks was promptly paid by the Court at the rate of three dollars a week. It is a great wonder to many here that a more generous and liberal order, a benevolent society as the Canadian Order of Foresters, in the back country, especially where almost every one is liable at any time to a cut from an ash. Court McGill has had many trials to contend with since its inauguration, but now we are glad to say it is in a fair way of ranking with any Court in Canada.

A BIG DAY.—There was a big day in Apley to-day, when all jobs who have taken out new logs, etc., last winter, were settled up with.

KILLED AND WOUNDED. CLARK'S CROSSING, N.W.T., May 12.—The only man killed in Sunday's fight was Private Moor, of the Grenadiers. He was shot through the head after midnight on Saturday.

Capt. Mason, of the Grenadiers, is wounded. Names of others not ascertained. Private John Kemp, of the 90th, was shot through the eye; Private Erickson, of the 90th, in the arm; Private A. G. Wheeler, of the same corps, in the shoulder, and Private Ralph Baron, of the same corps, in the shoulder.

LATER.—Among the wounded are Private Scovell, No. 5 Company, Grenadiers, flesh wound; Private Lusk, No. 2 Company, Grenadiers, flesh wound; Private Cantwell, No. 2 Company, Grenadiers, flesh wound. Saturday's casualties you have already read.

THE MIDLAND BATTALION. A quantity of supplies and ammunition board the steamer Minnow reached Clark's Crossing to-day, with the remainder of the Midland Battalion and additional supplies for the troops. The trip was made in ten days, being an extraordinary length of time from Swift Current. The barge which started yesterday with the 7th Fusiliers expect to accomplish the journey in five days.

ARRIVED. WINNIPEG, May 12.—Mr. J. A. Barron, of Lindsay, arrived this evening with the Victoria

WEDNESDAY, MAY 13, 1885.

A BATTLE ON SUNDAY.

Fighting Continued Steadily During the Day.

MORE VOLUNTEERS KILLED.

THE REBELS MAKING A VERY STUBBORN RESISTANCE.

The Steamer Northcott Supposed to Have Come to Prince Albert—The Peterborough Company on the Way to the Front.

CAMP NEAR BATOCHE, May 10, via CLARK'S CROSSING, May 12.—After the fight at the southern skirt of the ridge pits on Saturday, we camped for the night in a large cleared space 200 yards west of the Church of St. Antoine.

THE TROOPS TRAINED. General Middleton issued an order at 8 p. m. thanking the troops for their efforts during the day, and warning them that there was still a great deal of heavy work before them. Double pickets were posted. The artillery and Gatling men stood beside their guns. The troops were firing off and on for several hours.

FIGHTING ON SUNDAY. Our artillery moved forward at 5.30, and opened on the ravines where the fighting was done yesterday. Two guns were directed against the houses in the basin-shaped depression along the river. A few rebels lay behind three log shanties just below the river bank, and the artillery soon drove them out. The enemy did not attempt to answer our artillery fire except at times, between shots, when they let fly at the artillery men, who were well covered, however, by skirmishers. Nothing was seen of the cot. At 8 a.m. skirmishers from the Royal Grenadiers and the 90th were sent a little ahead towards the groves of spruce and poplar north of our position. Howard, with the Gatling accompanied them, and kept a rattling fusillade for half an hour. The rebels did not fire back, but lay low in their wood pile. Occasionally two or three of them would jump up and fire and then run, apparently with the view of drawing our men after following them. This game of hide and seek lasted a long while, no damage being done on either side.

The rebel shanties along the river were knocked into splinters by 8.30 a.m., and troops were ordered up to make a dash for the principal houses behind the bluffs. But the men had no longer formed on the ridge than the rebels on the west bank of the river popped up, and began firing, many with Winchester, at long range. Six or seven volunteers were wounded here, and the men were at once ordered back. This was repeated two or three times during the day.

THE RESULT. At 6 p.m. our big guns are firing occasional shots, to which no response is being made by the rebels. Practically we stand just where we did this morning. The houses north of the church have long since been reduced to irretrievable ruins, and it is evidently the General's intention to send the troops quietly along the river, so as to get on the rebel flank, provided this can be accomplished in the face of the rebels on the east bank. Our casualties have not been very serious. How the rebels have fared we do not know.

Capt. Mason's wound is a painful one but by no means serious. He led his company with great dash. The wounded are doing well.

The Northcott has not been heard of since yesterday. She had a number of men on board, among them Lieut. Hugh J. Macdonald, of the 90th (an of the Premier).

KILLED AND WOUNDED. CLARK'S CROSSING, N.W.T., May 12.—The only man killed in Sunday's fight was Private Moor, of the Grenadiers. He was shot through the head after midnight on Saturday.

Capt. Mason, of the Grenadiers, is wounded. Names of others not ascertained. Private John Kemp, of the 90th, was shot through the eye; Private Erickson, of the 90th, in the arm; Private A. G. Wheeler, of the same corps, in the shoulder, and Private Ralph Baron, of the same corps, in the shoulder.

LATER.—Among the wounded are Private Scovell, No. 5 Company, Grenadiers, flesh wound; Private Lusk, No. 2 Company, Grenadiers, flesh wound; Private Cantwell, No. 2 Company, Grenadiers, flesh wound. Saturday's casualties you have already read.

THE MIDLAND BATTALION. A quantity of supplies and ammunition board the steamer Minnow reached Clark's Crossing to-day, with the remainder of the Midland Battalion and additional supplies for the troops. The trip was made in ten days, being an extraordinary length of time from Swift Current. The barge which started yesterday with the 7th Fusiliers expect to accomplish the journey in five days.

ARRIVED. WINNIPEG, May 12.—Mr. J. A. Barron, of Lindsay, arrived this evening with the Victoria

County supplies all right. He will proceed to Qu'Appelle on Thursday morning. EDMONTON, DISTRICT.

The Mail's correspondent, writing from Edmonton, Tuesday, May 7, via Calgary, mid-nights, Tuesday, May 12, says the troops under command of Major Perry, arrived here at noon May 5. The march from Calgary was completed in twelve days, half a day less than was taken by the first column of General Strange's division. If the three days' delay caused by the raising of the Red Deer river be counted out, the march was made in nine days, the average being 23 miles each day. This was accomplished with a train of about 100 waggon loads with supplies and baggage, and moreover the men, and even the officers, of the 60th have footed it almost throughout.

The Indians are in a perfect furor of excitement. An Indian who had joined Big Bear went on to Whitefish Lake five days ago and was going to break into the Hudson's Bay store in the absence of his agent, Peter Erasmus. When expostulated with, he declared that the country and everything in it belonged to the Indians, and he was going to have his own. One of the loyal Indians standing by said if he broke down the door he would be shot. He persisted, and was immediately fired upon by the loyal Indians and killed. The loyalists soon fled for their lives. If the worst comes to the worst it is believed that the faithful Indians will be like manner fight for the Government. A Cree to-day said it would be unnatural for Indian brother to fight Indian in the absence of his agent, Peter Erasmus. It was a case of good Indian, against bad Indian, as the 'white' police and soldiers have to fight against white thieves and white men's whips.

The seven barges are nearly finished. They will be sent to Pitt. Col. Osborne Smith may be here to-day. In that case a start down the river may be made by Sunday. Business here is going on quietly, and as usual, except that prices are fearfully high. Almost every part of the country has been raided by Indian bands. Government stores have been taken or destroyed, and houses broken open and pillaged.

Thirty-five white persons are in the hands of the Indians. Cattle have been driven off by hundreds. Gen. Strange is making his preparations as quickly as possible, and is becoming more efficient every day that the campaign in this region will be a serious one. Big Bear has a very large force, and without doubt the 'loyal' chiefs are with him at heart, and will strike when the time comes.

READY FOR DUTY. MONTREAL, May 12.—The Prince of Wales' Rifles Regiment ordered for service at an early hour this morning, paraded at noon and were then ready for service if required.

THE NEW BRUNSWICK CONTINGENT. ST. JOHN, May 12.—The news that four companies of the 62nd Battalion of Fusiliers had been called out for active duty produced a sensation this morning. The battalion is not up to its usual strength, but the full number will be obtained.

RECRUITS. WINNIPEG, May 12.—A despatch from Birtle announces the reception of a telegram from Major Birtle asking for recruits to replace men killed and disabled in the recent fight under Gen. Middleton. These recruits have done gallant service both at Fish Creek and Batocche. Volunteers were forthcoming in a few hours and about twenty young fellows left yesterday to join their command at the front. The citizens of Birtle gave them a hearty send off and sent a box of supplies to their citizen soldiers at the front.

GENERAL CABLE NEWS. THE AFGHAN FRONTIER. SINGAPORE, May 11.—According to a report in circulation here the Amer has bound himself to assist the British in the frontier between the points, the Government release to disclose. Probably, however, is not one of the places. The Amer wants the boundary commission to examine the frontier valley also, immediately upon the return of the Amer to Kabul, he issued orders that British officers should be allowed to inspect the forts at Herat.

EVERYTHING LOVELY. LONDON, May 11.—Mr. Gladstone stated in the House of Commons this afternoon that the arrangements had been effected between Earl Granville, Foreign Secretary, the Earl of Kimberley, Secretary for India; Baron De Staal, Russian Minister to England, and Mr. Lescaze, agent of Russia, in London, in regard to the Afghan frontier arrangement. It was satisfactory to Her Majesty's Government and to the Earl of Dufferin. He hoped an arrangement would be made the subject of a convention with Russia.

PEACEFUL MOVEMENTS. ST. PETERSBURG, May 12.—The Imperial Council of War have ordered the transfer of the military and medical stores from Kronstadt to the return to Herat in 1886, when Derr Janssens will become Governor.

GOING TO HERAT. MELBOURNE, May 12.—Sir Peter Lumsden has arrived on route for England. Col. Stewart and another British officer will go to Herat to examine the fortifications and give the Amer any needed advice.

PEACE AT LAST. SHANGHAI, May 12.—It is reported on good authority that the representatives of France and China have signed a peace protocol.

ARCHBISHOP OF DUBLIN. ROME, May 12.—It is stated that the Pope has selected Monsignor Moran, Archbishop of Sydney, for the Dublin Archbishopric.

DEADLY AVALANCHES. LONDON, May 12.—Advises from Ireland state that 15 dwellings with their inhabitants were swept into the sea by the April avalanche and 94 persons drowned. The avalanche destroyed 50 fishing boats. The loss in one village alone reached $20,000.

COL. DE WINTON HONORED. BERLIN, May 12.—Col. Francis De Winton will be appointed Governor of the Congo State, not Mr. Stanley, as stated. Col. De Winton returned to Europe in 1884, when Derr Janssens will become Governor.

A STARVING GARRISON. SUAKIM, May 12.—The Egyptian troops at Kassala are eating donkeys to relieve their hunger. The Governor rejects all appeals to attempt to escape.

TROOPS ON THE FRONTIERS. LONDON, May 12.—It is reported that Russia is adding 12,000 troops to her forces on the Austrian and Prussian frontiers. Such action necessitates an equal increase on the Austrian and Prussian sides.

DYNAMITERS ON TRIAL. LONDON, May 12.—The trial of Cunningham and Barton was resumed this morning, the court gave their counsel permission to hold a private interview with the prisoners. Strong evidence was adduced connecting Cunningham with the explosion on the Metropolitan Railway, but efforts of the prosecution to connect Burton with the same outrage failed.

The Rebels Driven from Batocche!

AND IN FULL FLIGHT!

List of the Canadian Killed and Wounded.

A COMPLETE VICTORY!

By Telegram to the Review.

HUMBOLDT, May 12.—Batocche was taken at four o'clock yesterday afternoon. The prisoners are released and the

REBELS ARE IN FULL FLIGHT

This afternoon the troops made a rapid advance down into Batocche, capturing the rifle pits and ravine, and driving the rebels before them.

THE FIGHT WAS DESPERATE, many of our brave fellows biting the dust. With a tremendous cheer the gallant volunteers dashed down on Batocche, capturing the horses and releasing all the prisoners, seven in number, named McDonnell, Thompson Brothers, Ross and Atley, Mackenzie, Jackson Bros. and Albert Mackenzie.

Our loss is as follows:—

90TH BATTALION.

Private Alex. Young, slight flesh wound in the thigh.

Sergeant Jakes, in the head—slight.

Corporal J. McGillies, slight wound on calf of leg.

Sgt. Major Watson, slight wound in the hand. All doing well.

THE GRENADIERS.

Killed.—Lieut. Fitch, shot through the heart and died instantly.

Lieut. Laidlaw, wounded slightly.

Maj. Dawson, slight wound in ankle.

Private Cook, in the arm.

Bugler M. Goughan, shot in the finger.

Private Geo. Barbour, slight scratch on the head.

Private G. W. Quigley, flesh wound in the arm.

Private James Marshall, in the calf.

Private Hewison, slight wound across the back.

Surveyor W. N. Kippen, of Perth, Ont., shot through the head and killed instantly, the ball entering the mouth.

MIDLAND BATTALION.

Daily Evening Review

WEDNESDAY, MAY 13, 1886.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

The Barnardo's Home Committee.
On Thursday May 14th, at 8 o'clock, the ladies of the committee of the Barnardo's Home will resume their fortnightly meetings at Hazel Bess.

Corrections.

The name of the gentleman who holds the bicycle championship of Canada, and who is to be present at the Lansdowne Roller Rink opening on Monday evening, is Hurd, of Toronto, not Hunt, as stated in yesterday's Review.

Beautiful Model.

The Brockville Recorder says:—Mr. Frank Turner received this morning from Peterborough a fine canoe built to order by the Ontario Canoe Co. and obtained through Mr. G. Crawford McLean, their agent here. It is built of narrow strips of wood running longitudinally, is very light and of beautiful model.

For beautiful designs in Lace Curtains and Lambrequins, all New Goods, go to Turnbull's.

Personal.

General Lindsay, of the 8th Army, is in town. He will take part in this evening's service.

Sergeant Boyder, of the Durham Field Battery, is now almost recovered from the recent severe illness sustained by the premature explosion of a shell on the morning of the departure of the Peterborough company of volunteers for the Northwest. His many friends will be pleased to learn that he will be round in a few days.

Appropriate for Ladies.

Ladies will find a wider range of Mantle and Dress materials than ever at Fair, Van Every and Co's this season. All new, handsome, bright and guaranteed value. Besides, every convenience may be repaid in the ability of Miss Johnston, the lady who has charge of the Dress and Mantle Making Department, to satisfy her customers in their most particular demands.

Three handsome White Dresses at A. C. Cooch's, all new and guaranteed.

Grand Carnival.

All who skate at the carnival to be held at the roller rink on Friday evening, must be attired in fancy dress. Those intending to go in costume should at once secure their skates, as already there are a large number of pairs taken. Ample seating accommodation has been provided for spectators. Those securing their skates at once will receive the benefit of free skating on Thursday and Friday.

Important Announcement.

Owing to there being several other attractions on Friday evening, the opening of the Lansdowne Roller Rink has been postponed until Monday evening next. In order to accommodate many who wish to be present, and who could not attend on the date previously fixed. On Monday, the 18th instant, the new rink will be thrown open to the public, and there will doubtless be a very large attendance of both sexes. Remember the grand carnival on the 26th.

For a large and varied stock of new patterns, go to Turnbull's.

Lacrosse.

As will be seen by an advertisement in another column, the Lacrosse Club have decided on engaging livery conveyance during the season to take the wheelers of the stick to and from the grounds. The grounds will soon be in good condition, and the first twelve should at once commence vigorous practice, for if they expect to have a chance for victory in the coming match with the Ontario every effort should be made. It is with a team standing on the same footing as the Toronto and Shamrocks that they are to engage on the 25th, therefore advantage should be taken of every opportunity. All those having suits belonging to the Club are requested to leave them at the City Clothing Store before Saturday evening.

"The North Smith Dairy Company."
A notice appears in the last issue of the Ontario Gazette that an application will be made to His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council for letters patent for the constituting of Michael E. Sanderson, Coleman Blawie, William Graham, Robert Henry Braden, and William James Northey, all of the township of Smith, farmers, and each other persons as may become shareholders in the company, a body corporate for the manufacturing and selling cheese, butter and dairy products, under the name of the "North Smith Dairy Company." The operations of the company are to be carried on throughout the county of Peterborough, and the chief place of business of the company is to be in the township of Smith. The amount of the capital stock is three thousand dollars, ($3,000). The number of shares of the company is one hundred and twenty, and the amount of each share is twenty-five dollars.

If you want a mantle made of silk that you will never regret buying, go to Turnbull's and ask for the silk of the golden time.

Notice.

Will lecture in George Street Methodist Church Monday next, 18th inst. Tickets 50 cents.

"Gough's dramatic power is insatiable."
"Gough's name is a household word."
"Gough's career as a lecturer has no equal."
"Gough is the 'grand man' of the age."
"Tens of thousands on this continent and in England have been thrilled with delight by the irresistible power of his oratory."

The cheapest boot-store in town is at the Bon Marche. A very choice selection to choose from.

GEORGE A. MORRISON

Run off.
This morning, at shortly before seven o'clock, a run off occurred on the Grand Trunk Railway on Botham street, a few yards south of Brock. An open switch was the cause. A train of empty flat cars was being shunted, and before the train could be stopped, four of them had left the track. They were pulled on again without injury of any account having been done.

THE ACCIDENT AGENT.

Profitable and Enjoyable.
Ladies will find that shopping at the Golden Lion is most profitable and enjoyable. Fair, Van Every & Co's millinery parlor is elegantly furnished, and replenished with all the latest designs in trimmed and untrimmed Hats, Bonnets, etc. The assortment is large, varied and most exquisite, under the immediate management of Miss Semples, whose long experience and with ample material at her command, will doubtless meet the requirements of the ladies, and keep the Golden Lion busy with orders throughout the season.

If you want to replenish your Gown and Hosiery, you will find everything desirable for Quality, Color and Price at Turnbull's.

Advice that is Good.

When we throw aside the flannel and the worn and leaky gum, and the croaking of the bulling tells that spring at last has come—when the plumber and the gas man seek their mansions in the west, and we feel that we're entitled now to have a little rest; then there comes the cheeky huckster, and, as up the street he goes, loud he yells from his wagon, "Here's your air, sweet berries!" Then our mouths are sure to water as we conjure up a dream of the luscious fruit last season, with its sugar and its cream, and in haste we trade our dollars for the cone drop filled with sand, only to repeat as laziest as each puckered face is scanned; and our youngest hopeful tells us, while our cup of woe o'erflows:—"That's the fellow that once sold us the bananas what was from!" It is then we seek our friend's advice, and ask them what to do; and the answer which comes quickly, I will give to you: It is to wear a more cheerful look, and—what do you suppose? Pay a visit to A. McNair's and buy a suit of clothes.

That job lot of Scotch Tweeds Turnbull's purchased a few days ago deserves the inspection of all who need suits, and you will find something to suit you at astonishingly low prices at Turnbull's.

The March Out.

On Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock Nos. 1, 2 and 3 companies of the 57th Battalion paraded at the drill shed. Shortly after a "march out" took place. The band of the 57th, preceded by Drum-Major Graham, led the column. The order of march was: first, 57th Battalion Band; second, No. 1 company; third, No. 3 company; fourth, the Peterborough division of the Durham Field Battery. The column marched down George street to Charlotte street, westward to Ridgeway street, northward to Hunter street, southward to Water street, northward to London street, westward to George street, southward to the market square, westward along Water street to Simcoe street, westward to George street, and then up to the drill shed again. All along the line of march the sidewalks were filled with spectators. The march out was under the command of Lieut.-Col. Rogers and Major Bell. The companies were under the command of their respective captains.

Gingham, Gingham. A large stock of new Gingham, to arrive this week at Turnbull's. Look for them.

HOUSEKEEPERS will please remember Fair, Van Every & Co's large consignment of Lace Curtains, in cream and white. Otonabee, Lambrequins, etc., at wholesale price. Their Carpet Department affords a full range of choice patterns in Union, All-Wool, Tapestry, Brussels, Oilcloths, Rug, &c.

Piano Tuning.

Mr. Kemping, head tuner for A. & S. Northamer, Toronto, is in town. Leave orders at Davis & Co's book store.

Span English Ale.
I want a delicious glass of Span's genuine English Ale (Otonabee brewing), the proper place to get it is Chamberlain's Lodge and Restaurant. All our liquors are guaranteed pure and unadulterated. Choice imported and domestic cigars.

Bodega.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT

THE THIRD SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT OF CANADA.

Still Encouraging the Reform Policy.—The Reform conspiracy against Representative Institutions—More Troops for the Northwest.

MONDAY, May 11.—The Speaker took the chair at 3 o'clock.

THE DUCK LAKE FIGHT.
Sir JOHN MACDONALD said Major Crocker had been asked for a fuller report of the Duck Lake fight, and it would be laid before the House when received.

THE HALF-BREDS.
Sir JOHN MACDONALD answered a whole string of questions asked by Mr. Cameron (Huron) in behalf of Mr. Blake, in reference to the complaints of the half-breeds.

SETTLERS' CLAIMS.
Sir J. MACDONALD, in reply to Mr. Watson, said the Government was giving consideration to the question of a vote for the relief of the settlers in the Northwest who had been driven from their homes and had their property destroyed by the insurgents.

A REFORM INVENTION.
Sir JOHN MACDONALD, in reply to Mr. Cameron (Huron), who asked on behalf of Mr. Blake, said their had been no communication between the Canadian and Imperial Governments with regard to any suggestion by the latter as to the Northwest trouble.

BLAKE'S BOOTLESS POLIO.
Mr. CAMERON, in reply to Mr. Cameron (Huron), asked for Mr. Blake's statement as to the number of boots for his men. As he had left Winnipeg before they arrived they were forwarded to him at St. Asaph.

A HEARTY RECEPTION.
Sir L. TILLEY was received with hearty cheers on entering the House for the first time after his recent illness.

EARLY SITTINGS.
Sir J. MACDONALD moved that after Tuesday the House should meet at 1.30 p. m. The motion was carried.

THE OBITUARY NOTICE.
The House went into Committee on the Franchise Bill.

Sir JOHN MACDONALD said he would not consent to exempt Prince Edward Island from the operations of the measure, which when finally settled would disfranchise him if any there. The general principle of the Bill had been adopted on the second reading, the Committee should now discuss the details of the clauses. But from the lengthened speeches of the Opposition, made in the House, the purpose of obstruction, it was now evident that a question of the Franchise Bill, but of whether they should continue to have a responsible representative government. It was the theory of our constitution that after reasonable discussion the will of the majority should prevail. There was now, however, an organized and confessed attempt to force the will of the minority upon the House, though of course in the end it could not prevail. He had refused to entertain the suggestion made to him that some such system should be adopted as those by which in Great Britain and in the United States power was given to check organized obstruction by a minority. He was aware to restrict the rights of minorities or to fetter the House of Commons, but he trusted that good sense would prevail and that the minority would desist from obstruction, which if persisted in must make a farce of representative Government. If the Opposition could succeed in their plan it would mean the destruction of their constitution. The terms of the House framed for the purpose of transacting their business should no longer be used for the purpose of obstructing public business. He trusted that the members who were opposed to the measure had now fully done their duty by pointing out every possible objection they could see to it, but surely they would not now attempt to obstruct the House by the voice of the majority should prevail.

Mr. MILLER denied that there was any obstruction by the Opposition, and then convicted himself of obstruction by speaking for hours without contributing a new idea, and for much of the time scolding like an angry squaw.

Mr. RYAN quoted the Reform leaders' speech in favor of a Dominion franchise. He pointed out in detail the many cases in which the Reform party had opposed the extension of the franchise in Ontario, but only in consequence of the pressure by Mr. Meredith and his followers, and of the announcement of this liberal measure by the Conservative Administration of the Dominion. He pointed out the necessity of restricting the organized obstruction by a minority, even if it took three or four months to legislate in accordance with the views of the majority of the representatives.

Mr. CAMERON and Mr. McCRESTY continued the obstruction by long speeches.

Mr. DAWSON supported the bill, and gave his experience in favor of Indian franchise. He pointed out the necessity of restricting the organized obstruction by a minority, even if it took three or four months to legislate in accordance with the views of the majority of the representatives.

NO NEWS.

Sir JOHN MACDONALD, in reply to Sir R. Cartwright, said there had been no further news from Gen. Middleton, as the wires were still down, but it was hoped they would be replaced immediately.

MORE TROOPS.

Sir J. MACDONALD said that the Minister of Militia had warned one or two more regiments to be ready to proceed to the Northwest.

MILITARY'S BEAVER.

So and Capt. W. H. W. some narrow escape.
Private Alex. McQueen, of the 90th Battalion, who arrived in Winnipeg on Wednesday last, gives some interesting incidents of the Fish Creek fight, hitherto unpublished. Regarding the reported orders of Gen. Middleton to the men to stand erect, he says no such orders were given, while on the contrary the General advised the men to seek the best cover they could and imitate the tactics of their foes and not to count any unnecessary danger. Mr. McQueen has not a very good opinion of the much vaunted shooting of the half-breds and speaks of their marksmanship in tones of distrust. Our men and officers were overwhelmed in many instances, and he gave the money which was paid to an instance of the poor shooting in the case of Lord M'Leod, who rode at a canter from the right division to the left within one hundred yards of the enemy's fire, and of which he was directed at him without any effect. Referring to the same incident further on, McQueen stated:—Lord M'Leod's conduct and bravery were remarkable and the subject of general admiration. He seemed to have a charmed life and once four rebel rifles were discharged at him while on horseback at a distance of 100 yards without doing him any harm. Captain W. also ran into the very teeth of the enemy. Some men on our side are mentioned. Private J. G. Brown was in the act of raising his rifle to his shoulder when a bullet hit the trigger, plucked a piece of it and knocked the iron off the stock. Another man had a hole plucked in his cap.

NATIVES SUBMITTING.
SUAKIM, May 13.—Thousands of natives who have been hostile have submitted to the British troops and the presence of the British are to be withdrawn will deter further submission.

A SENSATION IN CAIRO.
CAIRO, May 13.—An immense sensation was caused here by Lord Hartington's announcement of the Government's intention to withdraw the British troops from the Sudan. Military men are delighted.

GREAT EXPECTATION.
TIFRIP, May 13.—The Afghans expect England will average the defeat of the Afghans by the Russians or indefinitely the Amer for his losses.

A RIOT IN LONDON.
LONDON, May 13.—A riot occurred this afternoon between a mob and the police for the possession of the Nelson monument in Trafalgar square, where 10,000 men had assembled to make a demonstration against the Government's policy of retreating from the Boers.

The crowd was very unruly, a large portion of it consisting of an element in search of sport. The police found themselves unable to maintain order, and the presence of the Afghans and resolution readers compelled them to retreat from the pedestal of the Nelson monument.

The speeches were resumed they were rendered inaudible by the uproar among the rioters. The police intervened to secure silence for the speakers, and a great struggle ensued between the mob and the police for possession of the monument.

The row lasted nearly an hour. The promoters of the meeting, and the police were finally compelled to retire, leaving the crowd singing in triumph, "Rule Britannia."

The mob then surged down to the front of the National Club, which faces Trafalgar square. Every person entering or leaving the club building was mobbed. The attitude of the mob was so menacing that the club doors were closed, and a messenger despatched to Scotland Yard for additional police.

At nine o'clock the rioters were still in full possession of Trafalgar square, and Northumberland avenue was occupied by a mob also. The police by this time were largely reinforced and charged a number of times upon the mob, and made several arrests.

C. P. R. FREIGHT RATES.
To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—To-day's issue of the Examiner publishes a letter from Mr. Franks, of Emily, which, in justice to the C.P.R. and myself, I must answer.

Mr. Franks called on me in regard to tickets and a messenger despatched to Scotland Yard for additional police.

I telephoned (for his convenience) to station for freight rate, which was $187.50 per car to Moosejaw, as I am not freight agent. The car was not chartered from me, neither did I give him any receipt or receipt $187.50, which from the freight agent that the price would be $187.50 for a car of twenty thousand pounds, and in justice to the C.P.R. I will guarantee that if the car did not exceed that weight, if there is any extra charge (of which we have no proof), he will be refunded the amount.

Yours, etc.

C. P. R. Ticket Agent.

POLICE COURT.
ASSAULT.

THURSDAY, May 14.—This morning at the Police Court George Tighe charged William McCullagh with having committed an assault upon him on Saturday evening.

It appeared from the evidence that the complainant was door keeper at the Salvation Army barracks. McCullagh, a young man, after having imbibed freely in spirits, came to the door, and tried to walk past the door keeper. This the door keeper took objection to, and the result was that McCullagh was ousted into outer darkness. But the young man again re-nerved the outer. Miss Langtry, one of the officers of the army (not the Jersey Lily), pleaded that McCullagh be allowed admission, but the door keeper was inexorable and insisted that he was "too drunk" to be allowed into the prayer meeting, which was being held at the time. McCullagh offered "collection" without avail, and then determined by force to work his way in. He charged on the barracks, but the heavy hand of Mr. Tighe was laid persuasively upon his shoulder. The greeting became mutual and fate was brought into requisition. After a prolonged scuffle McCullagh's neck and face were considerably scratched, and the complainant suffered from a very sore head.

The Court held that a row had taken place for which the defendant was entirely responsible as he had no right to try to force himself in a place of worship when told that his presence was not desirable, and inasmuch as his record in this Court was by no means creditable, he having been on several times before for similar offense, and in order that the law might be more strictly enforced, a fine of $5.00 and costs would be imposed. The fine and the costs amounted to $8.20 in all.

REBELS GOING WESTWARD.
A second edition of this morning's Mail contains the following special despatch:—
BATOCHÉ, 5 a.m., May 13, via Chatham, Chatham, May 13.—Many of the rebels went across the river westward during the night. Others are still in the pits to the north. A shot from the Winnipeg guns knocked our snow out of the water.

Eleven rebels are said to have been killed. Our men were careful to avoid exposure as much as possible. At 2 p.m. the charge was ordered. The Midland Battalion on the left, the Grenadiers in the centre, the 90th on the right. Our men, with cheers, rushed the first ravine, full of rifle pits, and the Indians were hurled into the pit. The troops behaved with the utmost gallantry, and supported by one gun of the "A" Battery and the two Winnipeg guns, which did good work, and soon captured the village.

Capt. French was shot while kicking open the door of a house. The white prisoners, bearing our cheers, burst open the trap door of a cellar which was nailed down upon them, and came up to General Middleton amid cheers.

The troops are highly pleased over their work yesterday. General Middleton praised them in the highest terms.

Added to the list of wounded Grenadiers—J. Eager (possibly J. Eagles of No. 4—Ed. Mail). All the wounded are doing well. Barton's is a very serious case.

The rebels are evidently going off to join the Indian west of Batoché. We cannot attempt to pursue them.

They fought under the river bank for some time after we had taken the houses.

Jackson, Riel's secretary, who was among the prisoners rescued, is in jail. Riel is reported to have crossed the river making for Big Bear. No sign of Col. Irvine. Had he been on hand

REBELS GOING WESTWARD.

FOUNDMAKER DEPARTED FROM HIS POSITION AT OUT KNIFE HILL.

A Message from the Steamer Nordcoast:—
A List of the Killed and Wounded in the Three Day's Fighting.

OTTAWA, May 13.—In the House this afternoon Hon. A. F. Caron read the following official despatch from General Middleton:—
Hon. A. F. Caron, Ottawa:

BATOCHÉ'S HOUSE, May 11th, via Chatham, Chatham, May 13.—Have just made a general attack and carried the whole settlement. The men behaved splendidly. The rebels are in full flight. Am sorry to say I have not got Riel. While I was reconnoitering this morning, Wm. Ashley, one of the prisoners, galloped with a flag of truce, and handed me a letter from Riel, saying:—

"If you massacre our families I shall massacre the prisoners."

I sent answer that if he would put his women and children in one place, and let me know where it was, not a shot should be fired on them. I then returned to camp and pushed on my advance party, who were heavily fired on. I so pressed on until I saw my chance and ordered a general advance. The men responded nobly, splendidly led by their officers and Col. Strachan, doctor of the enemy out of the rifle pits. After taking the rifle pits they forced their way across the plain and seized the houses, and we are now masters of the place, and most of my force will bivouac there. Right in the heart of the action Mr. Ashley came back with another message from Riel as follows:—

"General, your prompt answer to my note shows that I was right in mentioning to you the case of humanity. We will rather our families in one place and as soon as it is done we will let you know."

I have, etc.
(Signed) LOUIS DAVID RIEL.

On the evening he had written as follows:—
"I do not like war, and if you do not retreat, and refuse an interview, the question remains the same concerning the prisoners." Our loss I am afraid is heavy, but not so heavy as might be expected; yet, I find it is five killed and ten wounded. The killed are Captain French, commanding the scouts; Lieut. Fitch, 10th Grenadiers; Capt. Brown, Bolton's scouts; A. W. Kippin, surveyor's scouts; Private Reeder, 90th Battalion.

Wounded—Lieut. Golden, Surveyor's scouts; Lieut. Laidlaw, 10th; Major Dawson, 10th; (slightly); Sergeant Major Watson, 90th; slight; Lieut. Sturgeon, 90th; in hand; Private Young, 90th; shot wound in thigh; Private W. Cook 10th; shot in arm; Bugler M. Ganaghan, 10th; in finger; Private O. Berber, slight wound in head; Private J. W. Quigley, shot wound in arm; Private J. Marshall, 10th; shot wound in calf; Private W. Wilson, 10th; slight, across the back; Private Barton, Midland, slight; and groin, seriously; Corporal Halliwell, Midland, face and arm, slight; Lieut. Halliwell, Midland, in shoulder. This is all I know of at present. The prisoners were all released and are safe in my camp. Among them is Jackson, the white man who was Riel's secretary, but who is mad and rather dangerous.

(Signed) FRED. MIDDLTON, Major-General.

FOUNDMAKER DECAPITATED.
Scouts just returned from Foundmaker's house report him having disappeared. They captured two ponies. The scouts went up between two rivers and camped during Monday night in the woods near Thunder Creek.

In the morning they approached the edge of the late battle field at Cut Knife Hills, and surveyed the scene of the bloody fight. The surrounding country was all on fire. The scouts express the belief that the rebels have retreated into the woody fastnesses and ravines at Sound Lake or Two Ponds, which are 30 and 30 miles due west.

Eight scouts leave to-day, taking three days' rations, and endeavor to discover where the Indians have gone.

ACCIDENTALLY WOUNDED.
Private Weston of the Governor General's Foot Guards, Ottawa, was wounded in the left hand by the accidental discharge of his revolver. The bullet has been extracted and the wound is healing rapidly.

LEAVING BATOCHÉ.
WINNIPEG, May 13.—A telegram from Batoché announces that thirty women and a large number of children have decided to take advantage of the facilities offered for leaving Batoché and proceeding east in safety, and will leave by rail to Swift Current to-morrow. A mounted escort will accompany the party from Batoché to the railway station, and, distant, after which it is thought no danger need be apprehended.

THE WOUNDED.
The wounded continue to improve and will probably be removed to Winnipeg when the steamer begins to run.

ON BOARD THE NORTHOAST.
WINNIPEG, May 13.—The following despatch was received this morning from Capt. Bedson:—
AT THE FRONT, May 11, via Humboldt, May 12.—On board the Northcoast.—We ran the river, the rebels kept up a hot fire on us for six miles. Only three men were wounded. I got a ball through my coat, but I am not hurt. Hugh John MacDonald is with me and is all right. The troops are all fighting. We ran the edge of the wood and had to go down the river. We got back to assist the troops after wooding. The rebels are about five hundred strong.

INLAND NAVIGATION.
 A VERY interesting article in the current number of Harper's Monthly Magazine will help to correct the erroneous ideas of those superficially informed persons who assert that the day of canals has passed, and that the railway car has superseded the barge. The paper in question is entitled, "Through London by Canal." Though, however, the writer, Mr. B. E. Martin, deals chiefly with the artificial water communication through the great metropolis, he incidentally shows that by canals "the Mersey is married with the Thames, and shire hands with the Humber." He speaks of the traffic of the canals of the north, of the Midland counties and of the West. He talks of "the whole great scheme of inland navigation." Again and again he refers to the coal barges which bring to the millions of that great city so large a portion of their fuel, traversing by canals the length and breadth of England. Thus he clearly shows what a wide spreading network is the system of inland navigation in Great Britain, holding its own with the enormous railway mileage and the fleets of coasters.

In describing the details of the route through London we are given an idea of the great variety of the barge freight. Stone and timber, bricks, and ashes for mingling with the clay, tiles, chimney pots and drainpipes, seed, lime and cement, coal and firewood, iron in all shapes, hay and straw, paving stones and tombstones, gas liquor to be turned into dyes and perfumes, etc., etc.

The amount of this traffic is also indicated by our author. Through this one canal, he says, there pass a hundred barges and boats a day, thirty thousand a year. Nearly a million and a half tons of goods, he says, are carried upon it every year.

It is evident that the days of canals are not passed even in England. For heavy, bulky, and less valuable articles the cheaper water carriage more than holds its own with the more speedy but also more expensive railway carriage, which is used for valuable, perishable and light goods for which greater despatch is required.

And it is obvious that this is the system that should be adopted in our own country—that the day of canals, instead of being ended, is only commencing. With our superior railway accommodation, both at present and for many years to come; with enormous distances in comparison with which the whole length of Great Britain sinks into insignificance; with our more extensive natural waterways it is both more necessary and more feasible that we should aim at a grand system of inland navigation in the not distant future.

Indeed, without inland navigation it would be impossible to move with sufficient economy the ever increasing produce of our vast North-western regions, or to supply their population with the heavier articles of consumption.

The Belleville Ontario, referring to the statements that assessors have sometimes been partial, says:—

"True, there have no doubt been instances where a particular Council has appointed men to three positions who were not too rigid in their sense of strict justice."

This admission, coming from a Reform source, means a great deal. The contention of the Ontario that the Reform party has also suffered from the party bias of assessors, whether correct or incorrect, does not affect the argument. If the present system of compiling the voters' lists has been found to be imperfect, another system is needed, and it is supplied by the bill which the Reformers are striving by unwarranted means to defeat.

The Kingston Whig (Reform), referring to Sir John Macdonald, says:—

"He is kept close, warily going, to his post and appears to apprehend danger should he absent himself for any length of time. He cannot stand this tremendous strain for ever."

That gives the Reform idea of the strain of public business upon the veteran Premier at the present time, and it was by taking advantage of his years by obstructing business and keeping Parliament in session continuously for days, that the Opposition hoped to wear him out and gain an advantage. Their tactics are displaceable.

What an Outlander Thinks.

The Opposition press generally in Canada charge the Government with being the remote cause of the rebellion in the Northwest, through the injustice which has characterized their treatment of the halfbreeds. They hold that if a hearing had been given to the complaints of the halfbreeds, and their grievances removed, there would have been no trouble, and consequently no bloodshed and expense.

Whatever truth there may be in the accusation, we think that the present crisis in the history of Canada is not the proper time to hamper the Government and impair its efficiency by considering its past or present policy. Any person not a partisan cannot but admit that the Government has displayed great skill and promptitude under circumstances of such serious importance. Even were Canada a military power possessing a standing army, troops could not have been sent with greater dispatch to the seat of the rebellion; and, under the circumstances, no matter what could be urged against Sir John and the Government, of which he is the head, patriotism ought to rise superior to every consideration of party politics. There will be time enough for censure when Riel is subdued; but until then a sense of propriety ought to restrain the political opponents of the Government, both in and out of Parliament, from preferring charges which the Government can ill spare the time to meet.

We have always been and are inclined to Liberalism in politics, but we nevertheless think that national circumstances of such great importance should be sufficient to push into the background, at least for a time, all questions of mere party politics. —New York Freeman.

Fatally Burned in a Bush Fire.
 HUNTINGTON, Pa., May 12.—Wm. How, a farmer, was overcome while fighting a bush fire yesterday and fell unconscious within a few feet of his dehydrating flames. His daughters Annie and Lizzie found him, and picking up his prostrate form hurried to a place of safety, but their own clothing caught fire and both were terribly burned. Their recovery is doubtful. How will die.

THE OTONABEE MILLS.

THOROUGHLY EQUIPPED WITH THE MOST IMPROVED MACHINERY.

The Full New Process System Now in Operation—The Mills Complete in Every Department.

The Otonabee Sawing mill, Ashburnham, is not only one of our pioneer industries, but, as it stands to-day, is one of our foremost and most important industries. Success has marked the career of this establishment from the first, chiefly from the fact that it has been ever fitted with every requisite to suit the gradually heightening requirements of the people.

Nearly forty years ago these mills were built and fitted with the latest inventions in mill machinery, and with the onward march of time new methods in the various departments were also added. Familiarly known to the farming community as "Roger's Mill," this place and its proprietors have enjoyed a large patronage. The year 1883, however, marks a new epoch in the history of these mills. On March 1st, Mr. B. A. Mulhern, of Warkworth, took possession, and since that time work has been vigorously carried on in putting in a complete "new process," or gradual reduction system. About three years ago large improvements were made in the mills by the late Geo. C. Rogers, and among the numerous improvements was the introduction of part of the roller system. The system is now complete, and after an expenditure of approximately four thousand dollars, twelve sets of rollers, with all the accompanying necessary machinery, is in full working order. The introduction of the system entailed a readjustment of driving pulleys and the conveying spouts. This has all been satisfactorily accomplished.

In order to give the reader an idea of how completed the process, as these mills are fitted with, is a brief tracing of the kernel of wheat, from the time it leaves the bag until it is reduced to flour will fairly show.

Emptied from the bags it descends to a "hopper" weigh scale, is elevated to the third flat, and comes down and passes through a Eureka separator. This machine takes out all foreign seeds, etc. A Eureka mill machine takes out all the smut and dust from it, and it then undergoes a thorough brushing by passing through a Eureka brushing machine. When leaving this preparatory process it is free from all dust and dirt, and the kernel is literally polished. By means of elevators it passes up to the third flat where it is deposited in one of the three stock hoppers each having a capacity of two hundred bushels. Descending to the first flat again it passes through the first "break" roll. The now broken wheat again passes upward until it reaches the third flat, where it is run through a sort of wire screen, called in millers' phraseology, a "sifter." The small quantity of flour and middlings made by the first break passes through this screen and goes to a bolt, the broken wheat returning, to go through the second break, or set of rolls, where it is further reduced. This process is repeated six times, during which the material passes through different graded scalpings. After going through the sixth break roll the bran only remains. It is then sent to a bolt where any flour remaining is bolted out. After passing through a bran duster, which brushes off any flour which may still be adherent to it, it reaches the bran bin.

In the meantime, the flour passing from the bolts is conveyed to one of the three Eureka packers, each capable of containing one hundred and seventy-five barrels. The middlings are gradually reduced by means of frequent passagings through rolls and perifiers until at last it is brought to a fine by means of a run of stones. It is a disputed point among millers as to which is the better for the final reduction, the rollers or stones. Mr. Mulhern is of opinion that the latter is more effective, and therefore has adopted that plan.

Besides making large improvements in and additions to the mill machinery, he has also had an eye to convenience. A comfortable office has been fitted up in the mill itself, adjoining which is also a store room for flour in paper sacks. A millers' office has also been provided. This is for the convenience of the workmen, and oil cans, lamps, etc., are kept in it. Pumps for both machine and coal oil afford special convenience. The latest improvement Mr. Mulhern intends making is that of the introduction of electric light into the first flat of the mill.

Not have the oatmeal and chopping departments been forgotten. A thorough overhauling has taken place, and a new run of stones for oatmeal and cornmeal work is being put in. Mr. Mulhern is a miller of life long experience, and may therefore be expected to have a knowledge of every part of the business. With his long experience in milling, himself in possession of mills equipped with the very best machinery, and those situated at a convenient point, a large patronage is virtually sure.

MIDLAND BATTALION.

Editorial Notice from a Member of the Peterborough Company.

The following letter is from Mr. Wm. Tanner, of No. 3 (Ashburnham) company of the Peterborough Rangers, and now serving in "Q" company of the Midland Battalion:—

MAPLE CREEK, May 3, 1885.

MY DEAR SIR,—Your brother asked me to write you, as he had no time before leaving, having volunteered when at Swift Current to go with Lieut. Weller and a squad of ten from the 87th, namely, Corp. A. Rogers, Private Cook, Berwick, Cummings, Hanzab, Cochrane, Thompson, Breckenridge, DeWolf and Matheson, down the river. As the time was very limited in which they had to get ready, he had no time to write and asked me to write you a line to let you know his whereabouts. It seems that those on the river were not much used to river work, so Lieut. Weller offered to get a squad used to river driving and boats. They started away in all haste about dusk last Thursday night and travelled all night to the river. You will see that we have changed quarters from Swift Current to Maple Creek. We started from Swift Current yesterday morning (May 2) and arrived here about 10 o'clock. Our camp is about two miles from the station and about three-quarters of a mile from the Mounted Police barracks, so we are between the barracks and station. We are in a good situation. We have a beautiful creek close to the camp, which is very handy for the cooks, also for washing, of which the boys are taking full benefit. There are only two companies (G and H) of us here. We left the 7th, London, and 96th, Halifax, at Swift Current. The weather is as hot, or very nearly, as in Ontario in the middle of summer. The sun to-day is very strong, but there is a nice breeze, and the nights are nice and cool. You don't know how much we have enjoyed the trip. SANITARY.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—A number of anonymous complaints as to alleged nuisances having been sent in to me, I beg leave to inform those making such complaints that in all such cases the name of the writer must be given. Charges have been brought in from time to time which on examination were found to be bogus, and caused great annoyance to innocent persons. The name will not necessarily be made known, but is required as a guarantee of good faith. I may also call the attention of those interested to the fact that the 15th of May is at hand, by which time all yards and premises must be cleaned up.

Yours, etc.,

TESTIFIES.

Popularity at home is not always the best test of merit, but it points really to the fact that no other medicine has won for itself such universal approbation in its own city, and country, and among all people, as

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

The following letter from one of our best-known Massachusetts Druggists should be of interest to every sufferer:—

RHEUMATISM.

"Eight years ago I had an attack of Rheumatism, so severe that I could not move from the bed, or dress, without help. I tried several remedies without much if any relief, until I took AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, by the use of two bottles of which I was completely cured. Have sold large quantities of your SARSAPARILLA, and it still retains its wonderful popularity. The many notable cures it has effected in U. S. vicinity convince me that it is the best blood medicine ever offered to the public."

River St., Buckland, Mass., May 13, 1885.

SALT RHEUM.

GEORGE ANDREWS, overseer in the Lowell Carpet Corporation, was for over twenty years before his removal to Lowell afflicted with Salt Rheum in its worst form. Its excruciating attacks covered more than half the surface of his body and limbs. He was entirely cured by Ayer's Sarsaparilla. See certificate in Ayer's Almanac for 1885.

REP. REPRESENTATIVE INSTITUTIONS

THE members of the Canadian House of Commons who claim to represent the Reform party in the Dominion, pretend to be the legitimate successors of those who battled for representative institutions and responsible government. If they have any rightful claim to this inheritance, we can only say that they have sadly degenerated. They are seizing the opportunity of an armed rebellion against the authorities of Canada in order to embarrass those authorities in the transaction of the public business, hoping that thereby they might gain a party advantage. And they are doing this by means of a deliberate plan to foment a revolution against our constitution. They repudiate the system of representative institutions, by which the majority of the constitutional representatives of the electors are privileged to shape the legislation of the country. They attack the system of responsible government, by which it is provided that a Ministry, supported by a majority of the members, shall administer our affairs and shape our legislation. They avowedly and even boastfully claim that legislation shall not be passed by the majority if distasteful to the minority, so long as they, the minority, can consume the time and stop public business, by talk. They aim in fact at a thorough-going revolution of our constitution to the effect that our Parliamentary minority is to conduct public business and dictate legislation, instead of the majority. This is being effected by an abuse of the rules of the House, intended to regulate and facilitate the passing of legislation and the transaction of other business after adequate discussion. But it is impudently avowed by the revolutionists and the journals supporting them that under cover of these rules their object is to force the majority to abandon a measure and yield to the will of the minority through mere weakness.

Such a course is unprecedented in the history of representative institutions. Never before has a Parliamentary minority persisted in this in an attempt to dictate to the majority. It has often occurred that a minority has availed itself of the rules of the House to secure adequate time for discussion, when the majority seemed to them unduly impatient. But never before has a minority had the effrontery fully to rebel against the constitutional right of the majority of the people's representatives, by wilfully obstructing a decision as to a measure, and preventing the transaction of any public business so long as that measure is pressed.

Any pretence that there is a refusal of sufficient time for the consideration and discussion of a measure is utterly untenable. Their leading journal says that the measure was prepared years ago, so it certainly has not been sprung upon the country. Whole days and nights have been consumed in mere talking and reading against time in order to prevent even the interpretation clauses from passing, so that even already there would have been ample time for a full discussion of the more important existing clauses. If any of them were objectionable, and we would not presume to attribute perfection to them or those of any other bill as first introduced, reasonable debate might result in their amendment and improvement. Such criticism of details is the legitimate work of an Opposition, after the principle of a measure has been adopted, and if judiciously suggested and temperately advocated, generally leaves its impress upon the bill.

That the opposition however is merely factious, is shown by the fact that the two details which have been most fiercely and unscrupulously attacked, namely the granting of the franchise to Indians participating in annuities and the appointment of Revising Barristers have already been enacted by Provincial legislation, which the Opposition desires us to adopt for the regulation of the Dominion Franchise.

There are many Reformers who are heartily ashamed of this organized assault upon our representative institutions and system of responsible government. They hope, as we do, that the minority in the House will yield to the dictates of good sense, and cease to insist upon a course of action, which, if it became a precedent, would render Parliamentary Government altogether impracticable. In fact none of the deliberative and joint organizations of civilized life could be carried on if it were to become the rule that a dissatisfied minority could dictate to the majority by rendering any action impossible till the will of the smaller number was allowed to prevail.

The leading journal of the Reform party complains that the press despatches from Canada to Great Britain do not give a sufficiently unfavorable account of the state of the Dominion. It says:—

"Not a word in the British public allowed to learn of the fact that the premier colony is in a state of seething excitement about the proposal to enfranchise Indian murderers and to steal the voters' lists."

"Seething excitement" manifested by a few meetings in response to headquarter invitations, and by a few petitions with the signatures paid for at a tariff rate, is surely not worth telegraphing. As to Indian murderers, the proposal is not to enfranchise them or their tribes, but only Indians similarly qualified to white men. The Globe, which incited the rebellion, is far more murderous than such Indians. Stealing voters' lists will still remain an offence punishable by due penalties, and we would advise the Globe's friends not to steal them, however much they may dislike the enlargement of the lists.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT

THE THIRD SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT OF CANADA.

Saturday Sitting in Future—Representation Expended—The Franchise Bill—Exemption Claimed for Ontario.

WEDNESDAY, May 13.—One petition against the Franchise Bill was presented, amid cries of "Fifteen cents a hundred," though Mr. Landarkin said it did not cost a cent, probably because it had only 74 signatures.

SITTING ON SATURDAY.
 Sir J. MACDONALD moved that the House should sit on Saturdays in future.

MR. WALLACE (York) exposed Mr. Mill's misrepresentation of him in accusing him without foundation of abusing the municipal councillors and members.

THE FRANCHISE BILL.
 The House went into Committee on the Franchise Bill.

Mr. Davies and Mr. Casey spoke against time on the amendment to exclude New Brunswick.

The amendment was negatived by a vote of 72 to 34.

Mr. VAIL moved an amendment to exempt Nova Scotia. He claimed the Bill would restrict the franchise.

Mr. TAPPIN completely answered Mr. Vail by showing that the franchise would be extended instead of restricted, quoting the local Reform organ to the effect that many Nova Scotians would obtain votes for the first time.

Mr. KIRK spoke in favour of the amendment.

Mr. CAMERON (Inverness) supported the Bill.

The amendment was negatived by a vote of 67 to 39.

TO EXEMPT ONTARIO.

Mr. CASEY moved a resolution in favour of exempting Ontario and make a long speech. He declared that the people should have been consulted and that the measure was a fact made known to Mr. Mowat. He endeavored to show that the bill disfranchised voters, greatly falsifying the figures, claiming for instance that half of the voters would be deprived of votes. He attacked the clause enfranchising Indians, declaring his preference for Mr. Mowat's plan of giving a vote to an Indian who would be participating in the annuities if he wandered away from his reserve to become a river driver, while refusing a vote to an Indian remaining on his reserve to cultivate a well tilled farm or to keep a well stocked store. The bill he claimed would injure the Conservative party.

Mr. LANDERKIN made a long speech, using such disgracefully abusive language that he had to be called to order. He repeated the falsehood that the bill would give votes to the insurgent Indians in the Northwest, and was supported in this misrepresentation by Messrs. Mills and Charlton. He was very abusive in respect to the Revising Barristers.

Mr. SPENCER thought it would be time enough to bring charges against the Revising officers when they failed to perform their duty. He pointed out the liberal nature of the measure.

Messrs. ALLEN, WATSON and McMILLAN, spoke or read against the bill.

At midnight Sir H. Langens moved that the Committee rise, the next day being a holiday, and the House adjourned.

CORPORAL ELIGHT'S DIARY.

The Troubles Immediately Preceding the Fight at Fort Pitt.

The following extracts from the diary of Corporal Elight, of the N. W. M. P., contains many interesting points regarding the troubles in and around Fort Pitt. Corporal Elight was killed at Otter's Fight at Cut Knife Creek.

April 2.—Constable Roby left with train for Oton Lake; brought back lumber. Indians terribly excited out there. Mr. Mann, farm instructor, with wife and family arrived at 1 a. m., with report all whites killed at Frog Lake. Assembly at 12 p. m. All hands working all night, blocking up windows and making loopholes in all buildings. Doodle pickets put on.

April 3 (Good Friday).—Henry Quinn in from Frog Lake, reported all whites shot. They were led out for execution, when he ran for his life and managed to escape; poor fellow played out and showed good grit. The Indians the day before said they were going to remain quiet, and early next morning (Thursday) took all whites prisoners. Mr. and Mrs. Quinsey in from Oton Lake. An Indian brought them in; all his goods and chattels stolen. The two priests, Father Laford and Marchand, were fired upon and then shot. Everybody busy pulling down outside buildings and barricading the fort.

April 4.—Johnnie Beak-tobowas in from Battleford with 400 whites. Indians down there turning Jews and several whites killed. Reported Little Poplar and 9 lodges 25 miles off and came this way. Johnnie left again for Battleford with dispatches; men busy all day.

April 5 (Sunday).—Men on fatigue most of day. Mr. Quinsey (Episcopal clergyman) held short service in barracks. Indians heard shouting on hill during night; shots fired.

April 6.—Nothing exciting.

April 7.—Stockade being erected. Indians at Frog Lake looted all the stores at that place; also the barracks on 2nd line. Indians show great courage, and each one, rifle in hand, stands at a loop-hole. The men work like horses, and are cheerful; all civilians sworn in and armed. Barracks put up on left front of fort; sentries put on in each house; four hours on duty each.

April 8.—Another bastion put up near orderly room corner.

April 14.—No relief, and things look black. Everybody in good spirits. E. Quinn, D. Cowan and C. Lonsby, with three saddle horses, went out scouting to Frog Lake. Body of Indians at top of hill, 800 yards from fort. 250 Indians armed and mounted. Had Dr. McLean, and Halpin, H. B. Co., prisoners. Big Bear sent letter down. Sent word for everybody to evacuate fort and give up arms. Doors barricaded, and men in houses. Indians had big war dance on hill. Indians skulking through woods in every direction. Mr. Macleod, of H. B. Co., had parley with them on hill. Double sentries in barracks. 250 Indians on war path surround us.

April 15.—Mr. Macleod at noon went on hill to parley. Three mounts came galloping through lower part of hill. Constable Cowan shot and was badly wounded and horse killed. Shot fired from 1000 holes; two Indians killed. Quinn missing and two wounded. Mr. Macleod and Francis DuRoiene taken prisoners. Mr. Macleod wrote down to his wife to come out and give herself up to Big Bear. Impossible to hold fort now, so we had to gracefully retire across the river in snow and camped for night, not forgetting to bring colors along; nearly swamped crossing river, being rough and snow leaving badly. General idea prevailed that we would be attacked going down river. Took Lonsby along. Thus ended the siege of Fort Pitt.

April 16.—Up at 4.30, after passing a wretched night, snowing fast and very windy. Moving slow. Several men from-bitten. And clothing frozen on our backs. Started 7 a. m. Ice running very strong. Had a narrow escape in ice jams. Camped at 9 for dinner. Resumed trip at noon. 18—Started at 7 a. m. Day dull and cold.

April 19 (Sunday).—Left Ship Jack Island at 7.15 a. m. Ran for five hours. Camped on Beaver Island, number 35. Ran on three hours, and camped on Pine Island for night.

April 20.—Here all day. Barricaded the snow. Inspected arms. Rough-looking parade. Wounded man better.

April 21.—Left island at 7 a. m. 11 a. m.—Barricaded interpreter, Joseph Alexander, and two policemen on south bank. They had despatches for us. They reported Battleford safe and troops expected daily. Ran all day, and stopped small alarm for night. River falling rapidly. Struck in sand bars. All slept on board snow. Two men on picket.

April 22.—Started 5.45 a. m., and reached Battleford at 9 a. m. Garrison cursed and presented arms. Police band played us into Fort. Enthusiastic greeting. Ladies give us a grand dinner.

A HOME DRUGGIST TESTIFIES.

Popularity at home is not always the best test of merit, but we point proudly to the fact that no other medicine has won for itself such universal approbation in its own city, state, and country, and among all people, as

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

The following letter from one of our best-known Massachusetts Druggists should be of interest to every sufferer:—

"Eight years ago I had an attack of RHEUMATISM, which was so severe that I could not move from the bed, or dress, without help. I tried several remedies without much if any relief, until I took AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, by the use of two bottles of which I was completely cured. I have not had a return of my complaint since, and I still retain its wonderful popularity. The many notable cures it has effected in this vicinity convince me that it is the best blood medicine ever offered to the public."

River St., Buckland, Mass., May 15, 1885.

SALT RHEUM. GEORGE ANDREWS, overseer in the Lowell Carpet Corporation, was for over twenty years before his removal to Lowell afflicted with Salt Rheum in its worst form. His ulcerations actually covered more than half the surface of his body and limbs. He was entirely cured by AYER'S SARSAPARILLA. See certificate in Ayer's Almanac for 1885.

JOHN SHERLOCK'S DEATH

PARTICULARS OF HIS LAST ILLNESS IN THE FAR AWAY SOUDAN.

Attached by Samlison, followed by Apology—Incidents Regarding the Canadian in Egypt—Frieder of the Officers.

WADY HALFA, The Sudan, (795 miles from Cairo, and 811 miles from Khartoum), April 1st, 1885.

Col. Kennedy and Col. Denison leave here to-day in charge of 81 Canadians on their return to Canada. When Lord Wolseley decided to station the troops in summer quarters, he returned with the Canadians to Korti, and there offered them the option of going home if they chose to do so. In an address to the Canadians, however, he expressed unbounded appreciation of their services. He said: "Officers and men, I have no hesitation in saying that your services have been inestimably valuable in getting the troops up the Nile. You have done your work like men, and under your direction, and with your assistance, the British troops have done what troops have never done before. Indeed, without your services the enterprise could scarcely have been carried through." He also said that if they chose to remain through the summer—as he hoped many of them would—be ready for the fall campaign, they would receive the best accommodations that could be afforded. There would, however, be no compulsion in the matter, and if they decided to go home he hoped they would all return for the fall campaign, as a large number of Canadians would be required to man the gunboats, and the services of the Canadians were indispensable to the success of the enterprise, and their refusal to observe the erroneous orders was in the interest of the expedition.

On the morning of the 10th of February, General Earl's column came upon the enemy, posted in a very strong position at Kibikan. It was a valley near the river, strongly fortified on two sides by steep, rugged rocks, and a stone fort was built on the river side, and a wall on the desert side, with loopholes through which to fire. Six companies of the Staffords made an attack over the rocks, while two companies guarded the baggage, and six companies of the "Black Watch" went around to attack them from the river side. In these positions the British poured their volley after volley, and, thus keeping the Arabs' knives and spears at bay, and took command of the situation in about five hours. As the enemy retreated those who "black watch" captured the Egyptian artillery did good work in the valley into the plain from behind the rocks. The 19th Hussars scoured the desert an utterly bewildered the retreating foe. The enemy's loss was about 600, British lost 15 and two Egyptians. Of some 30 Canadians who accompanied Gen. Earl's column up the river and were anxious to go into the battle of Kibikan, only one, H. A. H. Dunford, was successful in getting into active service in that battle. On asking the Colonel of the Staffords if he might be permitted to advance with the regiment, the latter answered that he was proud of the spirit shown, but the request was more than he had the authority to comply with. Dunford then asked if he would be checked if he advanced without permission. The Colonel, with a smile that he would not interfere with his advance. The coolness with which Dunford marched in civilian clothes up the rough rocky mountain, and eating dates as he approached the foe, attracted the attention of the soldiers on every side, and on being asked by a soldier where his rifle was, with which, by the way, he was not provided, he said a soldier was carrying it for him, and true it was, for as soon as a soldier was shot within his reach he seized the soldier's rifle and accoutrements and began to extinguish the rebel race. The rest of the Canadians were in sight of the battle, and sufficiently close to hear the bullets whizz over their heads, and soon after the fight were busily engaged, picking up the trophies of war on the battle field.

JOHN SHERLOCK.

J. C. W. McCuaig being in hospital at Korti with a swollen leg was unable to start home with the rest, but is improving and will probably overtake them. It is a matter of deep regret to the voyagers that J. Sherlock, of Peterborough, was in Kairbat hospital with small-pox when they passed there, and six others, T. Leckie, W. C. Baker, J. Driman, R. Booth, P. Phillips and W. McCullough were quarantined. On arriving here a telegram was received stating that Sherlock had died of apoplexy after recovering from small-pox and that five of the others were on their way down. These five, with Mr. Remington, assistant paymaster, who missed the party on the river, joined their friends here last night and report that great credit is due to T. Leckie, who attended Sherlock.

THROUGH HIS WHOLE SICKNESS and did all in his power for the comfort and recovery of the latter. Also that Colonel Trotter, the commandant at Kairbat, showed great kindness to them all during their term of quarantine. Leckie was detained for another term in quarantine owing to his illness, and he and his wife, who were with him, were also detained. Two—P. Leonard and J. Leckie—were in hospital at Kairbat with fever, but are recovering and are expected soon to start for home with A. Page and B. A. Leckie volunteered to complete their term of six months and are at the present stationed at Kairbat.

The Canadians having left Korti on the 13th ult. reached Akasah by whaler on the 27th. From Akasah they were sent by pack camels across the desert, 30 miles to the head of the railway track which is now some 10 miles above here, and it is expected to be built another 60 miles this summer to evade the most difficult part of the river below Korti in transporting troops and stores; the most difficult part of the whole river, however, and the part in which the Canadians will be more particularly required next fall is a cataraict, 140 miles in length, above Marawal. In crossing the desert most of the boys were somewhat disappointed with its physical appearance, expecting to find a dead, level, sandy plain, whereas the camel path was a labyrinthine course from valley to ravine with MOUNTAINOUS ROCKS AND CRAGS.

On either side, and at a distance from the river varying from 12 to 15 miles, extending to be seen but rugged rocks and ravines between, the ride by camel was a novel experience for the boys, and many of them suffered from seasickness, caused by being tossed to and fro in the higher atmosphere. Others suffered from paralysis caused by stopping too suddenly in a casual flight from pack saddle, and all agreed that the pack camel is more comfortable, although more muscular in starting and stopping than the whaler.

Great incursions are now being offered to Canadians to stay the fall campaign, a $100 per month being offered for nine months besides extra comforts. None have yet decided to accept the terms, and all are determined at least to see Cairo before accepting any offer. The weather is rapidly growing warmer up the Nile. At Dal, which is said to be the coolest point above here, the thermometer several times in March indicated 100° in the shade, and on the 24th as high as 110° in the shade, and the shade at nine o'clock in the morning. Yet the nights are cool and pleasant.

On the 30th ult. a partial eclipse of the moon was visible on the Nile. This is the third visible eclipse since last fall.

The "boys" were somewhat surprised on their return to Korti to find that a fine crop of wheat is being harvested on the old camp ground they left last fall. The tribes of Arabs along the river differ so much that it is impossible to describe them in a small space. One thing is common with the tribes is that the first word in their language is "Beckahash," meaning a peasant, and they do not forget to make the best of it when they meet any Kairbatian. Montreal Witness

NOT TO BE WON THAT WAY.

Do you know you have asked for the costliest thing Ever made by the Hand above—A woman's heart and a woman's life, And a woman's wonderful love.

Do you know you have asked for this priceless thing As a child might have asked for a toy Demanding what others have died to win, With the reckless dash of a boy?

You have written my lesson of duty out, Manlike you have questioned me; Now stand at the bar of my woman's soul Until I have questioned thee.

You require your dinner should always be hot, Your socks and your shirt should be white; I require your heart to be true as God's stars, And pure as Heaven your soul.

You require a sock for your mitten and beef, I require a far better thing— A woman's heart waiting for stockings and shoes— I want a man and a king.

A king for the beautiful realm called home, And a man that the Maker, God, Shall look upon as he did the first, And say, "It is very good."

I am fair and young, but the rose will fade, Faded its soft with one summer's day: Will you love me then, 'mid the falling leaves, As you did 'mid the bloom of May?

In your heart an ocean so strong and deep I may launch my all on its tide? A loving woman finds heaven or hell On the day she is made a bride.

I require all things that are good and true, All things that a man should be; If you give me all, I will stake my life To be all you demand of me.

If you cannot do this—a laundress and cook You can hire with little to pay; But a woman's heart and a woman's life Are not to be won that way.

From Our Own Correspondent.

QUEST.—Our village is very quiet at present. We have very few visitors, except commercial travellers, insurance and piano agents.

ARBOR DAY.—Friday last being Arbor Day a number of trees were planted in the village.

PERSONAL.—Mrs. Beckwith is, we are glad to learn, improving. Mr. J. M. Miller, Jr., sailed on Saturday for Europe, where he intends to spend the summer. Marah. Wier, who has been in the hospital at Winnipeg for some time, left on Monday to join his company. All the rest are well.

KANSAS MILLS.—Mr. Young has the grist and saw mills running in first class order now.

NORTHWEST.—Mather's Corners has distinguished itself by collecting on Monday last over $300 for the volunteers. What place will be the next to report this? Keene is still active in the matter. It is expected that there will have to be more goods sent out later on. Some people, copying after a few of the papers, take great delight in giving out false reports, and causing a vast amount of worry and anxiety to those who have relatives and friends at present in the Northwest. A joke is all right in its place, but we would advise you to be careful with your references to these falsifiers. Now, let us have no more of this nonsense.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND has appointed a board to examine and report upon the fortifications and defenses of the United States.

A PERFECT BEAUTY.—Perfect beauty is only attained by pure blood and good health. These requirements give the possessor a pleasant expression, a fair, clear skin, and the very bloom of health. Burdock Blood Bitters purify the blood and tone the entire system to a healthy action.

SLAYER BRY, who was reported to have been killed with Gen. Gordon in Khartoum, is said to be a prisoner in the hands of the Mahdi.

MA. CONDY STEPHEN—Sir Peter Lunan's messenger—arrived in London on Tuesday night, having made the journey from Afghanistan in the remarkably short space of seventeen days.

A reduced copy of M. Bartholdi's statue, Liberty Enlightening the World, was on Wednesday presented by American residents to the municipality of Paris.

As a superior hair dressing and restorer, Ayer's Hair Vigor is universally commended. It eradicates scurf and dandruff, cures all eruptions and itches of the scalp, promotes the renewed growth of the hair, and surely prevents its falling or turning gray.

REMARKABLE RESTORATION.—Mrs. Adelaide O'Brien, of Buffalo, N. Y., was given up to die by her physicians, as incurable with Consumption. It proved Burdock Blood Bitters, and was cured with Burdock Blood Bitters.

A CANAL was supposed to be suffering from smallpox died on Wednesday in the Montreal general hospital, when it was found that the disease which caused his death was glandular.

WAS CONSUMPTION.—If you have really tried many remedies for rheumatism, it will be a wise conclusion to try Haggard's Yellow Oil. It cures all painful diseases when other medicines fail.

SCURF AND ITCH.—A person suffering with pain and heat over the small of the back, with a weak weary feeling and frequent headaches, is seriously ill and should look out for kidney disease. Burdock Blood Bitters regulate the kidneys, blood and liver, as well as the stomach and bowels.

The pleasure of bathing is greatly increased by mixing in the tub half or even a quart of the water of the famous Florida Water. Instantly the whole atmosphere of the bath room is as fragrant as a blooming flower garden, the mind becomes buoyant, and the body emerges refreshed and strengthened.

Do's Use any more nauseous purgatives such as Pills, Salts, &c., when you can get in Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters, a medicine that moves the bowels gently, cleansing all impurities from the system and rendering the blood pure and cool. Sold by all Druggists.

It is reported that the winter wheat crop of the United States this year will probably be 62 per cent. of a full crop, a decrease of 16 per cent. compared with last year.

It Should be Generally Known

That the multitude of diseases of a venereal nature generally proceed from a torpid condition of the liver. The blood becomes impure because the liver does not act properly and work off the poisons from the system, and the certain results are "itches, pimples, eruptions, swellings, tumors, ulcers, and kindred affections or scurvy, until ulceration, breaking down, and consumption is established. Dr. Pierce's "Sole" or "Medical Discovery" will, by acting on the liver and purifying the blood, cure all these diseases.

Daily Evening Review

FRIDAY, MAY 15, 1885.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

The Late John A. Sherlock.
In another column we publish a letter from a correspondent of the Montreal Witness with the Ellis rogues, which gives the first particulars regarding the illness and death of Mr. John A. Sherlock.

Personal.
Mr. D. Kerr, the professional skater, is in town. His excellent skating will be one of the attractions at the opening of the new Lansdowne rink on Monday evening.

Cracked.
On Thursday evening a missile from the hand of an unknown came in contact with a side light of glass in the front of Mr. J. E. McKinnon's dry goods store. The pane was visibly cracked, but the culprit immediately became invisible—that is, to the clerk who came out to see what was the matter.

First Meeting.
This season's first regular meeting of the chess makers of this district was held in the Council Chamber on Thursday afternoon. Representatives of several factories were present, but no sales were made. Mr. J. D. Flavelle, of Lindsay, was present as buyer. Mr. Warren Taylor, Dunsmuir, presided.

Free Show.
Something new in the free show line "bald the boards" on Hunter street last night. A broad canvas was stretched across the entire front of Bellegum's furniture warehouse. Line lights were thrown on it from across the street, while the proprietor of the show derived the where-with-all by alternating advertisements with the views. There was quite a crowd in attendance, largely composed of the rising generation.

Finished.
The new cedar pine in the Amateur Athletic Association grounds is now finished. Several blades were to be seen last evening taking trial spins around the new track and some running was also done. The track was somewhat heavy, but when a heavy roller passes on it a few times it will become well settled. The baseballers were out in full force and after a good game initiated three old hands into the secrets of the Silver Stars.

Book Badger.
The officers of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club have decided to discard the antiquated rib on badge, and secure something new and better for this season. The new badge is in black form, about three inches long and two inches wide. On the outside are two sticks, inclined in gold, and crossed, surmounted by a flag. The certificate of membership is to be signed, signed by the Secretary, on opening the book. It is both neat and convenient, and looks much less like the old badge.

Slow Movers.
The latest novelty introduced into the Peterborough Roller Rink by Messrs. Henry is the supplying of everyone on skates with a fan, free of charge. This is the opening of the grand carnival and to see a large number of makers busily propelling their fans will be a sight well worth seeing. The skates are in first class order, and every one may expect to spend an evening of fun and enjoyment. The boys have not been forgotten. A potato race has been arranged which will afford fun for both old and young skaters without fancy dress costumes will be all we need on the floor or on the 2.15.

Reopened.
The fortnightly meetings of the Sewing Committee in connection with the Bazar are resumed on Thursday. There were present Messrs. Mrs. Wallis, President, Mrs. Gilmour, Mrs. Stratton, Mrs. Hallitt, Mrs. Sherwood, Mrs. Robinson and Mrs. McDonald, Ottawa. A donation of goods brought by Mrs. Hallitt, and some stock brought over from England, were, in a large measure, converted into necessary articles of clothing, during the manufacture of which the sewing machines presented to the Home by Mr. B. Shortly prove to be of valuable service. The ladies connected with the Home were also present.

On Monday Night.
The Lansdowne Roller Rink will be opened for the season. There will doubtless be an immense gathering of skaters to try the excellent new floor. Numerous attractions will be presented, among others, Prof. Aikin, champion roller skater of the world, Mr. Kerr, of Belleville, professional roller skater, and Mr. Hurst, of Toronto, champion bicyclist of Canada, will be present and give exhibitions of what one is accomplished on skates and the bicycle. Remember the great carnival to be held in this rink on Monday evening, May 25th. Don't miss it! On the evening, night tickets will be 25 cents for adults, and for children 15 cents. For sale at Hartley's music store and McEwen's hardware store. Let there be a bumper house.

The Prohibition.
The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Light to moderate winds, fine, warm weather.

Important Announcement.
Messrs. Fair, Van Every & Co. have made a large purchase of Brocade Satins, in the leading shades, worth $3 a yard, which will be sold at $1 a yard. This is an unparalleled opportunity to secure a bargain in this line of goods.

This Evening.
The "Silver King" Company arrived in town this morning, and the same train brought their car of scenery. The popular drama will be produced at Bradburn's Opera House this evening, and there will be a matinee at 2.30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The play is one of the best of modern dramas, and the Company is highly spoken of.

Appropriate for Ladies.
Ladies will find a wider range of Mantle and Dress Materials than ever at Fair, Van Every & Co's this season. All new, handsome, bright and guaranteed value. Besides, every confidence may be reposed in the ability of Miss Johnson, the lady who has charge of the Dress and Mantle Making Department, to satisfy her customers in their most particular demands.

For neat and well-fitting Boots and Shoes for Summer wear we have the largest assortment in Peterborough. The only place that can supply the Patent Button Fly. Nothing so neat, and warranted not to tear. Ladies, please call and see them. Foot & McWhinnery.

A Spill.
Three small boys and a bundle of pressed hay was the burden borne by a dump cart coming up Water street on Thursday evening. A couple of the youngsters took it into their heads to dangle their feet over the end board, while the third stored the horse. No sooner had they put the happy thought into execution than the box of the cart lost its equilibrium and soon after both boy and youngsters were found to be all mixed up on the street. Willing hands rescued the vehicle and it proceeded onward.

Advice that is Good.
When we throw aside the flannel and the worn and leaky gum, and the croaking of the bullfrog tells that spring at last has come—when the plumber and the gas man seek their mansions in the west, and we feel that we're entitled now to have a little rest; then there comes the cheery butcher, and, as up the street he goes, loud he yells from his wagon, "Here's your steat, sweet butters!" Then our mouths are sure to water as we conjure up a dream of the luscious fruit last season, with its sugar and its cream, and in haste we trade our dollars for the sour drops filled with acid, only to repeat as leisure as each puckered face is scanned; and our youngest hopeful tells us, while our cup of woe o'erflows—"That's the fellow that once sold us the bananas what was fr as!" It is then we seek our friend's advice, and ask them what to do; and the answer which cometh quickly, I will give to you: It is to wear a more cheerful look, and—what do you say?—Pay a visit to A. McMan's and buy a suit of clothes.

Housekeepers will please remember Fair, Van Every & Co's large consignment of Lace Curtains, in cream and white. Ortonese, Lambrequins, &c., at wholesale prices. Their Carpet Department affords a full range of choice patterns in Union, All Wool, Tapestry, Brussels, Oilcloths, Rugs, &c.

Comfortable Quarters.
For the past few weeks professional newboys in Peterborough have fully kept pace with the general surroundings. No one doubts that the population of Peterborough is steadily increasing, but the newboy fraternity have progressed lately, so far as numbers are concerned, more rapidly than any other class. These young men take "a high on the under-standings of the business," and, as a consequence, also being conspicuous. Most of them are engaged in these two very necessary branches of trade have comfortable homes provided, but here and there there is one that has to rely on his own resources for bed and board. A night or two ago, Mr. Wm. Logan, Brook street, saw some dark object enter his yard. Not particularly caring to have any suspicious persons on his premises he took a look around, but it was not before a thorough search had been made that he found what he was looking for. Opening the door of a baker's cart he saw a surly youth continually curled up for a snooze. By means of a string he had contrived to open and shut the entrance door at will. Mr. Logan requested him to come out, which he did after considerable deliberation and delay, and as he departed, when out of reach of the owner of the property, his leave taking was vigorously unaffectionate.

The cheapest boot-store in town is at the Bon Marche. A very choice selection to choose from.

Brilliant Explosion.
BOMBERET, Pa., May 14.—A frightful explosion of nitro-glycerine and dynamite occurred at the Somerset chemical works, one mile south of here, this evening. The explosion occurred in the nitro-glycerine storing house, where one of the proprietors, W. T. Beach, of New York, was at work. He was blown into atoms, and the largest piece of bone, flesh, or clothes that could be found was not larger than a silver dollar. The nitro-glycerine building and eight others were struck to the winds, portions of them being found miles away. The works were situated in an opening in dense woods, large trees in which were uprooted and blown down for rods. None of the employees were in the building, (where the building in which the explosion occurred stood there is a hole large enough to bury the building in). There was 800 pounds of nitro-glycerine and 2,000 pounds of dynamite in the different buildings. The loss is very heavy. An explosion occurred in the same place in the middle of January, when two men were killed. This town was badly shaken by the shock.

Pettles and Murder.
LOUVILLE, May 13.—While Josiah Hoskins, gaoler of Bell county, was returning from church at Pineville on Sunday, accompanied by several of his children, and Thos. Naylor, the party were fired upon by Andrew Johnson, a notorious desperado, who was lying in wait in a building. Hoskins, his little daughter, and Naylor were killed. Johnson and several of his friends are now entrenched in a house and defy the authorities. The trouble grew out of a dispute at the last Presidential election.

Arm Smashed.
LINDSAY, May 14.—A young man named Edwin Brady, son of ex-councillor P. Brady, had his right arm smashed to a jelly while he was driving a horse-drawn carriage. In reaching for the pin the bumper of the car gripped his arm, the whole force of the car coming together, grinding the arm to a jelly. He was removed to the Mission hotel, where an operation on the arm was performed by Drs. Coulter and Herriman.

PURCHASED SIGNATURES.

The hollow-ness of the simulated indignation, which the Reform party is cultivating in reference to the Dominion Franchise Bill, is exposed in an amusing manner in their own leading organ. The Globe publishes a letter from Mr. John Mander, in which he confesses that he and a number of others had been hired to hawk round the petitions against the bill. He is very indignant at what he considers the impertinence of criticizing this way of making a living. Both he and the Globe seem unable to see the ludicrousness of such an artificial expression of pretended public opinion. They also seem to have no idea of the little value of such signatures obtained by purchase. It is more than probable that among a number of men who would consider it a job to do the dirty work of the party, there would be a few who would not be very scrupulous in earning their pay. Even those who cannot remember the notorious Chartist petition, will have read descriptions of it, with its sheets of names written in one hand, its evident forgery, its multitudinous absurd and even indecent signatures. In this case history may repeat itself. At least it is certain that there is no strong public opinion about this asserted outrage, when there is no spontaneous manifestation of it, but only these manufactured order petitions, and similarly stimulated "public" meetings. "The voice of the people" does not make itself heard by means of such tricky devices.

THE GLOUCESTER GLOBE.

The conviction of the Globe that its party will fall in the revolutionary attempt to dictate to the majority, is manifested in its usual manner. Whenever it is menaced by defeat it falls back upon its old friend hope that Sir John Macdonald may not long be spared to "lead the party to victory." In a disgraceful article headed "Falling Powers," it gloats over the asserted decrepitude of the foremost man in Canada, calls him a "dotard" and an "old man," and checks over his supposed "symptoms of declining powers." The only hope of the cause of the party seems, in the Globe's eyes, to be the death or decrepitude of Sir John Macdonald, its desire for which it expresses with such ruffianly frankness. Yet Reformers, from whom better things might be expected, do not utter a word of condemnation, while ready enough to censure any Conservative who in honest indignation at such dastardly treatment of the respected leader of their party and their country, is impelled to retort now and again in strong language. Now, gentlemen of the Reform party, let us see if you really object to a foul disgrace to journalism.

FACTIOUS, NOT CONSCIENTIOUS.

We have heard it suggested in excuse for the revolutionary course of the Reform members in regard to the Franchise Bill that possibly they may honestly think it their duty to oppose it by every means in their power. That they do not honestly believe this, however, manifest from their own procedure. They chiefly object to the Indian vote and to the Revising Barristers, yet they urge that the Dominion franchise should be regulated in Ontario by Mr. Mowat's bill, which also gives votes to Indians. And they would also give the Maritime Provinces power to legislate on the proceedings as to the voters' lists, though the appointment of Revising Barristers was there provided for by a measure to which they made no objection. These measures, however, were the work of their political friends. It is not the principles of the proposed legislation to which they are opposed, but it is the fact that it is the work of their political friends that makes them object in their feelings of obstruction. Otherwise why should they throw hot and cold?

MINUTE.

THREE PAIR OF TWINS.—Mr. John Yeomans, of Stenhouse's Station, has come of no mean order. He has presented with no less than three separate and distinct pairs of twins by three individual wives this spring.
 TERRIFIED TROT AND LAUGHING LOTT.—On Tuesday, while Messrs. B. J. and N. E. Lott were singing to a crowd of Mr. J. C. Roy's house, Mr. Trot got into a terrible fix. He was standing on the scaffolding working away like a miter, when down went his foothold with a crash, leaving him hanging to the eaves with his hands. There are serious things in this life which, occurring in certain ways, will provide mirth, and when Jim Lott saw the fix his brother was in, he became convulsed with laughter, the very tears trickling down his face as he gazed on the unfortunate man, whose terror was only exceeded by Jim's mirth. As soon as Mr. Lott could control himself he placed a ladder under Mr. Trot, who really began to think that he would have to fall, and it would not have taken much longer to cause that calamity.—Echo.

PORT HOPE.

A CLOSE CALL.—About six o'clock on Wednesday evening, Archibald, the five year old son of Mr. J. J. Turner, came near being drowned. Some one had told the little fellow that if he threw a plank into the water he might have a sail on his own boat, so at the time mentioned above the boy threw a piece of plank off the dock and jumped on it, but the plank sunk with him and he would, without doubt, have been drowned but for the presence of mind and bravery of Mr. James Anderson, fireman of the harbour dredge, who happened to notice the accident. Mr. Anderson jumped into the water, which at that time was about seven feet deep, and saved the boy after he had sunk the second time. He was assisted by Mr. John Macdonald in getting the boy on the dock. Mr. and Mrs. Turner are very grateful to Mr. Anderson for his bravery.—Globe.

LINDSAY.

THE CENTRAL SHOW.—The Town Council of Lindsay have made a grant of $200 towards the guarantee fund of the Lindsay Central for 1886.

A FAIR BEGINNING.—Amidst pressure of war news, you are about to chronicle the opening of the big egg season. Last week Mr. P. Nicolls held a fair inspection on the table at the market room an egg measuring 3 1/2 inches and weighing 4 1/2 ounces.—Post.
 GUNS WENT.—Mr. J. A. Barrow left on Saturday for the seat of the rebellion to join Gen. Middleton's forces. He will not be gone long as his business arrangements will not permit it. While in camp, however, he will place himself at Gen. Middleton's disposal, and do whatever his hand finds to do. But his absence will not affect the sailing out of the Victoria sharpshooters, and it called on them will immediately report to Lieut. Bucknell. From present appearances their chances of active duty are rather slim.—Warrior.

ANOTHER NEW FACTORY

EVERY PROBABILITY OF AN EXTENSIVE STOVE FOUNDRY BEING ESTABLISHED.

Preliminary Arrangements Made to Organize a Company and the Stock Book Opened—Messrs. Powell & Jones to be the Active Partners.

Ever since last fall two of our enterprising citizens, Messrs. Geo. A. Cox and James Stevenson, have been corresponding with Messrs. Powell & Jones, stove manufacturers, Smith's Falls, Ont., with a view to induce them to move their seat of operations to this town, and their efforts, we are pleased to be at liberty to state, have resulted in the probable erection of another extensive factory here.

About a week ago Messrs. Powell and Jones were in town, and together with several leading citizens, looked over the various vantage points with a view to selecting a site for the new factory. On Wednesday and Thursday of this week they were again here and satisfactory negotiations were made.

If the factory is established here, and as present everything points in that direction, it will be built either in No. 1 Ward or No. 4 Ward. It is as yet undecided as to whether it will be situated opposite Hall's flour mill, on the Otonabee, or on a lot west of Babine street and south of Wolfe. If established in the former place, it will utilize a water power that has long been going to waste. The dam across from Hall's mill is complete, and motive power may easily be obtained at comparatively small cost. The railway facilities at both points are good. The upper site has a railway running by within a few yards, while at the lower site both the Canadian Pacific and Grand Trunk lines are contiguous.

The main building of the new factory will be forty two feet wide by one hundred and forty four feet long, three stories high, and will be built of brick. One addition will be thirty-five feet wide by sixty feet long, two stories high, and another will be sixty-two feet wide by sixty-five feet long, one story high (the moulding shop).

It is proposed to build the factory during the coming summer, and by fall the building, which will cost about $10,000, will be ready to receive the machinery. The enterprise, at the outset, will employ thirty-five men, but each year, as the trade develops, the factory will be extended, and in a few years it will probably be as extensive and afford as much employment as any of our manufacturing concerns.

As yet no company has been formed, but preliminary arrangements have been satisfactorily made to organize one. The stock book has been opened and already $25,000 worth of stock has been subscribed. The name of the new company will be "The Powell & Jones Stove Company."

A COMFORTABLE CARNIVAL.

Festive costumes and a Fair Number of Maskers on the Floor.

Altogether the second fancy dress carnival which was held at the Peterborough roller rink on Friday evening was not a crowning success in point of the numbers appearing en masque, yet in other respects it was quite successful.

It is usually the case at carnivals that the number of people attending are so great that the crowd and crush are a source of annoyance. At this carnival such was not the case. The maskers were just comfortably numerous; the evening was cool and pleasant; the skaters enjoyed themselves with skating, or graced the open windows to breathe refreshing air, while the Fire Brigade Band furnished music of a most appropriate kind.

The judges were Messrs. F. J. Lewis, Geo. Dunford, R. E. Wood, Mrs. Dunford, Mrs. Budden and Mrs. R. P. Boucher.

The prizes were awarded as follows:—
 BEST DRESSED LADY IN FANCY COSTUME.—1st, Miss Hall, as Lady of the 18th Century; 2nd, Miss McNaughton (Fort Hope), as Narcissa.

BEST DRESSED GENTLEMAN IN FANCY COSTUME.—1st, Mr. R. J. Sillbury, as Charles II; 2nd, Mr. W. J. Morrow, as Mephistopheles.

BEST DRESSED CHILD IN FANCY COSTUME.—1st, Miss Mildred Beck, as Snowflake.

BEST DRESSED MALE IN COMIC COSTUME.—Mr. Geo. Stevenson, as Clown.

Besides those who received prizes there were numerous other handsome costumes. Miss E. Donnelly, as Flower Girl, was particularly neatly attired, and Miss Dobler (Fort Hope), as Germania, though not showily dressed, yet her costume was rich and exhibited finish. Lambert Henry, a little fellow of about six or seven years, created much amusement by coming out in full Turkish costume.

The event of the evening was the May pole dance, which was very satisfactorily gone through by four ladies and four gentlemen, all in fancy dress costumes.

The prizes were as follows:—
 BEST DRESSED LADY IN FANCY COSTUME.—1st, a miniature clock valued at $4.00; 2nd, two week's admission to the rink.

BEST DRESSED GENTLEMAN IN FANCY COSTUME.—1st, a silver cup valued at $5.00; 2nd, twenty admissions to the rink.

BEST DRESSED GENTLEMAN IN COMIC COSTUME.—1st, a pair of clocks valued at $4.00.

BEST DRESSED CHILD IN FANCY COSTUME.—1st, a pair of clocks valued at $4.00.

Owing to only a part of those in fancy dress having handed in their cards Manager Henry has very properly declined to publish the list.

The Traitorous Pasha.

"Now all these things," continued my informant, "and how the traitorous Pasha had been the cause of our disaster, Gordon Pasha had died from the top of the house. He was much grieved; and when the wicked Pasha, who were both guilty, were brought bound, as I said, hand and foot before him, he spoke never a word except 'Away with them!' He was tried by court-martial, and sentenced to death. Seven days afterwards they were executed in the inner yard, near the large square of the prison. They were hewn in pieces by a halberd. I saw the execution, so it is no use your saying, 'they were shot.' I tell you, according to Turkish military law a military traitor is always sentenced to be cut to pieces. The two were bound up against the wall by chains and rings. Two soldiers armed with sharp halberds approached them from out of the sides of a square we had formed. The prisoners' crime was read out and their sentence. A hundred soldiers were present, some senior officers, but not Gordon Pasha. The Senior Bey cried out: 'Executioners, perform sentence on the traitors!' Immediately these advanced close and lopped off first their arms above the elbows, then the legs above the knees; then cut their bodies in twain; then decapitated them. They died not till they were cut under; then their heads fell on their breasts, and they expired with a hideous yell."—London Daily News.

MIDDLETON'S VICTORY.

FURTHER PARTICULARS OF THE CAPTURE OF BATOCHE.

The Gallant Charge of the Midland Battalion—An Impetuous Rush on the Rife Pits—The Retreating Rebels.

The correspondent of the Montreal Star writes as follows from Batoche on May 12:—The capture of Batoche by Gen. Middleton's forces was such a brilliant piece of work that I feel certain every additional detail of the event will be read with interest by every reader of the Star. I therefore send you a further account of the action, giving details omitted in my previous despatch: About one o'clock the Tenth Royal Grenadiers, under Col. Strauchman, extended in front of the camp, the Midland Battalion extended on the extreme left, along the edge of the cliff, and the troops advanced with loud cheers, while the first notification that the left camp had been taken by any advance other than the usual daily advance of the skirmishers was to occur. No advance of the troops round the camp took place as ordinarily, but Gen. Middleton with a party of mounted men and the Gatling gun, made a reconnaissance in the same direction as was taken by them yesterday.

Rebels were soon discovered and fired upon by Captain Druett's gun, which sent several shells in their midst. As soon as the shells were fired, the rebels were seen scattering, but the surveyor's scouts, in extending over the bank, met with a volley of bullets, which killed trooper Kippen on the spot, the rebel firing being hotly returned by Boulton's and the surveyor's scouts. It was at this juncture that a man bearing a white flag advanced, and stated that he, Jackson, a Prince Albert chemist, was held as a prisoner by Riel, and had been posted with the flag to prevent the house being shelled by our troops. A few moments afterwards another of Riel's prisoners advanced with the message from Riel as already detailed by me, stating that if the shelling of the houses continued he would immediately have all the prisoners shot. After receiving the General's reply the messenger returned to the rebel quarters, and the advance, as noted, took place. There had been no firing all the morning until the red line was ordered to advance, where they did in excellent order, the advanced ranks alternately stopping and pouring in a heavy fire. They, meanwhile, were subjected to fierce fire from the rebels in the front and to the left. The Midland Regiment, under Colonel Williams, who had by this time reached the bank of the river, kept straight on, and went down the steep wooded bank with a rush, carrying everything before them. The rebels, who were carried away with the impetuosity of the Midland advance, left the rifle pits which they had so long held and took to the river to swim across, and became the prey of the bullets of "A" Company of the 90th Battalion, who had extended over the brow of the promontory to the right of the camp. Wheeling round to the left, the Battalion kept on discharging at the rebel pits on the bank as they came to them, and clearing them very heavily, and the wonder is that no more men in the regiment were hit.

The Grenadiers were making a magnificent advance across the open above the church in a "B" line toward Batoche. The rebels were driven out of the rifle pits on the top of the ridge without a check in our advance. Here the fire of the rebels fell off a trifle, and the men halted some minutes. Meantime the Midland Battalion had reached the edge of the plateau, where "A" Battalion guns had bombarded Batoche on Friday and were in the line with them on the left, making a complete line from the river. Come on Grenadiers, said Colonel Strauchman, "I am proud to command you; keep steady, and we shall clear them out," and with loud cheers, which were replied to by the force in camp and the Midland Regiment below, the men made a dash down towards the rebels, who had retreated into the brush, firing as they went through.

The guns of the Winnipeg Battery, commanded by Major Jarvis, Captain Couture, advanced as the double, amidst the enthusiastic cheers of the men left in camp, the appearance of Captain Howard with his Gatling being the signal for a rapid discharge of the guns. The guns dashed along at fire engine speed to the plateau from which Batoche was shelled on Saturday, where they were unnumbered and shelled the rebels. After a few rounds and a Winchester fire from French's scouts, Boulton's cavalry and the surveyor's corps, who had been extended in support of the advance, the rebels broke cover.

After this so serious opposition was met with the remainder of the engagement being a triumphant march, said a dropping fire, through the country for a mile beyond Batoche, the rebels either being shelled or driven by our rifles from bluff to bluff, and the Gatling gun cleared out several ravines. The rebels fought with great bluff, but could not resist the impetuous rush of our men, who behaved like veterans with unexampled ardor. The General several times praised the actions of our men, and they cheered him, Colonel Strauchman, and Colonel Macdonald, who commanded the artillery, wherever they appeared.

Captain French, the commander of the scouts, was killed by the rebels firing from one of the houses of Batoche. His last words were, "Boys, I did my duty; remember I loved you." Captain Fitch, of the Grenadiers, died while charging down the slope at the head of his company, and Captain Brown, of Boulton's Horse, was directing his men to take cover when he was shot.

All of Riel's prisoners, as soon as they had been released from the cellars of the houses by our troops, were sent to our camp, where they were enthusiastically received and all their wants attended to. They had evidently been badly neglected, as they look weak and white as ghosts. Macdonald, one of Riel's Council, was found chained in a cellar. He said he was imprisoned because he would not consent to Riel's authority, he having joined the rebellion merely ostensibly. The force was the attack bivouacked on the field of battle about the village of Batoche, and the camp will be removed there to-morrow.

The rebel loss in the fight was very heavy. While riding about the field I saw the bodies of nine half breeds and Indians, and four seriously wounded rebels were brought into our camp. Many squares and papers were found in the otherwise deserted Indian camp.

What Crowfoot Said.
In 1868 several of the Blackfeet were taken ill with typhoid fever, and Crowfoot himself was down with it. Believing he was about to die, he sent for all his head men, and held a council with them. He said that there were no longer any buffalo to hunt, and that they were dependent upon the white people. He counselled them to live at peace with them, and never attempt to fight them, as such an attempt would end in defeat for them, they (the whites) were so numerous. They should always be loyal to their "White Mother," as it was to their interest to be so. Crowfoot recovered, and last summer, in company with the chiefs of the Bloods and Piezans, visited Winnipeg. He came back greatly improved with the power of the white, and said they could produce as many soldiers as there were blades of grass. The Crow, Bloods and Piezans will remain loyal. The half breeds are much more dangerous than the Indians. They are harder, and better shots. —Oulga Herald.

Saved by a Book.
W. A. McIntosh, of F. company, 90th Battalion, formerly of the 7th Fusiliers, London, writing to a friend, says that in the Fish Creek engagement a bullet entered his breast and penetrated half through a hymn book which was among the contents. He considers that the book saved his life and will keep it as a souvenir.

THE NEW BONNET.

A foolish little maiden bought a foolish little bonnet. With a ribbon and a feather, and a bit of lace upon it. And that the other maidens of the little town might know it, she thought she'd go to meeting next Sunday just to show it.

But though the little bonnet was scarce larger than a dime, The getting of it settled proved to be a work of time. So when 'twas fairly tied all the bells had stopped their ringing, And when she came to meeting, sure enough the folks were singing.

So this foolish little maiden stood and waited at the door, And she shook her ruffles out behind and smoothed them down, "Hallelujah! hallelujah!" sang the choir above her head.

"Hardly knew you I hardly knew you," were the words she thought they said.

This made the little maiden feel so very, very cross, That she gave her little mouth a twist, her little head a toss. For she thought the very hymn they sang was all about her bonnet, With the ribbon and the feather, and the bit of lace upon it.

And she wouldn't wait to listen to the sermon or the prayer, But patterned down the silent street and hurried up the stair. Till she reached her little bureau and in a hand-box on it Had hidden safe from critic's eye her foolish little bonnet.

Which proves, my little maidens, that each of you will find In every Sabbath service but an echo of your mind: And the silly little head that's filled with silly little things 'Will never get a blessing from sermon or from prayer.

—Chicago Tribune.

MANURING OLD ORCHARDS.

One of the popular fallacies that still lingers in the rural districts, is that mature orchards do not need fertilizers. Farmers may be painstaking in the planting and in cultivating the orchard for a few years, until it comes into bearing, but, as a rule, after that, it is neglected, and not infrequently either pastured or mowed, and the soil is compelled to bear two crops annually, without manure, until it is exhausted. Then the cry is raised that "it does not pay to plant orchards, at best we only get fruit in abundance every other year." The folly of this neglect is demonstrated every year, and the facts are published abundantly in the agricultural papers, but unfortunately these journals have quite a limited circulation, even in the farming towns. They are numbered by tens and hundreds. On the old homestead, where the writer ate apples from the tree and the barrel, raw, cooked and preserved the year round in the age of home-pun, there was an old tree laden with fruit, a really a really old tree, and an inveterate bearer in alternate years. It happened in the enlargement of the garden that the ground underneath this tree was plowed, manured and planted with potatoes, and as a result the bearing year was changed, and we had too full crops in successive years. The manure helped this result, and the rotting of the soil that had been accumulating manure helped still more. The fact did not improve the owner much, but it did impress the boy who helped out the apples, and turned the groundstone under the grateful shade. It is a well-known fact that pear and apple trees stand in gardens, especially in village gardens which have liberal fertilizing and cultivation every year, bear regularly, and are seldom without fruit, except when the frost or hail destroys it. Men who make a specialty of growing fruit for market, and feed their trees abundantly, get well paid for their labor, and send apples to the city markets by the car or box-load. The secret of their uniform success is in the fact that they feed their trees regularly, and thin out all superfluous wood, and give the orchard all needed attention. They do not steal a year's crop of the tree's grass or grain crops. They are content with the fruit. There is no reason why the average farmer, who has suitable land for fruit trees, should not have an abundant supply of fruit for home use, and for market. It is in the line of his business to raise crops for market, and to make the manure that is needed to produce them. It is in the line of a true farmer to purchase the fertilizers that are lacking to grow maximum crops. It does not pay to grow minimum crops. Cultivate only so much land as you can fertilize and improve by cultivation. Riches increase with the depth rather than breadth of soil turned by the plow. The orchard wants regular feeding, as much as any other crop, and fruit growers have learned that there is economy in it. It will not be difficult for any thrifty farmer to increase his home-made fertilizers, and to supply the wants of his fruit trees. —American Agriculturist.

SATURDAY, MAY 16, 1885.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

The Fire Engine.
Our local fire engine was taken up to the Hamilton Manufacturing Company's foundry to have sundry little repairs done.

Liberality.
Mr. E. Courtney presented the Ladies Aid society, St. Paul's church, with a handsome couch for their parlor. They beg to take this opportunity of acknowledging his generosity with thanks.

Idyl-Whid.
Grand free gift excursion on Queen's Birthday per steamer Golden-Rye. Every passenger will be entitled to a chance of drawing a ten dollar gold piece or a splendid silver cake basket. Steamer will leave at 7 a.m., and return at 7 p.m. See posters for particulars.

The Probabilities.
The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours ending on one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Moderate to fresh south-west and south winds, fine, warm weather.

P. B. C.
All candidates are particularly requested to attend the meeting to be held at the boat house on Monday evening, the 18th, for the purpose of making arrangements about the trip to Sturgeon Point on the Queen's Birthday. The members of the Lindsay Club are making full preparations for a most enjoyable "meet."

The 15th.
The 15th of May, the limit date placed for the cleaning up of all yards, has now passed, and still the Sanitary Inspectors report a large number of premises in an objectionable state. It is their intention to enforce the sanitary regulations, and those who have not attended to this matter should do so without delay or they will shortly receive the embrace of the law's iron arm at the Police Court. It is probable that the Police Magistrate will have a busy time of it next week.

If you want to replenish your gloves and stockings, you will find everything desirable in Quality, Color and Price at Turnbull's.

The Market.
The attendance of sellers at the market this morning consisted largely of market women and an unusually large amount of butter and eggs were offered for sale. From 17 to 18 cents per pound was asked for butter and from 10 to 11 cents per dozen for eggs. A few turkeys were offered at $1.00 a piece. Choice veal sold at 7 to 8 cents per pound. Sausages and potatoes or other vegetables were offered, apples were also scarce. Quite a number of coops of little chickens were to be seen. The pigs sold at from $4 to $5 per pair.

The Grand Opening.
The opening night at the new roller skating rink, Charlotte-street, on Monday evening, will be a night of pleasure and real enjoyment for all who attend. The Ladies' rink will be honored with the presence of the champion roller skater of the world, Prof. Aikin. This feature alone is well worth the price of admission. Mr. Kerr, professional skater, of Belleville, will be present also. Mr. Brown has made an arrangement with Mr. Hurst, of Toronto, champion bicyclist of Canada, to be present, and this gentleman will give an exhibition of his marvellous control of the bicycle. The admission fee is twenty-five cents, which entitles you to a pair of the celebrated Mayway skates for the evening.

The Handelmann Quintette Club.
All lovers of good music, and, indeed, the public in general, will hail with gratification the news that we are again to have a visit from the celebrated Handelmann Quintette Club, of Boston, which is without its superior on this continent, and, perhaps in the world, for rendering the concerted instrumental music of the highest class. Besides some who delighted at Peterborough audiences on previous occasions, there are some new names among them that of Mr. F. Giese, violinist to the King of Holland, with a world-wide reputation for perfect mastery of his noble instrument. For those who think the human voice superior to all other instruments, and more pleasing to them than even the finest instrumental music, there will be the additional attraction of the singing of Madam Cora Giese, an accomplished singer of rare excellence, who has won the highest praise, not only for the brilliancy of her execution of operatic music, but also for the fresh charm with which she invests the old English ballads. Those who have been instrumental in securing such a treat for lovers of music deserve the thanks of the public. It is intended that the concert shall take place on Friday, June 5th, in Bradburn's Opera House.

Gingham, Gingham. A large stock of new gingham, to arrive this week at Turnbull's. Look for them.

John B. Gough

Draws a good house on fall that standing room will be had. Geo. A. Morrison, the accident falls accident insurance. Better get one.

Important Announcement.
Messrs. VanEvery & Co. have made a large purchase of Broadcloth, in the leading shades, worth $25,000, which will be sold at $1 a yard. This is an unparalleled opportunity to secure bargain in this line of goods.

Important.
Look out for the big household furniture sale to be held on the market square next Saturday. The whole of the furniture and fixtures of the Ontario House to be sold without reserve, as Mr. Young is going out of the hotel business. Great bargains may be expected.

Housekeepers will please remember Fair, VanEvery & Co.'s large consignment of Lace Curtains, in cream and white, Cretonnes, Lambrequins, &c., at wholesale prices. Their Carpet Department affords a full range of choice patterns in Union, All-Wool, Tapestry, Brussels, Oilcloths, Rugs, &c.

Appropriate for Ladies.
Ladies will find a wider range of Mantle and Dress Materials than ever at Fair, VanEvery & Co.'s this season. All new, handsome, bright and guaranteed value. Besides, every confidence may be reposed in the ability of Miss Johnston, the lady who has charge of the Dress and Mantle Making Department, to satisfy her customers in their most particular demands.

For a large and varied stock of new patterns, go to Turnbull's.

Caught!
This morning, at an early hour, the news flashed across the wires from the far Northwest that Riel, the leader of the rebels, had been caught. Although he tried to make his escape, the attempt to do so proved useless—the soldiers on the side of British freedom were too much for him, and he was captured. To be "caught" in humiliating in the extreme. Often when man in his own judgment is endeavoring to accomplish something that he well knows is wrong, and in his endeavors to keep the secret safe within his bosom, grows restless and uneasy, and thereby causes men to look on him with suspicion, he is, in nine cases out of ten, "caught." The word has a significance that all should study. Men are "caught" in more ways than one, and very often in a peculiar manner. For instance, a young man buys a summer suit of clothes, pays a good price for them, and is told that they are "the pure wool," and, after wearing them a time, finds that they are little better than mere shoddy; then he knows, to his sorrow, that he has been "caught." Mr. Riel: Go to A. McNeil, at Hamilton Hall, and you will get goods at fair prices, and they will be guaranteed A. I.

Obituary.
The Lindsay Post contains the following notice of the death of Mrs. Adam Hudspeth. In addition to the particulars regarding the family given by the Post, we may add that a sister of the deceased lady is the wife of the Hon. R. Hamilton, Peterborough. The Post says:—

"We deeply regret to have to record the sudden and unexpected death of Mrs. Adam Hudspeth on Wednesday morning of this week. The sad intelligence was a great shock to the community, and the sympathy for the bereaved husband and family is deep and general. About a month ago there was an addition to the family, and Mrs. Hudspeth was getting on nicely until about ten days ago, when she took heavy chills and fever. The chills continued and finally inflammation set in of the nature of pneumonia, and in her naturally weak condition the lamented lady was carried away after an illness of a little more than twelve hours. The deceased lady was a daughter of Mr. J. Miller, a wealthy Hudson Bay factor, who after a long life in the Northwest, settled in Brockville. She was one of several sisters, one of whom was married to Mr. G. A. Morrison, who lived many years in London, and who is now residing at Fort Qu'Appelle. By her sudden death a blank is caused in society and in the community, as owing to her kind and generous disposition she took an active part in all good works of a public character. She was a devoted member of the Anglican Church, and was liberal and energetic in helping local and general church schemes. In St. Paul's Church especially will her loss be greatly felt, for she took a warm interest in the affairs of the church, and particularly in the new building. Mainly through her zeal and patient industry a considerable fund has already been gathered for the decorative part of the edifice. Her kindly disposition and her accomplishments rendered her a great favorite with a wide circle of friends, and her death is a loss which will be deeply mourned by her many friends. To the husband and family the loss is irreparable."

The Silver King.
The celebrated play, the "Silver King," was admirably performed on Friday evening by a company from Minn's People's Theatre, New York, being most effectively placed upon the stage with a strong cast, including the "stars" Miss Helen Blythe and Mr. Joseph F. Brien. The play itself certainly bears out what is claimed for it, that it has an excellent moral, and teaches a most useful lesson. It is full of strong situations and thrilling incidents, with comic characters to lighten the effect of the pathos, but never exceeding the bounds of good taste. Mr. Brien, in the title role, ably represented the dissipated but good hearted and manly hero, redeeming himself under the influence of a great moral shock, and the effects of a true love. Miss Helen Blythe, such a favorite on previous appearances in Peterborough, more than satisfied her former admirers, having made even a farther advance in the histrionic art. With great power, yet without over sacrificing truth to effect, she portrayed the varying emotions of Nellie Denver, the loving and faithful but grieved wife, in the checked career through which she had to pass before reaching the happy culmination. Her warm but thoughtful love for her husband in the most trying circumstances, her woman's ready wit, her gentle submission in adversity, her blindness in defence of her young children, her horror at the approach of crime of the loved one, and her joy at his restoration alike to her and to good repute, were rendered with fidelity to nature. Mr. Sam. Verney, as the old and faithful but eccentric family retainer, steadfast through good and evil fortune, was irresistibly comic, but intermittently ever and again a pathos that made a tear succeed close upon the laugh. Capt. Skinner, the cool villain, swell mobster and burglar, was well represented by Mr. Lawrence Hanley, and Miss Effie Shannon gracefully filled the part of his loving but remorseful wife. Little Winnie Shannon as Clara Denver, acted her part in a wonderfully natural manner for one so young. Mr. Willie Royton was very comic as the "fence," and Miss Fannie Pierce was an arch little waitress. Indeed every character in the long list was appropriately represented, and the scenery brought by the company greatly added to the general effect. There should be a good house to-night.

LADIES' and children's Fine Boots in great variety at the Bon Marche at about half price.

Real fresh cool lager on draught at the Grand Central Hotel.

Personal.
Mr. J. G. Galbraith, formerly a member of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club, was in town to-day. He now plays with the Montrealers, and he expresses himself as confident that the club will show a good account at the end of the season.

The Dominion Government has recently appointed Dr. Clarke a statistic officer for the mortuary returns of the town of Peterborough. Heretofore the Government has appointed such officers in cities only, but now officers are to be appointed in large towns also. Their returns of the number of deaths will be made monthly.

GEORGE A. MORRISON

An Accident.
A few days ago Mr. Wm. Robinson, who was engaged in the building of a house on Waller street, fell into the cellar and was considerably bruised. He walked to Dr. King's office where it was found that a rib had been fractured. Under careful attendance the patient is now doing well.

THE ACCIDENT AGENT.

John B. Gough will visit Peterborough next Monday. This will be the first opportunity the citizens of Peterborough have had of hearing the great orator. Remember his subject is "Peculiar People." The Toronto paper speak of "crowded houses" there last week to hear his twenty-seventh sermon in that city. A prominent pastor of this town says "Gough made him laugh till his sides ached." He has heard him several times. Dr. King of Norwood, says "he has heard him nineteen times, and intends to come and bring his whole family to hear him on Monday." A highly respected lady of the Presbyterian Church in this town says "she has heard Mr. Gough seventeen times and would not miss the treat of hearing him again for anything." Tickets, 50 cents. Proceeds in aid of the organ fund.

St. Paul's Church.
The allocation of pews of St. Paul's Church was held on Friday afternoon. There was a goodly number present, and the competition at different times became quite keen for the possession of some particular seat. The price for the choice of pews ranged all the way from $5 to $71, and the amount realized was about $2,400. Mr. Peter Hamilton performed the duties of auctioneer in a manner that proved him to be the right man in the right place. He was well assisted by Mr. Adam Hall, Mr. W. Ferguson, Mr. M. Miller, and others, of whom might exchange their "gavels" for the auctioneer's hammer without detriment. Nor were they at all astray when they designated each seat "the best," for the seating accommodation in St. Paul's Church is so well arranged that every one may well consider their own the best pew in church. Almost all the pews were taken, and the result is considered very satisfactory for the Building Committee.

For beautiful designs in Lace Curtains and Lambrequins, all New Goods, go to Turnbull's.

A Pointer to Business Men.
Dinner will be served to business men from 12.30 to 2.30 every day at Falcon's Restaurant and Bodega.

Bodega.
Spanish Wines, Portes and Sherries drawn from the wood, at the Fairer Restaurant of W. H. Chamberlain.

Another larger lot of Fine Boots and Shoes received at the Bon Marche, at ridiculously low prices.

The cheapest boot-store in town is at the Bon Marche. A very choice selection to choose from Scott's Emulsion of Pure Cod Liver Oil with Hypophosphates.

In Most Nutritious and Strengthening.
Dr. F. P. Knight, St. Joseph, Mo., says: "I have used Scott's Emulsion for three years, with the greatest satisfaction in all cases, where nutrient medication is required."
Crucially Murdered.
In the Province of Ontario every year thousands are being slowly murdered by taking unsuitable instruments for such complaints as Constipation, Indigestion, Liver Complaint, Kidney Trouble, etc., who might easily gain lost strength and energy by using McEwen's Speedy Cure. To convince them that such is the case we will give them a free trial bottle at John McKee's Drug Store. Price 50c. and $1 bottle. See testimonials from persons in your own town.

A HOME DRUGGIST

Popularity at home is not always the best test of merit, but we point proudly to the fact that no other medicine has won for itself such universal approbation in its own city, state, and country, and among all people, as

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

The following letter from one of our best known Massachusetts Druggists should be of interest to every sufferer:—

"Eight years ago I had an attack of Rheumatism. Rheumatism, so severe, without help. I tried several remedies without much if any relief, until I took Ayer's Sarsaparilla, by the use of two bottles of which I was completely cured. Have sold large quantities of your Sarsaparilla, and it still retains its wonderful popularity. The many notable cures it has effected in this vicinity convince me that it is the best blood medicine ever offered to the public."
E. F. HARRIS.
Silver St., Buckland, Mass., May 15, 1882.

SALT RHEUM.

GEORGE ARTHUR, owner in the Lowell Carpet Corporation, was for over twenty years before his removal to Lowell afflicted with Salt Rheum in the work room. His ulcerations actually covered more than half the surface of his body and limbs. He was entirely cured by Ayer's Sarsaparilla. See certificate in Ayer's Almanac for 1883.

THE LANDSOWNE

The New Roller Mill Now Ready for Occupation.

Shortly before the ice skating season closed

Mr. Ed. Brown entered into negotiations with the directors of the Peterborough Curling and Skating Rink Company, for the utilizing of the large rink on Charlotte Street as a place of amusement during the summer months. After due consideration satisfactory arrangements were completed.

The new proprietor at once took steps for the procuring of proper flooring, after having visited several of the leading roller rinks in the United States, and carefully examined other appointments and equipments, as well as the flooring. The contract was given to Mr. John Oliver, of Toronto, to supply the necessary choice lumber.

After the closing of the ice skating season, the ice, owing to the cold and backward spring, did not melt away with anything like the rapidity that was expected. Mr. Brown, however, did not feel inclined to wait for the removal of the ice by old St. Lawrence's process, but put a staff of choppers and shovellers to work, who in a few days removed the ice from the large rink and piled it along the curling rinks.

Now came the hitch that has so long delayed the opening of the Landsowne rink. Many people have been impatiently waiting for the opening of the new rink, and it is only fair to the manager and contractor to make the explanation. Mr. Oliver procured the requisite lumber, not without difficulty, and sent it to a planing mill to be trimmed. The day after the lumber had been sent, a sheriff seized on the planing mill and all the material in it, and of course the flooring for the Landsowne rink was for a considerable length of time locked up, to the great annoyance of both contractor and manager.

At length the flooring arrived, and Mr. T. Rutherford, the contractor, at the head of an efficient force of workmen, set vigorously to work. In just one week and one day, the whole of the 20,000 feet of lumber was laid. This may be considered a feat in building, for great care is necessary in the laying of a floor of this kind, and to have satisfactorily completed the work in so short a time is a credit both to Mr. Rutherford and the men in his employ. The floor consists of the finest clear maple strips, 2 x 2 1/2 inches, and cost $58 per thousand. The joints are well made in the whole floor, but particularly at the ends, where it is laid in semi-octagon shape.

On Saturday last the smoothing of the surface was commenced. Planing was out of the question, as it would take a week at least to complete the operation. A happy idea was put into execution. A large griddle was obtained, laid sideways on the floor, and a horse (with the shoes off) attached to it. Sand was thrown over the floor, and the mowl operation commenced. It did admirable work, the process being even more efficient than planing, and today the surface is smooth, level and even as it is possible to arrive at.

The appointments are complete in every way: the dressing room is both commodious and convenient. The large extent of gallery affords ample room for a promenade. It is lighted at night by electric lights, and the seating accommodation, which is now being constructed, will be sufficient to seat hundreds of spectators comfortably. Being situated on the ground floor the rink at present is quite cool, but if the extreme summer heat demands it, Mr. Brown informs us that he will construct a cooling apparatus, which will keep the place temperately cool on the hottest day.

This evening the formal opening will take place. The rink will be brilliantly illuminated and the strong attractions which the enterprise of the manager has secured, promises to fill the rink in every part with spectators. On payment of the admission fee all are entitled to the free use of a pair of the celebrated Kayway skates, of which the manager has two hundred and fifty pairs in stock. The "Landsowne," as it is to day, is a risk which would do credit to any city in the country, and no doubt the successful efforts of Mr. Brown to make it a place of recreation will be thoroughly appreciated by the amusement loving people of Peterborough.

THE CAPTURE OF RIEL.

Particulars and the Official

Announcement of it.

POUNDMAKER'S PRISONERS.

THE BURIAL OF CAPTAIN E. T. BROWN AT BATOCHE'S CROSSING.

The Troops Believed to be at Prince

Albert—Riel Likely to be Tried at Regina—Half-breed Rebellion Squelched WILL END THE REBELLION.

FROM THE CAMP, via CLARKE'S CROSSING, May 16.—The capture of Riel will end the rebellion so far as the breeds are concerned. A band of Indians, coming in from the west yesterday to help Riel out, were scooped by the half-breds, who told them the war was over. Some of the prisoners were taken on board the boat yesterday. In passing from their families there were many pitiful scenes, the women crying and holding up the babies for the fathers to kiss. The papers belonging to the REBEL GOVERNMENT were searched to-day. The minutes show that the Duck Lake fight was a premeditated affair, and that the rebels were thoroughly cognizant of Gen. Middleton's movements from the time he left Qu'Appelle station. Extracts from Toronto and Montreal journals were also found referring to Riel and the strength of Gen. Middleton's command. The quantity of ammunition and the amount of forage, on which, according to the minutes, the movements of the rebels depended, is given in the official account. It was very small. At the Fish Creek fight, Dumont admits defeat. He had over 200 men engaged there. A priest has just informed Captain Bédard that the rebel loss was 51 killed and 173 wounded.

THE TROOPS MOVING.

The troops started on Thursday morning for Prince Albert, via Lepine's ferry. Prince Albert has all along been as safe as Toronto. The report that Colonel Irvine was threatened by hostile Indians and half-breeds is now found to have been quite untrue. Intense indignation is expressed at his non-appearance.

DISTINGUISHED HIMSELF.

Colonel Williams, M. P., of the Midland Battalion, highly distinguished himself in the charge on Monday. The officers and men almost disobeyed orders in their anxiety to charge. Last night the question of the breeds capturing Riel was broached unofficially to Monkman, one of the prisoners. He said he would take the job with the other prisoners, but the result of the deliberation is not known. Wednesday night had been fixed upon by the rebels for an attack on our fortified camp. They told the prisoners they would kill fifty volunteers and that the rest would run away and the war would then be ended. The prisoners were notified that the next time our guns should be fired the rebels would be shot. Many recruits are giving up their arms to night and the rebellion, so far as the half-breeds go, is entirely squelched, although one bandster was fired upon three miles from camp this morning.

PARTICULARS OF THE CAPTURE.

Fifteen miles below Batoche, May 15, 2.30 p.m., the Clarke's, May 16.—Riel was captured at noon to-day by three scouts named Armstrong, Diehl and Howey, four miles north of Batoche. Scouts had been out in the morning to scour the country, but these three spread from the main body, and just as they were coming out of some bushes on an unfrequented trail leading to Batoche's, they spied Riel with three companions. He was unarmed, but they carried shot guns. The scouts at once recognized Riel, and advancing towards him, halted him by the bushes. SHOT BY THE TROOPS.

but he was promised a safe escort to the General's quarters. His wife and children were not with him, and he said they were on the west side of the river. To avoid the main body of the scouts, Riel was taken to a couple near by and hidden, while Diehl went off to catch a horse for him, the scouts left with the prisoner. When Diehl returned, Riel and Diehl's companions had disappeared, evidently to avoid other scouts. Diehl says Riel was not in the least agitated when arrested, and was willingly made captive. He was which was all he seemed to want. During the interview he handed Armstrong a note, the contents of which I have not heard, as at this time of writing the party has not arrived in camp. Orders have been given to the men to keep in their tents, so no demonstration may be made when Riel arrives. He is expected in half an hour, but this is sent off by courier to Clarke's Crossing before his arrival. His capture is secured, however. The boys in camp are jubilant over the capture.

3.45 p.m.—The note Riel gave the courier was the letter General Middleton sent him. He beckoned the men to him. He knew nothing of the capture. Riel said he stayed on Tuesday and Wednesday nights in the bluffs, one and a half miles north of Batoche's. He wished a fair trial, and asked Armstrong if he would get a civil or military trial. He said

BE WANTED A CIVIL TRIAL.

He said his wife and family were with a half-breed woman near by. Riel is now being interviewed by General Middleton, while the men are standing idly round. No demonstration has been made. When he saw the Gatling go down with the scouts at Batoche's, RIEL WAS MUCH ALARMED.

on account of his family. Riel appears nervous and haggard. He has let his hair and beard grow long. He is dressed in a poorer fashion than most of the breeds captured. While talking to Gen. Middleton, as could be seen from the outside of his tent, his eyes rolled from side to side with the look of a hunted man. He is evidently the most thoroughly frightened man in the camp, and in constant fear of violence at the hands of the soldiers. There is no danger of such violence.

TWO MORE DEATHS.

WINNIPEG, May 16.—Dr. Roddick has telegraphed that there are now 70 wounded volunteers in the hospital at Saskatoon, and all are doing well. Two more deaths have been added to the death roll of the gallant 90th battalion, Sergt.-Major Watson and Private Alex. Watson of F company, having died of wounds since their removal to Saskatoon yesterday.

TO BE TRIED AT REGINA.

It is believed that Riel is being taken to Regina under strong military escort for trial.

MONTREAL ARTILLERY.

The garrison artillery of Montreal are detained at Jack Fish Creek waiting the laying of about fifteen miles of rail. They are expected to reach Winnipeg by Wednesday night.

THE BRAVE NINETEEN.

It is understood that the 90th batt. rifles have received orders to return home, having borne the brunt of the campaign.

OFFICIALLY ANNOUNCED.

OTTAWA, May 16.—The House convened at 1 p.m., and before the orders of the day were called, the hon. Minister of Militia said, "I wish to read a telegram from General Middleton confirming the report of the capture of Riel. It reads:—

"CLARKE'S CROSSING, May 15.
"Riel is my prisoner."
"FRED MIDDLETON."

GOES TO PRINCE ALBERT.

WINNIPEG, Man., May 16.—No news from the west to-day, but troops are supposed to have reached Prince Albert from Batoche. The absence of telegraphic news is due to the fact that the Government line from Clarke's Crossing to Prince Albert, destroyed by the rebels, has not yet been repaired.

BURIAL OF CAPT. BROWN.

The remains of Capt. Brown, of Bolton's scouts, were laid to rest yesterday on the bank of the Saskatchewan, not far AGGRAVATING THE STRAIN.

The Kingston Whig says that the Review erroneously applied a paragraph taken from its columns. We think not. Our contemporary said:—

"He (Sir John Macdonald) is kept close, wearily so, to his post and appears to apprehend danger should be absent himself for any length of time. He cannot stand this tremendous strain forever."

It is true enough that the Whig stated that if Sir John had shier colleagues he would not need to be so continually at his post, but that is a matter of opinion aside from the point we referred to. The paragraph quoted showed that the Reformers believed that Sir John was kept wearily close to his post and that he could not stand the strain forever, and their conduct in the House showed that, acting on that belief, they endeavoured, by factious opposition, to protract the sessions and increase the strain upon the veteran Premier, their object being to thus force concessions from him and the Government that he leads. The paragraph was not erroneously applied, and the conduct of the Reform party, we repeat, was displaceable.

As to the ability of the Administration, the manner in which they have dealt with great public questions, such as the tariff and the Pacific Railway, show that they understand the requirements of Canada, and are able to supply those necessities. The only evidence our contemporary gives of the alleged incompetency of Sir John's colleagues is a rumour which was started by a Reform correspondent and which is untrue.

On Friday the hired petitions against the Franchise Bill began to come in, responsive to the appeals from headquarters. The Globe gives the number of signatures on half of them, and calculating the other half at the same average (a very liberal estimate, for the Globe is likely to have dropped the small numbers), we find the cost of the signature at the published tariff rate is only $4.32. Stimulated popular indignation does not seem to be a very expensive device when thus managed. Of course there would also be the cost of the petitions, of the circulars urging their manufacture, and of postage.

Some of those who object to the enfranchisement of the educated, industrious and loyal Indians of the Six Nations, say that they would be under the dictation of the Indian Department as to their votes. We thought that the ballot was adopted expressly to counteract any such influences, and were of opinion that it had been found to have this effect. If, however, the Provincial regulation of the Dominion franchise were to prevail, the Indians who are also given votes by Mr. Mowat would find their protection not so complete, as the secrecy of the ballot in Ontario elections is not so inviolable.

It appears from Reform accounts that there are some Conservative names on the petition against the Franchise Bill. As the names of the Queen, Prince Albert, the Duke of Wellington, &c., appeared many times upon the notorious chartist petition, this boast of the obstructionists is more probably true than some in which they indulge.

THE VOYAGEURS.

The Services of the Canadians of the Greatest Possible Value.

LONDON, May 15.—That the large contingent of Canadian voyageurs should contain a stray black sheep is not to be wondered at, but it is no less a fact that as an entire the Canadians did excellent work, and won the praise of those with whom they came in contact. Early Derby has received the following very satisfactory despatch from Lord Wolsey:—"Certain unclouded statements having appeared in various papers to the effect that their employment has been attended with unsatisfactory results, I desire to place on record not only my own opinion, but also that of every officer connected with the direction and management of the boat columns, that the services of these voyageurs have been of the greatest possible value, and further, that their conduct throughout has been excellent."—Mail.

Death of a Grand Chief.

Grand Chief Williams, of Canagawaga, died on Thursday night. He was born in 1846, and by great perseverance educated himself so that he could read, write, and speak three languages fluently. Fifteen years ago he was elected to the position of Grand Chief by his band, and filled his position ever since with credit. The cause of his death is attributed principally to grief at the loss of his only daughter about a year since which had such an effect upon his constitution that it was a way. He was universally beloved on the reserve for his sterling qualities.

An Embosser in the Tolls.

MINNEAPOLIS, May 15.—E. W. Goddard, who embezzled $15,000 from Austin, Gorbin & Co., New York, twelve years ago, when he was seventeen years of age, has been arrested here. He has been in the employ of R. G. Barnaby & Co. for a number of years, and in 1883 was given an interest in the business for faithful service. He has had almost complete control of the money and books. Barnaby will endeavor to secure Goddard's release by paying the amount of his embezzlement. Goddard lost the money in the society of fast young men.

BATTLEFORD.

A Lady's Experience—The Beginning of the Outbreak.

Miss Taylor and her brother reached Winnipeg from Battleford last Friday evening and were interviewed by a reporter. She was in Battleford during the whole time of the siege.

"It was on the evening of the last Sunday in March, the 26th, I think, that we moved into the barracks. On that day it was generally understood that Poundmaker and his warriors were on the war path, and intended to raid the settlement. For a day or so previous there had been numerous arrivals of settlers with their families from the surrounding country, who reported that the Indians had left their reserves and were on the war path. In many instances these settlers had their houses ransacked and their contents either destroyed or carried away and the stock driven off by the marauding Indians. That night we ascertained that the Indians were only about thirty miles distant, and might be expected to raid the town at any moment, and it was resolved to move into the fort."

"Had you any intimation of an outbreak previous to this?"

"No, we had heard several Indian scores, but everyone believed that it would be a small affair, simply a repetition of the trouble we had the previous spring. We expected that the Indians would only steal a little provisions and then go back to their reserves."

"Had you any idea of trouble before the Duck Lake fight?"

"No, it was not until after this event, not in fact till we had heard of the burning of Carlton Place, that we learned the probability of an Indian attack."

"When did the Indians first appear at Battleford?"

"The day following that on which we went into the fort. You see we did not move a minute too soon. We lived on the north side of the river, and when we reached the fort we found the Rev. Mr. Clark, an English clergyman and principal of the Indian Industrial school, already there. He had been warned to move by one of his people, a little Indian boy named Jack, who went with him to the fort. The lad told him that day he had learned the Indians were coming in and intended, after killing the Government officials, to burn the town and then scatter over the country. He knew the boy to be reliable and moved at once to the fort."

"Where did the boys belonging to the school go?"

"They left the school and went into camp about a mile away, after taking a lot of provisions from the stores."

"Did they take part in the sacking of the town?"

"No; they only took provisions and remained quiet. They all had guns."

"Did you recover your personal effects?"

"No, we lost everything, even down to clothing, most of us having only what we had on our backs the night we went to the fort."

"Were not the Indians shelled from the fort?"

"Yes, but that was later on. The people in the fort knew that there were a number of settlers coming in for protection and were afraid if they killed any of the Indians they would be very infuriated and wreak vengeance on any unfortunate settler who might fall into their hands. This was a wise course, as a number of these refugees who were then on the road arrived in the course of a couple of days unharmed, although the Indians plundered them of everything they had. Every day something occurred to increase the terror of the situation. First the news of the Frog Lake massacre arrived, and we learned that our friends there had been massacred, and carried into captivity. Then we heard of the death of Barney Freeman at his farm, and that Payne had been killed on the Stony reserve, and this chapter of horrors was climaxed by the arrival of the refugees from Fort Pitt bringing with the news of more blood shed. Then poor Frank Smart was shot down and we all began to expect a similar fate. The arrival of the troops at the fort was a scene not easily to be forgotten by those who had been penned up there.

"When did you leave?"

"A week ago last Wednesday. We came across the country in teams. Rev. Mr. Clark and his wife accompanied us as far as Regina. It was a rough trip and a long one. Many of the people at Battleford would like to leave, but they are afraid of the danger of crossing the plains, owing to reports that the Indians are scattered all over."

"Who did the halfbreeds side with?"

"The Scotch halfbreeds were all in the fort, and a few French were there also. The most of the French had gone away, though but a few were with the Indians."

A CURIOUS AFRICAN TRIBE

A Unique Race, with many of the Virtues and Vices of Civilization.

A more remarkable or unique race than the Masai does not exist on the continent of Africa—indeed, I might safely say in the two hemispheres. In their physique, manners and customs, and religious belief, they are all different from the Galla or Somali. They are the most magnificently modeled savages I have ever seen, or even read of. Beautifully proportioned they are characterized by the smooth and rounded outline of the Apollo type, rarely showing the knotted and brawny muscles of the true athlete. The women are very decently dressed in bullock's hide. They wear, by way of ornament, from 20 to 30 pounds of thick iron wire coiled around the limbs, arms and neck, besides a great assortment of beads and iron chains. The men wear only a small kidkin garment around the shoulders and breast, the rest being of some coarse and simple material among the married men. The most remarkable distinction characterizes the various epochs in the life history of the Masai. The boys and girls up to a certain age live with their parents, and feed upon curried milk, meat and grain. At the age of 12 with the girls, and from 12 to 14 with the boys, they are sent from the married men's kraal to the one in which there are only the young unmarried men and women. There they live till they are married. At this stage the men are warriors, and their sole occupation is outlie lifting abroad and amusing themselves at home. The young women attend to the cattle, build the huts, perform other necessary household duties. Both sexes are on the strictest diet. Absolutely nothing but meat and milk passes their lips. Spirits and beer, tobacco, or vegetable food are alike eschewed. So, too, indeed, are the grains. In their notions that they will not even eat the meat of any wild animal. Moreover, the meat and milk are never taken together. For several days the one is their sole diet, to be followed by the other after taking a powerful purgative. On killing a bullock they drink the blood raw, which doubtless supplies them with the necessary salts. In eating meat they always retire to the forest in small parties accompanied by a young woman, whose pleasant duty it is to kill a warrior find this kind of life that he seldom marries until he has passed the prime of life and begins to find his strength declining. The great war spear and heavy buffalo hide shield, the sword, and the knoberry are then laid aside. For a month he dons the dress of an unmarried woman, and then becomes a staid and respectable member of Masai society. He goes no more to war, but devotes himself to the rearing of a brood of young warriors. His diet changes with his mode of life, and he may indulge in vegetable food, drink beer or spirits, and smoke or chew tobacco. At death the body is simply thrown out to the hyenas and vultures.—Exchange.

GALLEY SLAVES

The Australian Convict System and its Barbarities.

The gang of galley slaves were seated in close order on benches covered with coarse sackcloth ruffled stuff, over which were thrown bullock's hides. Five or six of them occupied a bench ten or eleven feet long. To a footboard beneath each man was attached by a chain ending in an iron band, riveted around one of the ankles. The benches were so close together that, as one row of them pushed forward their oars, the arms and oar of the row behind were projecting over their banded backs. The size and weight of the oar was so great that, except at the end where it was tapered to a manageable size, it was necessary to work it by handles fixed to the side. The slaves were overlooked by the boatwain. His place was on the gangway, close to the sternmost oar, where he was at all times in hearing of the orders of the captain. Along the gangway, at regular intervals, his mate and the driver were posted, so that the conduct of each slave was under inspection. The oars were put in motion or stopped by the signal of the man with his mate, was armed with a heavy whip of bull's sinew to stimulate the exertions of the slaves. When it was necessary to continue the labor for many hours without respite they would administer, in addition to the lash, morsels of bread steeped in wine, which they put in the mouths of the men as they rowed. If, in spite of these precautions, a slave sank from fatigue, he was whipped until it was evident that no further work was to be obtained from him, and then thrown either into the hold, where among bilge water and filth he had a chance of recovering his consciousness, or, if his case appeared desperate, into the sea.

FINDING BURIED MONEY

A Hunter's Gratitude—Good Fortune For a Friend of Maximilian.

A dispatch from Santa Fe, N. M., says: Miguel del Monte, a Mexican nobleman under the reign of Empire Maximilian, who fled for his life to Vermont at the time of the downfall of the Mexican empire, has just become a rich man again through the gratitude of a Vermont hunter whom he befriended 18 years ago. Del Monte was one of Maximilian's most ardent friends, and a liberal minister of war, since after him, when he fled from Mexico to escape Maximilian's fate. Del Monte arrived safely in Vermont, and discovering that his enemies were after him, secured himself in the northern part of the Green Mountains, but he was tracked and followed, and would have been killed by the Mexican emissaries but for the cunning of Geo. Dudley, a Vermont hunter, who kept Del Monte hidden in caves and hollow trees, changing the hiding place as often as necessary and carrying the food to him every day for three months, until the Mexicans gave up the chase. Del Monte then disposed of his jewels and from this and various other sources succeeded in raising $7,000, which he left in Dudley's cabin as a gift. He went away before the hunter discovered how magnificently his services had been rewarded. Del Monte and Dudley did not meet again until last fall, when they revisited the scenes of the Mexican's Vermont adventures at the same time. They were overjoyed at seeing each other, and since both were in abject poverty they were still more happy in finding a large sum in gold buried in one of the caves where Del Monte had been hidden. Though the discovery was Dudley's he insisted that Del Monte should have half of the money. This money, which is probably a part of the treasure said to have been hidden in Vermont about a century ago, and the search for which has been for a long time abandoned, was quietly removed from the cave and exchanged in England for modern coin, and the two men are now here negotiating for an extensive cattle ranch, in which they propose investing it.

Central America.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 15.—A treaty of peace and alliance was entered into between Honduras, San Salvador, Costa Rica, and Nicaragua on May 12th. A general amnesty has been granted to all involved in the revolution. Zaldivar extracts a war indemnity of two millions from Guatemala in order to equalize her strength and wealth with the other Central American States.

RAILROADS.

From Our Own Correspondent.

THE SPRING FAIR.—The Railboro Union Agricultural Society was very successful at its first spring show here recently. Both as to numbers and quality the show of bulls and stallions was most satisfactory. There were twenty-two horses shown, all of them being fine animals. There were eight Durham bulls, some of which were extra good. The weather was fine, there was a large attendance of visitors, and the arrangements were well carried out. The society has made an admirable start and should succeed, which it would be sure to do if all the officers and directors exerted themselves each to add a few names to the members roll, when there would be a numerous list from the territory taken in by the society, including South and North Monaghan, Cavan, Hope and Hamilton. The prices at the show were as follows:—Imported heavy draft horse, Johnson & Wilson, 1st; W. M. Fair, 2nd and 3rd. Canadian heavy draft horse, H. Henderson, 1st; R. W. Bithwell, 2nd; J. McLaren, 3rd. Agricultural horse, Roger Guest, 1st; W. Loch, 2nd; J. Aronck, 3rd. Roadsters, W. Oakes, 1st; W. Dickie, 2nd; T. Burke, 3rd. Aged Durham bull, Wm. Redmond, 1st; Alex. Anderson, 2nd; Yearling, Durhams, W. Rutherford, 1st; Geo. Berry, 2nd. The decisions of the judges, Messrs. Moskos, M. Balesillon and W. Fisher, V.S., gave general satisfaction. This energetic young society should be encouraged, and all who wish to join should send their names (with $1) to the secretary, Mr. Alfred Dawson, Railboro.

THE FARM.—The farmers in the neighborhood are all very busy putting in their spring crops. The fall wheat looks remarkably well, considering the severe winter. Improvements.—Some improvements are going on in the village. Mr. John Porter has just started to build a brick house and shop. Mr. A. Eagleson has his new shop almost completed, with a commodious hall over it. Mr. R. Butler has his carriage and wagon factory nearly ready for business. Mr. Jas. H. Perrin, butcher, is already in occupation of his new building. Other buildings are also in contemplation. Carpenters, stone-masons, brick-layers and painters, are all very busy just now.

THE SIREWALK.—It is evident that the village is progressing, and it might be suggested that it would be more in keeping if the sidewalks were at once put in better repair in some places.

PORT HOPE

A FREAK OF NATURE.—Mr. William Reeves, living on Lot 15, Lake Shore road, Hope, has a most singular natural curiosity. About a week ago one of his mares gave birth to a foal that has no eyes, not even placed where the eyes should be; the whole head is covered with hair and skin. The foal is otherwise well formed. He intends to raise it, and no doubt Barium will give a big price for it, to add to his list of natural curiosities.—Guide.

SEVENTY hundred dollars was mysteriously abstracted from the safe in the office of the police accountant of Montreal, situated in the city hall, on Thursday night.

As a superb hair dressing and renovator, Ayer's Hair Vigor is universally commended. It eradicates scurf and dandruff, cures all eruptions and itchy of the scalp, promotes the renewed growth of the hair, and surely prevents its falling or turning gray.

THREE reporters and the circulating agent of a Toronto journal were each fined ten dollars and costs at the Police Court on Friday for selling newspapers on Sunday. Notice of appeal was given.

THE pleasure of bathing is greatly increased by mixing in the tub half or even a quarter of a bottle of Murray & Leaman's Florida Water. Instantly the whole atmosphere of the bath room is as fragrant as a blooming flower garden, the mind becomes buoyant, and the body emerges refreshed and strengthened.

REGULATIONS for preventing the importation from the United States into Manitoba or British Columbia of horses affected with glanders or other contagious diseases are published in the Canadian Gazette.

EIGHT hundred shortbuns bred in Ontario were shipped at Montreal on Friday for the Mother Country. The cattle shipping trade from that port gives indications of being on a larger scale this year than ever before.

Don't Use any more noxious purgatives such as Pilla, Salts, &c., when you can get in Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters, a medicine that moves the bowels gently, cleansing all impurities from the system and restoring the Blood pure and cool. Sold by all Druggists.

Efforts will be made to have the body of Private Moore, of the Royal Grenadiers, who was killed at Batocche, brought to Toronto for interment. Subscriptions have been collected to defray expenses.

A Minnesota Holocaust.

OWATONNA, Minn., May 15.—Last night the house of a Norwegian farmer named Henry Lewiston was burned, and five of his children perished. The family, consisting of himself, his wife, seven children and a hired man, were sleeping in the second story. Lewiston and his wife were awakened by the glare of fire and rushed down stairs. Mrs. Lewiston carrying the youngest child, another child aged 10, and the hired man following. Lewiston made several frantic efforts to reach the children asleep upstairs, but as there was no door or window through which this could be done except a window on the side of the house already in flames, he was powerless. The burned children were four boys, aged 18, 15, 6 and 4, and a girl aged 10. Mrs. Lewiston was severely burned.

Train-Wrecking Floods.

DETROIT, May 15.—Last night a Wabash freight train from Detroit, when near Hand station, 14 miles out, the locomotive and eight freight cars plunged through an open switch and piled up in a promiscuous heap. John M. Humphrey, engineer, James H. Cook, fireman, and A. J. Harris, brakeman, were buried in the wreck. A force of men were soon working at the debris and the men rescued. Humphrey and Cook were badly bruised and cut about the head and face; Harris was almost unhurt. Their escape from death is considered marvellous. The railroad authorities are satisfied the switch was upped by floods, who designed to wreck a passenger train leaving the city last night.

All "Played Out."

"Don't know what ails me lately. Can't eat well—can't sleep well. Can't work, and don't enjoy doing anything. Ain't really sick and I really ain't well. Feel all kind of played out, some way." That is what scores of men say every day. If they would take Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" they would soon have no occasion to say it. It purifies the blood, tones up the system and fortifies it against disease. It is a great anti-bilious remedy as well.

Daily Evening Review

MONDAY, MAY 18, 1885.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

"Silver King."

The above named play was reproduced at Bradburn's Opera House on Saturday evening by Harry Miner's Company. The hall was moderately well filled. The artistic manner in which this play was presented was appreciated by all present.

Pink Tea.

The St. Luke's Girls' Friendly Society intend holding a Pink Tea Meeting in the school room, Ashburnham, on Thursday evening, the 21st inst. Tea served from 5 p.m. A sale of useful articles will be held during the evening. The public are invited.

Election of Delegates.

The following members of the True Blue organization of this town have been elected to attend the meeting of the Grand Lodge of British North America, which will be held in Belleville on May 17th:—F. W. Weir, D.D. G. M.; Wm. Marshall, G. L.; John Smith, W. M.; H. Sherwood, D. M.

If you want to replenish your gloves and Hosiery, you will find everything desirable in Quality, Color and Price at Turnbull's.

Good Work.

The last issue of the Ottawa Packet contains the following paragraph:—"The publishers of the Packet have had Picturesque Canada bound in the bindery of the Peterborough Review, and can safely say that the work could not easily be excelled for the price. The Review is acknowledged as noted for good work in every department, and the Review itself is the best daily paper we know of outside the large cities."

Field Glasses.

Though the signal corps of the 57th Battalion have now on hand a fair number of necessary instruments, they still lack a part of the outfit which is one of the most important, viz., field glasses. They are endeavoring to procure the funds to purchase these by means of subscriptions. Our leading citizens should come down handsomely when called on.

Narrow Escape.

On Saturday little Charlie McKee, a eight year old son of Mr. John McKee, druggist, had a narrow escape from being poisoned. Some rat poison, mixed with oatmeal, had been placed under the sideboard. This mixture Charlie was about to commence eating, or had commenced, when his mother discovered him. She was much alarmed, and medical aid was at once procured. An emetic was administered and the boy is now all right.

This is the Night.

The public are reminded that this is the day of the opening of the new Lansdowne Roller Rink, Charlotte street. The attractions presented there this evening will be Prof. Aiken, champion roller skater of the world, Mr. Kerr, professional roller skater, Belleville, and Mr. Hurst, of Toronto, champion bicyclist of Canada. The low price of admission, which includes skates, is sufficient in itself to cause the rink to be filled with skaters and spectators. Don't miss it!

That Vexing Catapult.

Some time ago several windows were broken in the Collegiate Institute and some in St. Paul's Church by missiles thrown from catapults. A reward of $10 was offered for the capture of any of the offending youths who committed the injury. A day or two ago another window was broken in the Collegiate Institute, and shortly afterward the janitor captured a boy in possession of one of these dangerous machines. An attempt was made to bring the boy before the Police Court, but no one having seen the injury done it was impossible to prosecute. Some of the members of the Board of Education felt naturally indignant when they found this to be the case, and urged the necessity of the Council's passing a by-law similar to that in force in Toronto, under which anyone found in possession of a catapult is liable to a fine of $20.

Gingham, Gingham. A large stock of New Gingham, to arrive this week at Turnbull's. Look for them.

A special meeting of the Loyal True Blue will be held this evening at 8 p.m. By order of the Warranted Master, FRED W. MASON.

Gough Has Come.

Don't forget the lecture to night at the Grand Street Methodist Church, Subject "Familiar People." Amusing, well illustrated and instructive. Commencement, 8 p.m. and 25c. (Limited number only of the latter).

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours commencing from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Moderate to fresh south-east and south west winds, mostly fair warm weather, with local showers towards evening or night.

HOUSEKEEPERS will please remember Fair, VanEvery & Co.'s large consignment of Lace Curtains, in cream and white. Crotonnes, Lambrequins, &c., at wholesale prices. Their Carpet Department affords a full range of choice patterns in Union, All-Wool, Tapestry, Brussels, Oilcloths, Rugs, &c.

Appropriate for Ladies.

Ladies will find a wider range of Mantle and Dress Material than ever at Fair, VanEvery and Co.'s this season. All new, handsome, bright and guaranteed value. Besides, every confidence may be reposed in the ability of Miss Johnston, the lady who has charge of the Dress and Mantle Making Department, to satisfy her customers in their most particular demands.

For a large and varied stock of Reversible Crotonnes, entirely new patterns, go to Turnbull's.

"Familiar People."

Treated this evening at the Grand Street Methodist Church, by the celebrated John B. Gough.

PEOPLE discussed and criticized whom you know. PEOPLE discussed and criticized whom you don't know. PEOPLE all shades of character compared, contrasted and revised.

I will supply a limited number of tickets of admission at 25c. each. W. J. MASON.

A Ride to the Park.

The contract for driving the lacrosse boys to their grounds in the Driving Park during the season has been awarded to Tierney's livery. This evening the bus will leave the corner of George and Hunter streets at half past six and seven o'clock to convey the wielders of the sticks southward. This will be the inauguration practice, both of the season and of the new grounds. Be on hand in time this evening, boys, or you'll have the pleasure of taking a tramp to the grounds.

Bursting Pipes.

On Saturday afternoon another water works pipe burst on Brock street. The frequent bursting of these pipes is largely due to the thawing of the ice which has, owing to last winter's intense frost, obstructed most of the branch pipes all spring. The pipes on Brock street, however, seem to have been suffering more than those on any other street. No fewer than four breaks have occurred in the branch stretching from Water to George street. The Water Company officials have been exerting themselves during the spring to have the ice all removed, and now very little remains in any of the pipes.

A New Battery.

There is now considerable talk of an application being made to the Government for the creating of a new battery of artillery, the head quarters to be in Peterborough. There are at present 75 men belonging to the Durham Field Battery, and of these the Peterborough men, 37 in all, comprise the whole right division. Our men are now beginning to ask themselves why no step has been taken in the matter. There are uniforms in stock here for only about half the men, and what are here have been obtained only by persistent efforts made by Capt. Sanderson. There could be no better place for the establishment of a new battery of artillery than in Peterborough. Several applications have already been made to join, and the requisite number of men could be easily obtained. And Captain Sanders n't just the right man in the right place. He has just passed his second year as Captain, and as Major in command he would no doubt perform his duties as creditably as he has in the past. The County Council have offered, in the event of the establishment of a battery here, to make a liberal grant for the purchasing of uniforms.

For a complete assortment of Boots, Shoes and Slippers, see FOOT & McWHINNIE. Good value in all lines.

Progressive Peterborough.

The above caption is becoming more and more useful every day to newspaper men in Peterborough, as there is generally an item of some nature that would look well under no other heading. As the town is growing constantly, and in many respects becoming altogether civilized, so to speak, we are from time to time called upon to note and comment on many of the business places in it. That all lines of trade are brisk at the present time is an indication that Peterborough is a wholly deserving of the reputation she has gained throughout the Province of being one of the leading towns in Canada. Our merchants have doubtless done much to bring about this state of things, and, as a natural consequence, are enjoying the fruits of their labors. The tailoring and gentry's furnishing store of A. McNeil, Habillment Hall, is just now on the "go" as hard as nailers. Orders for summer clothing are coming in like hot cakes, and the store is thronged daily with young men and old buying gentry's furnishings for the summer. Those who are in need of a really fashionable suit of clothes, made up in Mac's superlative style, will do well to pay a visit to his hand-ome store, Habillment Hall.

LADIES' and children's Fine Boots in great variety at the Bon Marche at about half price.

Real fresh cool lager on draught at the Grand Central Hotel.

Personal.

Lord Melgund passed through Peterborough on the noon Canadian Pacific train on his way to Ottawa.

Mr. J. B. Dorman is in town making arrangements for the appearance here next Saturday afternoon and evening of Mr. E. A. McDowell's celebrated dramatic company.

Council of War.

Several of the delegates to the Saved Army Council of War have already arrived. A large number of others will come on this evening's and night's trains. The executive meets to-morrow, and the Council of War will be held the three succeeding days.

That job lot of Scotch Tweeds Turnbull purchased a few days ago deserves the inspection of all who need suits, you will find a something to suit you at astonishingly low prices at Turnbull's.

Medals.

Four handsome medals are on exhibition in the window of Mr. Muncaster's Goldsmith's Hall. They are to be competed for during the sports to be held in the grounds of the Amateur Athletic Association on May 25th. One is for the 100 yards (open) competition; one for the 440 yards (open) competition; one for one mile (open) competition, and one for the running long jump. The medals are very handsome.

For neat and well-fitting Boots and Shoes for Summer wear we have the largest assortment in Peterborough. The only place that can supply the Patent Button Fly. Nothing so neat, and warranted not to tear. Ladies, please call and see them. FOOT & McWHINNIE.

To take Action at Once.

It was decided, at a meeting of the Horticulture Society, which was held on Saturday afternoon in the office of Mr. J. H. Koper, to take action at once in the beautifying of the Court House Park. Messrs. John Burnham, James Stevenson, D. W. Dumble and J. H. Koper were appointed a committee to look over the new grounds and ascertain the best mode of procedure. Measurements and surveys of the grounds will be at once taken and work will be commenced shortly.

Familiar People.

There is one peculiar person among the people of America that the lecturer will not refer to at length this evening, and that person is John B. Gough. As an orator he possesses a peculiar power that not only holds the attention of his audience, but delights them. He has the ability to instruct, as well as the wit to amuse, and the eloquence to please. The lecturer's name has become a household word. First rising into prominence through his lectures on temperance, he gave his attention to other subjects, and it was at once demonstrated that in dealing with these other subjects he was equally successful. His lecture this evening is not a temperance one, although that subject, or something pertaining to it, may be incidentally introduced, but it is a lecture which has been delivered before very large audiences and always with warm tokens of approval. "The old man eloquent," is the name Mr. Gough has been given in his advanced years. His eloquence is undiminished, and his ripened intellect is more able to instruct. The opportunity given of hearing him this evening should not be neglected.

Didn't Finish It.

When the ice was all chopped out of the skating rink and thrown in heaps along side in the curling rinks, Mr. Ed. Brown began to meditate as to the best way of removing it from the building. One day, not long ago, he was talking about the matter when an aspiring contractor who turned out to be very amateur in the business, said:—"Ed, I'll throw this ice all out for nine dollars." "Oh, no," said Mr. Brown, with an inward chuckle, well knowing that the job was worth $25 at least. "I'll give you eight." At this the contractor considered. He looked over the pile of ice that lined each side, and came to the conclusion that with the help of four men he could finish the job in one day. These men he could hire for $1.25 each, thus leaving himself four dollars for his day's work. "No," said he, "I'll do it for nine." This price, as a matter of course, was readily agreed to, and the next morning, bright and early, saw axes, picks and shovels being wielded vigorously by these five brave men. The ice fairly flew. But though they worked with a surprising degree of enthusiasm, at night fall there was only one side cleared. The next day they started again but the contractor was rather depleted. Well on towards evening about half the ice only was removed. Fairly fagged out and utterly disgusted with the job the enterprising contractor told Mr. Brown he would have no more to do with the ice business from that hour and that he might keep the money, which he forfeited in default of carrying out his contract. He did not fail so badly as he thought, for he was handed $10, enough to pay the men for their two days' work. As he left the rink he said, "May I never get into such a scrape as long as I live."

For beautiful designs in Lace Curtains and Lambrequins, all New Goods, go to Turnbull's.

Daily Evening Review

TUESDAY, MAY 19, 1885.

OUR PETERBOROUGH HERO.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—In this Northwest trouble I fortunately happened that not many families in our county have been called upon to mourn for one of their number who will return no more. But one valuable life has been lost, one brave Peterborough boy has fallen in the discharge of duty, and has, in his fall, brought honour upon his birthplace, and on the volunteer force of this district. The name of Captain Edward T.
Brown will, I am sure, be long remembered as that of a young hero who died nobly on the field of honor. His first service was as a member of Number One Company of the 37th Battalion, under Colonel—then Captain—H. C.
Rogers. And although he was at the time of his death a Captain in another force—Bullton's company—yet we may proudly claim him as a Peterborough boy. His family are still in our midst, and it must be a terrible blow to them that they cannot even see his grave.

To commemorate his glorious death and to keep in our midst some memorial of his courageous discharge of duty, as a lesson to all young men of what a young Canadian can do for his country, I think it very desirable that the town and county should unite in erecting in some public place a handsome monument to his memory, and at the same time, out of the fund which can be raised for the purpose, I would suggest that, if it can be done and if his friends desire, his honored remains be brought home and re-interred here. As this step, if carried out at all, must be taken promptly, it would be well to call a public meeting, say for tomorrow afternoon, to appoint a committee, who would take charge of the matter. Several handsome subscriptions are already promised.
Let us act promptly.

Yours, &c.,

VOLUNTEER.

Tuesday, May 19, 1885.

[With reference to the above, we are requested to state that a public meeting of all who take an interest in the matter will be held on Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock sharp at the Council Chamber.—ED. REVIEW.]

Wholesale Poisoning.

The horrible case of wholesale poisoning at Leyden came before the criminal court of the Hague on April 23. The prisoner is a woman of 46, named Van de Linden. She is married and has several children. Since 1860 she has attempted to poison no less than 102 persons, and she tried to poison everybody who came in her way. It is proved that she killed 27 of her victims, and that 45 others became dangerously ill. Six times she endeavored to poison one of her sisters-in-law. The prisoner, however, is indicted for poisoning three persons only. The public prosecutor maintains that the motive of the criminal was the obtaining money which insurance societies would have to pay in case of illness, or death. Van de Linden made her intended victims members of these societies, sometimes with their knowledge, and in such cases paying their contributions. It is certain, however, the woman poisoned several people whose illness or death could be of no pecuniary benefit to her. The prisoner has been carefully examined by three eminent medical men, who certify her sanity.

The events on which the trial is based took place in 1861 and 1863, and during this time she tried to kill twenty persons. The poison which she used was arsenic, which she mixed with the food or drink of her victims, and the drug was found in the bodies of some of them.
There are in all about fifty-four witnesses who have been or will be examined. The prisoner is a pale and ugly woman, with no expression of intelligence. She is defended by M. Vallant, a young lawyer of great ability. At the close of the evidence to-day the prisoner, who at first strenuously denied the crime with which she was charged, confessed the facts which form the subject of the prosecution, but she denied that she had any pecuniary motive, and it is thought that she may have committed these atrocious crimes when intoxicated.

At the opening of the poisoning trial on April 24th, the prisoner faints, and the court had to be adjourned for an hour. On her examination being resumed she confessed to two of the murders, but alleged she did not intend to kill the people. The public prosecutor then addressed the court, and asked the president to pronounce a sentence of imprisonment for life.
M. Vallant, the prisoner's advocate, in reply, contended that the case had not been legally proved, but admitted that the prisoner was a monster, suffering from moral insanity. Sentence was deferred.—London Standard.

THE LANSDOWNE RINK.

THE OPENING OF THE NEW ROLLER RINK A SUCCESS.

A Large Number of the Lovers of the Spectator Art Present—A Fancy Skating Exhibition by the Champion of the World.

The formal opening of the Lansdowne Roller Rink took place on Monday evening. As was anticipated, a large number of both spectators and skaters were present. All entered heartily into the merry and exhilarating sport, from the small little boy of ten years up to the tall and muscular six footer. The rink was illuminated with electric light, and as the merry-makers followed each other around the very large floor, the scene presented was a pretty one. As the evening wore on, the numbers of both spectators and skaters was considerably augmented, so that before nine o'clock the rink was well filled.

At nine o'clock the bell rang for the floor to be cleared, and all eyes were turned in the direction of the gentlemen's dressing room in eager expectancy, to get a look at Prof. Atkins, the champion roller skater of the world, who was to give an exhibition of roller skating. His appearance on the floor was the signal for a burst of applause, which was repeated time again during the progress of his half hour's exhibition. To say that he astonished the onlookers with his marvellous and dexterous evolutions would be simply putting it in a mild form. Many who have become devotees of this art since roller skating was introduced in Peterborough no doubt felt like taking their skates off and giving the thing up as a bad job. Prof. Atkins, who is a mute, has doubtless had years of practice, and no doubt when he first attempted roller skating found it just as difficult a task to accomplish as many who, since Monday evening, are bemoaning their fate as being among those who are classed as "green" skaters. During the performance of the professor, he went through a large number of intricate movements, among others being single and double grapevine, and the diamond grapevine, jumping over three chairs, etc., and as each feat was finished his admirers burst out in rounds of applause.

Mr. Brown, the energetic manager of the rink, has made arrangements with Prof. Atkins to present again this evening, when he will give another exhibition of his truly wonderful power on wheels. Those who were not in attendance on Monday evening should not fail to see him.

As previously announced, Mr. Hurst, of Toronto, champion bicyclist of Canada, was to be present and, in anticipation of this fact, there were a goodly number of the "fans" of the "cycle" in attendance, but, unfortunately for them, they were doomed to disappointment. Through some misunderstanding regarding the date, Mr. Hurst was unavoidably prevented from being present. Mr. Brown, however, is determined that he will come to Peterborough, and with this end in view, is now negotiating with him, so it is more than probable the citizens shall have an opportunity before long of witnessing an exhibition of bicycling, such as is rarely seen.

During the evening a careful and obliging attendant in the person of Mr. Chas. Stapleton, Jr., was kept busy in the skateroom giving out rollers to all those who applied for them, and gave entire satisfaction to everyone.

A very pretty sight was the grand march, after Prof. Atkins' exhibition. All the skaters formed up the centre of the rink, and took their positions with the ladies facing their partners. The City Band, who furnished music during the evening, then started up a grand march and led by Prof. Atkins, Mr. Kerr, and two young ladies, the whole number went through a series of movements that were indeed excellently done, considering that scarcely any of those who participated had ever attempted anything of the kind before.

The floor is pronounced by those who have tried it to be perfect, and those who have a space hour during the summer months, would be sending it to advantage from a physical standpoint, if they took an occasional "spin" in the roller rink. Mr. Brown is to be congratulated on the fine appearance his rink presents, and we trust his venture will meet with success.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT

THE THIRD SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT OF CANADA.

Petitions at Fifteen Cents a Hundred Names—The Franchise Bill—Inventive Obstructionists—The Member for Whaler Abusive—Prince Edward Island Sound.

FRIDAY, May 15.—A batch of the petitions to order against the Franchise Bill were presented amidst audible remarks of "Fifteen cents a hundred words."

Mr. CHARLTON objected to derivative remarks on the price of the signatures.

THE FRANCHISE BILL.

The House went into committee on the Franchise Bill.

Mr. McMillan spoke in furtherance of the policy of obstruction. He read from the Globe, abused the Conservative party and the reviving barometer, talked of the "Double shuffle," and said that the bill would injure the Conservatives.

Mr. LUTZ said the Reformers were not obstructionists, but that obstruction was justifiable and then proceeded to obstruct. He read largely from the Week, what he assumed to be from the pen of Mr. Goldwin Smith, whom he asserted to be a political friend of Sir John Macdonald.

Sir J. MACDONALD repudiated the asserted political friendship of Mr. Smith.

Mr. CHARLTON made an appeal to Provincial feeling, and then abused the Province of British Columbia. He discussed the liquor question, ecclesiastical, the Streams Bill, the Boundary Award, the Mowat conspiracy, the franchise system in Great Britain, the closure in the British House of Commons, the constitution of the United States, and Australian federation. Dwelling at great length on the last subject he was called to order by the Chairman for his irrelevancy. After grumbling at this he gave some of his personal and family history, and concluded with a panegyric on the United States.

Mr. McMillan made an exposure of Mr. Charlton's want of loyalty. He showed the propriety of the Dominion Parliament regulating the Dominion franchise. The petition from his constituency, Monks, was signed by only one Conservative, and was worked up by its promoter, Mr. Edgar, because he had been defeated in that constituency.

Mr. EDGAR discussed the pretended gerrymandering, the Wabash Canal, the policy of the volunteers, the loyalty or disloyalty of the two parties, and temperance. He wound up this contribution to a debate on the Franchise Bill by some disgraceful and gross abuse of Prof. Foster.

Mr. BEATTY spoke in favour of the House regarding Canada at a Dominion, and not looking to the separate Provinces as such. He exposed some of the exaggerations of the obstructionists.

Mr. AUSTIN supported the sectional view. He attacked the proposed Revising Barriers, assuming that they must be bad men. He offered to withdraw his opposition if there were what he called a fair assessment and revision, and votes were refused to unfranchised Indians, but he supported the amendment to adopt Mr. Mowat's Act giving votes to unfranchised Indians.

Mr. MURDOCK attacked the prospective revising barriers, and read copious extracts from Reform papers.

Mr. HURRY supported the Bill.

The Committee rose, and the House adjourned at 2 a.m.

MORE OBSTRUCTION.

SATURDAY, May 16.—Mr. Blake and other Reform members presented more of the purchased petitions. A new device to obstruct the progress of public business, they made speeches on the petitions, read them, or requested that the clerk read them, even when they were in identical terms, issuing indeed from the same manufactory.

TALKING AGAINST TIME.

The House went into Committee on the Franchise Bill.

Mr. CAMERON (Middlesex) spoke against time for some hours, while the members got up a cricket match.

Mr. WILSON also spoke against time for some hours. He said some Prince Edward Island voters would be disfranchised.

Mr. MACDONALD (King), said as Prince Edward was referred to, he might say that he had just learned by telegraph that the Conservative had been elected by a majority of over a hundred and fifty to the Legislative Council where thirty months ago the Reform candidate had been elected by 25.

Mr. LAZARUS spoke in French against the bill, expounding his fear that an extension of the franchise might be forced upon Quebec.

Mr. TROW repeated his speech against the bill.

Mr. MILLS repeated his speech against the bill. He strongly objected to the extension of the franchise to the fishermen of the Maritime Provinces.

The Committee rose and the House adjourned at midnight.

A Feathered Hangman.

Frederick Nicholls writes to the Toronto World as follows:—Having been a witness to the very unusual occurrence of a sparrow being executed by its comrades, and knowing that the possibility of such an act is looked upon with a great deal of scepticism by many, I send you the particulars.

Immediately opposite my office window, in the grounds on which St. James' Cathedral stands, are several horse chestnut trees which are frequented by great numbers of English sparrows. On the occasion about which I write my attention was attracted by an unusual commotion amongst a number of these pugnacious little foreigners, and noticing that something more than a rough and tumble interchange of the social amenities of sparrowdom was in progress, had sufficient curiosity to watch their movements.

It shortly became evident that one bird only was the subject of attack, and to my astonishment I saw that two of the assailants were endeavoring to strangle the unfortunate victim with a piece of thread or twine. In less time than it takes to describe they were successful in noosing it around the doomed bird's head in such a manner that for assistance and dispatch would give point to the ordinary hangman. Next, by flying around the branch of the tree several times they had him suspended in mid air, and with a sagacity that almost amounted to reason, two of the victorious criminals, with chirps of triumph, flew on top of the dying bird in order by their combined weight to expedite the process of strangulation.

The dead sparrow can be seen suspended by a thread from one of the topmost boughs of the tree in the corner of the fence which is bounded by Church and Adelaide streets.

"PECULIAR PEOPLE."

Mr. John B. Gough Addresses a Large Audience in the George Street Church.

According to announcement, John B. Gough, the celebrated orator, delivered a lecture in the George Street Methodist Church on Monday evening entitled "Peculiar People." He was briefly introduced to the large audience by the Rev. I. Tovell.

Mr. Gough, in rising, was received with warm applause. During his prefatory remarks he said he had taken the temperance pledge forty-two years ago and since that time had delivered eighty-five hundred addresses to the people.

In earth, air and water there were all sorts of animal life, from the birds and rare insects that soared through the air, to the slimy reptile that stung the stagnant pool, and the strange forms that inhabited the earth. The hearts of men were of as many sorts and kinds. The face was a universal form, but the individual face served as a general outline to the inward character. There were not two alike, and therefore he did not propose to classify with discrimination. Even if he did, how should he do it? A term to one might mean quite differently to another. For instance the term "the public generally," meant, when extended as an invitation from the mouth of a pastor, quite different from that printed on a bill announcing a slugging match to take place at a certain time and place. He spoke of the different ideas people had of the real meaning of the words "lady" and "gentleman." In a Police Court one of the female litigants in an assault case would begin her evidence "with me and another lady." The true gentleman and lady were noble, truthful, chivalric, pure in speech and in life. High birth did not necessarily confer it on us, and the man of wealth might be the meanest of human kind, while the toiler battling for life might possess all the elements of a true gentleman.

The first peculiar people that he dealt with were those who had a peculiar faculty of making everybody happy with whom they came in contact, as distinguished from those who had an appetite for making everybody uneasy and unhappy. This latter class would be left to wonder, and he did not pity their lot, when they became old and infirm, why they were deserted and left to themselves. It was because they were like a vinegar crust—cold outside and sour inside.

The inveterate grumbler was next dealt with. Those who inveighed against the dreadful world, the wretched world, and the selfish world, that at once he set down as those who thought that the world was made for their own special benefit. A peculiarity of this class of people was that if they did not receive advancement, or accomplish their object in any undertaking, they blamed their enemies for it. Talking of people as enemies, or showing distrust of them, makes them enemies. A man that was true to himself and loyal to God need fear no enemy.

He now spoke to the young men, and urged them above all things to write a clear record for themselves. There was a tendency among some young men to do as they pleased. What was done in youth and manhood could never be erased. Not one item of our records could be blotted out. He was 67 years old; 60 years he had lived, and the other seven he was a dead man, through his allowing himself to be carried away in the greatest dissipation. His right hand would be given this moment if he could blot the actions of those seven years from his record and memory.

The class of people he next touched on were "factious," who were ever indulging in lines of conversation at the most inopportune times; without knowing it they made everyone feel uncomfortable with whom they came in contact. He then passed on to that class called slow obtuse people. These people could never see a joke, and if a person said, "Smith, I couldn't make you understand and appreciate a joke if I were to drive it into you with a double hammer." Smith would say, "Do any people ever drive jokes into other people with double hammers?" He illustrated this heading with particularly happy anecdotes.

Chronic jokes received their just dues next. This class would sacrifice anything for a joke; even a dear friend. He advised the people never to sacrifice a friend for a joke, unless the joke was worth more than the friend.

He had never attempted to joke at the expense of religion. He merely wished, by ridicule, to lop the excrescences that marred the symmetry of the sacred thing.

The excessive sanctimonious cant of a certain people were described to a nicety as was also the feelings of the persons to which this class of people direct their conversation. There was no greater bore on earth than a person who indulged in cant.

After dealing with the unforgiving, who never fought a battle in their lives and were ever ready to start up and condemn a man for any little slip, the lecturer discussed the character of a hero. People had had various ideas of heroes. The greatest hero that ever lived on earth was He who died on the cross to save sinners. Self sacrifice was an absolutely essential quality of true heroism, and the nearer men followed out the teachings of Him, the nearer they would approach the standard of true heroism.

Mr. Gough used particularly happy illustrations to render clearer his forcible arguments; he drives home pointed truths in a manner that is inimitable; while he possesses in a marked degree that peculiar of all peculiar qualities, that of riveting the attention of the audience on himself from the time he rises till he sits down.

The Rev. I. Tovell was on the platform and said a few words in introducing the orator, and after the lecture was finished.

BABY FARMING.

Arrest of a Female in Chicago—Seven Starving Babies Found in Bed.

CHICAGO, May 16.—An Officer Van Pelt was on his way to the police station yesterday he was hailed by a Mrs. M. P. Hunting, of 499 South Wood street, who was carrying a dying child in her arms. Handing it to the officer, she said she found it on the door step. The officer took the infant to the station house and related how he came by it. Capt. O'Donnell sent an officer to the woman's house, where he found seven other babies, in two beds, each with an empty nursing bottle by its side. They were almost starved and nearly dead. Mrs. Hunting was arrested. Upon looking over a register it was learned that Mrs. Hunting had received 47 babies to care since last July, besides twelve that she had claimed were left on her door step, and which were sent to the Foundlings home by the police. It is supposed that whenever a baby was taken sick she gave it to an officer on the beat in that locality, claiming it was left on her door step. The woman says Dr. Shipman has sent her infants whenever the home was too crowded to take them in.

"I Feel so Well."

"I want to thank you for telling me of Dr. Pierce's 'Favorite Prescription,' writes a lady to her friend. 'For a long time I was unfit to attend to the work of my household. I kept about, but I felt thoroughly miserable. I had terrible backaches, and bearing-down sensations across me, and was quite weak and discouraged. I sent and got some of the medicine after receiving your letter, and it has cured me. I hardly know myself. I feel so well.'"

Daily Evening Review

TUESDAY, MAY 19, 1886.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Corrections.
The charge for depositing nuisance on a public street was against William Craft, not William C. Craft, as reported.

Railway Management.
With regard to the changes in railway management recently outlined in the Toronto World, Mr. A. White informs us that they are, in the main, correct. No action has yet been taken, however, in his removal from this place to take similar charge in Toronto, and none will probably be taken for some time yet.

The Relief Fund.
A further number of contributions to the volunteer relief fund have been received by Miss M. Cox. They are: Captain Howard, of Hastings, $10.00; Mrs. T. Bradburn, $5.00; Albert Hall, $1.00; A. Lakeside friend, $1.00; Mrs. T. Brown, 50 cents; Miss Reid, $1.00; W. Pierce, $1.00; W. McDonald, $1.00.

Around Again.
The boy James Baker, who accidentally shot himself in the leg with a revolver some time ago, is so far recovered as to be around again. The bullet lodged in the knee joint, from which it was found to be impossible to remove it. He is able to walk now, and with the exception of the knee being slightly stiff, he does not appear to have suffered seriously.

In the New Grounds.
The members of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club went down to the new grounds last evening for the initiative practice of the season. About fifteen players went down per the "Tienery" bus line and had a very good practice. The new grounds were scarcely in condition, so the boys adjourned to the field alongside. The grounds are being rolled to-day, and will be ready for active occupation in a few days.

For the English Market.
Four car loads of fine stall fed cattle left the Grand Trunk station this afternoon for the English market. They were purchased by Messrs. Eakins Bros., of Port Hope, from Mr. Joseph Redmond, of Otonabee, and several others, who have been engaged during the past winter in preparing them for shipment. The heaviest animal weighed 1,850 pounds, and the lightest, 1,300. The average weight is about 1,300 pounds. The price paid is five cents per pound, live weight. One car load will be taken on at Hastings, and the total number of animals will be about seventy, costing the sum of nearly five thousand dollars.

Last Night's Lecture.
The lecture delivered in the George Street Methodist Church on Monday evening was in every way successful. The Ladies' Aid Society of the church, under whose auspices the lecture was given, although paying the lecturer $200 and his expenses, yet netted a handsome amount, which is to be applied to the organ fund. Not only are the people of Peterborough indebted to the Ladies' Aid Society for having brought here such an intellectual treat, but the large number who were present from Millbrook, Newwood, Boboyagon, and other places, will, we have no doubt, feel equally in debt. During his stay here Mr. Gough was quartered at the Oriental Hotel.

Personal.
Mr. W. H. Chamberlain left on Monday evening for a two months' trip to England. During his absence his business will be looked after by the well-known and popular former landlord of the City Hotel, Mr. James Dolan.

We are pleased to learn that Mr. James Mendies, a graduate of the REVIEW office, who went to Ottawa to take the position of foreman in the Free Press news room, is getting along well in his new position. Last week, the capital being excited over the Northwest news, 21 editions, besides extras, were sent out from the office, which will give the boy some idea of the amount of work that passes through his hands in one week. We wish our young friend continued success.

Mr. F. C. Hyde, a piano tuner who has come well recommended, is now in town. Orders may be left at the Bell organ office.

The Probabilities.
The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Mostly northerly winds; generally fair, cooler weather, preceded by a few light local showers.

British Business.
Everything is booming at Hall's Wholesale Biscuit and Confectionery Works. The men are working full time and the works are turning out goods to their full capacity. Orders are coming in in such a free manner that indicates a bright and prosperous season. Mr. Hall, the proprietor, is justly entitled to the prosperity he enjoys, for he has long laboured to place his factory on such a footing as to be able to turn out goods which would compare favorably with the products of the best factories in the Dominion. He has succeeded, and the goods turned out from his factory are now acknowledged to be equal to any manufactured in Canada.

Cotton Seamless Knitted Hose all sizes.

J. ESKINE.

The Rifle Range.
Recent events having shown the necessity of our volunteers being able to handle their rifles efficiently, a special effort is being made this year to encourage rifle practice amongst the volunteer recruits who have recently been enrolled. For that purpose special prizes of ammunition are set apart for them at the monthly matches of the Rifle Association. It is expected that a large squad will turn out at the opening of the range on Thursday, the 21st. This part of the volunteers' training is more important than any other, and as it can only be practised during the day time, we strongly urge all employers to stretch a point, if necessary, in order to let the young men in their service have the requisite hour or two on Thursday afternoon to attend the rifle practice.

Seeds from Japan.
In consequence of seeing a paragraph in the REVIEW last February as to Mr. Saunders, of London, Ontario, sending some small fruits to the Government experimental gardens in Japan, Mr. Wm. Hamilton, Sherbrooke street, asked Mr. Saunders if he could put him in the way of getting seeds and bulbs from Japan. In reply Mr. Saunders sent Mr. Hamilton some of these seeds. These seeds have been planted by Mr. Hamilton, and if they succeed, as we hope they will, the plants will be of much interest. Among them are some Japanese tea berries, and Mr. Hamilton may, perhaps, have a tea plantation to compete with the imported article.

An Unfortunate Mistake.
A few days ago it was announced in our columns, under the head of Keene news, that a letter had been received from Private Wedlock, who is with the Midland Battalion, stating that Mr. Harry Brenton, a Keene boy, and who resided for some time in Peterborough, had met with a sad death during a fire in Brandon. Remembering that about the time referred to an hotel had been burned in Brandon, friends of the young man wrote to the proprietor, who promptly replied and furnished the gratifying information that Private Wedlock's informant had been misled by a similarity of names—that the unfortunate young man who perished in the flames was Wm. Brynton, and that Harry Brenton had, like many who had gone to the west, adopted farming, and was still living on a farm near Brandon. This will be welcome news to his friends.

For a complete assortment of Boots, Shoes and Slippers, see FOOT & McWHIRNIE. Good value in all lines.

The Sturgeon Point Canoe Trip.
A letter just received from the secretary of the Lindsay Canoe Club states that the greatest interest is taken by the members of that club in the coming "meet" at Sturgeon Point on the Queen's Birthday. He advises that canoes and traps be sent ahead, not later than by the 10.25 mixed train on Saturday morning. The Lindsay men will then have the car run down to the water's edge and have everything ready for a start. The Peterborough contingent will leave by the 5.15 train, and the two clubs will together paddle down to the Point by moonlight. They will camp there until Monday night or Tuesday morning, returning in time for business on Tuesday. On Monday a number of friendly races will take place. The hotel will be open for the benefit of those who are too tender to camp out. The meeting of the P.B.C. which was postponed from last evening on account of the Gough lecture, will be held on Wednesday evening, when all canoeists are particularly urged to be present.

Progressive Peterborough.

The above caption is becoming more and more useful every day to newspaper men in Peterborough, as there is generally an item of some nature that would look well under no other heading. As the town is growing constantly, and in many respects becoming self-sufficient, so to speak, we are from time to time called upon to note and comment on many of the business places in it. That all lines of trade are brisk at the present time is an indication that Peterborough is wholly deserving of the reputation she has gained throughout the Province of being one of the leading towns in Canada. Our merchants have doubtless done much to bring about this state of things, and, as a natural consequence, are enjoying the fruits of their labors. The tailoring and gent's furnishing store of A. McNeil, Habillment Hall, is just now on the "go" as hard as nailers. Orders for summer clothing are coming in like hot cakes, and the store is thronged daily with young men and old buying gent's furnishings for the summer. Those who are in need of a really fashionable suit of clothes, made up in Mac's superlative style, will do well to pay a visit to his hand some store, Habillment Hall.

LADIES' and children's Fine Boots in great variety at the Bon Marche at about half price.

Council of War.
All day to-day the delegates from the several divisions of the Save! Army of Canada have been engaged in a Council of War in the barracks, Water street. Demonstrations will be made in the Opera House on Wednesday and Thursday. The Hon. Sidney Smith, of Cobourg, will address the meetings.

The Lease Signed.
On Monday afternoon the final arrangements were made for the transfer of management of the Court House Park from the County Council to the Horticultural Society. A lease of the Park was given to the Society for twenty years at a rental of twenty-five cents per year. The Horticultural Society reserve the right to terminate the lease at the end of five years by giving six months' notice.

Appropriate for Ladies.
Ladies will find a wider range of Mantle and Dress Materials than ever at Fair, VanEvery and Co's this season. All new, handsome, bright and guaranteed value. Besides, every confidence may be reposed in the ability of Miss Johnston, the lady who has charge of the Dress and Mantle Making Department, to satisfy her customers in their most particular demands.

Poundmaker's Capture Reported.
A report was current in town this afternoon that Chief Poundmaker, of the Cree Indians, had been captured. The foundation of the rumour was a report to that effect which came from St. Paul, Minnesota, and although efforts have been made to have it confirmed (or otherwise) from Battleford, no definite news has been received. In the meantime the report may be taken cum grano solis.

At the Park.
Stock in horse flesh is rapidly rising. Each morning and afternoon the owners may be seen giving their racers and pacers trial spins down at the race course, and everything points in the direction of there being very close contests in the coming horse races which will be held in the Driving Park on the 25th. A number of outside "flyers" have been entered for some of the events, and now that the track is in first-class condition a good day may be expected.

How is This?
A day or two ago Messrs. Porter Brothers received a larger order for their buggy tops all the way from Nova Scotia. People of the outside world are just beginning to find out that the first class articles are to be obtained at reasonable prices. Manufactured articles from Peterborough are now finding their way into every part of Canada, and the products of our various factories go a considerable way to supply the Canadian markets. But it's no wonder that Messrs. Porter Bros. are meeting with such success. Their buggy tops, combining strength, utility and beauty, are themselves an excellent advertisement for the factory, and where one goes others are sure to follow.

In a Dilemma.
Some time between Saturday night and Monday morning one of the lights of plate glass in the front of Mr. W. J. Green's clothing store was cracked across from one side to the other. A small mark in the centre of the crack indicates that the glass must have been struck, but no one knows who committed the act, or when it was done. But that isn't where the dilemma comes in. Mr. Green had the glass insured with a certain insurance company, and some time ago the risk was transferred to another company, this one becoming responsible immediately on the expiration of the other policy. The policy ran out at noon on Sunday and now the question is, which company is liable? Both are willing to do what is fair, but as it cannot be ascertained when the injury was done the agents of either company are at a loss what to do. Mr. Green can't understand how the thing stands. The glass was insured in two companies on Sunday and yet he can't get the insurance money.

Somewhat Mixed.
Here is a good story about Sir Edward Thornton for which he can vouch. At a Washington reception a young gentleman said to a rather imposing looking man: "Good evening, glad to see you—we have not met since we parted in Mexico." The veteran thus spoken to coldly replied, "I fear you have the advantage of me." "Why, surely," exclaimed the mortified young fellow, "you don't seem to remember me." "To tell the truth, I have never been to Mexico." "Are you not Sir Edward Thornton?" "No, I am Judge Poland, of Vermont." A few nights after this rebuff the young man happened to be at another party, and seeing the judge made up to him. After a little desultory conversation he ventured to say, "That was a awful blunder of mine the other evening to take you for old Thornton." "And how do you take me for now, may I ask?" "Why, you told me you were Judge Poland, of Vermont." The reply was crushing: "On the contrary, sir, my name is Thornton!"—Pall Mall Gazette.

PHOTOGRAPHERS.

Successors to James Little.

Having purchased the Photograph business of Mr. James Little, we would respectfully solicit a continuance of the patronage of the people of Peterborough for this well established gallery. Our best efforts will be exerted in producing first-class work in PHOTOGRAPHING, PICTURE FRAMING, and every branch of the business.

CARD FROM MR. LITTLE.

I take great pleasure in thanking the public of Peterborough for their liberal patronage to me during the past ten years, and would ask for my successors, Messrs. Hamill & Ball, a continuance of these favors, as I know them to be gentlemen whom I can heartily recommend.

JAMES LITTLE.

RAPID PROGRESS.

THE fact that the C. P. R. is now open north of Lake Superior, affording a continuous available track from Montreal through the Rocky Mountains to the Columbia River, is certainly a subject for congratulation. Recent events have shown most plainly the great advantage of such a route through our own territory, and many who were opposed to the immediate construction of the section in Northwestern Ontario have been converted from their former opinions by the stern logic of facts. Its value to the country cannot indeed be denied by anyone who values a reputation for common sense or an unprejudiced mind.

Nor is this all. In British Columbia the work has been pushed forward from both ends as vigorously that a few more months will witness its completion, and the year 1885 will see our Atlantic and Pacific ports connected by a great through Canadian route. Such a gigantic feat is a triumph for Canada, for the Administration that made arrangements for its accomplishment, and for the Company that has so energetically prosecuted these vast operations.

The successful accomplishment of the work in so short a time completely contradicts the assertions of the Reformers and other opponents of the road, that the original agreement to construct the line in ten years was one that it would be impossible to carry out, even if the period were greatly extended. The Company and the Administration that have secured such results in less than five years could hardly have failed to accomplish all that was effected before their time in another five years. They would not have dawdled over the work as the Mackenzie-Blake Administration did. And what the present Company would have accomplished, we have every reason to suppose that the original Company would have effected, with Sir Hugh Allan and other energetic business men on the Board and among the shareholders, and with an Administration under the leadership of Sir John Macdonald encouraging their efforts. It must also be remembered that at the time the agreement was made to complete the line in ten years there was no reason to anticipate that the Reform press and Reform politicians would have been so unopposed to unite with business rivals in obstructing to the best of their ability the operations, and especially the financing, of the Company having in hand so great a Canadian undertaking. This opposition has caused an increase of the expenditure of both time and money. But fortunately the enterprise has been successful in spite of these unprecedented obstacles.

The Globe and Mail are disputing about the authorship of a letter from the Northwest, and the Globe says the Mail's correspondent "G. H. H." was not in the Northwest when the steamer passed Batchoe's. We have no desire to interfere in the controversy, further than to say that a telegram from Mr. George H. Han, the Mail's correspondent, to his wife, published in the Whitby Chronicle, was dated from the steamer Northcoast, and referred to the hot time experienced on the boat.

The leader of the Reform party pretended to be so anxious to have Riel in custody that he offered a reward to be offered for his apprehension. When the Reformers were in power Riel went to Ottawa, entered the Parliament building with a Reform member, signed his name, and was allowed to go away unmolested. Sir John Macdonald expressed a wish to catch Riel. Sir John is in office and Riel is a prisoner. Sir John meant what he said; Mr. Blake did not.

The Hardest Motives.
As the Army advances on Riel, says the Spectator, we begin to find out a thing or two about who is responsible for this rebellion. A correspondent of the Winnipeg Sun, G. H. Independent, writes the following from Middleton camp at Fish Creek:—

The causes which led to the outbreak are of course pretty well known, but they appear to be entirely too insignificant to account for the desperate defence these people are making, and some factor of which we are ignorant must be stirring them up to cause them to adopt such desperate measures. I have heard, and from a very good authority too, that the agitation respecting half-breed wrongs was fomented by some very prominent whites, who were actuated by the basest motives in so doing, and who, when the affair was on the point of boiling over, quietly dropped out, and saying, "We added the agitation, and favored it so long as it kept within reasonable bounds, but when those misguided people adopted unconstitutional means, we washed our hands of it." And these same whites sit, respect their blood money and smiling to themselves to think how they have brought money into a bankrupt district and given it a free advertisement over the whole world, whilst their victims are blindly battling against the powers that be, with the consoling reflection in their moments of sanity, that ultimately they must be beaten to the dust and lose the land and possessions for which they are now shedding their blood.

Drowned in a Millpond.
LONGFORD MILLS, May 18.—A lad named James Miller, about fifteen years old, while feeding pigs at the large mill of the Longford Mill Company, accidentally slipped off a log into about two feet of water and was drowned. His body was quickly recovered by the workmen, but life was extinct. His parents reside near Campbellford.

Mr. JOHN BRYANT approves of the grant to Princess Beatrice and wonders that Liberals should offer any objections to it, while renouncing silent acquiescence in the extravagance of the Government in unjust wars.

THE MIDLAND BATTALION.

The Midland Battalion the Northwest West With in the Saskatchewan.

The following extracts are taken from a letter written by Private Wm. Pratt, of the Lindsey company, to his brother in Peterborough:

FRIDAY, May 6, 1885.

DEAR BROTHER TOM,—Two days' travelling from Winnipeg took us to Swift Current and remained there a week. The 25th Battalion and a company of eighty men were accompanied there with us. Our Battalion was divided into eight companies, A, B, C, D, E, F, G, and H. After remaining a week at Swift Current we were ordered to the Northwest. A, B, C, D, and E were ordered to Clarke's Crossing, and G, H, and I were left at Swift Current. I was among the companies ordered to Clarke's Crossing. We left Swift Current in the morning at about 9 o'clock, and marched to the Saskatchewan, a distance of 24 miles, in twelve hours. The steamer Northcoast was waiting for us at the Landing. There were two barges attached to the steamer, and when we started next morning she had on board, including twenty boat hands, about 200 men and 160 tons of ammunition and supplies. We arrived at Clarke's Crossing after a voyage of thirty days. We had a good deal of pulling to do to get the steamer over the sand bars, of which the river is full. In our case we had to unload the flat boat, put the stuff ashore and then unload the vessel to get her off the bar. We had to cut a narrow channel along the banks, and I think our voyage was pretty much the same as the Nile expedition, on a smaller scale. When we reached Clarke's Crossing the Colonel received orders from General Middleton to leave two Companies and a week's provisions there and to push on with the rest. He selected A and C Companies to accompany him and B to D to remain behind. The two Companies disembarked. We gave them three cheers and started for the General's camp, twenty miles down the river, and arrived here yesterday. The expedition was a venture in some respects, as the Northcoast is the first steamer that has travelled over this part of the river, and has heavy load added to the difficulty. Gen. Middleton's camp is a quarter of a mile from the shore, and our two companies marched in, headed by the 10th Royal's band, pitched our tents, and then began to investigate the camp. They are making a gun boat of the Northcoast and intend to take her down the river along the line of march. We expect marching orders at any time. Eleven boys sleep in one tent. Joe Kaele and I bunk together. Jack Lee (you will remember him) is in our tent too. You will know more than I do about what happens outside our camp. I guess that is all this time, as I have to get blankets folded and stuff ready for all night picket, for our company is on to-night. Give my love to all. Do not know when we will start for home.

Your affectionate brother,

WILL.

ON THE NORTHCOAST.

Excitements Caused by Scouts—An Adventure of Dr. Douglas.

In a letter to the Mail, giving a detailed and interesting description of the voyage of the Northcoast from Saskatchewan Landing, Capt. W. M. Kirwan writes:—

Suddenly I hear the clatter of many voices and the glee club stops its chanting. Officers rush from the saloon, and I know something unusual has happened. Field glasses are out, for there is something moving on the horizon. Friends or foes we cannot tell at this great distance, and the bugle sounds the assembly. Then there is the rush of many feet, and the men fall in at their appointed posts on the barges. The company officers go down too, and the click of the rifles is heard as the men examine the spring, and move the breech blocks forward and back. Then the rifles are placed horizontally on the breastworks, and the men stand behind them. The deck hands move about uneasily, and the captain of the steamer, up in the pilot-house, wears an anxious expression on his well-tanned face. Some of the officers have gone to their staterooms and return with their revolvers buckled on, or with Winchester slugs over their shoulders. There is no flurry and everything is business-like and easy. Col. Van Straubenzon is still looking through his field glass, and the moving figures in the distance come nearer and fringe the horizon like a mirage. Captain Howard has loaded his Gatling, and his gunners are at their posts. The surgeons have unpacked their instruments of torture, and sawed knives and bottles with strange labels are placed on the tables of the saloon. Officers' baggage has been piled in one part of the cabin, where the hospital is to be, if required.

The moving figures on the plains converge to their centre, and they look as if closing for consultation. They now dot the horizon like moving balls of ebony on a brownish-smeared lawn, and Col. Van Straubenzon is still looking at them through his field-glass, while around the steamer and down in the barges officers and men are standing ready for emergency. Then I notice Col. Van Straubenzon suddenly drop his glass, and I hear him say "Scouts," when we laugh, for we know that the horsemen who are approaching are friends and not enemies. As they come closer we see the side-arms of the men and their long boots, bandoliers, full of rifle revolver cartridges, and their sleek ponies all looking comely in gear. Captain Denis is in command, and he uses to find out what is doing as our way. From him we heard of the fight at Batchoe's Crossing, and we were told that if attacked as all we would, probably catch it at the Moose woods, a few miles south of our destination. And then we should hurry on. The men at the front were short of ammunition, the wounded wanted medical comforts, the horses forage, and we could supply them from the barges beside us. It was a weary journey. There was no break to the monotony of the scenery along the way, and the time hung sluggishly on our hands. The routine duties were few, and we all knew that we were slowly consuming the supplies that our comrades so hardily needed at the front.

On the 1st May we saw something moving on the river behind us. It was a long way off, but we soon found it to be a canoe, and we then knew that Dr. Douglas, V. C., was in our wake, and that, aided by the current, he would soon be on board. He left Swift Current six days after us, and here he had overtaken the steamer, when we were not much more than half way to our destination. On he came, with his double paddle moving like a windmill, and we all gathered on one side of the cargo to give him a welcome. He appeared to be at home in his frail bark, and as he lifted his cap in response to the "three cheers" which were bellowed as he neared the steamer we could see how bronzed his face was and how rough his garb. For five days he had given us a stern chase. At night he told me he upped his canoe and wrapping himself in his great coat and blanket he slept on the banks of the river until the earliest streaks of dawn, when he was again on his way. He lived principally on canned meat and hard tack, and he was often obliged to drag his canoe over the shallows. But he was used to it. He too is an old campaigner, having been twenty years in the army, and the decoration he won, the Victoria Cross, was given, as it always is, "for valor" in the field. The next time the Northcoast stops he will take to his canoe again, run past the Moose woods at night, and make Clarke's Crossing, and from there tell General Middleton how badly it has fared with us since we left the Batchoe Crossing.

Completed.
The Canadian Pacific Railway announces that the last gap was closed on Saturday night, and that there is now continuous rail from Montreal to the Selkirk.

Getting no Better Fast.
A volunteer with the Midland Battalion, in a letter to the Toronto World written at Swift Current, says:—"I see by the Globe the London men pitched their tents here during a terrible snow storm. That was news to us and the London men too, but then most of the news we get comes from Ontario. It was raining some and pretty cold, but that was all. The Globe's veracity does not seem to improve."

CANADA'S FIGHTERS.

Our fathers! Where are they? those heroes of Whose brave hearts and strong arms, were
 'Mid danger to battle with hardships untold,
 And yearn with their life-blood a nation to be?
 They have gone from the scenes and the homes
 Once their own,
 Oft swept, to their low narrow homes alone.
 O brave pioneers, by whose hard headed toll
 The primeval forests were quickly removed,
 And fields tilled to yield up rich fruits for their soil.
 Wherever the wild beasts and the fierce savage
 roved,
 Strong of limb, stout of heart, braced with sunshine and rain,
 They have gone to their rest, but their labours remain.
 Though their graves are unknown, and the marble speaks not
 Of the deeds they achieved—there are monuments reared
 More lasting than marble—more noble than what
 In the wake of the warrior too oft have appeared:
 Our beautiful country, each broad acre and town,
 Are memorials that tell of those men of revolution.
 Our arts and our science, our churches and schools,
 Our government, based on foundations of right;
 Our High Courts of Justice, where equity rules,
 Our nation an honor, unsullied and bright;
 Of the wisdom that guided our ancestors (all,
 When they founded this nation—may we build it as well.

HANLAN AND BEACH.

Full particulars of the contest of the Canadian swimmers.

The Melbourne Aspis gives the following particulars relative to the recent match for the championship between Hanlan and Beach:

"Thanks to the water police, a splendid course was kept. When the time arrived for starting, the water was quite smooth, and there was little or no wind. At the same time there was a strong flood tide against the men. Soon after the inflexible reached the starting point the rival scullers paddled forth from opposite shores. Hanlan was the first to appear and he was greeted with ringing cheers as he started from the inflexible. He acknowledged the compliment, but his face wore a very anxious expression, and his manner was in strong contrast to that of Beach, who winked at a well known brother in the most confident manner.
 As he came up to the steamer the troubled look on Hanlan's face was hardly relieved by his brethren, and the effort to lay 6 to 4, which was based on all sides as the inflexible made way up the river, gradually ceased. Beach was the first to begin with a slight advantage.
 The men having taken their places, everything was ready. Beach was in the Jack Smith and Hanlan in his new Birdie. They were not long in getting off. Both men caught the water together beautifully, and it at once became evident that full pressure was to be applied from the outset and maintained until one or the other should cry pacevi. At 40 to the minute they rowed stroke for stroke for a hundred yards, and then, to the dismay of Hanlan's friends, it was seen that Beach had pushed up to the front.
 Beach's rowing was perfect. He was paddling with a perfect ease, 200 yards from the start, Beach led by more than a boat's length, and at Beach's point, the next prominent landmark, was plainly visible from the inflexible. After passing the Beacon, Beach was in the middle of the stream, and made away for Beachland's point, which he reached in 6 min. 15
 sec. from the time of starting, this being the first of the first mile. He had increased the lead to three lengths, and was rowing 38 to the minute while Hanlan doing 34, was getting his opponent's wash. The supporters of Beach were already settled as to the ultimate result, and carried banners, waving up from the inflexible, announcing his victory. Passing Beachland's both men eased down to 32. Making for Putney. Beach kept as close to the shore as possible, and dropped down to 22—the lowest stroke in the rowing. Hanlan followed, but could not decrease the gap, but was constantly looking around to see where his opponent was. Near Putney Beach increased to 23, but eased off to 18. He then crossed over to the gas works, where he led by four lengths, the time to this point being—Beach 11 min. 30 sec.
 Hanlan 11 min. 40 sec. Beach kept well in the centre of the stream, and it was here that the first large collection of spectators was met with,
 and amidst Beach's blowing whistle.
 Passing here, Beach struck off to the left, getting rather near the steamer, while Hanlan stuck to his original course, but there were no signs of the latter improving his position.
 Passing Cabot's Point Beach was leading by 6 lengths, the time being 16 min. 10 sec., and 16 min. 20 sec. At Gladville the gap between the men was still further increased, Beach being on the north bank, while Hanlan stuck to the centre. An enormous crowd was met with at the Sidney Rowing Club abode. Here, Hanlan changed his course and followed Beach along the southern bank. At One Mile where the time was 20 min. 5 sec., and 20
 min. 30 sec. Beach, having further increased his advantage. There was an immense congregation here, and the applause was so deafening that it was almost impossible to hear one speak on board the inflexible. Entering the bay which opens out on the sliding point near the headland known as "the Beechers," Beach was pulling 23 strokes to the minute and Hanlan 20.
 The latter was not able to get within call of Beach despite occasional spurts, and the Australian, making a magnificent spurt at the finish, rowed home an easy winner by ten lengths. Hanlan eased down to 18, the entry on and did not pass the post. The race was won by Beach in 23 min. 51 sec. As a race the long-talked-of match was thoroughly disappointing, but the victory of the colonial swimmer compensated most amply for the loss of that exciting struggle which they had expected to witness.

CAPT. BOYTON'S JOURN.

A Movement in Progress and a Seaman Imprisoned.

HALIFAX, N.S., May 18.—As a result of the enquiry of the naval authorities, regarding H.
 M. S. Garret's experience in New York, Vice Admiral Comdant favors sending to the admiralty in London the papers regarding Lieut.
 Garret's action in releasing Boyton and others captured in New York harbor, without taking them to Capt. Hand on board the Gar-ret. In the meantime Lieut. Garret remains under arrest on board his ship. The entry on the part of the Garret that night received forty five days' imprisonment, the severest punishment the captain can give without referring the case to the court-martial. No other persons on the Garret are blameable in the matter, and no charges were preferred against the captain or any others.

JACKSON'S BOAST.

A New Poem Regarding Secretary and Correspondent Jackson.

The Toronto World gives a description of W.
 H. Jackson, Riel's secretary and a reputed correspondent of the Globe, and after describing some events of his early years, continues as follows:—

"Before going to the Northwest three years ago Jackson made open boasts of how he would prevent the C. P. R. from getting his part of the country under its control, and that it was going to ruin the territory. He seemed perfectly sincere whenever the name of Sir John A. Macdonald was mentioned; declared that Riel was right in the former rebellion, and asserted that he would assist him in raising another rebellion.
 His great hobby in regard to the Northwest was to found an independent country, of which William H. Jackson should be ultimately the President, and of course later on, the Emperor.
 "Last fall he, under Riel's direction, circulated papers throughout the colony inciting the English speaking people to join with Riel etc., etc. These have been before the public already.
 He was one of Riel's late council, and in without doubt a clever crank. He thought to be able to win both French and English support to carry out Riel's programme, but the best schemes of mice and men gang aft a-gley. Riel and his political plotters soon saw in Jackson a winning tool, one whose enthusiasm and love of glory counterbalanced his cautious good sense, and they were not slow in using it. The arch devils are not yet unseated. Perhaps Jackson could be brought to his senses, he might confess a few things that would throw much light on the origin of this sad, sad rebellion."

 Spain having failed to fulfil her promises.

As a superb hair dressing and restorer,
 Ayer's Hair Vigor is universally conceded.
 It eradicates scurf and dandruff, cures all eruptions and itching of the scalp, promotes the renewed growth of the hair, and surely prevents its falling or turning gray.

TO OUR READERS.—If you suffer from headache, dizziness, blackness of vision, biliousness, and indigestion, try Dr. Carson's Blood Bitters.
 It is a guaranteed cure for all irregularities of the blood, liver and kidneys.

An actor died on Monday in New York after

A GOOD RECORD.—Among the many thousand bottles of Hagar's Yellow Oil sold annually in Canada, not one has ever failed to give satisfaction. It cures rheumatism, colds, and all painful complaints and injuries.

WELL AS EVER.—Little Howard writes from Buffalo, N. Y.:—"My system became greatly debilitated through nervous professional duties; suffering from nausea, sick headache and biliousness. Tried Hagar's Blood Bitters with the most beneficial effect. Am well as ever."

PRATERS for the success of the Scott Art will be offered simultaneously by one thousand women in Kingston at seven o'clock on Thursday morning.

THE pleasure of bathing is greatly increased by mixing in the tub half or even a quarter of a bottle of Murray & Leaman's Florida Water.
 Instantly the whole atmosphere of the bath room is as fragrant as a blossoming flower garden, the mind becomes buoyant, and the body emerges refreshed and strengthened.

CUNNINGHAM and Barton, the London dynam-iters, were found guilty on Monday of treason felony, and sentenced to penal servitude for life.

USEFUL TO KNOW.—Everyone should know that Hagar's Yellow Oil will give prompt relief; applied externally will stop any pain;
 and taken internally cures colds, asthma, croup, sore throat and most inflammatory complaints.

DANGER IN THE AIR.—In the chilling winds, the damp atmosphere and suddenly checked respiration, colds are lurking. Hagar's Federal Balm cures colds, coughs, asthma and bronchitis, and all complaints tending towards consumption.

SHARPEX is spreading rapidly through the city of Montreal, caused mainly by the neglect of the authorities to keep the lanes clear of filth, and the inefficiency of the Health Department.

AN EXCELLENT REMEDY.—Hon. Jos. G.
 Goodridge, of Brooklyn, N. Y., writes:—"I cannot express myself in sufficiently praiseworthy terms of Burdock Blood Bitters, which I have used for the past two years with great benefit."

A DINNER AND A KING.

BY MRS. M. L. BAYNE.

"I have brought your dinner, father,"
 The blacksmith's daughter said,
 As she took from her arm a kettle
 And lifted its shining lid,
 "There's not any pie or pudding,
 So I will give you this."
 And upon his grim-worn forehead
 She left a childish kiss.

The blacksmith tore off his apron
 And dined in happy mood
 Wondering much at the saviour
 Hid in his humble food,
 While all about him were visions
 Full of prophetic bliss;
 But he never thought of the magic
 In his little daughter's kiss.

While she with her kettle swinging,
 Merrily trudged away,
 Stopping at sight of a squirrel,
 Catching some wild bird's lay,
 And I thought how many a shadow
 Of life and fate we should claim,
 If always our frugal diners
 Were seasoned with a kiss.

NORTHWEST REBELLION.

GEN. MIDDLETON ARRIVES AT PRINCE ALBERT FROM BATCHEL

Congratulated by the Governor-General —Reported Capture of Supply Train near Calgary—Indians in the West.

ST. BONIFACE, MAN., MAY 30.—The following statement regarding the late election made on the part of the "Riot took an active part late in 1882, or early in 1883, in the Montana territorial elections, having become an American there. He created considerable excitement in the city, and was afterwards expelled from the city for the Republicans. After the election was over he was prosecuted, being accused of having induced several halfbreeds to vote, though they had no franchise. He was acquitted, and the prosecution had to fairly under way he fled to his home at St. Vital near here. He afterwards returned to Montana on a flying visit and brought his family here. Then in the fall of 1884 he returned to his home at St. Vital, where he has been ever since. There is no doubt whatever about his American citizenship."

THE EDMONTON COLUMN.
CALGARY, N.W.T., May 20.—Adjutant Osgain, of the 9th, who went out yesterday as escort with a detachment in charge of ammunition for Lew's command now marching to Edmonton, returned to-day. He says that Edmonton freighters report that the convoy, escorted by a force of mounted men under Steele, were attacked by Indians between Victoria and Pitt, and Steele had lost several men in the engagement, but the Indians had not successful in capturing the supplies. No official news of the alleged encounter has yet been received at military headquarters, but Steele at least was moving with a considerable force of mounted men on the trail between Victoria and Pitt, keeping up a close communication with General Strange, who is supporting Steele infantry and one nine powder. It is Gen Strange's intention to form a junction with the Battleford forces, and prevent Big Bear from joining Poundmaker, which he is most anxious to do. General Strange has deemed it advisable to keep his movements very quiet unless he has obtained the advantage of position either in Fort Pitt or in that neighborhood. He is acting with great caution in advancing its force, as it is a very rough country, and the utmost care is needed to prevent surprises, in which Fort Pitt Indians are adepts. It is for this reason that information respecting Gen. Strange's advance has so far been meagre.

WILLIMING, May 20.—The Montreal Garrison Artillery reached this city this morning about six o'clock, their train having been the first passenger train to perform the through journey by rail from Montreal. After taking breakfast they marched up Main street to Fort Osborne, where they will camp until further orders.

There is no further news of importance from the troops under Gen. Middleton, but it is believed they arrived at Prince Albert last night.

INDIANS AT BATTLEFORD.
Indians to the number of 200 kept hovering around Battleford last night, and fears of an attack were apprehended, but preparations were made to give them a warm reception.

News has reached here that Big Bear is advancing on Saddle lake.

CONGRATULATIONS FROM LANSDOWNE.

OTTAWA, May 30.—The following correspondence between his excellency the Governor-

General, Lord Lansdowne, and Major-General Middleton will be read with much interest :
To General Middleton, via, Qu'Appelle, N. W. T.—Accept my hearty congratulations on your success. You have had a task of exceptional difficulty. Please tell your gallant soldiers that as the Queen's representative here I congratulate them on their behaviour, not only in this action, but during the toils and hardships of the advance. The list of casualties is, I fear, heavy. We can ill afford to lose such an officer as French. My sincere sympathy is with the wounded. Shall be glad of any information in regard to their condition.

May 13. LANSDOWNE.
 To His Excellency the Marquis of Lansdowne —On the part of my troops and myself I beg to thank you for your kind congratulations on our success and appreciation of the difficulties we have labored under: and coming, as they do.

from the Queen's representative, heightens if possible the pleasure with which they are received by all of us, and I trust I may be permitted to add that as regards the officers and soldiers they richly deserve your approbation. Ere this your excellency will have heard that our success has been crowned by the surrender of Mr. Rial. I hear the wounded are doing well, all at Seabrook. FRED MIDDLETON, Gardnaway's Crossing, N.W.T., May 15.

FATAL LEAP.

A Feeblehardy Man Jumped to His Death Off Brooklyn Bridge.

NEW YORK, May 19.—This afternoon Prof. Robert E. Odium, dived off the Brooklyn bridge a distance of 175 feet to the river below. When

A distance across foot, to the river below, while the people on the bridge were horrostruck, reporters, club men and Capt. Boyton with bated breath watched the descent from a tug. Odium held one hand on his head and held the other out straight to guide him. When within thirty feet of the water his body began to trem-

As if realizing his danger Odium brought down his other hand with a wave-like motion to aid him in recovering his balance. Half a second later with a mighty splash his body struck the surface on one side and sank out of sight. The two harpids rushed forward to the place where the body fell and Capt. Boyton after seeing that life preservers had been thrown out sprang over the side of the boat and waited for the body to rise. Soon he saw the white face of the professor rising from the water and a moment later he was by his side. Seizing a life preserver, he with difficulty placed it beneath the body of the insensible professor. Blood mingled with forth came from the mouth of the daring man. A rowboat was soon pushed within reach, and with considerable difficulty the body of the professor was dragged into the boat.

A few minutes later it was transferred to the tug and restoratives administered. After considerable rubbing, the eyes of the sufferer opened. "What kind of a jump did I make?" he whispered. "First class, my boy," responded the captain. "You'll be all right in a little while."

The professor immediately relapsed into insensibility. The tug was hurriedly started for shore and just as the pier was reached a shudder passed through the professor's frame and after breathing heavily once or twice his heart stopped beating and death came to his relief.

AN IMPORTANT FACTOR.

With a strange mixture of dishonesty and absurdity, the Globe is again pretending that the Northwest rebellion is greatly due to the rapid construction of the C.P.R., and the consequent wide dispersion of settlement along the line. We were not aware that the scenes of the trouble were in proximity to the railway, that Clarke's Crossing, Batoche, Duck Lake, Prince Albert, Carleton, Fort Pitt, Edmonton, etc., are on or near the C.P.R. The rapid construction of the great transcontinental railway of Canada is certainly not responsible for the spread of settlement in districts far to the northward of it. On the other hand the Globe and its friends, with an inconsistency that seems habitual, assail the Government for granting leases to ranches, and thus, as they say, obstructing agricultural settlement, right under the shadow of the Rocky Mountains.

But if the rapid construction of the C.P.R. has not been one of the primary causes of the rebellion in the Northwest, it undoubtedly has most materially affected the result. But for the easy and rapid means of transport offered by our great national line it is very certain that our troops could not have been conveyed to the scene of operations in time to suppress so speedily an insurrection of such a formidable nature. The C.P.R. has been a great factor in this question, but on the right not the wrong side.

THE NORTHWEST TROUBLE.

It now appears to be certain that the halfbreed rebellion in the Northwest is suppressed. The promptness with which this has been accomplished, considering the distance the troops had to be transported and had to march, and the many other difficulties which had to be encountered, is exceedingly creditable to the volunteers, the General in command, the Government and the country as a whole. That there will be further trouble with the Indians appears, unfortunately, to be true. The tribes which have risen have not been sufficiently checked, and it is to be feared that more lives may have to be sacrificed in putting them down and punishing them for the depredations they have committed. At this time of writing, Gabriel Dumont with a few who clung to him, all desperate men, no doubt, are still at large, and halfbreeds were reported to have been with Poundmaker, so that the Indians may still be aided by a few of the most crafty of these sturdy men. Poundmaker himself is described as a crafty Indian, and, while the total defeat of Riel at Batoche's cannot fail to have a depressing effect upon the Indians, they will probably not yield without a further struggle. That they will soon be compelled to follow the example of the rebel leader and yield themselves up, and that this result may be brought about without further serious casualties, is what all hope for.

The courage of the Canadian volunteers has been severely tested since the outbreak occurred. Three times at three different places they have engaged the foe, at Fish Creek, at Cut Knife Hill, and in the three days' engagement at Batoche's Crossing. In each battle their courage has been demonstrated, and their conduct has been such as to make all Canada proud of their brave volunteers. Unused to war, they faced the enemy like veterans, and when, after three days' fighting at Batoche's, the time came to close in on the foe, with a British cheer they charged upon the ravine and rifle pits, and the victory was theirs. That action is one that will be given a prominent place in Canadian history, and the words of Gen. Middleton, spoken as the Midland Battalion and the Grenadiers descended on the hidden enemy, "There is death or victory in this charge. Let them go," should be remembered by Canadians and referred to hereafter as British veterans were wont to refer to the famous order of the great general, "Up, Guards, and at them." Those who have fallen on the field of honor will not be forgotten. Their names will live and their memory will be honored, and those homes and families that have been bereaved will receive the sympathy of the country in the defence of which they died.

Up to this time the Peterborough company have only been able to show their loyalty and their courage by their devotion to those duties assigned them, their obedience to discipline and their eagerness to join their comrades at the front, which they have now been permitted to do. On May 9th they reached Saskatchewan Landing, on the 12th they were to start down the river, and if the Midland Battalion is again engaged they will be shoulder to shoulder with the brave volunteers from the neighbouring towns who displayed such valor at Batoche's.

The Death-Dealing Cyclone.

KANSAS, May 18.—A cyclone passed through Rook's county on the 15th inst., dealing death and destruction throughout its entire course. Nearly fifty persons were injured. The principal casualties were Rev. Mr. Grimes, wife and child, killed, an unknown child fatally injured, and S. J. Johnson badly injured.

Seizure of an illicit still.

HAMILTON, May 19.—Detective Reid and C. G. Fortier, collector of inland revenue, seized an illicit still in Thomas Young's saloon, on Gore street, at noon to-day and arrested Thomas and Frank Young, father and son. They found the worm, a new one, cleverly concealed under the cellar stairs, and also unearthed a large tub nearly full of fermenting mash.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT

THE THIRD SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT OF CANADA.

Continued Discussion in the Franchise Bill—The Canadian Pacific Railway—New Signatures to Petitions Were Obtained.

MONDAY, May 18.—The circular petitions against the Franchise Bill at 15 cents a hundred signatures, still came in:

C. P. R.
 Mr. POPE, in reply to Mr. Blake, said there was no official correspondence as to arrangements with the C.P.R., and he could not bring down the private correspondence.

A CONTRACTOR'S CHARGES.
 Mr. BLAKE asked if the Government had supplied the rails for the section of the C.P.R. they were constructing in British Columbia, and whether the contractor had the right to use their rails for transporting goods at his own terms.

Mr. POPE said the Government supplied the rails. As to the contractor's right he must get the opinion of the Minister of Justice.

Mr. BLAKE said the opinion was not necessary. The contractor had no such right.

THE C.P.R. RESOLUTION.
 Sir J. MACDONALD said they had come to a verbal agreement after negotiations with the C. P. R. just before the resolutions were introduced.

THE NORTH SHORE.
 Sir J. MACDONALD, in reply to Mr. Blake, said that the present arrangement as to the North Shore railway by the companies interested was not satisfactory to the government, but it was only provisional.

FINANCIAL.
 Mr. BOWELL, in reply to Mr. Cartwright, said a temporary arrangement for an advance of two millions had been made to meet the expenses of the Northwest operations, and payments due to the C. P. R. under their contract. Those making the advances objected to the terms being made public.

THE HALF-BREEDS.
 Sir J. MACDONALD, in reply to Mr. Blake, said 26 halfbreed heads of families had proved their right to scrip for 100 acres, and 412 minors to scrip for 240 acres.

DOMINION LANDS.
 Sir J. MACDONALD, in reply to Mr. Blake, said some irregularities on the part of a clerk in the Department of the Interior were being investigated. There was no reason to believe that patents had been issued to any person not entitled to them.

STILL OBSTRUCTING.
 The House went into Committee on the Franchise Bill, considering the amendment to exempt Ontario.

Sir R. CARTWRIGHT discussed, not the amendment, but the whole bill at great length and in his usual style. He strongly objected to the Ministers and their supporters declining to aid obstruction by long speeches. As he was speaking very vigorously on the finances of the Dominion, he was called to order for not keeping to the subject.

The DEPUTY-SPEAKER ruled him out of order, and an appeal to the Speaker was demanded.

The SPEAKER also ruled that Sir R. Cartwright was out of order.

Sir R. CARTWRIGHT, being thus prevented from wandering from the subject, declined to speak further.

Mrs. C. CARLSON and J. PATTERSON continued the game of obstruction.

Sir J. MACDONALD said that the expense of the new system would be comparatively small. It had been determined that when the Roving Officer was not a County Judge, an appeal to him both as to law and fact would be allowed, but most of the County Judges would serve.

The amendment to exempt Ontario was then negatived.

Mr. WATSON moved an amendment to exempt Manitoba.

After some discussion the amendment was negatived by a majority of 30.

Mr. PETER MITCHELL moved an amendment to give votes to all residents of 12 months who had paid their taxes for the year, saying that this would extend the franchise and simplify proceedings.

Mr. DAVIES moved an amendment to the amendment in favour of manhood suffrage, and made an able speech in favour of this extension.

Mr. WHITE (Cardwell) supported the franchise as in the bill.

Mr. CHARLTON and Mr. BAIN spoke in favour of manhood suffrage.

The committee rose and the House adjourned at 2 a. m.

THE PETITIONS TO ORDER.

TUESDAY, May 19.—A number of the circular petitions came to hand.

FRAUDULENT SIGNATURES.

Mr. EDGAR complained of a statement in the Ottawa Citizen that some names of Conservatives on a petition from North Bruce, handed by him to Mr. Mills to present, as he had several himself, were forgeries and fraudulently obtained.

Mr. DODDS, in the absence of Mr. McNeill, said the member from North Bruce had received a letter from one of these Conservatives saying that the names had been obtained through fraudulent representations, and that many names were in the same handwriting. Mr. McNeill had informed Mr. Edgar of this.

Mr. BLAKE appeared as attorney for Mr. Edgar, and claimed that the signatures must be considered good till proved fraudulent by legal evidence.

Sir J. MACDONALD said it appeared as the case stood that the signatures were either forged or fraudulent.

Mr. BLAKE lost his temper and shouted out a taunt to the leader of the Government, receiving a proper rebuke from Sir John Macdonald.

THE FRANCHISE BILL.

The House went into Committee on the Franchise Bill.

A number of Opposition members spoke in favour of manhood suffrage for the Dominion.

Mr. DAVIES' amendment in favour of manhood suffrage was negatived by 81 to 37.

Mr. MITCHELL's amendment in favour of a taxpayer's suffrage was negatived by 86 to 33.

The committee rose and the House adjourned at midnight.

A Murderer's Remorse.

PITTSBURG, Pa., May 18.—In January, 1871, Michael Mulaney and James Tearney started on a spree. Tearney has a considerable amount of money, and during one evening he and Mulaney quarrelled. Tearney was slashed across the abdomen and died four days later. Mulaney disappeared, and after a fruitless search the murder passed out of mind. Some days ago a miserable looking specimen of humanity appeared at the poor house in Westmoreland county, and told the authorities he killed Tearney fourteen years ago and had been wandering about ever since. He could stand it no longer. He will be brought here for trial.

WATER FOR DRINKING.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—Now that the hot weather is on, a word as to water drinking will not be out of place.

In shops, stores, factories, &c., it is customary to keep a pitcher of water for the use of the men. Being seldom covered, more or less dust falls in and finds its way to the bottom. A certain amount of mineral matter is also deposited, and this, with successive layers of dust, gradually forms a coating which only in its later stages of development merits the name of dirt. When it is considered that air is more likely to be contaminated with disease germs inside a building than outside, and that with each replenishment of the pitcher the deposit is stirred up, it will be seen how easily these germs may find their way into the system.

Typoid fever has been traced to this cause. Rinsing the vessel at the pump or tap does not remove all this coating, but the remedy is simple—scald the pitchers occasionally and keep them covered.

Yours, &c.,

J. CLARKE.

The New Orleans Exposition.

NEW ORLEANS, La., May 19.—The World's exposition will be closed May 31. Ninety-five thousand dollars has been raised to carry the exposition over till November, when it will be reopened. The railway and car companies reaching New Orleans will subscribe $100,000 toward the reopening. The management has paid off fifty per cent. of its indebtedness.

All "Played Out."

"Don't know what ails me lately. Can't eat well, can't sleep well. Can't work, and don't enjoy doing anything. Ain't really sick and I really ain't well. Feel all kind of played out, somehow." That is what scores of men say every day. If they would take Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" they would soon have no occasion to say it. It purifies the blood, tones up the system and fortifies it against disease. It is a great and reliable remedy as well.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

THE SNIDER-ENFIELD.

It may be interesting for Mr. Blake to learn, on the authority of the Montreal Star's correspondent at the Fish Creek fight, that the Snider-Enfield rifle has proved a good weapon. Although numbers of them were struck, "none were rendered unserviceable. This was in marked contrast to the havoc played among the Winchester with which Boulton's cavalry were armed. Everyone of these weapons struck was disabled and the apparatus for pumping the cartridges from the magazine to the chamber in many cases jammed and rendered the rifle useless."—Ottawa Citizen.

ACCOMPLISHED MARVELS.

The Canadian militia in the North west have shown themselves to be very steady under fire, and have accomplished marvels in the way of rapid marching through snow and mud in an uninhabited country as large as three or four states of Ohio.—Cleveland Press.

SPONTANEOUS INDIGNATION.

Just now one of these "spontaneous indignations" with which the Dominion parliament is to be "deluged" is being sent to the town by a prominent Grit, who with huge tears and the solemnity of a cardinal beseeches the people, boys, men and Indians, to join. He is no doubt willing to sign for those who can't read or write. The price paid for this little business at Grit headquarters, Toronto, is 15 cents per hundred names. He will have to stop round pretty early or he will hardly make the price of a decent dinner at getting names here. But then honest industry is to be commended, and we hope he will manage to make at least 10 cents a day.—Berlin News.

THEIR ONLY IDEA.

The stamp of politician with which Canada is most familiar is the man whose idea is not so much of statesmanship as of mere party judgment, is to damn everything that comes from the opposite party. And this is the concentrated idea of the entire Grit party at present with regard to the Franchise Bill.—Montreal Star (Indep.).

AN IMPORTANT EVENT.

An event took place on Sunday, which in the estimation of Kiel's capture was overlooked, but it is one of the most important which has ever occurred in the history of the Dominion. The final gap in the line north of Lake Superior was then closed, and to-day Canada has a continuous all rail route from Halifax to Columbia river in the Pacific Provinces. This represents the inauguration of a grand epoch in the country's history; and though opposed to the terms and conditions upon which the Canadian Pacific contract was made, yet we must congratulate not only the country upon this commencement of a new era, but also the Canadian Pacific company upon the clarity with which the work has been done.—Ottawa Free Press (Reform).

PARTYISM AND THE FRANCHISE.

Party rancor, to start with, killed one of its advanced features, namely the clause extending the franchise to women. Party rancor has since given weight to the petition, never read at every petty provincial squabble from Cape Breton to British Columbia. Party rancor in the Ontario Grit press has so colored the whole measure with the evil tinge of the "lovingly" Barstow clause that the measure is condemned by the Grit party on account of the clause, the whole on account of the part. Party rancor has resulted in the present unworthy dead lock at Ottawa.—Montreal Star (Indep.).

WHAT SIR JOHN WISHED.

Sir John's wish has been gratified. Kiel is caught.—Berlin News.

THE OBSTRUCTIONISTS.

The Opposition's right in protesting as strongly as possible against legislation that they believe to be injurious to the interests of the country; but in carrying on a policy of obstruction they neither do any good to the country nor to the country. Obstruction should be left to those who are irreconcilable hostile to the very political institutions which give them their standing as legislators. It is not a legitimate arm of parliamentary warfare. It is not a legitimate means of obtaining any political result whatever.—Montreal Star (Indep.).

THE HALF-BREED'S FRIENDS.

Since the beginning of the North-West insurrection, the Liberal upper house has not ceased to criticize the Government because it took efficacious measures to restore peace. They have lost no opportunity of exciting the half-breeds to revolt and civil war. They have hoped that the more blood is shed, the greater chance will they have to fight the Conservatives. It is truly shameful for a political party to speculate on a national misfortune, like that from which we suffer, for the purpose of making a little cheap capital for the party at the expense of peace and order.—Le Monde.

HOW THE NAMES ARE OBTAINED.

Out of ten names signed to one of these petitions, as lately ascertained, not one man knew that such a Bill was before the House, and the individual in charge of the petition never read the Act nor the provisions contained therein. It is represented by those who hawk around the petition that the right to vote is unconditionally conferred upon all the Indian race—rebels, out-laws, thieves and murderers, whilst the actual provision of the Bill confers citizenship upon the red man only when he fulfils the same conditions that a white man does.—London Free Press.

FACTS FOR VOLUNTEERS.

When the Grit party were in power, the only attempt made at economy was at the expense of the militia service. In 1873-4 the cost of the militia service was $977,376; in 1876-7, and the inspiring influence of Grit rule, it had dwindled to $650,541. In 1877-8, under the influence of Conservative protests, the amount was increased to $618,130, but in 1883-4, under Hon. A. P. Caron's energetic policy, it had risen to $669,498. When the little corps of regular militia was formed, and the schools of gunnery and instruction started, the Grits were much opposed to the project and denounced the new arrangement as a "School of Snobbery." These are facts which the men at the front will remember. What would they may well ask themselves, have been their equipment if the Grits were in power now?—Winnipeg Times.

AGAIN REMANDED.

An Important Witness Against "Clutch" Donohoe Waited For.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., May 19.—"Clutch" Donohoe, the hotelkeeper who was arrested at Port Erie some weeks ago on a charge of being connected with the postoffice robbery at Peterborough, was again brought up before Police Magistrate Hill this afternoon. Mr. Sweetnam, the postoffice inspector, was present, but stated that he was not yet ready to go ahead with the case, being unable to get this principal witness here, who is at present in the cells at Cleveland, Ohio, for larceny. Every effort is being made to have him released, and in all probability he will be in a few days. He was at one time a pal of Donohoe's, but later split on him and caused him a great deal of trouble. Now he is going to do likewise with Donohoe, and says he can prove to the court Donohoe's guilt in the postoffice robbery and the Queen and Galt jobs. James Trotter, of Galt, laid information against Donohoe for the robbery of his safe of $6000 worth of jewelry, which he has identified in the Raynor house at Buffalo. Police Magistrate Hill remanded Donohoe's for next day.

THE COUNCIL OF WAR!

MEETING OF THE EXECUTIVE COUNCIL ON TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY.

The Hon. Sidney Smith gives some interesting information as to the working of the Army.

The Executive Council of the Saved Army met in the Water street barracks on Tuesday and continued in deliberation during that day and Wednesday.

On Wednesday evening a public meeting was held in Bradburn's Opera House.

Previous to entering the hall an open air service was held. The officers and soldiers formed in a semi-circle on the market square, sang several hymns and prayer was offered up. They then marched into the Opera House.

About thirty officers and soldiers took their places on the platform, among whom were:—Gen. Lindsay, Major Moore, Capt. Munt, Capt. Lathwell, Capt. Auburn, Capt. Willis, Capt. Stubbs, Capt. Wyatt, Capt. Munro, Capt. Clarke, Capt. McGregor, Capt. Sutton, and Delegate K. Weir.

The Hon. Sidney Smith, of Cobourg, occupied the chair. After taking their seats on the platform several Army songs were sung in chorus.

The Chairman announced that the meeting would be opened by singing song No. 140. After the song had been sung Capt. Lathwell gave a short address, referring mainly to the good work the Army was and had been accomplishing. Four times had all of this world's goods been taken from him, but he thanked the Lord that he was now heir to an estate that could not now be taken away—Christ's Kingdom.

An anthem was then sung by Mr. D. D. Gallotley's choir.

Capt. Sutton, of Orangeville, delivered a short address, succeeding which were a few earnest words spoken by Capt. Stubbs, of Pembroke.

The choir sang another anthem, and the next number on the programme was the Chairman's address.

The Hon. Mr. Smith, in commencement, said that no doubt many of his friends present would be surprised to see him on a religious platform. But the world was full of surprises. Even when we reached heaven, surprises would be awaiting us there. There would meet with three surprises; first, we would be surprised to see that those whom we expected to see there were not there; second, to find people there whom we never expected to see there; and third, the greatest of all surprises, to find that we were there ourselves.

To be permitted to stand before the audience on this occasion he considered the highest honor that could be conferred upon him. He referred to the time of his previous coming to Peterborough, he did not suppose there was a greater sinner ever entered this town. But to-day he came in possession of that (taking up the Bible) and strong in the faith and hope given to him through the agency of the Saved Army.

The operations of the Saved Army were confined solely to the Province of Ontario—it was purely Canadian and it ought to be dear to the heart of Canadians for this alone. Another feature about it was that it was non-sectarian—it knew not sect, creed or denomination, nothing but the Lord Jesus Christ and the blessed Bible. It interfered with no church. Twelve months ago he had drifted into a Saved Army meeting in Cobourg and he had a man speak (not a soldier, but a member of the Presbyterian church). He rose and said that sixty-two members had joined the Presbyterian church of Cobourg that day—fifty-one new members and eleven certificate members—a thing that had never been known before. Other churches were benefited. Seventy members shortly after had joined the Methodist church. Every soldier in the Saved Army was obliged to connect himself with some church, and he was bound to perform his duties towards the church he selected. The Saved Army was in every way auxiliary to the churches.

In addition to being a religious body they were also a temperate body. The soldiers of the Army indulged in neither strong language nor strong drinks. The Army was also a charitable institution. He detailed the good work that the ladies of the Saved Army had done in Cobourg last winter in relieving want and suffering, and the great blessing which had been shown down upon the needy in that place through their instrumentality. He good humouredly styled himself the maid of all work for the Army, whatever he was called upon to do he willingly did, if it were in his power. He then related in words of deep earnestness how the heavy load of sin was taken from him, which for years and years he had been trying to free himself by reading and conversation, and spoke feelingly of the agent, Capt. Clark, through whom he had received that divine and dazzling light. The Army had now, after two years of existence, 70,000 soldiers in 1200 divisions. He asked whether it was Satan that had started, developed and nurtured the movement, or was it the work of the Almighty God? He exhorted those present, in clear and forcible terms, to accept salvation at once. "Take the advice of an old man who has not long to live," he said, "let not the moments pass. Accept the Lord Jesus Christ and enter into a new sphere of serene happiness."

While the soldiers of the Army were soldiers of Christ, they were also loyal to the country and the Queen. Prayers were offered up now every meeting for the speedy close of the North west war and the success of our noble volunteers.

Several times during his address, he referred to the agent through whom he had received so much happiness. In closing he said of his "Sister" is zealous in her Master's service as ever was human being."

Gen. Lindsay moved a vote of thanks to the choir who had furnished such excellent music. The motion was seconded by Capt. Munt, and was passed unanimously.

The Hon. Mr. Smith rose and specially complimented the choir on the sweet and expressive music they had given. The meeting was brought to a close by the singing of the Doxology, and the pronouncing of the benediction.

Another meeting will be held this evening when the Hon. Sidney Smith will again be present.

Personal.

The relatives in this town of Mr. M. B. Orde, of the 90th, have received a brief letter from him saying that he had passed safely through the three days' contest at Batocha.

The Rev. John Shaw, formerly pastor of the George Street Methodist Church, having been appointed to a position in the Mission Rooms in Toronto, removed from Orillia to that city.

Previous to the departure of the family, Miss

Shaw was presented with an address and a poem as an acknowledgment of her services in the choir and in the Sunday School. The concluding portion of the address was as follows:—

"You will, therefore, accept the accompanying poem and its contents as a small token of the sincere respect which we are happy to inform you, the members of our own church, and many who are not Methodists, entertain for you. We all unite in the hope and prayer that your future life may be bright and beautiful, wherever your lot may be cast." In its account of the presentation, the New-Letter says:—

"Mr. Shaw will, of course, be back till the conference year is out. During their stay here the Shaw family, by a kindly disposition and the keen interest they manifested in the work of the church, secured the esteem of the congregation. Miss Shaw, who possesses ability and culture, and a kindly disposition, rendered effective services not only in the choir but in the various entertainments given by the church, and it is not too much to say she was a general favorite. Mr. Shaw, as an experienced and able minister, was warmly welcomed here, and the congregation would gladly have kept him or three years had the conference so willed."

Mr. E. J. Kennedy, General Secretary of the Central Young Men's Christian Association of London, Eng., will pay a visit to Peterborough on or about June 4th.

Art.

Mr. Sabine, teacher of drawing in the Collegiate Institute, exhibits in the windows of Mr. G. W. Morgan's drug store some pretty specimens of oil painting. Two moonlight marine views on plaques, a fishing scene, a mariner view in daylight, and a colored crayon portrait, "The President of the Bank," are shown in the south window. In the north window there is exhibited a specimen of painting on satin, and a composition view, painted on wood fungus. The latter is an evening scene, and possesses peculiar freshness and warmth.

The collection is well worth being seen.

TROUBLED BY A LOST CHECK.

The Queer Predicament of the Bank of British North America.

A young man in the employ of the New York agency of the Bank of British North America lost a check for $10,388.00 last Monday afternoon. The check was drawn on the sub-treasury by the superintendent of the army office, and had been handed to the clerk in payment of a deposit of British sovereigns made in the assay office by the Bank of British North America a few days before. The young man lost the assay office with the check in his possession to go to the Bank of British North America at No. 53 Wall street, but when he reached the Bank the check was missing. He could not tell whether he had accidentally dropped it or whether his pocket had been picked.

D. A. McTavish, the manager of the bank, said word to sub-treasury stopping payment on the check, which, however, was payable only to the order of the bank. Notice was also given to Superintendent Mason of the assay office of the loss of the check, coupled with a request for a duplicate. Mr. Mason had no reason to doubt the faith or integrity of Manager McTavish, but on looking up the law he found he had no power to give duplicates for checks exceeding $1,000 in amount. It was suggested that the director of the mint might be able to solve the difficulty and Mr. McTavish sent a letter reciting the facts to Director Burdard in Philadelphia.

Mr. Burdard replied a day or two ago stating that the law was explicit in limiting the duplication of the lost checks to amounts not exceeding

$1,000. He suggested that the only way the Bank of British North America could obtain the money was by procuring the passage of a

UNITY IN STRENGTH.

By drawing the Provinces which compose the Dominion closer together, and by showing the people that their interests are united and making them realize that they are all of one country, Canada, is the way in which our country will become strong, vigorous and prosperous. Stirring up sectional differences, causing inter-provincial jealousies and engendering distrust, if successful, would cause disintegration, revolution and possibly anarchy. It is very easy to discuss which course is the more desirable. Any policy which would tend to unite the people of the Dominion, while depriving them of some of their liberties, should be adopted by our legislators, and any unnecessary agitation, which tended to arouse sectional ill-feeling, should be discontinued.

The policy of the Conservative party has been and still is framed with a view to a united people. Certain matters, which it was believed would be inconvenient for the Central Parliament to deal with, were relegated to the Provincial Legislatures, and these matters the Conservative party has scrupulously avoided interfering with, but they have also endeavored to cause the people of all the Provinces to feel that they belonged to one common country. This policy has been successful.

While the policy of the Conservative party, however, has been national, the Reform party has frequently, either on account of a determined purpose or because they believed they saw a possible party advantage, endeavored to stir up sectional feeling. They have shouted about Provincial rights, when no right of the Provinces was in any danger; they have declared that Nova Scotia was about to secede when a few discontented persons, strongly imbued with the provincial as opposed to the national idea, tried to create an agitation in that Province; they prated about the disintegration of confederation, when a very small number of malcontents in Manitoba held disguised political meetings under a non-political name, and when the deluded halfbreeds of Saskatchewan blindly followed the lead of a restless agitator and took up arms, they talked loudly of the wrongs they had suffered. Every agitator or incendiary agitation that endangered confederation has been encouraged by the press of the Reform party, and the course which that party has followed has been anti-Canadian almost throughout. Narrow views have prevailed among its members; broad, national views of public questions they cannot comprehend.

The very question of enfranchisement of the Indians is a case in point. The Indians are residents of this country; they are loyal and intelligent. The Indians of the older Provinces, who have long ago renounced their wandering habits, should no longer be treated as foreigners, but should be allowed to take their place in the country as Canadians. This the Reform party object to. It would tend to further unite the inhabitants, and they oppose it. But the majority of the voters desire a country populated by a united people, who will all feel that they have an interest in the country, and they approve of the proposition. The giving of the franchise to the Indians of these Provinces will show the bands in the Northwest that when they become settled, industrious and good citizens, they will be treated in the same manner as other citizens. The Franchise Bill deprives no person of any liberty he possesses, and it is another step in the direction of a consolidated people, and consequently a strong and vigorous country.

"Nor one Tory organ has allowed it to be known through its editorial columns that the revising barristers to the proposed Franchise Bill are to be appointed for life."—London Advertiser.

If the Advertiser includes the Review in the above statement, it is mistaken. It has long been believed in Britain and in Canada that the appointment of judges for life placed them in a more independent position and ensured an impartial judiciary. Would not the appointment of the revising officers for life tend to have the same effect? We may also remark that we have not noticed any editorial references in our Reform exchanges to the fact that the Franchise Bill provides for the appointment of County Judges to these positions wherever practicable, and to the additional fact that in other cases barristers of five years' standing alone are qualified and are to be sworn in the same judges.

The Reform press profess to have known for some time before the Northwest rising occurred that the halfbreeds were oppressed and that they were likely to rebel. Is that the reason why the Reform press wanted the expenditure on the militia doubled, and why they objected to the establishment of the military schools, or the "School of Snobbery," as the Globe called the Infantry School? They either did not know that the Metis were likely to rebel or they did not wish the country to be prepared for it. They should not be too rash, or they will get themselves on a very sharp horn of a very ugly dilemma.

DEPOSITS in the Dominion Postal Savings Bank for last month amounting to $547,118, and the withdrawals to $501,479, being an increase in deposits of $62,630, and a decrease in withdrawals of $13,872, as compared with those of April, 1884.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT

THE THIRD SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT OF CANADA.

The Victoria Rifles of Montreal—Squatters on Lands in British Columbia—Some Progress Made With the Franchise Bill—Attempt to Disfranchise Workmen.

WEDNESDAY, May 20.—Several petitions against the Franchise Bill were presented. Sir JOHN MACDONALD pointed out that, contrary to the rules, petitions had been presented without the name of the member presenting them being endorsed upon them.

THE VICTORIA RIFLES.

Mr. CARON, in reply to Mr. Curran, said that no petition had been forwarded by merchants and bankers of Montreal asking the Department not to call out the Victoria Rifles.

LANDS IN BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Sir JOHN MACDONALD, in reply to Mr. Blake, said that the Government had received a memorial from squatters on the 40 mile belt in British Columbia, and they had been assured that the provisions of the Dominion Land Act would be applied to their case as far as possible, and that their claims would be adjudicated upon as soon as the surveys were advanced enough for the purpose.

THE FRANCHISE BILL.

The House went into Committee on the Franchise Bill. On the third clause of the third section.

Sir JOHN MACDONALD moved to reduce the property qualification to $300 in cities and $200 in towns. He made the distinction between cities and towns because property was valued more highly in the former. The rest qualification would remain at $2 a month or $20 a year. As to the income qualification, it was his intention to propose that a vote be given to any one who derives an income or earnings of $300 from some trade, calling, office or profession. The period during which some of owners might be absent would be extended to six months. He also proposed to add, at the proper time, a clause providing that time spent by mariners or fishermen following their occupation, or students in Canadian institutions of learning, should be considered as time spent at home.

Mr. LAURENCE feared that the proposed amendment would discriminate against small cities.

Sir J. MACDONALD said that to make a distinction between large and small cities would make the bill too complicated.

Sir JOHN MACDONALD, in reply to Mr. Mulock, said that when the revising officer was not a judge, there would be an appeal on questions of both fact and law, and the appeal could be made without the exercise of the discretion of the revising officer.

Mr. CASEY moved an amendment that personal property should be considered as part of real property qualification in cities and towns.—Lost on a division.

Mr. MULOCK moved in amendment that the property qualifications in cities be $200.—Lost.

Mr. MITCHELL moved to provide for a personal property qualification of $400.

Mr. DAVIES proposed another amendment requiring residence.

Both the amendments were lost on a division.

After further discussion the third section was adopted. The fourth section was allowed to stand, and the fifth section taken up.

Mr. FLEMING moved an amendment requiring as the qualification for occupants and tenants an assessment equal to that required to qualify owners. He thought the clause as it stood would enfranchise a number of undesirable voters.

Mr. GILMORE opposed the amendment, as it would be a restriction of the franchise.

Mr. DAVIES and Mr. MILLS supported the amendment.

Sir J. MACDONALD opposed the amendment, as it would shut out a number of workmen from voting.

Mr. CAMERON (Middlesex) moved to reduce the qualification on leased property to $200.

The amendments were lost and the section adopted.

Mr. EDGAR, on clause four, moved in amendment that no Indians, except those who had been duly enfranchised and had the same civil capacities as other persons, should be entitled to vote.

Sir JOHN MACDONALD said that this question should be considered under another clause, and when it was reached he would offer explanations he had on a previous occasion referred to.

Mr. MILL launched out in abuse of all Indians, and maintained that he did not oppose giving them votes for selfish reasons, as it would result in giving him a majority at the next election. He proceeded to descend on the principles of government.

The DEPUTY SPEAKER said that he must confine himself to the question, and, on Mr. Mills making an offensive remark, he was rebuked by the Deputy Speaker.

Mr. MILLS then said he would submit to the decision of the chair, and proceeded to speak in favor of the amendment.

Mr. DAVIES said Mr. Mills' views were worthy of the dark ages, when the franchise was possessed by the few. The Indians paid taxes to the Dominion Treasury. The annuities they received were not gifts, but payments in return for land and under treaty.

It was not a new thing to permit Indians to vote. In Ontario their right to vote, after first being given and then taken away, had been restored. Their enfranchisement would conduce to their moral elevation, and it would be an action of which the Dominion would boast.

Mr. WHITE (Hastings) said the Indians in his constituency were loyal, generous, sober and industrious.

Mr. PATTERSON (Brant) opposed the giving of votes to the Indians and attacked the system of Indian management.

Mr. WHITE (Cardwell) said it would be manifestly unjust to disfranchise some Indians. But the discussion was premature and should not have occurred until the proper clause came up.

Sir JOHN MACDONALD said that the arguments of the Opposition had been repeated ad nauseam. When the proper clause was reached he would move with respect to what Indians he thought should have a vote.

The amendment was lost and the House adjourned at 2:05 a.m.

Canadian Pacific Railway.

LONDON, May 20.—The completion of the Canadian Pacific Railway forms the subject of one of the Times editorials this morning. It is very warm in its praise of the great undertaking and commends in high terms the statesmanship and determination which projected the idea and overcame all obstacles. It says the importance of the road cannot be over-estimated, both in its effect in binding the provinces together and upon the Empire at large.

THE PRESENT WARM WEATHER MAKES IT ABSOLUTELY NECESSARY THAT EVERY GENTLEMAN SHOULD DON LIGHT WEARING APPAREL, AND DISCARD, FOR THE TIME BEING AT LEAST, WOOLLEN AND HEAVY UNDERGARMENTS. A HEAVY SUIT SHOULD NOT BE WORN DURING THE WARM AND SULTRY WEATHER, FOR NATURE'S LAWS WILL SCARCELY ADMIT OF IT. GENTLEMEN WHO ARE IN NEED OF BEAUTIFUL LIGHT UNDERCLOTHING, A FASHIONABLE SUMMER SUIT OF CLOTHING, OR, IN FACT, ANYTHING IN THE GENTS FURNISHING LINE, CANNOT DO BETTER THAN EXAMINE OUR STOCK. IT IS UNEQUALLED IN PETERBOROUGH. SEE OUR WINDOW! IT WILL MAKE YOU FEEL COMFORTABLE TO ONLY HAVE A LOOK AT IT!

PHOTOGRAPHERS.
Successors to James Little.

Having purchased the Photograph business of Mr. James Little, we would respectfully solicit a continuance of the patronage of the people of Peterborough for this well established gallery. Our best efforts will be exerted in producing first-class work in PHOTOGRAPHING, PICTURE FRAMING, and every branch of the business.

CARD FROM MR. LITTLE.

I take great pleasure in thanking the public of Peterborough for their liberal patronage to me during the past ten years, and would ask for my successors, Messrs. Hamill & Ball, a continuance of these favors, as I know them to be gentlemen whom I can heartily recommend.

BATCHER

"SHOT THROUGH THE HEART."

God guard my darling boy to-night,
And keep him safe from harm;
Watch over him in this dread fight,
Give to his life a charm.
Let every bullet speed him past,
And turn each blow away;
From him my well-loved only son,
Who meets the foe to-day.

A brave and noble son of mine;
This dear son of mine;
With loyal heart so true and true,
And full of love divine,
I know he's ready shouldst thou call,
But spare him, God, I pray,
Till he returns to me again,
My boy now far away.

"O, mother dear," a sad voice speaks,
And by her side there stands
A girl with form and tear-dimmed eyes,
And close beside her hand
"Well, daughter mine, why come you now,
With these so wild and sad?
Your loving smiles should cheer and make My lone heart warm and glad."

"What say you, child? More news has come.
A great victorious fight;
The Royal Garrison in time
The rebels put to flight.
Thank God for that my prayer was heard,
And I shall sleep at ease,
With grateful heart and peaceful rest,
Till comes the morning light."

"But why these tears? Why this distress?
I have not heard aught."
What is it, then? O mother dear, be brave,
Your brother leads the fight.
"Shot through the heart! Oh, God! My lad,
For whom I prayed and fast,
My only son, my bonnie boy,
Will come no more to me!"

"Shot through the heart! Even while I prayed
His form lay still in death;
Not one fond mother could be so,
None caught his dying breath.
The cannon's roar, the crash of arms,
The crash of ball and shell,
A strangely wild, mad requiem mass,
Where he lay for country fall."

"Dead, cold and dead, the lonely grave
How hides him from my sight;
Oh! pitying God, my heart will break,
Why send me this delight?
Why is my home made desolate?
My life of joy bereft?
He was my dearest, only son,
I have no other left!"

"Forgive me, Lord! Thy will be done,
Peace send this aching heart,
That doth rebel o'er this one gone,
That was my life's best part.
Alas! with Thee I'll be, blessed light
That finds my soul at last!
It brings me peace and comfort now,
The darkest hour has passed."
St. Alexander street, Toronto.—Mail.

OTONABEE

From Our Own Correspondent.

ARBOR DAY.—The reapers of Union B.S. Nos. 6 and 2, Otonabee and Asphodel, gave practical expression to their appreciation of the arbor day by a fair representation daily responding to the Hon. G. W. Ross' proclamation of our first Arbor Day. More than fifty trees, such as maple, elm, silver poplar, linden, etc., were planted in the afternoon in the presence of the teacher and pupils, who also assisted in the valuable work of decorating the school grounds, which occupy a very commanding position, being set on a hill, etc. The most enjoyable part in connection with this novel portion of the education of the children on the following Monday, when all the pupils, accompanied by their teacher, appropriated trees to their respective owners, designated by the name of a famous warrior, statesman, poet, writer, etc. To inculcate a spirit of good will and peace to men, even in politics, Sir John A. Macdonald and Mr. Mowat stand lovingly side by side. Some regard the celebration as the analogy of the tree with its honorary title, for example, a rather puny-looking sapling was named after Pope, a tall, commanding maple, Gordon, an almost faceted silver poplar, Washington, and so on to the end of the list. The celebration of Arbor Day will be beneficial in many ways. Already the pupils manifest a lively interest in the care of the trees, and display pardonable pride in the ownership of a Brock or a Wolfe, good naturedly claiming their merits par-excellence. A part of Friday afternoon is to be devoted to a conversation on forestry, etc., and a reading or recitation bearing on the kind, name, or authors' productions of one or two particular trees.

YOUNG'S POINT.

From Our Own Correspondent.

THE LOCK GATES.—Alex. Ross, from Lind, say, and his assistants, is making good headway with the new lower gate for the locks. It is the best of white oak that is used, purchased from Mr. Geo. Chalmers.

THE WATER AND SAW LOG DRIVE.—The water in Clear and Stoney Lakes has not been so high for a number of years. Mr. Rutledge, of the Trent Valley Works, has forced two saw log drives lying here running over the new dam at the present time, owing to the high water, one drive belonging to Messrs. Fowles, of Hastings, and the other to the McDonald Bros., of Peterborough. The consequence is that the boys belonging to the district are watching rather jolly time of it, by turning up the little finger and having another, until nearly all the laws are broken before they retire to rest.

NEARLY DROWNED.—Mr. Jas. Welch's eldest son fell off one of the abutments of the bridge one day last week into the river, and if Mr. Chas. Grylls had not been around with a piece of chain, there would have been a wake over young Master Welch. Lilly McFarlane, a few days previous, also fell in the river, and she also was rescued. Of course the parents cannot always have a watchful eye on their children, but when seen playing in dangerous places, they ought to be cautioned and led on cold water three times a day for one week.

THE CRUISER.—This fine steamer, ably steered by our friend Capt. Eden, took a trip to this place from Lakeside on Tuesday last. After the usual congratulations, &c., being the first trip to Lakeside. She has got thoroughly overhauled and looks well.

THE FAIRY.—This beautiful little steamer is lying above the locks, looking trim and neat, having been thoroughly overhauled this spring. In fact she looks better than ever she did, and the owner, Mr. Geo. Chalmers, informed our correspondent that a busy time is looked forward to this summer with tourists, and we join in the hope that both steamers will have it to do until the close of navigation. Our old friend Charley Grylls will be master again this season. Your correspondent intends to D.H. it this summer up the lake a few times.

THE CHURN.—In last week's Examiner the correspondent from this place writes very delightfully about the prospect of good crops in this section. The real fact is that this part of the country never looked better, and the future will show for itself. We are no further behind than other parts of the county.

THE PORT PERRY NOBBER.—Mr. W. McFarlane is now busy, along with one of the members of the firm of the above nursery, in delivering their spring stock of apple, pear, plum and cherry trees and all kinds of nursery stock. Their orders in this section, through their agent here, has been very extensive, and the first class trees they are supplying their customers with will ensure them every success for future transactions.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS

A NEW POLICY.

The new policy of the Grit party is that minority should rule. If the minority do not like a measure they are to obstruct all legislation by talking against time. The people of Canada will know how to make their account with men who can do nothing themselves and who are determined not to let other people do anything. The rule in this country is that the majority should govern. To upset that is revolution. We are not prepared for revolution just yet.—Hamilton Spectator.

MISUSE OF PRIVILEGES.

Liberals everywhere hold that the majority must rule, and that the minority must give way to the majority. But in Ottawa for the last few weeks we have seen the singular spectacle of a Liberal minority attempting by a misuse of the privileges of debate to obstruct the majority out of its legitimate right to rule. This course is anti-British.—Montreal Herald (Indep.).

THE GRITS' ONLY HOPE.

"Sir John can't live long, and then we will see the end of Conservative rule," was the explanation of a blustering Grit of the lowest type, in our hearing the other day.—Windsor Times.

DISCREDITABLE PRACTICES.

Those who back the Opposition up in wrong doing and in practices which injure the party with the country are not their best friends. The party as a whole have a right to complain not only of the ill considered action of their representatives in Parliament, but of the course of those who abstain in practice which discredit the party with the electors.—Montreal Herald (Indep.).

GLOATING ON DISASTER.

Archbishop Trench in his Study of Words remarks that it is pleasing to reflect that there exists no English equivalent for the Greek word cheirakia, a word which expresses that abominable form of malignity which rejoices in the misfortune of others. That Greek word is applicable just now to the attitude of the Globe toward the national army of Canada and its fortunes in the field. The editorial on "The Situation" in Tuesday's Globe positively gloats over the consideration that no news from the front may mean bad news. This aspersive partisanship the independent press can afford to rebuke as it deserves. The Mail of course would do the same under similar circumstances, as was abundantly proved by its attitude toward the Riel difficulty under the Mackenzie government. The Globe's role as a prophet of ill shows that the wish is father to the thought and that the bad demon's organ cares little how deeply Canada is injured so long as the defeat is a point against the Tories.—Toronto World (Indep.).

PEJOURNARY ADVANTAGE.

But few Canadians have any adequate idea of the direct money gain to us of our connection with the empire, and to the extent of our yearly debt to Great Britain in the matter of defence alone. The British mercantile marine in 1883 comprised 7,282,022 tons of ocean shipping, to protect which and to guard their shores and colonial empire, the British nation expended during that year £10,250,000 in the support of the navy. The sea-going marine of Canada for that year was, probably, at least eleven hundred thousand tons, every stick of which was guarded and watched over, upon every voyage, as if it were a British ship, and at a cost to us of not one cent. Our true share of that expenditure would not be far from seven million of dollars. If we attempted to guard our shipping for ourselves we would be forced to expend four times that sum yearly, and then we could not adequately accomplish what is now done for us absolutely for nothing.—Montreal Witness.

WIT AND WISDOM.

Life is like a game of cards: you cannot control the cards, but of such as turn up you must make the most.

A little girl suffering with the mumps declared she "felt as though a headache had slipped down into her neck."

An Irish officer, giving orders to a sentinel, commanded him "not to stir a foot, but walk up and down, and see what he could hear."

"Did the deceased die under suspicious circumstances?" asked the coroner of rural witnesses. "Now, he didn't; he died in the water under the ice."

Two ladies who inhabit a street in the neighborhood of Saltmarket were having some words together on the pavement, when the daughter of one of them popped her head out of the door and cried out: "Hurry, mother, and ex her a thief before she ex's you out."

FINEER souls are like violins, which can be more sweet and delicate in tone than any other instrument; but they can also be as loud, and greater passion and produce a more fearful storm of passion.

FROM ALL OVER.

The house of Mr. J. W. Bell, M. P. for Addington, with its entire contents, was burnt at the house on Friday. The inmates had a narrow escape. Mr. Bell after saving his children being cut off by the flames and having to jump out of an upstairs window.

The Imperial Government has offered, for this year, twenty six commissions in the British army to graduates of the Royal Military College in addition to the four granted annually. All graduates of the college are eligible for the additional commissions.

Don't Use any more noxious purgatives such as Pilla, Salts, &c., when you can get in Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters, a medicine that moves the bowels gently, cleansing all impurities from the system and rendering the blood pure and cool. Sold by all Druggists.

An extensive seizure of valuable machinery for printing has been made by the Customs in Montreal. The machines were imported from New York, and the man who brought them endeavored to evade payment of duty by representing that they were "settler's effects."

Ayer's Cathartic Pills are suited to every age. Being sugar-coated, they are easy to take, and though mild and pleasant in action, are thorough and searching in effect. Their efficacy in all disorders of the stomach and bowels is certified to by eminent physicians, prominent clergymen, and many of our best citizens.

The pleasure of bathing is greatly increased by mixing in the tub half a quart of old Florida Water. Instantly the whole atmosphere of the bath room is as fragrant as a blooming flower garden, the mind becomes buoyant, and the body emerges refreshed and strengthened.

"I Feel so Well."

"I want to thank you for telling me of Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters." writes a lady to her friend. "For a long time I was unable to attend to the work of my household. I kept sick, but I felt thoroughly miserable. I had terrible headaches, and bearing-down sensations across me and was quite weak and discouraged. I sent and got a bottle of the medicine after receiving your letter, and it has cured me. I hardly know myself. I feel so well."

IT LEADS ALL.

No other blood-purifying medicine is made, or has ever been prepared, which so completely meets the wants of physicians and the general public as

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

It leads the list as a truly scientific preparation for all blood diseases. If there is a lurking taint of Scurfulia about you, Ayer's Sarsaparilla will disengage it and expel it from your system.

For constitutional or scurfulous Catarrh, Catarrh true remedy. It has cured numerous cases. It will stop the noxious material discharge, and remove the sickening odor of the breath, which are indications of scurfulous origin.

ULCEROUS "Hutchinson, Sept. 22, 1882.

"SORES with ulcerous running sores on the face and neck. At the same time the eyes were swollen, much inflamed, and very sore. Physicians told me that a powerful and efficient alternative medicine must be employed. They united in recommending Ayer's Sarsaparilla. A few doses produced a perceptible improvement, which, by an adherence to your directions, was continued to a complete and permanent cure. No evidence has since appeared of the existence of any scurfulous tendencies; and no treatment of any disorder was ever attended by more prompt or efficient results."

Daily Evening Review

SATURDAY, MAY 23, 1885.

The Lacrosse Team.
The team to represent the Peterborough club in the lacrosse match on Monday will be chosen from the following:—M. Halpin, R.H. Fortye, W. J. Scott, Joe Joyal, Jas. J. Sheehy, A. E. Yolland, R. Hall, A. Cameron, J. Canning, G. H. Giroux, Wm. Rudkins, Joe Henderson, Philip Annan, M. Tierney. A committee meeting will be held at Mr. W. A. Sanderson's store this evening at 9 o'clock to select the team.

Council of War.
The third demonstration in connection with the Council of War of the Saved Army was held in the Water street barracks on Friday evening. Capt. Auburn and Willie, of the western division, taking charge. Capt. Lathwell, McGregor and Clark, of the central division; Capt. Stubbs and Lieut. Boyler, of the eastern division, Capt. Hartley, formerly of Peterborough, and about fifteen delegates were present. The hall was well filled, and the meeting was a very successful one.

Gingham, Gingham. A large stock of New Gingham, to arrive this week at Turnbull's. Look for them.

The Town Office.
The new town office of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and the Dominion Express Company, is now opened for public business. It is situated opposite the REVIEW office, and is one of the most handsome and commodious offices in Peterborough. Separate departments are provided for each line of business; the fittings are elegant; and those in attendance are prompt and obliging. The painting on the north window exhibits the artistic touches and skill of Mr. H. W. Watson.

Rat versus Dog.
At about twelve o'clock this morning there was quite a exciting contest between a huge rat and a dog. The scene of the conflict was Messrs. Foot and McWhinnie's boot and shoe store. His ratship sallied out from his lair and proceeded to take in all of the surroundings, critically examining Messrs. F. & W.'s well selected stock, when the canine spied him and made a dash. The rat by a dexterous movement eluded his antagonist and ran in between some couple of dozen feet of spectators. Watching his chance, the rat sprang out and caught the dog square on the nose and sank his sharp teeth into it. The cur yelped considerably and tried to shake the rat from his proboscis, but did not succeed for some time. When he did though, he soon gave the coup de grace and the rat lay dead.

A Heist.
While Mr. S. Hall, workman in the employ of Messrs. Douglas & Robson, contractors of the new St. Andrew's Church, was working a pick at the southwest corner of the old foundation about 11 o'clock on Thursday morning, he implemented struck a glass bottle and broke it. A few coins rolled about and Mr. Hall started to pick them up. The Rev. Mr. Bell, who was standing near, went to the spot and took up the pieces of the bottle and the articles it contained. No one expected to find anything under this corner of the building, and therefore no care was taken in removing the underground foundation. But the opposite corner was removed with great care in the hope of finding any old relics that might have been deposited. None, however, was found. The bottle found was about seven inches long with a broad neck, and about two and a half inches in diameter. The roots of a neighboring elm had penetrated the cork and were feeding on the parchment and moulded paper which the bottle contained. The Rev. Mr. Bell took it into the manse and carefully unfolded and dried the contents. To-day it was found that a leaf of an almanac and a part of a newspaper on a leaf of a book were so decayed in this printed matter that only a word here and there can be deciphered. The coins it contained were three in number: A sixpenny piece of the year 1834; a half penny dated 1831, and a farthing of the reign of George IV, 1838. The bottle was found laid in mortar between two of the stones and was probably deposited there by some of the workmen engaged in building St. Andrew's Church just about 50 years ago. The coins will be placed under the corner stone of the new church.

Gold Medal Ale.
If you want a glass of Labatt's Prize medal fine ale (special brewing) call at W. H. Chamberlain's Parlor Restaurant. This ale has received four gold medals at the World's Exposition, Paris, Australia, Philadelphia and Canada. It is kept in one of the best cellars in Canada, and is pleasant to the taste, and at the same time a wholesome beverage.

Another lot of Fine Boots and Shoes received at the Bon Marche, at ridiculously low prices.

THE QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY.

HOW IT WILL BE CELEBRATED BY THE PEOPLE OF PETERBOROUGH.

The Trip to Sturgeon Point—Down at Idyl Wild—Sports in the Athletic Association Grounds and the Driving Park—Lacrosse Match—Grand Carnival in the Evening.

The birthday of our Queen is again almost at hand, and the people of Peterborough are going to celebrate it in a right royal manner.

THE BOATING CLUB will commence to celebrate this evening by delegating about twenty-five canoeists to meet the Lindsay canoe men at Sturgeon Point. They will depart over the Grand Trunk this evening, reach Lindsay for tea, and then paddle down to the point in the moonlight with their northern brothers of the oar. The meet will probably last until Tuesday.

THE GOLDEN-EYE
will leave Wolfe street wharf at seven o'clock Monday morning for Idyl Wild. She will have Martin's Quadrille Band on board, to furnish music for those who desire to "trip the light fantastic toe." Idyl Wild will be secured by the new host, Mr. G. Ray, of Whitby, who has had long experience in the conducting of hotels, and knows just how to make people comfortable. The hotel has been refitted and refurnished, and all who go down may expect to be made comfortable. In the afternoon athletic sports will be held. A notable feature will be the paddling race, for which a cup valued at $50 will be offered. There will also be dancing in the pavilion during the afternoon. The boat will return to Peterborough in time for those going down to attend the grand carnival at the Leaside rink in the evening. Each one purchasing a ticket will have a chance of drawing a $10 gold piece or a second prize consisting of a silver case basket valued at $5.

AT 10 O'CLOCK SHARP
the sports at the Amateur Athletic Association grounds (old cricket grounds, Ashburnham) will commence. As the association is purely amateur, no money prizes will be given, but the winners of the different events will be rewarded by handsome medals, cups, &c. Two very handsome cups to be contested for, may be seen in the window of Goldsmith's Hall. They are indeed beautiful, and a good number of the local amateurs have been training down to meet them. The first bicycle race of the season will be contested on the new track. Already there are a number of entries, and the race promises to be exciting. The sports will be concluded at one o'clock. The Fire Brigade Band will be in attendance. A single wicket cricket match will be played in the afternoon between Mr. H. T. Strickland and Mr. J. E. Hammond.

AT THE DRIVING PARK.
The sports will commence at half past one o'clock. The bill of fare is the best ever offered by the Driving Park Association. The running race (purse $50.00) will be contested by about nine horses among which will be "Nancy Lee," "Jinglewood Maid," "Lady McDonald," (who was matched against "Nancy Lee" some time ago and the stakes withdrawn) and "Victoria Maid" Lindsay. In the trotting race (purse $50) Indian Billy and Nanny B will again measure themselves against each other. Bartlett mare and Canadian Girl will also compete. In the Green Race, G. Lipette, H. Winch's, A. F. Morgan's and T. Billington's horses will all compete. Hamley and Williamson will again dispute the lead in the half mile race and other professionals in the person of Davis (who recently defeated Tisdale in a 400 yard race) and Powers will also vie in this race. The purse is $25.00. The events will fairly crowd on each other, the athletic sports to take place between the heats of the horse races. F. F. F. T. Hickey, J. Brownlee and M. McDonald have been appointed as a committee by the Lacrosse Club to run off the sports, and with these men in charge the people need have no fear of having their patience tried in waiting for the events. At three o'clock the lacrosse match which will be played between the Mutuals of Toronto and the Peterboroughs. The Mutuals are a good club, and an exciting match may be expected.

BASEBALL MATCH.
The Maple Leaf baseball club will play a match with the Lakeside club at Lakeside, starting at nine o'clock in the morning and returning the same evening.

THE PARLOR ROLLER RUSH will be open during the morning, afternoon and evening.

AT THE LANSDOWNE RINK.
In the evening, the days sport will be capped. The first grand lacrosse match in the new rink will be held. This promises to be the event of the day. People from the towns and villages along the line of the different railways have expressed their intention to come especially to attend this event. Valuable prizes are offered for the various events of the programme.

THE CHEAPEST BOOT-STORE in town is at the Bon Marche. A very choice selection to choose from.

HANLAN COMING HOME.
SAN FRANCISCO, May 21.—Hanlan arrived from Australia yesterday. Speaking of his defeat by Beech, he says:—"I simply met a better man than I was at the time. I was beaten fairly and squarely. I shall return to Australia in eighteen months and try him again. Beech is the best man I ever met, and I am authorized to say he is ready to row any man in the world for $5,000 to $25,000, and allow warrents on expenses." Hanlan is in excellent health.

ARTISAN INDUSTRY.
SVETA FA, May 20.—Chief Geronimo and fifty Chiniqua bucks broke away from the San Carlos reservation on Sunday night and headed for the Sierra Madre mountains Mexico. General Crook has ordered all available troops in the field from Fort Apache and is in hot pursuit. No casualties are reported, but should the warlike be overtaken a hard fight may be expected.

WHITE CAP CAPTURED.

General Middleton Arrives at Prince Albert.

POUNDMAKER'S SURRENDER.

HIS BEAR HOLDS A STRONG POSITION AND YET TO BE DEALT WITH.

Report of a Fight Contradicted—Riel to be Taken to Regina by the Way of Swift Current—The Released Teamsters—Midland Battalion.

HUMBOLDT, May 20.—White Cap, the chief Sioux who assisted Riel in the rebellion, was captured last night with 25 of his tribe at Dead Moose Lake by Lieut. Morrill and a party of fourteen of the Governor-General's Body Guard. After some hard riding two days ago Troopers McNab and Simms, while on a reconnaissance, captured Moose Lake, White Cap's right hand man. The Sioux led the cavalry party to the last camping ground of White Cap, and for two days the trail of the chief was followed rapidly. The Indians travelled all night, and were making for the south. Peter McDonald, from the Carrot river settlement, assisted the Indian in following the trail. Remarkably quick time was made in following it, which was inevitable to the experienced eye. The Indians had just killed a bear, and the Cavalry men helped them to dispose of some rump steak. It is expected that the rest of the tribe will give themselves up. White Cap states that armed halfbreeds and Crees threatened to shoot him if he did not join Riel.

HIS BEAR'S POSITION.
CALGARY, N. W. T., May 22.—A courier has reached Calgary with what is now believed to be trustworthy news from General Strange and the column operating against Big Bear. The General has deemed it best not to move east of Victoria, as the scouts had reported Big Bear's outfit in the Smoke Hills district north of Saddle Lake. It is a most fertile country, and is well chosen for defensive operations. McDonald, the courier, further states that a halfbreed prisoner who escaped from Big Bear's camp is now with General Strange, and will at the time identify those Indians who committed crimes and overt acts. He says all the white prisoners with Big Bear are being well treated. He denies the story of Indian cruelty and treatment, notwithstanding the reports to the contrary.

A REPORT DENIED.
The courier also contradicts the rumour of an engagement with Big Bear by Capt. Steele.

RELIABLE.
An escort consisting of 50 men of the Queen's Own, Police under Col. Herchmer, and two rums, leave Saturday to fetch forty waggon of supplies, and ammunition, including the gifts of the ladies of Toronto.

AT PRINCE ALBERT.
WINNIPEG, May 22.—A despatch from Prince Albert, via Humboldt, from which point it was taken by courier, announces the arrival of Gen. Middleton and the troops under his command. They were tendered an ovation, both by the citizens and Mounted Police, who rejoice in the defeat of the rebels and the capture of Riel.

A TELEGRAM FROM CLARKE'S CROSSING announces that Riel is being taken to Regina by Swift Current, up the Saskatchewan river.

FOURMADDER'S SURRENDER.
BATTLEFORD, May 22.—On the evening of the 18th four waggon were sent approaching, the foremost one bearing a white flag. When they reached the teams were found to contain twenty of the teamsters captured on the Swift Current trail. Pontaine, who was wounded and fell into the hands of the Indians, some friendly half-breeds, and Rev. Father Coombs, missionary to Poundmaker's band. The teamsters were delighted with their release. They state that while on the trail they were surrounded by 100 Indians. They had no escort and but little ammunition, and yielded to the demand to surrender their arms. The Indians promised them escort, but the Stoney compelled them to return to camp, where they were well treated. Poundmaker was very polite, and the halfbreeds waited upon them and attended to their wants. Three bags of newspapers were in the mail captured and were opened. The news of the surrender of Riel demoralized the Indians.

CUT KNIFE HILL FIGHT.
The halfbreeds say that the Indian force at the Cut Knife creek was 450, and that the total force is about 500. Big Bear was not in the fight, but one of his sons was. The Indian loss is stated to have been 50 killed and 17 wounded. Private Ogrodok, killed in the fight with Poundmaker, was buried by the halfbreeds who obtained the necessary permission from the chief.

RELEASED TEAMSTERS.
The names of the released teamsters are:—J. F. McNeill, J. G. Petty, W. McNeill, A. W. Freebairn, Geo. G. Morton, W. McKee, F. Westaway, D. McLean, G. Barnes, J. Sherr, G. Brodie, F. Cox, Wm. Fish, J. Fish, Thomas Crooney, E. Cuddy, D. McEwen, Neil Brodie.

THE MIDLAND BATTALION.
PRINCE ALBERT, May 22.—Middleton's column is now at Prince Albert doing well. Fort Hope company arrived last night, they may all go on to Battleford. All well. A. T. H. WILLIAMS.

That the lot of Scotch Tweeds Turn well showed a few days ago when the

THE TRUE BLUES.

The Grand Lodge Meets in Belleville—Officers of Officers.

The Ontario Grand Lodge of True Blues met in the Orange Hall, Belleville, on Tuesday afternoon. Owing to a number of the Grand Officers being with the volunteers in the North-west, the attendance of the delegates was small, only fifty or sixty being present. In the evening the delegates, accompanied by the "Pratt Boys and True Blues of Belleville and Napanee," and headed by the Oddfellows' Band, marched to Christ Church, where the Rev. Mr. Hibbald delivered an address. The Grand Officers presented their reports, showing the order to be in a satisfactory condition. Peterborough Lodge is ahead of any in number of members. The matter of the place of next meeting was then considered. Bro. Morrison (Lindsay) asked to have it in this place, and his request was granted. The election of officers was then proceeded with, and the following were elected:

GRAND MASTER—Bro. M. S. Plimley, Napanee.
DEPUTY GRAND MASTER—Bro. C. Tufts, Belleville.
GRAND CHAPLAIN—Bro. W. Cobb, Belleville.
GRAND SECRETARY—Bro. J. W. Marshall, Kingston.
GRAND TREASURER—Bro. Wm. A. Clarke, London.
GRAND D. OF C.—Bro. R. Newman, Toronto.
GRAND LECTURER—Bro. G. E. Morrison, Lindsay.
GRAND LECTURER—Bro. H. Sherwood, Peterborough.
GRAND INSIDE GUARD—Bro. H. Reid, Hamilton.
GRAND OUTSIDE GUARD—Bro. H. Collins, Lindsay.
ASSOCIATE OFFICERS—A. D. G. M., Bro. F. Weir, Peterborough; A. G. S., Bro. W. Crawford; A. G. C., Bro. J. A. Diamond, Belleville; A. G. T., Bro. J. H. Muntz; A. G. L., Bro. J. Wilson, Kingston; A. G. I., Bro. W. Marshall, Peterborough; A. G. L., Bro. J. T. Diamond, Belleville.
DISTRICT DEPUTY GRAND MASTERS—Bro. Thos. Watson, Middlesex; E. F. Munro, Frontenac; Jas. H. Smith, Wentworth; E. Foster, Lennox and Addington; W. Trevelick, Lincoln; F. W. Hart, Nipissing; Wm. Kemp, Peterborough; John H. Bell, Victoria; C. Tufts, Hastings.

The officers were then installed and the Lodge adjourned. A hall was given in the evening, in the Oddfellows' Hall, in honor of the visiting delegates.

MURDERED FOR A DOG.

A Man Kills His Mistress and Carries Her off in a Bag.

New York, May 20.—Early this morning Louis Francis, a Frenchman, living on tenth avenue, was arrested while on his way to the river, bearing on his back a bag containing a mutilated corpse of a woman. The body was doubled up and in an almost nude condition. There were ghastly wounds about the head and also on the trunk, from which the blood had flown and congealed. Francis declared that the corpse was that of his wife, and that she had died a natural death. Being without the means necessary to defray the expenses of a funeral, he conceived the idea of carrying the corpse to the river and throwing it in. He was placed under arrest and steps taken to investigate the supposed crime. Francis is 37 years of age. It was subsequently ascertained that the woman was not Francis' wife, but his mistress. Her name was Selma Fehok. She was 38 years old and had a son 18 years of age, who lives in Boston. They quarrelled frequently.

Two weeks ago, while in one of his convivial moods, Francis beat and kicked the woman while she was on the floor. Upon picking her up he said, "I am going to finish her this time." The woman repeatedly told her neighbors she knew Francis would murder her some time. Last evening she said to a neighbor, "I shall catch it to-day." When she was found, she replied, "Last Sunday Francis brought home a Chinese dog that he thinks more of than he does of me. Yesterday I went to the park, and a boy stole the dog. I went after him, and he entered the house accompanied by a friend. They drank beer until 10 o'clock, when the men went out. As they did so the woman locked the door, saying, 'I've got you out now, and I'm going to keep you out.' Nothing further is known about the crime except what is told by Francis. He says the woman was born at Pittsfield, Mass., of French Canadian parents. She was married to a man named Francis Oliver, but deserted him and was married to Francis in Boston. After coming here the woman began to live wild and Francis says he could not stand it. He admits beating her, but says he only reproached her for loving the dog. Last night she sent him out for beer and when he returned he found her with a fellow-workman, in the room with her. His wife came and sat on his (Francis') lap and kissed him, then she threw a glass and can at him and went out. Francis and his friend walked a half block and when he returned he found his wife lying on the floor dead. He does not know the cause of her death. He afterwards went out and got drunk, then put her in a bag to throw her in the river. The prisoner has been remanded until to-morrow. When found the woman was in her night clothes and around her neck was a silk handkerchief tied in a double knot that had apparently been twisted with a stick until the woman had been strangled to death. There were also marks and scratches on the neck and traces of blood that had flowed from her mouth. Neighbors say Francis is an ill-tempered ruffian. The woman was pretty and of a submissive disposition. There was an angry quarrel between them last night over the loss of the dog with the result stated. It is believed Francis forced an entrance into his apartment and murdered his wife while she was asleep.

KEENE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

No. 4 Co., 67th BATT.—The usual weekly drill was held on Saturday evening last. The company is improving rapidly, and the members are taking a greater interest than ever in their drill. Capt. Birdall has called for a full turn out on Saturday evening at 6.30 o'clock, p.m., for drill, after which an important business meeting will be held.

GRAND.—The regular meeting of Keene L. O. L. was held last week, when important business was transacted. The lodge bids fair for improvement in every way. Every member is expected to be on hand for next meeting.

R. B. K. or T.—Keene Receptory meets on Friday night, May 22d, at 7.30 sharp. A large number of visiting brethren will be on hand from Peterborough, Newmarket and elsewhere. It is expected that this will be the most important meeting for some time.

MASONIC.—Keene Lodge meets next Thursday evening.

REASONABLE.—Spring or summer is here in earnest, and as warm as one could wish.

NORTHWEST.—Letters from the boys are still very favorable, in spite of the reports of bad times, etc.

DEATH.—Miss Brice died at the residence of her uncle, Mr. A. Brice, Keene, on Wednesday afternoon last, after a lingering sickness of some months.

PERSONAL.—The Rev. Mr. Treadwell and the Rev. Mr. Seixsmith have been at the District Meeting at Newmarket. Mrs. Seixsmith is, we are pleased to know, much better. Mr. B. M. Wylie, schoolmaster, has a new assistant.

PANTRYMAN.—Mr. Geo. Read has removed his store, so that the new church looks much better.

FEAR.—The reason has opened in earnest.

FEAR.—Several fine maskings have been caught.

QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY.—With the exception of an excursion by steamer to Idylwild, nothing will be done here this year.

FOOTBALL.—A football club has been organized in this village and practice takes place every evening at six o'clock.

BRASS BAND.—The Victoria Brass Band has been re-organized and are keeping hard at practice. They are bound to do well, as the band has its full number of members.

DANGER IN THE AIR.—In the chilling winds, the damp atmosphere and suddenly checked perspiration, colds are lurking. Hagar's Federal Balm cures colds, coughs, asthma and bronchitis, and all complaints tending towards consumption.

AN EXCELLENT REPORT.—Hon. J. W. G. Goodridge, of Brooklyn, N. Y., writes:—"I cannot express myself in sufficiently glowing terms of Burdock Blood Bitters, which I have used for the past two years with great benefit."

Don't Use any more nauseous purgatives such as Elix. Sals., etc., when you can get Dr. Casson's Stomach Bitters, a medicine that moves the bowels gently, cleaning all impurities from the system and rendering the blood pure and cool. Sold by all Druggists.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills are suited to every age. Better than any other pills, as they are easy to take, and though mild and pleasant in action, are thorough and searching in effect. Their efficacy is in all disorders of the bowels, and bowels are certified to by eminent physicians, prominent clergymen, and many of our best citizens.

The pleasure of bathing is greatly increased by mixing in the tub half or even a quart of a bottle of Murray & Leachman's Florida Water. Instantly the whole atmosphere of the bath room is as fragrant as a blooming flower garden, the mind becomes buoyant, and the body emerges refreshed and strengthened.

WIT AND WISDOM.

"Are ye needing any sticks the day, mister?" said Robie, an itinerant timber dealer. "Sticks, Robie—what kind o' sticks?" "Wud sticks, to be sure."

"Used you pretty rough, eh?" remarked a sympathetic bystander to a man who had just got an awful licking. "Welly, no," replied the subdued one. "I thought he polished me off very nicely."

A CORRESPONDENT inquires, "How should a person speak of a clock? 'It' or 'he'?" "It," replied the respondent. "It is 'it' in fact, or 'it' is 'it'." Depends entirely upon the clock. If the clock is a striking one call her a "she" every time.

The new man observed, "All the world's a stage, and all the men and women merely players." "True," said the hard man; "some are playing one thing, some another, but most of them are playing the fool."

ERNEST, said a countrywoman to her thrifty neighbor, "I wonder how ye can sleep so soundly with a muckle debt on your head?" To which the thrifty neighbor answered, "I can sleep 'a' weel, but I wonder they can sleep that rest me."

"Robie, a Border character" carrying a pair and a tail put on his head, was asked for acquaintance one morning. "What are after the day, Robie?" "Oh, I'm fittin'." "What are ye fittin' for?" "Oh, to be near me work." "Where are ye working?" "Oh, I hant got a job yet!"

The parish clerk of a village in the south of England was in great request as an umpire at cricket matches. One hot Sunday he fell asleep at the commencement of a long prayer. He woke up at the conclusion, and instead of saying "Amen," shouted at the top of his voice, "O'er!"

A young mother, travelling with her infant child, wrote the following letter to her husband at home: "We are doing first rate and enjoying ourselves very much. We are in fine health. The boy can crawl about on all fours. Hoping that the same can be said of you, I remain, Rob. Fanny."

The Hope of the Nations.
Children slow in development, puny, scrawny and delicate, use "Wells' Health Renewer."

SHILOH'S COUGH and Consumption Cure is sold by us on a guarantee. It cures consumption. For sale by Urmond & Walsh, druggists, Peterborough.

CATARH CURED, health and sweet breath cured by Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy. Price 50 cents. Retail everywhere. For sale by Urmond & Walsh, druggists, Peterborough.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain and cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething. Its value is incalculable. It will soothe the poor little sufferer in minutes. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no milder, safer, and more effective remedy for children's teething than this. It cures dysentery and diarrhoea, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind, colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children's teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle.

IT LEADS ALL.

No other blood-purifying medicine is made, or has ever been prepared, which so completely meets the wants of physicians and the general public as

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

It leads the list as a truly scientific preparation for all blood diseases. If there is a lurking tendency to Scrofula, or if Scrofula is already developed, Ayer's Sarsaparilla will disengage it and expel it from your system.

CATARH AYER'S SARSAPARILLA is the cure for all scrofulous diseases, such as Eczema, Psoriasis, and all other eruptions of the skin, and all other diseases of the blood, which are indications of scrofulous origin.

"Hustler," Sept. 28, 1882.
"At the age of two years one of my children was terribly afflicted with Scrofula, and the disease was so advanced that it was feared that the child would not live. At the same time the eyes were swollen, much inflamed, and very sore. Physicians told us that a powerful Sore Eyes or other alternative medicine must be employed. They failed in recommending Ayer's Sarsaparilla. A few doses produced a perceptible improvement, which, by an adherence to the directions, was continued to a complete and permanent cure. No evidence has since appeared of the existence of any scrofulous tendency, and no treatment of any disorder was ever attended by more prompt or effectual results."

Your truly, B. F. JOHNSON.

KNOW THYSELF.

A Great Medical Work on Manhood.

Exhausted Vitality, Nervous and Physical Debility, Premature Decline in Man, Errors of Youth, and untold miseries resulting from indiscretion or excesses. A book for every man, young, middle-aged and old. It contains 125 prescriptions for all acute and chronic diseases, each one of which is invaluable. So found by the Author, whose experience for 25 years is such as probably never before fell to the lot of any physician. 300 pages, bound in beautiful French muslin, embossed covers, full gilt, guaranteed to be a new work in every sense—mechanical, literary and professional than any other work sold in this country for $2.50. The money will be refunded in every instance. Price only $1.00 by mail, post-paid. Illustrative sample 8 cents. Send now. Gold medal awarded the author by the National Medical Association, to the officers of which he refers.

This book should be read by the young for instruction, and the old for relief. It will benefit all—London—London.

There is no member of society to whom this book will not be useful, whether young, parent, guardian, instructor or clergyman.—Argosy.

Address the Publisher, Medical Institute, or Dr. W. H. Parker, No. 4, Balfour Street, Boston, Mass., who may be consulted on all diseases requiring skill and experience. Chronic and obstinate diseases such as have baffled the skill of all other physicians, can be cured by this book. Such treated persons, who have never without an instance of full recovery.

Daily Evening Review

SATURDAY, MAY 23, 1886.

TO ADVERTISERS.

We desire to call the attention of advertisers to the necessity of sending in advertisements intended for the DAILY REVIEW as early as possible. By delaying until the very last moment all the value of proper classification is lost, and after one o'clock we cannot guarantee to change contract advertisements in the edition of that day.

Your Name, Please.

Those who attend the Lansdowne roller rink carnival on Monday evening, are requested to hand in the customary card, giving their name, and character assumed, at the door.

Celebration Service.

To-morrow evening the service in the George Street Methodist Church will be conducted in keeping with the celebration of the Queen's Birthday. Rev. I. Torvell will deliver a discourse on "The Hope of our Nation."

No Issues.

The 24th of May falling on Sunday this year, Monday will be observed as a general holiday in Peterborough, and in consequence there will be no issue of the DAILY EVENING REVIEW on that date.

St. Andrew's Society.

The committee appointed by St. Andrew's Society for the purpose of revising the by-laws of the society, met on Friday evening in the office of Mr. Wm. Cumming. Owing to the attendance not being as large as was desirable, it was resolved to adjourn. The committee will meet soon for the same purpose.

If you want to replenish your gloves and stockings, you will find everything desirable in quality, color and price at Turnbull's.

V. M. C. A. International Convention.
The Secretary of the local Association will give a report of the recent Secretaries' Conference at Chattanooga, Tenn., and the International Convention at Atlanta, Ga., at a meeting to-morrow (Sunday) afternoon at a quarter past four. Gentlemen are invited to attend. The usual young men's meeting will be held to-night at 8 o'clock in the room over the post office.

Monday at the Lansdowne.
The grand Roller Carnival to be held in the Lansdowne Roller Rink on Monday evening, May 23rd, is attracting widespread attention. It is expected that many visitors from a distance will be present and take part. No doubt the costumes will not be the least interesting part of the carnival, and it is also thought that the number of makers will be large. Those who take an interest in roller skating should not fail to be present, and, if they don't enjoy themselves it will be owing to no part of the manager. By all means go.

The Market.
The square was well lined with conveyances this morning and a large amount of produce changed hands. Butter and eggs were well represented, the former selling at from 17 to 18 cents per pound, and the latter at from 10 to 11 cents per dozen. Fowl was scarce; turkeys sold at $1.10 and chickens at 75 cents per pair. Fresh pork, by the quarter, sold at from 8 to 9 cents per pound, and salt pork at from 5 to 6 cents. An unusually large quantity of potatoes were offered for sale at prices ranging from 40 to 50 cents per bag.

Entertainment.
A very successful entertainment was held on Friday evening in the Murray Street Baptist Church under the auspices of the Young People's Association in connection with the church. The attendance was good, and the programs highly entertaining. We understand that the pastor of the church, the Rev. A. H. Munro, is President of the Association, with Mr. Duff, of the Barnardo Home, as First Vice-President. No doubt with two such officers at its head, the Association will be a success. The meetings of the Association are held every Friday evening and are open to all.

For beautiful designs in Lace Curtains and Lambrequins, all New Goods, go to Turnbull's.

The Ring.
The sparring exhibition previously announced came off in the Opera House on Friday night. The attendance was slim. The exhibition was opened by a settee between two boys named George Fady and George Galloway, introduced as Kelly and Murphy. The former was knocked out in the second round. A settee of two rounds between F. Larone and D. Simons, alias O'Brien and O'Mara, was the next on the program. "Secky," of Norwood, and Paul Fattilo, of Toronto, then contested in a three round sparring match. A four round glove contest between Harry Gilmore, the light weight champion, and Geo. Graham, of Peterborough, was next. The wind-up consisted of a four round contest between Harry Gilmore and Paul Fattilo. During the evening Mr. T. McNaughton gave exhibitions of fancy and illuminated club exhibitions, which called forth loud applause.

Ladies' and children's Fine Boots in great variety at the Bon Marche at about half price.

The Little Beauty.
Just see that "Little Beauty" lacrosse stick at SAILSBURY'S—The hose stick. $3 each.

Lawn Tennis Shoes.
Just received, a lot of fine lawn tennis shoes, at JOHNSTON CARR'S.

Sale.
Don't forget the sale of household furniture, etc., at the residence of Dr. Harvey, George street, on next Wednesday.

Murray Street Baptist Church.
The Rev. A. H. Munro will continue his series of sermons on Remarkable Characters in the Bible to-morrow evening. The subject will be Samson.

Coal Oil Stoves.
In addition to the articles mentioned on sale bills, there will be sold at Dr. Harvey's sale next Wednesday, 27th inst., two Coal Oil Stoves and Furniture, nearly new.

Mark Street Methodist Church.
The Rev. I. Torvell, pastor of the George street Methodist church, will occupy the pulpit of the Mark street Methodist church, Ashburnham, at 11 o'clock to-morrow.

The Parlor Belle.
Will be opening on Monday. Skates furnished to ladies day after day for 10 cents, admission from gentlemen, 10 cents. Skates, 10 cents extra.

Sons of England.
The members of the Sons of England Benevolent Society will meet at their hall, corner of George and Simcoe streets, at ten o'clock to-morrow morning. At eleven o'clock they will proceed to St. John's church where a special sermon will be preached by the rector.

The Probabilist.
The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Variable winds, fair weather, preceded by a few showers in Southern Ontario; higher temperature.

The Weather.

The following weather notes are supplied by Mr. G. W. Morgan, druggist:—

Thermometer. Barometer.
9 o'clock 60° 29.25
1 o'clock 67° 29.30
3 o'clock 60° 29.30

A lowering barometer indicates stormy weather, and a rising barometer indicates clear weather.

For Spring Millinery, neat and nobby shapes and shades to suit every style of dress, now in stock at Turnbull's.

Athletic Association Grounds.

The Amateur Athletic Association have made much improvement in the appearance of their grounds during the past two weeks. The latest addition to the improvements is the erection of a comfortable pavilion at the northwest corner. Under the pavilion is a suite of rooms, a refreshment and scoring room in the centre and two conveniently arranged dressing rooms at either end. The recent showers have brought up the grass nicely and the ground looks fresh and in good order. A new sidewalk has been laid up Driscoll terrace as far as the entrance to the grounds. The Ashburnham Council evidently know where sidewalks are needed and promptly has the work done.

"Peculiar People."
There are perhaps more of the above class of persons in the world than there should be. Peculiar people are to be found almost everywhere, and their "peculiarities" differ in a great measure. In some cases the peculiar man is looked upon as a sort of wonder, and the average passer-by gives him a look that cannot but arouse his curiosity. He naturally asks himself the question, "What can there be about me that causes my fellow-men to look at me in the way they do?" He keeps on wondering and the curious keep on gazing at him every time he makes his appearance in public. What can it be? Who is this individual that causes the young men to gather in groups on the corners and talk of him? The question is asked and answered in almost the same breath. The man who is making himself so conspicuous just now is all the way from the land of oaks, and the reason his appearance is so very noticeable is that he has just purchased one of McNell's excellent summer suits, and completely knocks the boys out in the first round. Go thou and do likewise! A. McNell, Habliment Hall.

Frank A. Robbins New Shows.
Toward this popular combination of museum, two-ring circus, and 50 cage-menagerie, which is to exhibit here Thursday, May 25th, the newspaper press are now pronounced and liberal in praise. This is the fifth season of an entertainment which has never failed to encounter the most brilliant and flattering success, and a correspondingly great triumph for this season is already secured. The reason for all this is apparent and needs little comment. Mr. Robbins is a conscientious and ambitious exhibitor who calls the best there is in the way of varieties and gives a varied, vast and tremendous tented entertainment, which represents only the most excellent talent and features found in the range of the entire show realm. His circus is given in dual rings and by a corps of artists of acknowledged pre-eminence, whose names are a guarantee of the high order of the performance. Charles W. Fish is conceded by every sane man alive the most agile, original and daring bareback rider that ever rode on a fleet-footed steed. His deeds are not only the result of his own genius, and are attempted by no one else, but have been seen in every nationality and praised by every portion of the globe. He has been feted by a greater number of kings and adorned with more valuable mementoes and jewel crowned belts than all other equestrians combined. And he is but one of over one hundred meritorious performers, including twenty-five lovely lady riders. The sensations in mid air, bicycle tournaments and skatorial contests, as practiced in the great rings, add largely to the interest of a remarkable artistic presentation of great acts. The museum lacks no essential quality to make it a pleasant and instructive department of the colonial show, with the fifty odd cages of animals leave out of a gigantic collection no single zoological specimen of interest described in natural history. To those who love the tented show, Mr. Robbins presents all that can be desired and richly deserves the favor and encouragement of the public.

"They don't play out." The Peterboro' Cigar Factory's cigars are staple favourites. Smokers keep on asking for them.

DOMESTIC AND USEFUL.
For the removal of greasy appearance of the skin, use a little oatmeal as you would soap while washing the face.

This presence of heavy headed and heavy footed people with hard hands and harsh voices in a sickroom is one of the saddest mistakes.

For a large and varied stock of Revolver Croquetmen, entirely new patterns, go to Turnbull's.

You can get Pedestal Bottom Extension Tables for $2.50, worth $12.50. Best Elm Extension Tables for $3.50, worth $8.50. Handsome Bedsteads for $3.50, worth $6.50, all hardwood, at McKee's Furniture Warehouse, Water street, three doors north of Simcoe street.

For a complete assortment of Boots, Shoes and Slippers, see Foot & McWhinney, Good value in all lines.

A Poster to Business Men.
Dinner will be served to business men from 12.30 to 2.30 every day at FATHER'S Restaurant and Bodega.

The Sealed Act.
The Sealed Act was defeated on Thursday in the city of Kingston by a majority of 63. In the county of Frontenac it was carried by more than 400 majority.

SLEEPLESS NIGHTS. Made miserable by that terrible cough, HILL'S Cure is the remedy for you. For sale by Ormrod & Walsh, druggists, Peterborough.

A Card.
To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the Rev. J. J. LYNCH, Station D., New York City.

GENTLEMEN—I have much pleasure in saying that I have used your White Horse Cream for my complexion some time past, and I find it superior to anything I have ever used for the same purpose. It softens the skin and imparts a fresh and delicate bloom to the face and hands unobtainable by the use of any other preparation. Sincerely yours, ELLA LOMAX.

SUN Insurance on Volunteers.

The agitation regarding the policies on the lives of our volunteers has induced many persons to read their policies for the first time. Too many of our volunteers have found that their policies are null and void just when they are most needed. It is true that some companies return the small amount paid in premiums in case the assured be killed during the rebellion, but this is a mere trifle. These brave men are risking their lives in defence of our country. They make no profit by going, but are in fact losing, and it is terrible to think that many of them are also forfeiting their life policies, and if killed will leave their wives and children to the cold charities of the world. The policies of probably the majority of companies doing business in Canada become null and void in case of death during rebellion, although many of them, AS AN ACT OF GRACE, have voluntarily stated they will hold them good. It is at a time like this that the UNCONDITIONAL policies of the SUN LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA are appreciated. They cover every risk. It is not a matter of option with the management, for the policy is clear. There is no excuse for accepting a policy with numerous small print conditions when you can get an UNCONDITIONAL ONE in the SUN.

TOO WIDE FOR REFORMERS.

To show the gross incoherence of the attacks of the Reform members of the House of Commons upon the Franchise Bill, we may call attention to the fact that while they incorrectly state that it restricts the franchise and is therefore objectionable, they themselves attack it on point after point as extending the franchise too far. Mr. Vill objects to the $30 tenancy clause, because it will give votes to a number of salaried men. Mr. Mills terms the same clause outrageous, because it may give votes to many tenants in one house. Mr. Burpee condemns it as conferring the franchise on the floating population of the factory towns. Mr. King objects to it as enfranchising the operatives in sugar refineries and cotton mills. Mr. Weldon thinks small tenants should not have a vote. Mr. Bain and others would deny the right of voting to salaried men, though paying taxes. Mr. Fisher and some of the House members object to the act as leading to universal suffrage. Mr. Edgar, Sir Richard Crompton and others would deprive non-resident property holders of their votes. Mr. Cass and others object at the farmers' vote franchise. Mr. Fleming would raise the qualifying assessment of occupiers and tenants. Others attack the clause in favour of fishermen, and so on. If all the propositions of the Reformers in this direction were adopted, the measure would indeed become a disfranchising bill.

It is true that as to other classes, and indeed as to the very same, the Reformers have also moved amendments for a further extension. This, however, is obviously because they are determined to attack everything proposed by the Administration, whatever it may be, simply because it is proposed by them, and without any principle to guide their criticisms.

Valuable changes in the original bill have already been made by Sir John Macdonald and his supporters. It is certain that others will still be made in committee. Even then we do not mean to say that the measure will be final as Lord John Russell rather rashly and mistakenly described his Reform Bill, then acquiring the nickname of "Finality John." But it is in truth a very substantial enlargement and widening of the franchise, a great step towards giving a vote in the management of the affairs of the Dominion to every man in Canada.

Mr. BLAKE, in his "great speech" last week, showed considerable anger and great impatience for certain papers he had asked for regarding Northwest affairs. Some of the papers have been laid before Parliament, and two good reasons were given why the remaining papers had not been produced, namely, because the Reform members had asked for so many returns that the Department was unable to supply them with despatch, and because the publication of some of the papers, before the rising was entirely suppressed and passed thoroughly established, would endanger the lives of officials, missionaries and others in that country.

Mr. BLAKE stated in the House that he did not charge the Government with being responsible for the Northwest rising. In the Montreal Star he is thus reported:—

"He repeated again and again the assertion that it was impossible to know where the fault lay if the necessary papers were withheld."

Yet Reform journals profess to know that which Mr. Blake declares it is impossible for them to know, and Mr. Blake himself insinuated what he acknowledged he had no means of knowing. Such are the methods adopted in argument by Reformers.

A MILLION DOLLAR LAWSUIT.

A question of the legality of an Indian Marriage.

A despatch from Quebec says:—"In the year 1788, a wealthy member of the Hudson Bay Company named Alexander Fraser, then living in the Canadian Northwest, took as his wife a dusky, dark-eyed Indian girl, Angeline Meadows, of whose charms he had become enamoured. Notwithstanding that the union was never sanctioned by any legal or religious ceremony, it is claimed that it constituted in the territory and at the period in which it occurred, a legitimate marriage, and was so recognized by the tribe to which the dusky Angeline belonged. At his death, Alexander Fraser left behind him an enormous sum of money, together with the valuable properties of the Territories, and the title of the Indian marriage was made. After his death in 1845, Mr. J. B. Foullet, notary of River du Loup, was appointed executor to his vast estate. Being called to account for his administration of the estate, and sued by Mr. Wm. Fraser, of River du Loup, who claimed to be a legal heir of the deceased, Mr. Foullet replied that he was ready to render an account, but that the late Alexander Fraser having left no will, and no known heir, he did not know to whom he had to pay. Mr. Thomas Jones intervened in the case by an opposition, which denied the validity of the Indian marriage, and claiming to be entitled to the same himself, on the ground that his mother, Margaret Fraser, was daughter of Alexander Fraser and issue of his so-called marriage with Angeline Meadows. The validity of this union was attacked by William Fraser while Jones' case rests upon the presumption that the children of the Indian marriage were illegitimate. Judge Cameron, presiding in the Superior Court, having given judgment in favor of the presumption of Jones, and declaring the Indian marriage valid, the case was taken to the Court of Appeals, which reversed the decision of the Court below. From this judgment, Jones has instructed his attorneys to take an appeal to the Privy Council. The amount involved in this action is from $1,000,000 to $3,000,000, including, as it does, all the ground rents received from the various signatories referred to for the last fifty years. While deciding that there was no legal proof of the validity of the Indian marriage, the Judges of the Court of Queen's Bench admitted that there was a strong presumption of the same, and that both parties to the contract appear to have acted in good faith."

bring on all of the events named in the programme. Two interesting numbers were, however, satisfactorily carried out, the fancy skating competition and the mile race. Both events were won by Mr. J. Salama, of Port Hope. There were three entries in the former and six in the latter.

At ten o'clock the National Anthem was played by the preceding band and the number of spectators began perceptibly to diminish. In less than an hour all had gone and the rink was again in a state of quietude. The manager of the rink has every reason to feel gratified at the unequalled success of the first opening carnival.

DOWN THE RIVER.

How the Bay was Celebrated at Idyl Wild.

At seven o'clock in the morning the steamer Golden-Eye left Wolfe street wharf with a fairly good number of passengers on board, but the number was not anything like what it should have been, owing to the strong attractions in town. Martin's Quadrille Band were on board and furnished choice music going down, at the resort, and coming home, for those who inclined to Torpichorean sport. Idyl Wild was reached at about eleven o'clock, after a pleasant run down.

After a good dinner, served up in excellent style by miss boat, Mr. S. Ray, the athletic sports were commenced. The steamer Dura and Beaver brought contingents of holiday keepers from Hastings and other parts along the lake, and in the middle of the afternoon a large number were in attendance. The prizes for several races and other athletic exercises were satisfactorily completed for, but owing to the rough water, the paddling race did not come off. The pavilion was well patronized until the time of departure arrived. The excursionists landed at the Wolfe street wharf at half past nine, after an enjoyable trip up.

The $10 gold piece was drawn by Mr. McManis, of Peterborough, and the silver cake basket by Mr. O'Neil, of Hastings.

ON THE FLOOD.

A Pleasant Trip to, and a Pleasant Time at, Sturgeon Point.

As was previously announced, a deputation from the Peterborough Boating Club went up to Sturgeon Point to celebrate the day by a meet with the Lindsay canoeists.

On Saturday morning about a dozen canoes and apparatus were shipped to Lindsay over the Grand Trunk Railway. Reaching Lindsay they were conveyed to the wharf by the canoeists of that town, so that their owners arrived in the evening they found all arrangements ready for a start.

THE REMARKS.—The boat being composed of about fifty canoes. A paddle down to the point in the clear moonlight was made without mishap. The boats were pitched and they remained in camp over Sunday. On Monday several friendly sailing and canoe races were held, not without a few upsets that gave the occupants of the boats "a feeling" of the water. Most of the Peterborough men returned to town on Monday evening, but a few enthusiastic canoeists remained to take in the full measure of enjoyment.

OTHER EVENTS.

The members of the right division of the Durham Field Battery may claim the honor of inaugurating the day's sport. At half past seven o'clock the nine pounders boomed forth a regulation salute.

In the afternoon a number of volunteers repaired to the butte, where they engaged in testing their skill as marksmen. The shooting, taking into consideration the gusty weather, was very good, and an afternoon of pleasure and profit was spent.

A number of canoeists who did not join the excursion to Sturgeon Point, paddled Little Lake and the Ottonabee during the afternoon.

FOUND IN THE RIVER.

The Body of John Cook Discovered in the Ottonabee.

Early in the evening of Tuesday, May 26th, Mr. John Cook was in Mr. Potvin's grocery. He started from there, alone, to go home, and from that time, so far as is known, he was not seen alive. His absence alarmed his family, and search was made for him, the river being included in the search, but up to Monday there was no result. On that forenoon, however, his body was recovered.

Messrs. Matthew Young and P. Ryan were on the bridge which spans the river at Mr. Haslett's mill, at about eleven o'clock, when Young saw Mr. Cook's body rise in the eddy at the foot of the slide, at the southern end of the bridge. Young had been keeping a watch on this place ever since Mr. Cook had been missed and had gone to the bridge for that purpose. Assistance was at once summoned, Mr. Fox and others being called. The body was carried across the river by the currents, and it was decided to venture up the rapids in a boat to recover it. In order to check the turbulence of the water, it was intended to take out the stop logs, but before this was done the body was carried back by the eddying waters to the south side of the stream and close to a pile of slabs. Mr. James Clancy and others then succeeded in drawing the body out of the water.

The police were notified, and Constable Adams notified Dr. Bell, coroner, but the coroner did not deem it necessary to hold an inquest, as he did not think that the circumstances, so far as known, would justify him in taking the necessary oath.

Mr. Bellegum, undertaker, was sent for, and took the body to the deceased's late residence. When the pockets were searched, $10 in bank bills, some silver money, a watch, a key and other articles were found in the pockets. The watch had stopped at 27 minutes to 9 o'clock. There was a cut in the head over the left temple, and the body was otherwise bruised.

It is supposed that Mr. Cook, who resided in Ashburnham, near the Smith street bridge, had started to cross one of the bridges on his way home and had fallen into the river.

The deceased had for many years (thirty years, at least) been employed at Haslett's mill as foreman, with the late Mr. Dixon and with Mr. Haslett. He was said to be one of the best millwrights in this part of the country, at least, and Mr. Haslett confirms this testimony of his ability.

A wife and three daughters and two sons are left to mourn the death of Mr. Cook. One of the sons, Wm. Cook, is now with the Midland Battalion in the Northwest.

BRIDGEWORTH.

Saw and SINGLE MILL BURNED.—On Saturday morning, May 23rd, between the hours of four and five o'clock, a fire broke out in the saw and single mill of Mr. J. H. Brunwell, and the entire building was consumed. It is not known how the fire originated. There was a quantity of lumber, about two hundred thousand shingles, and other stuff burned also. The loss will be $3,000, of which only about one-third is covered by insurance.

THE POST OFFICE ROBBERY.

"Clutch" Despoiled Committed on the Evidence of a Former Accomplice.

A despatch from Niagara Falls on May 26th, says that John alias "Clutch" Donohoe, was committed for trial to-day for the Peterborough stamp robbery, the Galt jewelry robbery and the Goldenstein mercantile pipe robbery. W. Hampton of Syracuse, N. Y., an accomplice, was brought from state prison and swore that he saw Donohoe with the thousand dollars worth of stamps, that he also saw the proceeds of the burglary at Mr. Goldstein's. In Donohoe's possession and that Donohoe told him he put up some Charles Lowry to do the job at Mr. Trotter's jewelry store, Galt. Lowry is now in Pennsylvania state prison for the Occola bank robbery. John Brandeigh alias "Rokay Johnny" boarded the train en route for Canada to induce Hampton not to testify. Two Buffalo detectives accompanying Hampton took Brandeigh in charge for the theft of $6,400 in St. Louis.

COURT OF REVIEW.

Most of the Appeals Adjusted, and Some Held Over.

The court met in the council chamber on Wednesday evening to revise the assessment roll for 1885. There were present Councillors Manley (Chairman) McClelland, Davidson and Yelland.

Mr. Wm. Christie's appeal as to his being assessed $3,000 for income, was received too late. It was laid over for further consideration.

Mr. D. Moore, assessed for $300, and Mrs. D. Murphy for $300, both thought the assessment too high. Although the property of the latter is worth fully what it is assessed for, yet relative to the assessment of property in the vicinity she thought she had reason to complain.

The appeal of the Separate School Board against the assessment of John Cozens, who occupied quarters belonging to the Board, was laid over. Mr. Jas. Henry appeared for the Board.

The Ontario and Quebec Railway company, Mr. Mills, W. J. Devlin and T. Giroux, withdrew their appeals. Mr. C. W. Savers appeared for the first named. H. Carver's appeal was laid over.

The assessment of the property in Mrs. Simons' name was changed to that of John Simons.

The appeals of J. Godfrey, M. D. Broussard, Mrs. C. J. Nicholls, G. A. Smith, Jas. Reid, the Peterborough Gas Company (Mr. D. W. Dumble appeared for the company), F. Sandy, and W. Davidson, were laid over.

The assessments of R. W. Thompson, R. McFadden and G. Guerin, were transferred to the places now occupied by them.

T. Laplante's assessment on income was reduced from $1,700 to $1,200, and that of Mr. J. A. Mason from $1,000 to $1,500.

The assessments of E. B. Edwards, Wm. Pratt and Thos. Beavis, were confirmed.

Seven persons who wished to contribute toward the Separate School instead of the Public schools were allowed to do so.

Next Friday evening the members of the court will take a drive to look over the property the assessment of which is still under consideration, and on Tuesday next they will meet again for business.

POLICE COURT.

D. & D.

TUESDAY, May 26.—Wm. McCullough was charged by Chief Johnston with having been drunk and disorderly. He was found guilty and fined $2 or ten days in goal.

SHEEP KILLING.

N. T. Laplante charged Wm. Taylor with having killed a dog that killed sheep, and claimed $25 as recompense for loss sustained thereby. Judgement was given for $21 and costs.

ABUSING HIS WIFE.

WEDNESDAY, May 27.—Cornelia Crowley was charged by her wife, Catherine Crowley, with having ill-treated, beat and abused her. According to her evidence her husband had been in the habit of using violent language toward her, had beaten her, and had on several occasions made threats of taking her life. She asked to have him bound over to keep the peace.

The Magistrate bound the defendant over to keep the peace in two sureties of $100 each, and $200 for himself.

"There's no use," said he, "I can't get sureties."

"Very well," replied the Magistrate, "you will go to goal until you can. That fact shows that you have not a good character. The goal is the best place for a man who will make such a brute of himself as to strike a woman."

THE LATE COL. KENNEDY.

Funeral Service at Highgate Cemetery—Tribute of Respect.

The funeral of Col. Kennedy, of Winnipeg, the organizer and commander of the corps of Canadian voyageurs who have done such good service in connection with the Nile expedition, took place yesterday morning at Highgate Cemetery, when the remains of the gallant officer were laid to rest in the presence of a large number of his old comrades, and with the military honors befitting his rank and services. Col. Kennedy was on his way back to Canada from the Sudan, accompanied by some eighty of his men, taking England on the road, but he was attacked by illness immediately on landing last week, and succumbed on Sunday in Highgate Hospital, to which at his own request, he had been taken. The mourning party assembled at the Wesleyan Chapel, Highgate Avenue, at half-past ten o'clock the coffin, bearing a magnificent wreath sent by the Commanders in Chief, and a large cross of flowers from the Canadian detachment, having already been placed in the chancel. There was a considerable number of spectators present in the side aisles, the centre of the chapel being preserved for the mourners. Amongst the latter were Colonel Stanley Clarke, representing the Prince of Wales; Colonel Leigh Pemberton, A. & M. C., representing the Duke of Cambridge; Colonel Alleyne, B.A., representing Lord Wolseley (who sent a telegram expressing his deep regret); Captain Ricardo, Brigade Major of the Home District; Lieut. Childers, R.E., Aide-de-Camp to Lord Wolseley; Captain Egerton Denison, South Staffordshire Regiment; and Sir Charles Tupper, the Agent General for Canada in England. The voyageur corps, by the Force in London, and the Rev. John Percival, Mr. Allen said they were gathered there to convey to the place of sepulchre the remains of a distinguished Canadian—Colonel Kennedy. Lord Wolseley, who was his guest for some time, became acquainted with the rare qualities of the departed soldier on the Red River Expedition. The Colonel was a man beloved and honored in his own regiment, a statesman in Council, a philanthropist of the highest order, and a man of wealth, and he cheerfully left the Dominion for a time to hazard his life in the special duties assigned to those Canadians who were with them to-day. It was not the spirit of adventure, but the spirit of patriotism that induced him to say farewell to his beloved wife and five children, and peril his life for the honor of England. Great Britain might well be proud of her colonists; and might be slow, but would cater to the needs of a man beloved and honored in his own regiment, a statesman in Council, a philanthropist of the highest order, and a man of wealth, and he cheerfully left the Dominion for a time to hazard his life in the special duties assigned to those Canadians who were with them to-day. ANOTHER INDIAN.

Another Indian chief, Kahkwasquonby, a highly educated gentleman, has written to the Mail a very able letter in defence of his race from the abuse showered upon them by the Reformers. His first exposure with titles against the hollow and artificial nature of the opposition to the Franchise Bill, the pretended public meetings drummed up by circular and only specially attended by a political clique. These he answers erratum, with much effect, the charges brought against the Indians. In conclusion, he remarks as to the last charge, that of ignorance:—

"The Indians are not so ignorant as you think, Messrs. Jackson and Mills. There is not a family in my reserve but what gets its newspaper, and what is more to the detriment of the policy you are pursuing, they can read the torrent of abuse your party are indulging in at our expense. The time must come when we will have what is justly due us, a voice in the House where we pay our taxes, and the foolish conduct you are pursuing is simply a fine electioneering help to the gentleman who has been bold and kind enough, in spite of Billy, Peterson and Mills, to give us what is our just due."
And it is such Indians as Kahkwasquonby and Oronhyetkha that Messrs. Mills and Peterson are abusing and endeavoring to deprive of the franchise. These obstructionists pretended that it is the Indians of the Northwest plains against whom they are raging, though they well know that such Indians will have no votes given them by the bill. It is the educated, industrious, loyal, civilized Indians whose ballots they dread, and whom they would deprive of the franchise.

Reform papers insinuate and it is frequently stated in conversation that Sir John Macdonald allowed Riel to go after the rebellion in 1870 without punishment. Riel was not in custody after that affair, and efforts to apprehend him were unavailing. He kept out of the way while the Conservatives were in power. After the Reform party took office, however, Riel visited Ottawa and boldly entered the Parliament buildings, and was finally pardoned, the motion asking for the pardon from the crown being moved by the Hon. Alex. Mackenzie.

The Buffalo News, referring to the Canadian Pacific railway, says:—
"There is not, however, any necessity for finishing the road, for its projectors planned to run from nowhere to no place."

That sounds very much like Mr. Mackenzie's description of the Trent Valley Canal, of which, perhaps, the News has an indistinct recollection.

BATTLE AT BATOCHE'S.

A Description of the Engagement Written by a Participant.

The following letter has been received from Mr. M. B. Orde by his relations in Peterborough:—

DEAREST MOTHER, I will give you an account of the siege of Batoche, which was to me, for I could not call my life my own, as it lasted for four days.

On the 9th we started from camp, and marched about ten miles, to within a quarter of a mile of Batoche, when we extended in skirmishing order and advanced to attack very slowly, as the rebels had everything prepared to meet us, and had dug pits six feet deep, leaving part of the ground covered with brushwood, so that it was impossible to distinguish them from the surrounding woods, while they could see us out in the open; but as we crawled on our hands and knees, and took advantage of every little covering we could see, our loss was not so heavy as it might have been, considering we were fighting against an invincible foe. We continued this mode of fighting for three days and a half, and wound up with one of the most gallant charges that was ever made in Canada, carrying everything in front of us, and killing 123 rebels. The light I will never forget, the loud cheering of the men, the terrible noise of the guns, and the groans of the wounded and dying. My front rank man was shot down, I thought at the time he was killed, but he was only shot in the leg. I did not stop to see what was the matter, but rushed on, firing as I went, and cheering. My throat was sore, and had the pleasure, with six or seven of my comrades, of releasing the prisoners, who looked more like corpses than living men, having been in the deep cellar for two months. After the battle we had to set to and dig trenches, as about four hundred of the rebels were in the woods round about us, and as we slept in them we made pretty good use of them. I was not in the trenches for the first time in eight days, having slept in the trenches with all my arms on, in case of a night attack. We have captured pretty near everything the rebels possessed, and I have got several trophies to keep in memory of the battle and downfall of Batoche. Riel has been captured, but I have not seen him, as he has only been in camp about an hour, and is in the General's tent. I expect this is the end of the halfbreed rebellion, but there will be more trouble with the Indians. We start for Prince Albert in the morning, and it depends how things are in Battleford whether we go to there or return to Winnipeg; the latter, I hope, will be the case. Many thanks for the hood and curtain, but do not send me any more things, as I have not room for them. Dear Mother, I hope you were not anxious at my last telegraphing, as it was impossible, but if I should be hurt you will be notified. I have no more time. Love to all our family. Splendid, myself, I hope you are the same.
Ever, dearest mother,
Your affectionate son,
M. B. ORDE.

P.S.—I wish you would send me a small piece of automatic pencil. It will please you to know that I was one of the first to get into the village in the charge, our company having only 25 men left out of 42 when we left Winnipeg. M. O.
Mr. Orde says in a postscript: "The enclosed ribbon I plundered from one of Riel's follower's tent." This ribbon may now be seen hanging in the window of the REVIEW office.

Found on the Flats.

LONDON, Ont., May 25.—On Saturday morning part of a human body was found on the river flats. The body was that of a young man, apparently 14 or 15 years of age, and was much reduced to a skeleton. The head was missing, and one of the feet had been severed near the ankle. A boot was on one leg, and part of two pairs of pants was adhering to the limbs. "H. C." The body when found was almost covered by river sand. So far there is no clue to the solution of the mystery. The supposition is that the young man met his death in the river at the time of the July flood; was swept on to the flats; lay there under the ice for nearly two years, and that by the action of the low the head and foot were severed from the body. An inquest will be held at Delaware village some day this week.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT

THE THIRD SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT OF CANADA.

PETITIONS.

SATURDAY, May 23.—Some more of the made-to-order petitions were presented.
Petitions were presented against the adoption of the Senate Amendments of the Scott Act.
The House went into Committee on the the Franchise Bill.

Mr. MILLER moved that a Revising Officer should be disqualified as candidate in the constituency for five years.

Sir JOHN MACDONALD and Mr. BLAKE thought this period was too long, and the amendment being modified to disqualify for only two years was carried.

Mr. MILLER moved an amendment to disfranchise the C.N.S. Service.

There was a long discussion upon this point. Mr. BLAKE in the course of the debate disclaimed any control over Mr. Mowat. He denied that he had any communication with Mr. Mowat or his colleagues as to the appointment of Mr. Wheeler to an office. It was Mr. Wheeler who had announced to him that he was to get an office from the Mowat Administration. He said he had named Mr. Edgar as the Reform candidate, and he praised his lieutenant.

After some further discussion the amendment was put and negatived.

The Committee rose and the House adjourned at 6 p.m.

Mr. Williams' Account of the International Conference and Convention.

At the young men's meeting on Sunday afternoon the secretary, Mr. Geo. E. Williams, gave an interesting account of the recent International Conference and Convention held in Chattanooga, Tenn., and Atlanta, Ga. In commencing, he thanked the Association for leave of absence to attend the gathering, and also for contributing towards his expenses. He gave a slight sketch of the principal topics under discussion at the Secretaries' Conference, such as "The mission of the Association being as much to the mechanics as to the commercial classes," "How to retain members," "How to develop members," "Boys' work," and dwelt specially on the value of training classes as recommended by the Conference. The Sunday service he described as being very interesting and fruitful. An open air meeting was held in the afternoon, followed by a meeting for young men, which filled the largest hall in the city.

Many young men professed faith in Christ in connection with these meetings. One day between the Conference and Convention was spent by the secretaries in seeing the sights of this historical locality, after which they proceeded to Atlanta, where the general Convention convened. The number of delegates present was 342, smaller than any Convention since the one held in Dayton, O., in 1874, and only about half as large as the last Convention in Milwaukee. This was due to the fact of its being so far removed from the centre of Association effort. The Convention was held in the South for the purpose of stimulating the work there, which has not progressed very rapidly since the war. Among the visitors present were Count Puckler and Mr. Christian Phidias, of Berlin, Germany; Messrs. M. H. Hodder and E. J. Kennedy, of London, Eng., and the Right Rev. Bishop Baldwin, of Huron, Ont. The latter gentleman was present to address the Convention by request of the International Committee. His address was on, "Why is the Bible adapted to young men of the day?" He also gave a grand Bible reading on the "Holy Spirit." His remarks on both occasions made a very deep impression on the Convention. Among the interesting incidents was the presentation of a Bible to the President of the Convention, Mr. Jos. Hardie, from George Williams, Esq., of London, the founder of the Young Men's Christian Association. The discussions on the topics were stirring and profitable, some of the subjects taken up being, "How to increase spiritual-mindedness in our working force," "The conversion of young men our primary object," "What modifications should be made in our work," "What is being done for railroad men," "The opportunities for work among college students." Meetings were held on Sunday similar to those held in Chattanooga the previous Sunday and with like results. The farewell meeting was held on Sunday evening, 17th May, and was very impressive. Much good humoured rivalry was manifested in making the choice for the next place of meeting. San Francisco was decided on, with the proviso that if sufficiently reduced rates could not be secured, the Convention should meet at Philadelphia. The Secretaries' Conference next year is to be held at Harrisburgh, Pa. The delegates from Canada were Messrs. T. B. Cole, Wm. McCulloch, W. E. Barford and Thos. Roney from Toronto; J. Lonsdale, Hamilton; D. A. Bader, Robert Henderson and C. T. Williams, Montreal; and Geo. E. Williams, Peterborough.

Captain Howard.

Lieut. Arthur L. Howard, whose successful handling of the Gallatin gun platoon in the North-West has won him a wide fame, is a man of very little was known even by his associates in New Haven six months ago. He was in the United States cavalry for five years prior to his being placed in command of the machine gun platoon of the Connecticut National Guard July 18, 1884. When the Gallatin gun platoon was ordered for service in the North-West, Dr. R. J. Gatling looked for a man acquainted with machine guns who could handle them in a way to add to their reputation. He pitched upon Lieut. Howard. Except by reputation, Lieut. Gatling knew nothing of the Lieutenant. In truth there was no little to learn. After his service in the cavalry he had been living quietly in New Haven engaged at the Winchester Arms Factory in making arms. Later he, in company with a Mr. Salisbury, formed a cartridge making firm known as A. L. Howard & Co. The manufacture of cartridges was carried on in a little wooden shop, which caught fire and was destroyed about two years ago. When appointed to accompany the guns Lieut. Howard was granted a month's leave of absence from April 1 to May 1 by the state. This has been extended. The Connecticut National Guard has, it may be remarked, no band in Lieut. Howard's trip. His leave of absence is simply such as might be given to any officer. Lieut. Howard's rank has considerably misestimated, and he has been reported as wearing the uniform and claiming the title of a captain of artillery in the regular army. He has no connection except with the Connecticut National Guard, and is not the sort of man to assume a rank to which he is not entitled. He is second lieutenant, commanding Machine Platoon, Second Regiment, C. N. G.—Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

ASHBURNHAM STREETS.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—I wish to call the attention of the ratepayers of Ashburnham to the manner in which the opening of Stewart Street is conducted. It was carried by the Council of 1884 that it was to be opened before the 15th of September of that year, and it is not yet finished. As the residents on the street do not know where the line runs, and the roadmaster cannot give the necessary information, now I think that the proper authorities should take the steps necessary to have the street properly surveyed and opened.

There is also a Cow By-law in force in our village, and one of our Councillors, to show a good example to his fellow citizens, has tied a short rope on his cow's horns and had a boy lead her out and take her in front of other men's properties to destroy the grass and cause a general nuisance.

Hoping you will give this space in your valuable paper, I remain, sir, Yours obediently, RATEPAYER.

CELEBRATION SERMON

Preached by the Rev. I. Tovey in the George Street Methodist Church.

On the evening of May 24th, the Rev. I. Tovey occupied the pulpit at the George Street Methodist Church. As a text for the sermon he directed the attention of the people to Isaiah, xxi., 2:—

"Open ye the gates that the righteous nation that keepeth the truth may enter in."

In commenting his discourse he spoke in loyal terms and spirit-tiring words of the long, peaceful and prosperous reign of our Queen, whose birthday to day was. He would not, however, speak of her in eulogistic terms for her history was well known to the civilized world.

Commendation from him would have no weight. Neither would he eulogize the Dominion, which forms one of the most important parts of the British empire, but he would endeavor to point out ways by which the people might become better citizens, and contribute more to the strength and development of the nation.

The best way to become a good subject was to live worthy of the history of the empire, and the best way to honor the Queen was to act according to her laws. What should be the aim of the nation? There were great possibilities waiting for every nation what "keepeth the truth," these nations would receive manifold blessings. The first aim of the nation should be to promote a peace loving spirit. This was the policy of the British people, especially in latter years. They preferred peace to war and the national sword was now drawn in the defense of justice only. True we have had our wars and our losses have been with pride at the glorious victories that have been won. We love to tell our children of the brave deeds of our ancestors and teach them the names of the scenes of the conflicts. But war is weakening, and while other states that delight in it and engage in it, let us make our land true to its duty.

The nation should aim at a higher enlightenment of the masses. He quoted from Goethe, Plato, Shakespeare and friends their opinions of the deplorable state of this Dominion, the position in the Northwest, he would venture to say, would never have been had those who took part in it been educated people. Kipl's followers were, with the exception of a few, ignorant men, and did not know to what they were committing themselves. They regarded him as a wonderful man. They knew not the strength of this Dominion, the disposition of the people, or the better hopelessness of their cause. National education was to be prized far more than national wealth. Wealth might make a nation a source of jealousy; education never did. Wealth might sow the seeds of decay; education never did. Wealth might produce unconsciousness of national fibre, might engender laziness, indolence, luxury; education never did. Our aim should be to make the nation one great college.

A nation should live for the promotion of the love of freedom among its people. True freedom is obedience to law. To some this might seem like slavery, but freedom and order go always hand in hand. Where there is legitimate law, obedience means freedom and discipline, license is slavery. Freedom is not freedom, and it costs the country the lives of sixty brave boys, thousands upon thousands of dollars, and showers of mother's tears. A cultivation of high character is the aim of the nation, not only by individuals, but by the nation. We would our statesman, for so long as the people admire truth, integrity and justice, the representatives of these virtues will sit in our legislative halls, but when wickedness is winked at, then will our legislators bear the stamp of impurity. He commended the sterling virtues which each class of the community should strive to cultivate, that, successfully arrived at, would result in the uplifting of the general character of the nation.

A nation should also aim at eradicating out evils in society. One great evil was rooted out of the civilized world by steady and persistent effort,—that of slavery. But there were not forms of slavery existing in society to-day, as some of the most deplorable type? Yes. When man was a slave to his vices that was the worst kind of slavery. The two great evils of the present day, licentiousness and intemperance, he denounced, and claimed it was our duty as a Christian nation, by argument, reason, prayer and legislation to try to remove them. Those who led a licentious career, should be cut off from society. He deplored the coming of the circus to this town, and spoke of it as an agency of impurity. He had no objection to legitimate amusements, but when a circus preaches that "fifty lovely women would perform" their shows should be discontinued. These lovely women, as they were called, would never be permitted to enter a respectable home in the attire they wear in their performances. The hope of the nation was in exercising a strong faith in God. As long as it held to Christianity and truth, but the relaxing of its hold on these would be a signal for national weakness and decay. Above all, each one should love his country best. As a Canadian he loved his country, and held it the dearest on earth. No one could help loving Canada. Famine had never been known, and scarcely ever a plague. Famine was unknown. We had no wars, and our seed time and harvest. God smiles upon the land, kisses it with sunbeams and blesses it with the warm breath of spring. Freedom spreads her silver wings in this country of ours; no man carries his life in his hand. Here there was no martyrdom for the truth, for everyone loved it. But while we were loving our own country, we should look beyond to the everlasting Kingdom of God, where we are all entitled to citizenship. The love for this country should be constantly dwelling in our hearts until we receive the crown of everlasting glory, through Jesus Christ, our Lord.

LINDSAY.

RAILWAY ACCIDENT.—Another railway accident occurred at the yard here on Monday afternoon. A man named Thomas Mills, one of the railway employees, was in the act of passing between a train of coal cars and was raising himself between the buffers as the engine backed on, jamming the cars close together and catching one of the legs of the unfortunate Mills, squeezing the calf of the leg, badly. His leg was taken home by Dr. Coulter being called in applied the usual remedies for relief. The sufferer is now improving but it will be some time before he is able to be at work again under the most favorable auspices.

BUILDING.—The amount of building in Lindsay this season will be considerable. In addition to the fine church for the Church of England congregation and the new building of Messrs. Martin & Hopkins to be used as offices and law chambers, many private residences will be erected, some of which are now in course of erection. Lindsay's prosperity may perhaps be looked upon as slower than some Ontario towns, but none enjoy a more steady tide of prosperity or are gaining faster in solid wealth taking one year with another. There is, moreover, a great scarcity of houses, showing that with all the building operations the population is increasing as fast as the demand can be supplied, which is another good sign.—Warder.

A Watch with One Wheel.

A curiosity in the way of watches was shown by Mr. E. Surdet, director of the Watchmakers' school, at Geneva, before the horological section of the society of arts. The wonder is nothing less than a watch with one wheel, manufactured in Paris in the last century by a Mr. Gautrin. The watch was presented to the National Institute in 1790, being then in a deplorable state; but the teacher of the repairing school at the school, Mr. Emile Samas, has, after many hours of labor, succeeded in re-establishing harmony between the various organs, so that it is now in going order. The great wheel which gives the watch its name occupies the bottom of the case and the centre of the plate; it has 60 teeth and 33 mm. in diameter. Its axis carries two pinions, one of which receives the motive force from a barrel, and the other carries the minute work. The function of this great wheel is quadruple. First, it acts as a lift, then as a lever, then as another destined to lower the rate of the watch, and lastly on a third lever, the latter serving to return power to the great wheel at the moment when the action relays by the rise of the axis.

Announced for next Evening Robber.

Newton, Mo., May 25.—Some days ago, James Masters, a farmer living five miles from here, was tried by James Martin, another farmer, to join a band of robbers to which he belonged. Masters refused and Martin fearing Masters would reveal the existence of the band waylaid and assassinated him on Saturday.

SONS OF ENGLAND.

Attendance at St. John's Church—An Entertainment on Monday Evening.

The members of the Sons of England Benevolent Society celebrated the Queen's Birthday by attending St. John's Church on Monday.

At half-past ten o'clock on Sunday morning about fifty members of the Society formed in procession and marched to the church, where a special sermon was preached to them by the Rector, the Rev. J. W. R. Beck. After service they re-formed in procession and marched to their Lodge at the corner of Simcoe and George Streets.

On Monday evening an entertainment was given in the Lodge Room, at which the following long and interesting programme was satisfactorily carried out:—

Instrumental Music.—Messrs. Pierce, Watson, Miller and Miller.

Reading.—Mr. Hartley Vocal Duets.—Misses Brundrett and Coe Recitation.—Geo. Kingston Vocal Quartette.—Mr. H. Stephens, Mr. French and Misses Watson and Magray Humorous Recitation.—Miss A. Brundrett R. Tivey

Now came the intermission, during which a very handsome and costly Bible was presented to the Lodge by the wives and others of the families of the members.

The following address was read by Mr. Felix Brunscombe:—
To the Worthy President, Officers and Members, Landow Lodge, No. 25, S. O. E. B. S.:

GENTLEMEN.—We, the wives, daughters, sisters and lady friends of the members of the above society, beg to present you with this copy of the Book of Holy Writ as a token of our esteem and our appreciation of the noble and benevolent objects of your society, as embodied in the constitution and by-laws.

We trust and pray that the high and holy principles inculcated in this sacred Volume may ever be your basis of action and dealings with each other and your fellow countrymen at large.

We feel confident that an institution, such as this, O. E. B. S., binding Protestant Englishmen and their descendants together in a Brotherhood for their mutual benefit, cannot but be blessed by the most satisfactory results, and you have our most hearty wishes for your welfare and prosperity.

Signed on behalf of the families, Miss Tivey, Miss Brock, Miss Yelland, Miss Brundrett.

On behalf of the Lodge the Chairman, Mr. W. Brundrett, accepted the gift and replied in brief and pointed terms.

PART II. of the programme was now proceeded with as follows:—

Recitation.—Miss Bertha Brundrett Instrumental Music.—Misses Brundrett and Coe Reading (composed by himself) Mr. I. Richardson Vocal duet.—Miss A. Brundrett and J. Miller Song.—Misses Brundrett and H. Stephens

At the close of the evening's entertainment the members of the lodge formed in a circle around the room, the wives, daughters and others being in the centre, and all united in singing "God Save the Queen."

Mr. Geo. Schneider, jr., presided at the piano in his usual efficient style.
